UNRRA SCHEME: GIVE AWAY U. S. FARM MACHINES

Allocations to Aid Foreign Users.

Mexico Gets Machines

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26 [Special]. — American made agricultural machinery worth 4 million dollars has arrived in Mexico in accordance with recent measures of the United States government to facilitate the exportation of certain types of equipment, the newspaper Novedades announced today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—A confidential report prepared by New Deal world planners calls for the allocation of hundreds of thousands of farm machinery items by the United States government to European farmers thru the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

Rep. Calvin D. Johnson.

The table of allocations, under which more than 40 types of farm machinery are to be sent to more than a dozen European nations, was secured by Rep. Calvin D. Johnson [R., Ill.].

Among the items are 16,585 tractors under 30 horse power and 13,415 tractors over 30 horse power. American farmers have been unable to get tractors since shortly after Pearl Harbor.

80,000 Plows Listed.

Other items include 80,000 plows, 50,000 mowers, 30,000 separators, 17,000 reapers, 22,900 rakes, 40,000 harrows and harrow sections, 6,500 reapers, and 10,000 cultivators.

Johnson called upon Americans to scrutinize carefully the New Deal program to build up with American machinery the production of competing alien farmers.

Johnson said he had been told that the original allocations were suggested by British farm groups and that the New Dealers had adopted the British estimates or even increased them when they were presented to the UNRRA by the British government.

As far as he could determine, Johnson said, Britain's contribution to the agricultural rehabilitation of European peoples consisted of the estimates, while the United States is to supply the actual machinery, which will be purchased out of tax funds.

Plans Fight in House.

Johnson announced that he would fight the allocations on the floor of the house.

"I shall bitterly oppose the allocation of this equipment when patriotic Americans are contributing so freely of their time, their knowledge, and their efforts to accrue and conserve materials and equipment for American industry and agriculture," he said.

"I, for one, do not intend to permit starry eyed globats to give it away."

The New Dealers will have to ask for appropriations to carry out the allocations, he said, observing that altho congress has authorized American participation in UNRRA to the extent of 1 billion 350 million dollars, it has not voted any actual appropriations.

The UNRRA bill passed the house by a vote of 338 to 54 and the senate, 47 to 14. It has not yet been signed by President Roosevelt, altho he is expected to approve it.

Carry Two-Thirds of Load.

Under UNRRA the administration expects the United States to give 67½ per cent of the 2¼ billion dollar fund and have only one vote out of 44 to control the disbursement of the money.

Johnson questioned the allocations of 2,597 tons of farm machinery to Poland and 430 tons to the Baltic states.

"No one in the administration yet knows how large Poland is going to be or how much autonomy Poland is to get if the Russians are allowed to have their way in creating a pup-

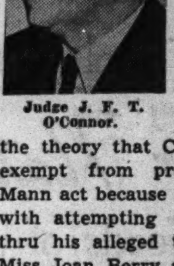
Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26 [Special].—Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor ruled today that the Mann act is applicable to Charles Chaplin in a decision ordering the 53 year old former screen comedian to stand trial March 21.



Judge J. F. T. O'Connor.

The judge overruled a demurrer based in part on the theory that Chaplin should be exempt from provisions of the Mann act because he is not charged with attempting to make money thru his alleged transportation of Miss Joan Berry across state lines for immoral purposes.

Chaplin is under two Mann act indictments accusing him of financing a trip from Los Angeles to New York with Miss Berry, his former protegee, who says he is the father of her daughter born last October. He is also under indictment with several other persons on a charge of conspiring to deprive Miss Berry of her civil rights by attempting to force her to leave California.

"Commercial Element" Denied.

Jerry Giesler, attorney for Chaplin, argued the proposition that a commercial element is essential to a valid charge of Mann act violation. This and other reasons advanced by Giesler for dismissal of the charges were brushed aside by Judge O'Connor in a terse ruling ordering the trial to proceed.

The judge also denied a motion by Giesler to quash the indictments on the grounds that no women were members of the panel from which the grand jury which voted them was drawn.

Chaplin was then called to the bench and asked to plead guilty or not guilty to the Mann act charges. The conspiracy charge is to be tried separately at a later date.

Pleads Not Guilty.

Charles H. Carr, United States attorney, told the court he would be ready to proceed with the trial in 10 days. Giesler, however, asked for a greater delay, stating he would need to bring a number of witnesses from outside the state and would have to obtain depositions from others. The judge then set the March 21 date.

CHARGES BEST OF BRITISH COAL VEINS KEPT IDLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 27 [Sunday].—An accusation is made in the Sunday Pictorial that mine owners are leaving the richest seams in the mines for post-war exploitations. A reporter, who has investigated the coal production problem, contends that in one field alone there are a million tons ready, but hauling facilities are lacking.

There is no need for panic, says the reporter, who charges that the country is actually overlooking the source of at least 100 million tons of coal, despite a reported critical shortage. He winds up by challenging the fuel minister "to tell the public why he is only scratching the surface of the source of supply."

Meanwhile, a fresh strike involving 5,000 pit hands broke out today at the East Durham collieries because of dissatisfaction over recent wage awards. The chief grievance was said to be that piece workers earning more than $20 weekly do not benefit from the award.

OPA to Make Drivers Show Their Coupons

Agents of the office of price administration will descend on motorists at gasoline stations during the week of March 6 to demand to see whether the gas ration coupons in their possession are indorsed in accordance with the bureau's regulations, Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator in Chicago, said yesterday.

The visits to service stations, he said, will be part of the OPA's attempt to curb illegal gasoline sales, which, Walters estimated, amount to 2½ million gallons a day in the nation.

Planning A Coupon Cut.

Because of its inability to cope with the loss of normal civilian gasoline supplies thru black market channels, the OPA is planning to cut the value of A gas coupons in the midwest to 2 gallons in March, gasoline dealers have heard.

The OPA now requires motorists, as soon as they obtain gas ration coupons, to write on the face of each stamp the state license number of their automobiles, and the name of the state in which the license was issued. OPA chiefs believe this procedure will help cut down illegal sales. Coupons on which motorists wrote last year's license numbers are still valid, the OPA said.

Walters said yesterday that OPA employes will make "spot examinations" at gasoline stations in the Chicago area after March 6. When a motorist stops at a station being "spotted," the agent will ask to see all the stamps he has.

Must Report to Board.

If some of them are not properly indorsed with the owner's auto license number, the motorist will be given a formal notice of the OPA regulation requiring the indorsement. He also will be ordered to indorse all the stamps, and go to his local ration board within 10 days to prove he has done so. If he does not report to his board, a hearing will be held to revoke his gas coupons.

"We hope we won't have to punish many motorists or place a burden on the ration boards," Walters said. "That is why we are issuing this advance warning."

Malaria Epidemic Kills 65,000 in Upper Egypt

SOLDIER IS SHOT DEAD BY DETECTIVE DURING QUIZ ON ROBBERIES

Pvt. Steve Warren, 24, of 3204 S. Racine av., absent without leave from Camp McCoy, Wis., was shot and killed yesterday in the apartment of his sister, Mrs. Jean Schillaci, at 2626 Wallace st., by Detective Louis Agnes of the Deering station.

Pvt. Steve Warren.

Agnes and Detective George Higgins had gone to the apartment to question Warren and Patrick Roberson, 24, Grand Junction, Col., also absent from Camp McCoy, about series of recent robberies in the district. Warren was shot before he could pull the trigger of a revolver he had taken from his pocket.

At the police station Roberson admitted participating in the holdup of a street car conductor. He had stood by, he said, while Warren robbed the conductor. Police records disclosed that Warren had been sentenced to one year to life in 1938 for burglary.

MERCURY SOARS TO 61.9 DEGREES; NEARS RECORD

The mercury soared to 61.9 degrees in Chicago at 12:15 p. m. yesterday, but failed to equal the record for the date, 62.8, set in 1932. The all time high mark for February, recorded Feb. 21, 1930, is 67, said Forecaster H. A. Downs.

High temperature today is scheduled to be near 45, following near freezing temperatures during the night. Downs said he had received no reports of damage to fruit trees as the result of swelling buds.

It was windy yesterday, too, with a velocity of 34 miles an hour at the airport, and 50 miles an hour over the lake.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The official newsletter for local draft boards recently noted that Lieuleusszzuleusszesszes W. Hurrizzisstizzi, a registrant of board 156, New York City, was listed on the rolls with an initial instead of a middle name. Col. Arthur V. McDermott, New York director, today set the national office straight. The registrant's middle name, he said, is Willikiminizzissleizzii.

Policeman Hurt in Fall Climbing to Free His Son

Policeman Edward McGetrick, 35, of the Sheffield av. station, was injured critically last evening when he fell from a ladder which broke as he was climbing to a second floor bathroom window of his home at 2634 N. Spaulding av., where his son, Gerald, 18 months old, had locked himself inside. McGetrick was taken to Alexian Brothers hospital.

TribuneComic Strip Reveals Army Air Unit

A mysterious alphabetical symbol, "AACS," which appeared in the Terry comic strip in THE TRIBUNE Friday, uncovered the five year development of the army airways communication system, a wing of the army air forces, which maintains the largest network of aerial highways in the world. That statement was made by the office of Maj. Milton H. Gray, regional control officer, 2d army communications region, at 33 N. La Salle st.

Network Circles Globe.

Inquiries concerning the meaning of the symbol prominently displayed by Artist Milton Caniff, creator of Terry, brought the information, hitherto more or less of a military secret, that the AACS maintains a system of 600,000 miles of radio circuits operated from control towers in all 48 states and 52 foreign countries. There is no spot around the globe from which a pilot cannot communicate with one of these control towers to report conditions or obtain a change of orders.

"Traffic cops of the air," pilots have nicknamed these control tower men who man the vital units in the system which grew in five years from 43 officers and 350 men and 33 stations, to a present personnel of 15,000 officers and men and several thousand stations, Maj. Gray said.

Equipment Varied.

A control tower at Henderson field on Guadalcanal was hoisted 150 feet in the air on four bamboo poles, in contrast to station buildings on Greenland where a year ago a wind of 175 mile velocity, the highest ever reported, blew most of them away, necessitating anchoring them thereafter to immovable rock, attaches of the major's office declared.

It was explained that the AACS is under the direction of Col. Ivan L. Farman, its commanding officer, who has headquarters at Asheville, N. C. No pilot can take off or land at any army controled field without authority from a control tower. Radio beams provide aerial highways to every continent on the earth. The 2d region under Maj. Gray embraces six states, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Kentucky.

HERSHEY TELLS BOARDS: BEGIN STUDY AT ONCE

Leniency Charged in Deferments.

First Pictures of Truk Raid

Turn to page 3 for the first pictures of United States navy's raid on Truk, Jap base in the Caroline Islands, on Feb. 16. Nineteen Jap ships were sunk and 201 planes destroyed during the action.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Diagram on page 8.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Review of all occupational draft deferments, with especial examination of cases of men under 26, was ordered tonight by Maj. Gen. Hershey, director of selective service.

Hershey ordered the nation's draft boards to begin the review a few hours after he received a directive from President Roosevelt calling for reëxamination of draft deferments in the "crucial year" of the war.

The President asserted there is a "grave shortage" of man power and that job deferments had been granted too leniently. He urged Hershey and War Man Power Commissioner McNutt, to whom a copy of the directive also was sent, to sift thru the 5 million deferments, particularly some 550,000 childless men under 26 years of age on farms and 380,000 such men in industry.

Asks Immediate Action.

Hershey telegraphed the President's order to state draft directors to support his request that the reclassification of deferred men begin at once.

"The time has passed when the public will accept the deferment of registrants, particularly the young ones, except for the most critical reasons," Hershey informed draft boards.

The first reaction to the Presidential statement was that Mr. Roosevelt had invited fresh congressional criticism of the wholesale deferment of New Dealers as essential men in the government. It was predicted that members of congress will label the directive as a confession the draft has been improperly administered.

Thousands of Payrollers.

Rep. Costello [D., Cal.] chairman of a house military subcommittee which has been investigating deferments of government payrollers, said in a statement there were 475,000 pre-Pearl Harbor fathers in govment service and that requests for deferments have been made for 190,000 of them. He said deferments already have been approved for 125,000.

"Unless there is a more stringent policy applied to the employes of government, we cannot expect industry or agriculture to set the example," Costello said.

The administration reportedly has felt deeply the animosity aroused by the father draft and quietly ordered a cut of 300,000 in the draft quota so as to halt the flow of fathers into the army. There has been no official confirmation of the report, but a decrease in inductions has been noted thruout the country.

Industrial Deferments.

The President's call for review of industrial deferments said the places of able bodied men in industry should be taken by those over

Reds Drive on Pskov; Seize 318 Villages

LONDON, Feb. 27 [Sunday]—(AP).—The German army appeared to be retreating rapidly from all of northwestern Russia today as Moscow announced that soviet forces yesterday not only captured two railroad stations on the roads to Pskov, but seized 318 localities and ousted the Germans from 105 miles of a north-south railroad less than 70 miles from Latvia.

The principal stations captured were Novoselye, 26 miles northeast of Pskov, and Porkhov, 45 miles east. The section of railroad now controled by the Reds is to the south, between Dno and Novosokolniki.

The day's advances were made on a 175 mile front extending from the shore of Lake Pskov east and south to a point 18 miles west of Novosokolniki.

No advances were reported northwest of Pskov, where Russian lines were about 20 miles from that communications center and gateway to the Baltic states.

Gain 10 Miles a Day.

Gaining approximately 10 miles a day, the Russians were giving the retreating Nazis little time to dig in for a stand. If Pskov is taken, German positions in the north will be seriously weakened, for that town is the control center for four railways and two highways.

Moscow's midnight war bulletin also reported that guerrilla detachments operating in the Vitebsk region routed German garrisons from 30 populated places during the last six weeks.

Developments in the Dnieper bend were not mentioned.

Adolf Hitler was reported to have hurried to the northern front to investigate the causes of the German defeats.

Quoting a Swedish source, the French radio at Algiers said that Hitler had gone to the front with staff generals to bolster Nazi resistance.

Another French broadcast from Algiers, quoting a Swiss source, said that Field Marshal Georg von Kuechler had been imprisoned in a fortress at Koenigsberg for insubordination to Hitler in disobeying orders to hold his northern front at all costs. Marshal von Kuechler 10 days ago was reported to have been relieved of his command.

GERMAN WAR REPORT

The Saturday German war bulletin as broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press:

"Between the Dnieper and Krivoi Rog as well as northwest of Kirovograd numerous soviet attacks supported by tanks and battle planes failed with heavy enemy losses. At Zvenigorodka our troops threw the enemy from strongly fortified positions.

"In the area south of the Pripet, attacking and defensive fighting developed. Continued soviet attacks south of the Berezina river were smashed. One point of penetration was sealed off.

"North of Rogachev our troops scored complete defensive successes against the enemy attacking with superior forces.

"Also west of Krichev, southeast of Vitebsk, and on the northern sector of the east front enemy attacks were foiled, some of them by counter-attacks."

GIRL BURGLAR ELUDES WOMAN, FLEES IN AUTO

A girl burglar about 15 years old, wearing a white babushka and a maroon coat, was sought last night by W. North av. police after Mrs. Helen Wazniak of 1534 N. Campbell av. reported the girl had eluded her.

After Mrs. Wazniak returned home from a neighborhood bakery late in the afternoon, a neighbor told her some one had entered her home by a bedroom window. Mrs. Wazniak went to the side of the house, met the girl, and asked: "What do you want?" The girl replied: "I've got the wrong address," then jumped over a fence, ran to a maroon colored car, and escaped in it.

TELLS HOW U.S. ENVOYS IN VICHY WERE SEIZED

Diplomats Call Nazi Act 'Kidnaping.'

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 26.—American diplomats, consuls, newspaper correspondents, and Red Cross and Quaker relief workers, seized in France 13 months ago by the German Gestapo and held in detention in Baden-Baden, Germany, are preparing to board the Gripsholm for repatriation to the United States. Axis repatriates, who came here on the ship, were landed in Lisbon today.

The Americans spent their first day in Lisbon accustoming themselves to the thousand and one ways of normal life.

They marveled at things such as they had not seen for several years—either in France before their detention or in Germany. They were astonished to see automobiles running freely and taxis plentiful and brightly lighted streets after the Stygian blackouts of France and Germany.

Reception for Party.

A reception was held this afternoon at the American embassy for both North and South American members of the groups. They exchanged experiences and enjoyed the comfort of the well stocked embassy sideboard.

Among the repatriates were diplomatic personnel of the American embassy at Vichy under Charge d'Affaires S. Pinkney Tuck, including Secretaries Tyler Thompson, Douglas MacArthur II., Woodruff Wallner, Military Attache Col. Robert Schow, Naval Attache Capt. Abel Sabalot, Consul General J. Webb Benton and consular personnel of Marseilles, Lyons, Nice, and Tunis. There also were 17 Red Cross workers and 17 newspaper correspondents and families, and 13 Quaker and Mennonite relief workers.

Comfortably Housed.

Seizure of the American diplomatic groups by the Germans was an unprecedented and unjustifiable act, contrary to all international practice, one of the repatriated diplomats said. Kidnaping of the Americans means that all diplomats now assigned to countries under axis control have no assurance of their personal safety.

It is expected that the United States government will have drastic proposals to make when the post-war settlement is made with Germany.

When the Vichy government broke off relations with Washington, D. C., on Nov. 8, 1942, Americans who were not members of the official group were rounded up by the French and held in forced residence. Before Tuck and his official party of diplomats, consuls, relief workers, and newspaper men could be assembled outside Vichy to await exchange and repatriation in exchange for French Ambassador Henri Haye and French embassy officials, the Germans seized the rest of France and occupied Vichy.

On Nov. 11, uniformed Germans with machine guns and rifles broke into the American embassy in Vichy, seized papers and documents that were to be turned over to the Swiss as representatives of American interests, and also stole automobiles, tires, jewelry, and a photostatic machine.

Taken Out of French Hands.

The Germans occupied the American embassy property from Nov. 11 to 16 when they finally turned it over to the Swiss.

On Nov. 11 Tuck and his party left Vichy for Lourdes after a two hour delay due to the embassy incident which detained three members of the party. They reached Lourdes without incident the next day and were held in detention there by the French in three hotels.

Negotiation for the exchange of the Americans for Henry Haye and a group of French in America was under way when at the end of November the German consuls and armistice commission were captured in North Africa and removed to England. From that time on the Germans practically took the negotiations out of French hands and at the beginning of January they sent Gestapo police to Lourdes to take charge of the Americans.

GUAM ATTACKED BY U. S. FLEET, JAPAN REPORTS

Tokio Says Garrison Is Fighting Back.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—A Berlin broadcast of a Tokio dispatch today said a violent battle of several days was in progress "for possession of the Pacific isle of Guam," with the Japanese garrison fighting to stave off attacks by an American naval formation.

"A bulletin on this fighting is expected from Japanese headquarters this Saturday," said the broadcast. "This former United States property is situated nearest to the Japanese isles."

Earlier the British radio picked up a Japanese broadcast which said American naval forces were attacking the island.

During its regular news broadcast tonight the Tokio radio did not mention the battle. Tokio's only mention of activity in the Pacific was a claim that "scores of American planes were shot down Friday in sporadic raids on Japanese island bases.

[Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported Friday only that "a smaller raid was made at Guam" in connection with the huge task force attack on Tinian and Saipan Islands in the Marianas which took place Tuesday.]

"Where Next?" Japs Wonder.

U. S. PACIFIC HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Feb. 26 (AP).—American naval forces which already have struck the Marianas, 3,800 miles west of Pearl Harbor, today gave Japanese garrisons on scores of Central Pacific islands grave cause for anxiety.

After two years of smug security, while the war was being fought thousands of miles away, these enemy troops must now be watching the horizon with the alertness that danger breeds.

There was no telling where the American forces would strike next. And what has puzzled the American navy, the whereabouts of the Japanese fleet was not only puzzling but dismaying to the defenders of Japanese islands.

Jap Fleet Unbalanced.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said the enemy fleet had lost so many destroyers and supply train ships it was unbalanced, and had dodged the fight. Power in the air also was on the side of the United States.

Failure of the Jap to "come to the rescue of his beleaguered garrisons in the Gilberts or Marshalls" was underscored by the commander in chief of the fleet at ceremonies for the decoration of two admirals and 19 officers and men of the submarine service.

Adm. Nimitz said considerable credit for the enemy's plight goes to the submarines, which have sunk nearly 500 Japanese ships. Awards of the legion of merit went to Vice Adm. John H. Towers, Washington, D. C., commander of the air force of the Pacific fleet, and to Vice Adm. Charles A. Lockwood, Lamar, Mo., commander of submarines.

Japs Unite Shipbuilding and Transport Agencies

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Ocean transportation and shipbuilding agencies in Japan were consolidated tonight under one official in an effort to meet the shortage resulting from United States attacks on Japanese shipping. The Tokio radio said Masao Tajima, president of the government's Vessels Transportation corporation, also had been put in charge of the marine transportation bureau, an operating agency for ocean transport.

SHIPS BOMBARD KAVIENG FOR 3D TIME IN A WEEK

ALLIED HDQ. IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 27 [Sunday] —(AP).—Kavieng harbor, the New Ireland stepping stone along the Japanese supply line between the Bismarck archipelago and Truk in the Carolines, was treated to a first class bombardment by American destroyers Friday.

A spotter plane reported one Japanese vessel was sunk and two left burning in addition to several harbor craft hit, headquarters announced.

Week's Third Shelling.

It was the third naval shelling of Kavieng in a week. A naval spokesman said shore batteries, which opened up on our destroyers, were silenced by the return fire.

A large force of Boston attack bombers and Beaufort fighters hit But and Dagua airdromes in the vicinity of Wewak, New Guinea, on Thursday, and Bostons came back the next day to hit Boram, another air field protecting Wewak. Fires started by the raids were visible for 50 miles. Eighty-six tons of bombs destroyed or damaged at least 23 parked Japanese planes. There was no air opposition.

No Battle at Rabaul.

Gen. MacArthur's bulletin reported a combined army-navy aerial assault against "the weakening enemy base" of Rabaul. More than 150 Solomons-based planes participated and for the fifth straight raid there was no air interception.

A headquarters spokesman added that Rabaul's anti-aircraft fire was very weak. One hundred tons of explosives were dumped on airdrome supply areas and ground installations in the area. An ammunition dump was blown up and a power plant destroyed.

FIRST WOMAN RED CROSS WORKER KILLED ON ITALIAN FRONT

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, Feb. 26 (AP). The death of the first American Red Cross woman killed in action in this theater was announced today. She was Miss Esther Richards, a San Francisco hospital social worker, who was a victim of a German bombing of the Anzio beachhead Feb. 7.

Esther Richards.

The 46 year old worker, a nurse in the last war, was in the receiving tent of an evacuation hospital when the German plane dropped bombs in the hospital area, killing two nurses, six patients, and fourteen members of the hospital personnel.

Miss Richards had been injured previously when a Salerno hospital ship she was on was hit by a bomb and abandoned. Despite cuts and a back injury, she climbed down a ladder to a lifeboat. After recovering in North Africa she insisted on returning to a hospital. She was educated at the University of California and Columbia university.

BRITISH PLANES BATTLE GERMAN SUBS WITH GUNS

TANGIER, Feb. 26 (AP).—Inhabitants of this international Spanish occupied city on the Moroccan coast witnessed a battle yesterday between British planes and several submarines. Results were not known here. A British plane located the submarines and summoned other planes which attacked with depth charges and cannon fire off Tarifa. The form of the attack indicated at least five submarines were involved. They apparently had been lying in wait for convoy which passed from the Atlantic into the Mediterranean early today without loss.

GEN. M'ARTHUR OPENS GUINEA RADIO STATION

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 26 (AP).—Gen. MacArthur, speaking over a new radio station opened in New Guinea for entertainment of allied troops, praised his men today for their "fortitude and fighting efficiency" and promised to afford them "that additional comfort which you so richly deserve."

The broadcasts will bring entertainment and news reports to personnel all the way from Saidor, New Guinea, to Arawe, New Britain, and in jungle hidden airdromes of New Guinea.

The commander said that "no campaigns in the history of the war have entailed greater hardships than here," and that "no one appreciates more than I the need of relaxation and recreation to alleviate the hardships and rigors of the field."

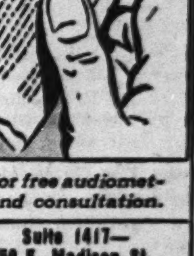
HOW MANY YEARS of BETTER HEARING should your hearing aid give you?

What you get for what you pay is always a matter of the greatest importance . . . especially in buying a hearing aid. We freely admit that there are hearing aids that cost less than Sonotone but we ask you, for your own sake, to remember that when you buy a Sonotone you get two guarantees.

One is a guarantee of a unique service of replacement that eliminates expensive, time-consuming repairs and cuts your overall cost of hearing.

The other is a guarantee of a personal service by trained, sympathetic, understanding consultants that begins with a careful scientific measurement of your hearing, an individualized fitting of your Sonotone, a watchful service during the adjustment period, and carries on through the years to come with the sole purpose of giving you UNINTERRUPTED HEARING!



Come in for free audiometric test and consultation.

SLICKERS JOIN MILLIONAIRES IN NEW DEAL PUFFS

Stern and Field Among Newspaper Allies.

BY FRANK HUGHES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—All of the New Deal propagandists, particularly the newspaper proprietors who support President Roosevelt and his internationalism, like to think of themselves as "liberals." One of the main requirements for their brand of liberalism is to have a bleeding heart for every country in the world except the United States. They bleed most profusely for Russia because the Communists are their close friends and allies.

The owners of these internationalist newspapers which favor giving America's substance away in Europe are a curiously assorted lot, ranging from multi-millionaires whom the Communists would most gleefully liquidate if they had the chance, to impoverished, slick operators who have to depend on intrigue with their New Deal friends for loans to keep them going. The millionaires are men who fell into their fortunes by inheritance and have never known what it means to amass money thru labor and the application of native ability, yet they try to afflict their "liberalism" on those who toil.

The Millionaire Class.

The principal propaganda agency in the multi-millionaire class is the Marshall Field press, whose owner comes by his internationalism thru environment and his money thru tax free inheritance. Field was born in the United States but spent his youth and early manhood in England in the social atmosphere of the British nobility.

It has been said that his grandfather, Marshall Field, who founded the fortune and became the archetype of Chicago merchant princes, opposed the idea of educating Marshall Field III. abroad. Nonetheless, the young heir was put thru Eton and Cambridge just like the wealthy English boys of his acquaintance. His branch of the family became Anglophile in a large way.

Mother Wed Briton.

His mother, the former Albertine Huck of Chicago, married again after his father's death in 1905, this time to Capt. Maldwin Drummond, a British subject, who died in 1915. His sister, Gwendolyn, married Archibald Charles Edmonstone, also a British subject, who was the son of Sir Archibald Edmonstone of Castle Duntreath, Scotland, an estate which has been in that family for about 500 years. An aunt, Ethel, married Arthur Magie Tree, son of Judge Lambert Tree, at the age of 18. The couple had one son, Arthur Ronald Lambert Tree Field, a member of parliament and parliamentary private secretary to Brendan Bracken, British minister of information. Ten years after her first marriage, in 1901, Mrs. Ethel Field Tree married again, altho news dispatches at the time said it was not generally known that Mrs. Tree had been divorced.

This alliance added the Field family's chief historical ornament to that clan. He was David Beatty, who at the time of his marriage was the youngest captain in the British navy and who later became second in command at the battle of Jutland, succeeding Jellicoe as admiral of the British fleet. Beatty also became first sea lord and was ennobled as earl of the North Sea and of Brooksby. He holds a brilliant place in England's naval history. He died in 1936.

Got New Personality.

In maturity, Marshall Field III. came under the influence of a Russian psychoanalyst, Dr. Gregory Zilboorg, who created for him a new personality and got him interested in the newspaper business.

As a result, the Field press is intensely pro-British and pro-Russian, and so little pro-American that in its smearing of nationalists it sneers at "America First" as "me-first," than which nothing is more reprehensible, according to Field. Field's New York paper, PM, is such an outstanding apologist for the Communist gospel that it is known as the uptown edition of the Russian subsidized Communist organ, the Daily Worker, and is often referred to as the New York edition of Pravda.

Bombed in Italy

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Lt. Mary W. Harrison of Ohio in bomb-ripped clothing and pierced helmet after German bombing of American evacuation hospital at Anzio-Nettuno beachhead Feb. 7. She was holding helmet when bomb fell.

Whenever Russian and British interests clash, PM suffers much anguish. In the recent incident of the publication by the soviet organ Pravda of rumors that the British were negotiating a separate peace, PM uttered a cry from the very depths of the British part of Field's new personality and was promptly bawled out by the Daily Worker for getting off the soviet party line.

Daily Worker Troubles.

The Daily Worker has its own troubles staying on the Communist beam. It eulogized recently in magnificent terms one of Wendell Willkie's effervescences printed in the New York Times about how the Polish-Russian border dispute should be settled against Poland. Almost immediately, Mr. Stalin's official Moscow mouthpiece, Pravda, jumped all over Brother Willkie and told him to mind his own business.

Field's Chicago paper was established a few days before the Pearl Harbor incident as a New Deal and internationalist organ to sell the idea of going into the war to an intensely noninterventionist middle west. Field supplied the money and the Roosevelt administration furnished a publisher, Silliman Evans, from its political string. The New Deal also attempted first to frighten and then to prosecute the Associated Press into giving Field a Chicago franchise. That case is on its way to the Supreme court, the other Associated Press publishers resisting the Gestapo tactics by which the justice department tried to "persuade" them to admit Field.

Parasites Rise to Occasion.

America got into the war before Field's parvenu Chicago journal was a week old, and as a fellow pinko organ, the Nation, unkindly remarked, the reason for Field's paper had ceased to exist. Field's New Deal parasites rose to the occasion, however, and kept the sheet alive on a new mission of disunity, smearing noninterventionists as defeatists and traitors and whooping it up for the new internationalist doctrines originated by the Roosevelt claque.

When congress drafted the tax bill recently vetoed by Mr. Roosevelt it took occasion to single out the Field publications for attention. It adopted what was called in senate and house debates the Marshall Field amendment. This measure limits to $50,000 the losses a person is permitted to deduct from his income taxes for perennially losing hobbies, such as the Field racing stables and newspapers.

It is estimated that the Field newspapers lose about 6 million dollars a year, about 5 millions of which Field could deduct from his taxes and transfer to the taxpayers under the old tax laws. The great mercantile fortune was passed down to Field in ingenious trusts that avoided virtually all income and inheritance taxes.

Another Pot of Gold.

Field's publications are not the only internationalist New Deal papers that draw from fabulous pots of gold. The Louisville Courier Journal was owned by the late Robert Worth Bingham and still is operated by his heirs. Herbert Agar, one of the most active interventionists in America, is editor of the Courier Journal on leave as a lieutenant commander in the navy on duty in London. Bingham married the widow of Henry M. Flagler, the Standard oil and railway tycoon, who in his later life built the great resort hotel and railway development of the Florida east coast. When this lady died, Bingham inherited 5 million Flagler dollars from her.

On the other side of the financial tracks, but members of the same political lodge, are the New York Post, and the Philadelphia Record, both highly pinko, highly internationalist, and blatant noise makers for the New Deal. The Post probably is doing all right now since its sale in 1939 to Mrs. Dorothy Backer [now Mrs. Theodore O. Thackrey], who has the fortune of her father, Mortimer Schiff, the late international banker, to fall back on. But in 1938, while still under the ownership of Julius David Stern, who is publisher of the Record, both papers were badly in need of cash.

In 1938, according to reports current in Washington at that time, Harry Hopkins, then Mr. Roosevelt's chief almoner; Thomas G. Corcoran, the current No. 1 New Deal political fixer, and even the President himself intimated to Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, that he ought to "do something for Dave Stern."

Denies Seeking Loan.

Stern denies this and denies that he ever sought a loan from the RFC or any other kind of a government subsidy for his propaganda organs. He denies, specifically, that Sen. Guffey [D., Pa.], another "true liberal" in the New Deal sense of the term, introduced him to Jones and supported his request for a 2 million dollar loan for the Record and the Post.

An authority which cannot be challenged confirms, however, that Jones refused to give Stern an RFC loan, telling Stern and Guffey that he wanted no criticism about putting the RFC into the newspaper business. Jones already had put the RFC into the newspaper business in the case of the Nashville Tennessean, subsequently purchased by his close friend and fellow Texan, Silliman Evans, the political publisher whom the New Deal loaned to Field to start his internationalist organ in Chicago. Evans recently returned to Nashville, declaring that his job in Chicago had been done. He is reported to have held a 5 year contract with Field at $185,000 a year.

"Other Arrangements" Made.

Jones has a reputation as a shrewd banker who put out money only on good risks. At all events, when they met by chance a few weeks later, Stern told Jones he had made "other arrangements" for his financing. Apparently he referred to a deal whereby he obtained a one million dollar loan under a provision of the national banking act which authorizes federal reserve banks to make direct industrial and commercial loans only in "exceptional circumstances" when it appears to the bank that the borrower "is unable to obtain requisite financial assistance on a reasonable basis from the usual sources."

Altho Stern received the money directly from the Federal Reserve bank, of which he was director in 1935 and 1936, and which put up $400,000 of its own funds, five other banks participated in the loan, subscribing the remaining $600,000. While some collateral was deposited to secure the loan, it was not sufficient to cover it. In addition to insurance policies aggregating one million dollars on Stern's life, the Record company put up as collateral 62,000 shares of common stock in the New York Post, 2,000 shares of 6 per cent cumulative first preferred stock in the Post, and a lien on the machinery and equipment of the ramshackle Record plant.

Stock Called "Worthless."

Ralph B. Strassburger, publisher of the Norristown, Pa., Times Herald and principal owner of preferred stock in the Record, stated in a letter to the other preferred stockholders on March 1, 1941, that the New York Post stock pledged as collateral for the bank loan was "practically worthless."

Stern declared that there was nothing extraordinary about getting the loan from the Federal Reserve bank and said that "not a dollar of federal money was involved." He denied that the loan was anything approaching a federal subsidy from the New Deal friends for whom he was campaigning. Under the banking act of 1935, the federal reserve banks are directly controled by the administration thru the federal reserve system whose chairman, Marriner S. Eccles, is a friend of Stern's.

Under the original agreement with the Federal Reserve bank, Stern was to pay a minimum of $5,000 a month on the principal of the loan plus one-fourth of the amount by which net earnings should exceed $40,000 in any six month period ending June 30 or Dec. 31. The agreement required full repayment of the loan, which bore 4½ per cent interest, by Aug. 5, 1943. Stern made a new agreement in the summer of 1942 by which the maturity date was extended to Aug. 5, 1944. He admitted that the full amount will not be paid off by then and said in an interview 14 months ago that he hadn't "given any thought to whether the loan will be extended beyond Aug. 5, 1944."

Stern is a leader in Pennsylvania New Deal politics, at which he has been even less successful than in the newspaper publishing business. Successful or not, he is a trusted apostle of the Roosevelt administration and as counselor or supplicant he goes frisking into the White House for a luncheon or an afternoon conference with the President several times a year.

GERMANS LOSE 15,000 MEN IN ANZIO BATTLES

Other Fronts Weakened, Says Allied Spokesman.

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, Italy, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Germans have suffered about 15,000 casualties on the beachhead at Anzio since the allied landing Jan. 22 and the 10 Nazi divisions there have now been thrown temporarily on the defensive while they are regrouping, an allied spokesman announced tonight.

The spokesman, reviewing the Anzio situation "now that the enemy's first reaction is over," said that the German casualty figures included 2,816 prisoners.

The German attacks have been "supported by a larger weight of artillery than had been encountered hitherto in the African and Italian campaign," he said.

Nazi Plan Upset.

As a result, the German program for relieving a number of top divisions for the west has been upset, and German garrisons in France and Jugo-Slavia have been weakened to meet the threat to Rome, the spokesman said.

The fierce four day German attack, which has just been thrown back, managed to penetrate the allied Anzio positions to "a depth of two kilometers [1¼ miles] astride the main road" before being held all along the line, the announcement said. The two kilometer figure, the spokesman said, represented the net loss.

Allied losses were not listed in the summary.

Rain, Snow Slow Action.

Ground action today was slowed by wind, rain, and snow, and there was little sign of improvement in the weather.

Headquarters announced that the allied right flank in the Pontine marsh area of the beachhead beat back an ineffective Nazi probing attack yesterday and thwarted new German attempts to infiltrate thru allied lines southwest of Carraceto.

The Germans attacked French-held hill 915 northwest of Cassino for the second successive day, and were again thrown back, artillery turning the trick.

On the 8th army front Indian troops beat back three separate night attacks near Orsogna, while at another point in this region allied artillery broke up an enemy raid.

Headquarters announced that an attempted attack on the Anzio anchorage Wednesday night by enemy E-boats was frustrated by allied patrol craft.

[The Germans reported attacks yesterday improved their lines and claimed three transport vessels and a destroyer in Anzio harbor were damaged by bombs.]

FARRELL NAMES TWO ON CABINET IN ARGENTINA

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 26 (AP).—Amid indications of considerable tension in Buenos Aires the government headed by Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell tonight announced the appointment of Gen. Diego Luis Mason as acting foreign minister and Gen. Juan Pistarini as acting navy minister. Appointment of Pistarini was regarded as confirmation that Adm. Benito Sueyro had resigned that post when President Pedro Ramirez "delegated presidential power" to Vice President Farrell Friday.

[In Washington information was received that Gen. Ramirez had resigned under compulsion. This opened up the question of United States recognition of the Buenos Aires regime.]

The general impression of the situation brought here by informed travelers is that the reshaping of the cabinet still is not concluded. Other reports from the Argentine capital said there were many rumors of military movements circulating early today.

All Persons Moved from Castel Gandolfo, Say Nazis

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Berlin radio said today that all residents and refugees have been evacuated from the pope's summer residence at Castel Gandolfo just above the allied Anzio beachhead lines. Valuable furniture is being moved to a safer place, said the broadcast.

CHURCHILL'S SON AND TITO CONFER IN JUGO-SLAVIA

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Capt. Randolph Churchill, son of the prime minister, is conferring with Marshal Josip [Tito] Broz, the Jugo-Slav guerrilla leader, presumably after parachuting into Jugo-Slavia, it was learned today.

Capt. Churchill.

Capt Churchill, 32, was the first member of parliament to become a paratrooper. He went to the middle east with a Commando unit in 1941 and later was seriously injured in an automobile crash. He returned to action in North Africa in 1942.

The purpose of his mission to Tito was not announced but presumably it is a part of the British effort to give all possible aid to the Jugo-Slav Partisans.

Seize German Airdrome.

Partisan forces have captured a German airdrome at Trizic, Slovenia, and destroyed eight enemy bombers, a broadcast bulletin from Tito's headquarters announced tonight.

In Herzegovina the German Prinz Eugen Division has started an offensive but a regiment of that division was routed near Gacko and lost more than 130 dead, the report said.

ANOTHER AIDE WITH TITO.

Announcing last Tuesday in his house of commons war review that "we intend to back him [Tito] with all the strength we can draw on, having regard to our other main obligations," Prime Minister Churchill disclosed that a 32 year old friend of his, Lt. Col. Frederick William Dampier Deakin, had entered Jugo-Slavia nearly a year ago by parachute and was at the Partisan leader's headquarters for eight months.

Capt. Churchill, who enjoys his father's flare for journalism, obtained an interview with the former Kaiser Wilhelm in 1934.

He has gone with his father on many of his war-time journeys. In 1940 he attended important allied conferences in France with his father.

He was elected to parliament in 1940.

Report 100 Killed at Fiume.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 26 (AP).—Great damage was caused at Fiume on Thursday and Friday afternoons when American bombers raided the Italian port and 100 persons were killed, a dispatch by the German controled Scandinavian telegraph bureau said today.

$50,000 FROM NAZI EMBASSY FOUND IN SPY'S HOME

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 26 (AP).—Jorge Garreton, director of the federal investigation department, announced last night that $50,000 in $100 bills had been discovered in a house belonging to Bernardo Timmerman, whom he described as chief of an espionage band recently arrested in Chile.

Timmerman was quoted by Garreton as saying the money came from the German embassy at Santiago.

Garreton said raiders also found invisible ink destined for Argentina and exhaustive records of the band's activities hidden in double walls of the house.

WEEK OF ALLIED RAIDS WRECKS 15 AIRCRAFT CITIES

Asserts Germany's Output Can't Replace Losses.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP). — Giant fires tonight burned themselves out in Augsburg and the ruins of at least 14 other centers of German aircraft production gave smoldering evidence of the greatest sustained aerial onslaught in history.

The offensive which began one week ago tonight with 2,576 tons of bombs hurled on Leipzig by the R. A. F., was rounded out with a 2,000 ton R. A. F. overnight blow against Augsburg. The week's bomb tonnage was estimated at more than 19,000 dropped by the Americans and R. A. F. together.

The Germans in six days have lost 641 planes in air combat with the Americans alone, plus many built and building at the bombed works.

The cost to the allies has been about 3,500 airmen on about 400 heavy bombers and 50 fighters lost, roughly $100,000,000 worth of planes, but the loss was described as economical in view of the aggregate of 17,000 sorties and the great damage to the enemy.

Operations went into a temporary lull today, with only Typhoon patrols over the French coast reported.

Put Fighter Plane Cut at 80%.

But in the week of sustained assaults by the R. A. F. at night and the United States army air forces by day, the German aircraft industry has suffered its greatest losses of the war.

The factories no longer are believed able to make up combat losses, said a high American air force spokesman. He asserted that since Jan. 1 twin engined fighter production in the reich has been cut 80 per cent and single engined fighter production 60 per cent.

The greatest damage probably was done in the last week, he said, when the 8th United States air force alone dropped 7,935 tons of bombs in Germany.

With the tonnage of the Italy based 15th United States air force, the American total rose to 11,000.

2,200 U. S. Raiders Out in a Day.

In yesterday's attacks by the 8th from Britain and the 15th from Italy, the American forces threw more than 1,200 heavy bombers and from 1,000 to 1,100 fighters against the Nazi air force and factories.

The climactic night attack on Augsburg by the R. A. F. was carried out in two sections, solid blows spaced 2½ hours apart. The German radio admitted heavy damage at Augsburg.

At least 15 centers of the German aircraft industry were hit smashing blows during the week—Regensburg in four separate attacks; Augsburg and Schweinfurt, three each; Leipzig, Gotha, Bernburg, Brunswick, Stuttgart, and Steyr, twice each, and Tutow, Oscherslaben, Aschersleben, Hanover, Halberstadt, and Feurth, once each.

It was announced that the German air force lost 142 planes in attempting to stop the American assaults on Stuttgart, Fuerth, Augsburg, and Regensburg by daylight yesterday.

However, the loss of 69 United States bombers in Friday's operations set a record for a single day's sorties.

Box Score of Week's Air Offensive

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

This is a summary of 12 big allied raids in the week-long offensive which has rained more than 19,000 tons of explosives on German aircraft industry targets:

Time.	Bomber Force.	Estimated Bomb Tonnage.	Targets.	Bomber Loss.
SUNDAY	1,000 R. A. F.	2,500	Leipzig	79
	1,000 U. S.	2,500	Seven aircraft centers	22
	600-700 R. A. F.	2,240	Stuttgart	10
MONDAY	1,000 U. S.	2,500	Brunswick and six Nazi airfields	15
TUESDAY	U. S. 8th [Britain]	1,000	Bernburg, Aschersleben, Halberstadt	41
	U. S. 15th [Italy]	500	Regensburg	15
WEDNESDAY	U. S. 15th	500	Steyr	7
THURSDAY	U. S. 8th	1,000	Gotha, Schweinfurt	49
	U. S. 15th	500	Steyr	16
	1,000 up R. A. F.	2,000	Steyr, Schweinfurt	35
FRIDAY	U. S. 8th & 15th	2,500	Regenburg, Stuttgart, Gotha	69
	1,000 R. A. F.	2,000	Augsburg	24

The Germans lost 652 fighters in trying to halt these assaults, official reports show, while the United States lost 234 bombers and the R. A. F. 148. The 8th air force announced Friday that 1,043 enemy planes have been downed against a loss of 305 United States craft in all its operations.

Additional tonnage was dropped during the week in operations by medium and fighter-bombers.

MARINES STOP FIGHTING AS OLD GLORY IS RAISED

ENIWETOK, Marshall Islands, Feb. 26 (AP).—It was the morning after the marines landed on Engebi. The 22d regiment had knocked out organized resistance, but there still was plenty of sniping from dugouts and trees. At 8 a. m., a marine climbed a coconut tree and nailed up the American flag. Snipers took potshots at him.

Somewhere a marine found a bugle. Generally marines do not bring a bugler on invasion, said Lt. Col. M. F. Schneider, the executive officer. When the bugler sounded morning colors, marines looked from one foxhole to another. It was hard to understand. Fighting still was going on.

However, the marines stopped firing, stood at attention and saluted the colors. Then they returned to hunting Japanese snipers.

Report Spain Says It Will Be 'Honorably Neutral'

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Spanish government has reassured allied diplomats that it intends to pursue a policy of "honorable neutrality" and that progress has been made toward limiting the activities of German agents, a responsible allied source indicated tonight.

FINNISH CAPITAL RAIDED BY 100 RUSSIAN PLANES

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 27 [Sunday]—(AP).—A Russian aerial force variously estimated at from 100 to 200 planes raided Helsingfors last night and at least 30 fires were blazing in the Finnish capital, reports reaching here today said.

Seven hours after the alarm sounded Helsingfors' commercial communication facilities still were closed down. The Finnish city of Turku also was without telephone contact from 9:30 to 10.30 last night, indicating that an alarm had been sounded there. Russian planes were said to have penetrated to the center of Helsingfors.

A short time after the Finnish raid was reported, anti-aircraft guns in the Stockholm area went into action against an unidentified plane that flew high over the Bromma airport on the southwestern outskirts of the city.

Truce Believed Near.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Peace may come to war-weary Finland early next week with acceptance by the Finns of soviet Russia's six point terms, diplomats agreed tonight as they kept their attention on negotiations between the two countries.

One big stumbling block in the terms, which circulated here unofficially, was said to be a Russian demand for the internment of 100,000 German troops in northern Finland.

Another serious problem was posed by Russia's reported demand for restoration of the 1940 borders, beyond which Finnish troops have advanced.

Report Finns Shocked.

The Stockholm Aftonbladet's Helsingfors correspondent said this provision was a shock to the Finnish people because many thousand Karelians already have moved back into the land on the Karelian isthmus between Lake Ladoga and the Gulf of Finland, which was ceded to Russia in 1940.

"If peace with Russia is to guarantee Finland's independence then the country's boundaries must not be violated," said the Finnish newspaper Karjala.

The view that peace negotiations had made distinct progress was strengthened by the fact that Finnish censorship, ordinarily strict, had permitted publication of the purported Russian terms. This seemed to signify the government was preparing its people for some important move. The 1940 peace caused profound surprise among the Finns at home because they thought they were winning the war.

Some of Terms Hinted.

Besides demands for the 1940 border and internment of German troops in Finland, unofficial reports here had it that Russia's other terms included:

The Red army will march in and help put the Germans under control, if Finland so desires, Finland's decision on this point to be voluntary.

Russian troops will retire from Finland after this job is completed.

Moscow will demand no changes in the Finnish government.

War damage claims and demobilization of the Finnish army to be settled in future negotiations.

MORE WITHDRAWALS OF GERMAN TROOPS FROM NORWAY TOLD

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 26 (AP). — Norwegian legation staffmen said today they were receiving continuing reports of the withdrawal of German troops and war materials from eastern Norway. At least one division was understood to have been taken to Germany previously.

Anti-aircraft guns are being removed, according to these persons, who said: "There is no indication of a wholesale withdrawal. It appears to have been done to help meet the urgent need for reserves and equipment on the east and west fronts."

In Skien it was reported that the Germans evacuated a hospital and took all equipment.

RUSSIAN PRESS TELLS GROWING FEARS IN TOKIO

MOSCOW, Russia, Feb. 26 (AP).—The soviet press is keeping the Russian people fully informed as to growing anxiety in Tokio over the allied intensification of the Marshall Islands campaign. A Tass [Russian] dispatch quoting the Tokio Shimbun said "Anything can happen in Tokio" as a result.

The newspaper Asaki said, according to the Tass dispatch, that mass evacuation of Japanese cities has presented a "multitude of unsolved difficulties" and added that the progress of the evacuation was unsatisfactory. The Tokio Shimbun was quoted as saying the evacuation, which began last September, has done little to clear crowded city streets in Japan.

Red Star, Russian army newspaper, printed a review of the Marshall Islands' fighting, and said it was "very significant" that Japan was losing islands which had been fortified for more than 20 years.

PAL SAVES LIFE OF PARATROOPER AS CHUTES DROP

Grabs Silk as Other Speeds By.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT AN AMERICAN INVASION TRAINING BASE, Somewhere in England, Feb. 26.—They told me today the story of Corp. Francis Fleming of Lowell, Mass. Fleming serves in the communications section of a certain paratroop outfit training in England and the story concerns a jump the boys were making on England's soggy turf.

Fleming's outfit was jumping from a height customary at home, doubtless higher than in actual operations. Fleming went thru the door in perfect form, his parachute properly dropping him thru the heavy English air.

Next Man Has Trouble.

But the man following him had trouble. Instead of the usual opening shock followed by the billowing of the canopy of silk this jumper was dropping bulletlike. He had what the trade calls a "streamer." His parachute, strung out behind him in a long line of silk, was not catching the air.

As the luckless jumper sped past Fleming, the Massachusetts boy reached out one hand, grabbed a handful of silk and held on grimly. Together the two bodies went toward the earth, held up by Fleming's arm and his chute.

Quick Action Saves Pal.

Fleming held on tightly while his pal struggled to release the reserve chute strapped to his chest, and about 30 feet off the ground it snapped open. Fleming landed unhurt. His friend, his fall only slightly broken, hit hard. He broke both legs, but Fleming had saved his life.

For this act a general came down here and pinned a soldier's medal on Fleming's chest. It was a decoration in which the entire unit took pride and to me it seemed peculiarly fitting. It exemplified again the way these picked men are trained for split second, individual thinking. It pays off in battle, as I have seen, and today it paid off in practice.

Tour to Familiar Area.

I toured over today to the familiar area where Col. Raff's paratroops battalion had prepared for the invasion of North Africa. Only I hardly recognized the old homestead, so cluttered were the grounds with new Nissen huts, tents, and all the impedimenta of a bigger bivouac area. But the squire's manor house seemed unchanged. So did his prize trout stream; so was the pub in the Bear hotel; so was the pub's mistress, red faced Mrs. Cad; so was her pert and popular helper, Margot, who recognized me thru the whiskers.

A part of this new real estate development involved a paratrooper school.

The school operator turned out to be a Chicago boy, Capt. Herbert M. Sobel, 1609 Jarvis av., a one time student of Northwestern and Chicago universities. With staff noncommissioned officers Sobel is now hard at work completing jump training of those troopers who did not complete courses at home, as well as qualifying nonjumping personnel and specialists.

Hardening by Athletics.

His pupils undergo physical hardening thru a course in athletics while practicing proper hooking up procedure inside of an imitation plane fuselage, from which they jump thru a door onto a pile of hay.

Sobel was a member of the first outfit to qualify as officers with five required jumps all in one day. Now that is standard at Fort Benning, as well as at the Sobel school. The weather does not always permit him to graduate a class in one day as he would like to.

"By the end of the day a student is pretty well played out," admitted Sobel. "But they usually find it is much easier on the nerves to keep going thru the same routine all at once."

Seeks $500,000

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Holmes, the former Libby Holman.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 26 (AP).—Mrs. Elizabeth H. [Libby Holman] Holmes has filed a petition in Orphans' court asking nearly $500,000 from the estate of her son, Christopher Smith Reynolds, 11 year old tobacco fortune heir, with which to pay for a Connecticut home. The petition was submitted thru Christopher's guardian, the Safe Deposit and Trust company.

The home was reported built some time ago at Stamford from funds other than those administered by the company. Young Reynolds is the posthumous son of Zachary Smith Reynolds, of the North Carolina family which founded the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company. The petition listed Christopher's estate at more than five million dollars.

DIG IN, ADVANCE, MOP UP: THAT'S HOW ISLE IS WON

BY HAROLD SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ENIWETOK ISLAND, Marshall Islands, Feb. 20 [Delayed].—The wide western end of Eniwetok Island, one of the largest in the Marshalls, was secured today by the 22d marine regiment and the 106th infantry. While they mopped up, the eastern attack was pressed by Lt. Col. Harold Mizony of Spokane, Wash., whose men scarcely had stopped to sleep.

The formula they had quickly worked out became almost monotonous in its methodical persistency. It was dig in, advance, mop up, over and over and over in five yard bounds, with well nigh perfect heavy fire support from land, sea, and air. It was slow, tedious and nerve-wracking, but it was saving lives.

By a daring stratagem the Jap was caught off his feet last night. At nightfall, when advancing troops usually dig in, Mizony ordered his battalion to attack. Probing the ground with bayonets and with rifle fire every inch of the way, they moved up 300 yards over the astonished Japs, killing large numbers.

Japs Die Underground.

Col. Mizony's routine is simple but effective. He halts his men along a well defined front traversing the island, which, at this point, is less than 1,000 feet wide. Mortars and artillery at the rear throw a strip of fire on the area about to be taken. A line of marine corps medium tanks moves up, every machine gun chattering. Just behind them comes the infantry, firing with everything it owns.

Wherever a strong point is encountered the tanks work over it with their 75s, grenadiers cram death in its openings, and flame throwers ply its interior with withering heat. Five yards or so thus gained, the boys pull up for a breather, comfortably assured that no enemy has been left to shoot from behind.

It is a method learned quickly from the first encounters with this island's defenders, so thoroly dug in that they are rarely seen. Many a soldier with a sizable enemy score never has seen his victims alive. They die underground from grenade fire.

Col. Mizony is everywhere at once but never far from the front line. "I've tried to follow him," one junior officer said, "but he makes my heart jump up and down. He doesn't know what fear is."

Sergeant Kills Fifteen.

The champion Jap killer of the battalion has been Sgt. Chris Hagen, 23, of Fairmont, Minn. He is credited with 15 Japs, most of them bagged early in the assault. His unit had just gained the top of the lagoon bank when it got two casualties from snipers on its left flank. The snipers' dugout was located and three Japs flushed out, Hagen getting all three with his rifle.

A few yards farther on a pillbox containing a large group of Japs was encountered, of whom Hagen bagged 10 or more with rifle and grenades. Col. Mizony and Lt. George T. Johnson, 31, of Sikeston, Mo., company commander, said they would recommend Hagen for the silver star.

Lt. Johnson, the battalion's newest company skipper, is the son of Mrs. Mamie Johnson of Normal, Ill. His company was in the thick of today's fighting.

Attack Jap Labyrinth.

The nastiest resistance on Eniwetok Island developed in a 50 yard wide strip of low, dense salt bush along the shore. Here the Japs had built a labyrinth of inter-connected foxholes with numerous entrances in a depth of tangle.

As our troops advanced they were hit by flanking fire from this subterranean network, the Japs crawling forward underground and keeping pace with our column. This situation was solved by shearing off the salt bush with rifle and machine gun fire, flattening it with tank treads and working the area over carefully with demolition ammunition and flame throwers. Japs died like flies on this beach.

Despite the tight perimeter of defense some Japs filtered thru last night and killed our soldiers in their sleep. One Jap climbed to the open hatch of one of our medium tanks parked behind the line and tossed in grenades, killing one and wounding two of the tank's crew.

FORTRESS BEATS FIRE AND 5 NAZIS IN 2 HOUR BATTLE

A U. S. AIR BASE IN BRITAIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—Like a boxer who bloodied his opponent's nose but could not knock him out, five German "rocketeers" chased the blazing Flying Fortress Eight ball for two hours but finally had to give up.

As the bomber was returning from a raid yesterday, a German shell pierced the fuselage and exploded in a pile of flares, starting a blaze that swept thru the plane like a prairie fire.

Rockets fired by the German planes ripped the Fortress full of holes but its crew kept on fighting back and won.

Fight Fire by Hands.

In defiance of the enemy fighters, three crewmen, one of whom was injured, with their bare hands literally tore the inside out of the plane until they extinguished the fire.

That enabled the struggling pilot, Lt. George J. Williamson, of Columbus, O., to shake off the enemy and bring the battered bomber home.

Then a shell whizzed thru a waist window and exploded, searing the face and hands of Sgt. George T. Kruithoff, of Grand Rapids, Mich. He was not seriously wounded, but lost his mustache.

Illinoisan Aids Crewman.

The next shell knocked the radioman-gunner to the floor and started the fire. Tho bleeding profusely, the gunner started beating out the fire.

The top turret gunner and the co-pilot, Lt. Otis Stogsdill of Cerro Gordo, Ill., rushed to his aid.

Stogsdill threw blankets around was killed. The dog's head was them out. Then, with the flames licking at their clothes, the three tore out the burning floor of the radio room and stamped out the fire in other sections of the ship.

Movie Stars a Flop, Yanks, Girls Put On Own Show

ALGIERS, Algeria, Feb. 26.—The first full-length play with cast including USO girls, WACs, G. I.'s and a royal air force corporal will open a three-night run here Monday night. The show, called "Boy Meets Girl," is planned to get away from "one-man shows" by Hollywood stars, which have been sharply criticized in this war theater.

WE WANT MORE WORKERS! CITY'S WAR PLANTS CRY

$150,000 Drive to Seek 47,000 in March.

Chicago's search for more man power to make the tools of war brought three major developments yesterday:

1. A war man power commission survey showed that war industries must hire 47,000 additional workers next month to meet production schedules.

2. To aid in recruiting workers, a $150,000 advertising campaign will be conducted, using newspapers, radio, and outdoor displays.

3. William H. Spencer, regional WMC director, left for Washington to confer with WMC Chairman McNutt on whether Chicago will be classified as a No. 1 critical labor shortage area on Wednesday.

Equals Half Year Enrollment.

The 47,000 additional men and women wanted by war plants during March is a production army as large as the number of workers added to factory rolls during the last half of 1943, said Lester Brown, Chicago area director of the WMC.

The plants also will give employment in new jobs to more than 40,000 workers now employed who will be needed to meet the problems of turnover and job shifting, which the WMC is trying to reduce from the present rate of 7½ per cent a month.

Brown's figures were obtained from reports signed by executives of 700 of the city's largest war plants, which already have requests for 37,000 workers on file with the 18 area offices of the United States employment service, a branch of the WMC.

Critical Shortage Totals 15,000.

Of these applications, at least 15,000 can be classed as resulting from critical shortages, which must be met to produce the implements of war which the army and navy have classed as most vitally needed, Spencer said.

Plans for the $150,000 advertising "war chest" to recruit workers were approved by the executive committee of the mayor's committee for patriotic action at a meeting in the University club. James M. Cleary, chairman, said the advertising will seek to shock the public into realization of man power needs. The cost will be pro-rated among the industries benefitted.

The campaign also will aim at reducing absenteeism and turnover, stimulating the shift from nonessential to essential work, and recruiting of new employes, especially women, Cleary said. Representatives of the war production board, the WMC, labor, management, and the army and navy, attended the meeting.

Seek to Head Off Change.

Cleary said the committee is working to head off a No. 1 critical labor shortage area classification for Chicago. He explained, however, that even if the city is placed in class 1, the advertising campaign will serve a useful purpose in helping to recruit the thousands of workers needed to maintain production.

Joining Spencer in the Washington conference with McNutt will be Cleary, John Nuveen, regional WPB director; Anton Johannsen, vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and Maurice McElligott, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois State Industrial Union council, [CIO].

AMATEURS SEND DELUGE OF TIPS IN DRAKE MYSTERY

Police investigating the mysterious slaying Jan. 19 of Mrs. Frank Starr Williams in her Drake hotel room have been receiving an average of 24 letters daily from amateur sleuths, Supervising Capt. Michael Naughton, head of the police department's so-called Scotland Yard detail, said yesterday.

Many of the letters, he said, dealt with suggested methods of tracing the death weapon, a 1910 model Iver-Johnson revolver which was found on another floor of the hotel shortly after its wielder, a middle aged woman, shot Mrs. Williams and fired upon the victim's daughter, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody.

Draft Deferments

Estimates made in Presidential directive of number deferred in agriculture and industry, together with number 26 years of age or younger whose cases will come under new scrutiny of the draft boards.

ALDERMAN FINDS NO NEED TO HEAR YARDS DISPUTE

There will be no public hearing by the city council committee on recreation and aviation of the controversy between the Back of the Yards Neighborhood council and Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, unless the committee members themselves request it, Ald. Grealis [44th], chairman of the committee, said yesterday.

In a letter to Ald. Bohling [7th], who had demanded a public hearing on the dispute over use by the Back of the Yards group of Davis Square park for their activities, Ald. Grealis wrote that the issue between the groups no longer exists since the neighborhood group voluntarily gave up use of the park facilities and obtained other quarters.

He added that it was his opinion that the city council committee had no authority to hold a public hearing or judge the actions of the Chicago park district, which is a separate public body.

JOB DEFERMENTS FOR FIVE MILLION TO BE REVIEWED

age and physically disqualified for military service and returned soldiers.

The release of large blocs of hitherto deferred men would slow the induction of fathers, it was said. It would not be necessary to replace many of these men, because there has been a laying off of men in some munitions industries because of over-production.

The President's directive was released by the White House because Mr. Roosevelt is out of the city, resting at an unnamed retreat. The directive said:

"The crucial campaigns of this year will determine both the length of this war and its price in men and goods. We are well equipped in food and munitions but their production has drawn over-heavily on our stock of man power. It is time to strike a new balance.

Adjusted Requirements.

"The armed forces have continuously adjusted their requirements to the minimum necessary to implement strategic plans. Initial estimates have been reduced by over half a million men. Recently the army has had to withdraw the great majority of men who were receiving instruction in colleges. The present allocations of personnel to the armed forces cannot be further reduced, and there is a very real danger in our failure to supply trained replacements at the time and in the numbers required.

"Selective service has not delivered the quantity of men who were expected. The shortage which commenced to develop last September reached a total of 200,000 on Dec. 31. This means that today we are still short approximately 200,000 trained men altho the actual personnel shortage in the army has been reduced to 150,000. Today, as a result, we are forced to emasculate college courses and trained divisions and other units. The army will not reach its planned January strength until sometime in April, or even later, if selective service continues to fall behind on its quotas.

"Liberal Deferments."

"The nation's manpower pool has been dangerously depleted by liberal deferments and I am convinced that in this respect we have been overly lenient, particularly with regard to the younger men. The overage men, the physically disqualified, the returned soldier, and the women of the nation must be used more effectively to replace the able bodied men in critical industry and agriculture.

"Almost five million men have been deferred for occupational reasons. Deferments for industry include over a million non-fathers, of whom 380,000 are under 26 years of age. Of almost a million non-fathers deferred in agriculture, over 550,000 are under 26. Agriculture and industry should release the younger men who are physically qualified for military service.

"The present situation is so grave that I feel that the time has come to review all occupational deferments with a view to speedily making available the personnel required by the armed forces."

ILLINOIS WOMEN RALLY BEHIND SALVAGE PUSH

61 State Units Meet Here Tomorrow.

Representatives of 800 thousand Chicago women and of 700 thousand women of downstate Illinois will meet tomorrow in Chicago's Merchandise Mart to plan a state-wide campaign for the collection of waste paper, fats, and tin cans. Emphasis will be placed upon the salvage of paper, which recently was declared the nation's No. 1 war material shortage.

Predict Increased Collection.

Thru coöperation of women's organizations, the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association predicted yesterday, the collection of waste paper will be increased by 20 thousand tons a month in Illinois.

Sixty-one women's organizations will be represented by executive officers who will meet at noon tomorrow in the Merchants' club in the Merchandise Mart with Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, state women's director of salvage for the WPB. Luncheon speakers will include Lt. Gov. Cross and John R. Robinson, of the newspaper publishers' association.

Set Extra Quota.

Plans are being made to set a quota in each salvage item for every woman in Illinois. The quotas will be in addition to other activities in the families at the time they are set. Vernon L. Nickel, state superintendent of schools, reported he will request each school to set a monthly salvage quota.

Ten pounds of waste paper a week, in addition to the quantity being turned in at present, will be requested of each Chicago woman by William L. McFetridge, general chairman of the Chicago Waste Paper Salvage committee.

Director of De Gaullist Paper in Algiers Beaten

ALGIERS, Algeria, Feb. 26 (AP).—Francois Quilici, director of the De Gaullist weekly newspaper La Marseillaise, was beaten by two assailants as he left his office early today. His injuries were severe. Police said they suspected political motives.

[Algiers later denied a Berlin broadcast report that Gen. Charles de Gaulle had been wounded in an attempted assassination.]

That Botany Is Some Idea

RIGHT! . . . why? Because it employs postwar methods of manufacturing and distribution—TODAY. From sorting the raw wool to sewing on the last button, every step is synchronized—to avoid waste—to produce the "nth" degree of value. The fabric is the finest of its kind ever produced by the famous Botany Mills—a pure worsted in excellent colors and patterns. One of America's best designers styled the suits to fit with the trimness and ease of a Major's uniform. The tailoring is done with a watchmaker's thoroughness. It's truly the suit of tomorrow—TODAY.

POLISH REGIME IN RUSSIA NAMES ARMY COMMAND

Agrees to Discussion of Boundary Line.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The pro-soviet Polish National council, recently established in Russia, has offered to discuss the Russo-Polish boundary question on the basis of Moscow's "Curzon line proposals" and has issued a decree appointing a new "commander in chief of the Polish armed forces."

There are increasing signs that this new polish government is being built up as a counter to the Polish government in London, which has rejected the Russian offer of the Curzon line.

The latest issue of "Volna Polska," organ of the "Polish Patriots" in Moscow, refers to discussions on the Russo-Polish boundary between the Ukrainian government and the "democratic Polish government" and suggests that discussions may have started.

Accepts Curzon Line.

"We are convinced," this newspaper says, "That Polish-Ukrainian relations will be regulated in a manner completely just to both parties as the result of negotiations between the democratic Polish government and the Ukrainian government on the basis of the proposals contained in the soviet government's declaration of Jan. 11." [The proposal suggested the Curzon line as the approximate Russo-Polish boundary.]

Rules Force in England.

The pro-Russian Polish underground radio station "Kosciusco," located in Russia, made known the decree setting up a new commander in chief as a rival to Gen. Kazimierz Sosnkowski, who is recognized by the Polish government in London as commander in chief of the Polish forces. The new commander would have control over all Polish forces, even in Italy and England.

Civil War Feared.

What is feared here is that the creation of such rival forces might lead to a clash between the two rival Polish organizations and a civil war like those in Jugo-Slavia and Greece.

The Polish government in London is alarmed by the prospect but remains adamant in its opposition to changing the personnel of its government and accepting the Curzon line.

U. S. INCOME TAX OFFICES TO STAY OPEN UNTIL 9 P. M.

To accommodate all taxpayers in the final rush to file income tax returns, Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, said yesterday that his office in the United States courthouse and branches in Chicago will, effective tomorrow, remain open until 9 p. m. each week day thru March 15, the deadline.

Taxpayers continued to crowd the courthouse and branches yesterday, approximately 5,000 persons standing in line until they were able to consult deputies.

Branch offices in Chicago suburbs and those in the 16 counties of the district in northern Illinois, outside Cook county, will remain open each week day until 7 p. m., instead of 5 p. m., commencing tomorrow.

TRAINER PILOTS IN CAA TO GET COMBAT CHANCE

Have Choice of Air Force Posts.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—More than 4,000 men affected by the recent decision to discontinue the program of training flight instructors for the army under the civil aeronautics administration war training setup will be allowed to pick assignments in the army air forces.

The war department said today that the instructors, graduates and students of the CAA-WTS program will be given an opportunity to go into combat flying, training or other flight duties.

Air Forces to Carry On.

AAF facilities, the army said, will be adequate to conduct future flight training of the instructors without the use of the CAA-WTS program for secondary, cross-country, link instrument and flight instructor courses.

The war department emphasized, however, there is no change in policy regarding the use of civilian flying schools in the indoctrination course conducted by the CAA for the AAF in conjunction with the college program for air crews.

Gets Choice of Training.

Students who were trained in the program and now are on active duty will be given their choice of continuing in the following training program of the AAF:

1. Aviation cadet, if qualified.
2. Volunteer for glider training, if qualified.
3. Volunteer for technical training.

Instructors released from training activities as a result of the discontinuance of the program may:

1. Volunteer for aviation cadet training, if qualified.
2. Apply for pilot assignments, of which there will be a limited number in the air transport command.

Dog Bites Owner and Runs to Death Under Trolley

James Donohue, 25, of 3204 Warren blvd., was bitten on the lip in the 3100 block on Madison st. last night by his pet dog which he was carrying to the office of a veterinary. The dog then leaped from his arms, ran under a street car, and was killed. The dog's head was sent to the health department for examination. Donohue was treated by a physician.

Built in 15 Months

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Completed within 15 months after the laying of her keel, the 27,000-ton Essex class carrier U. S. S. Bennington was launched today.

Chosen as sponsor for the ceremonies was Mrs. Melvin J. Maas, wife of Rep. Maas of Minnesota, and invited guests included Francis E. Morrissey, president of the village of Bennington, Vt., for which the first U. S. S. Bennington was named.

Plans for the launching differed from the usual sliding down the ways. Instead, arrangements called for admission of 16 feet of water to the building dock thru gates, so the huge vessel could be floated off.

POLAND IS BASIC ISSUE OF WAR, BRITON ASSERTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The real issue behind the Polish-soviet border dispute is not so much the existence of Poland as it is the existence of Europe, according to the British publication, "The 19th Century and After," widely recognized as an authoritative spokesman on British foreign policy.

In the February issue of the periodical, which reached the capital today, F. A. Voigt, its editor, took issue with Russia's claims to eastern Poland in an extended analysis of the situation in eastern Europe.

The article was regarded as significant in official circles here because Voigt was long closely associated with Robert Vansittart, Britain's former permanent undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, who opposed appeasement.

Called Greatest Crisis.

Voigt characterized the official announcement of the soviet claim to eastern Poland on Jan. 11 as uncovering the biggest political crisis of the war to date. He said the issue is not whether the eastern boundary of Poland shall be moved westward or whether Poland shall acquire portions of Germany as compensation for the Russian grab.

He said the threat to Poland was twofold in 1939 because that nation was partitioned between Germany and Russia. It still is twofold, he added, because Russia proposes to annex the eastern half of the nation and set up a vassal state in the Poland that remains.

The article sought to refute the soviet insistence that the Polish government in exile is not representative of the Polish people, as the Reds insist. It said the Polish prime minister is a peasant of humble origin. Labor is represented by Socialists and the Jewry is represented in a cabinet which is "moderate, democratic, leftist," according to the magazine.

Plan of Aggression Charged.

When eastern Poland was occupied in 1939, Voigt charged, the soviets embarked on a program of calculated aggression. He said officials were largely soviets, the Polish police were replaced by Russian militia men, law courts were suppressed, and many schools and churches were shut.

"As in the Baltic states later on, so in eastern Poland, vast numbers of citizens were arrested and deported to Russia with their families," Voigt said. "The deportations, which began almost immediately, went on for many months. They were carried on in accordance with an elaborate system.

"For a comprehensive account of these deportations a whole volume would be needed. They make up one of the most awful tragedies of our time."

Poland was Faithful Ally.

Voigt said that by the incorporation of eastern Poland, which Russia wants to repeat, Poland lost 51.6 per cent of her territory, 27.3 per cent of her population, more than half her timber, about half of her chemical industry and of her peat for fuel, more than 40 per cent of her water power, about 85 per cent of her oil and natural gas, her potassium mines, phosphates, and most of her grain.

The article said Russia would put 22 million Europeans under alien rule by carrying out the minimum of her territorial annexations—parts of Poland, Rumania, and all of Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania.

"Of these countries Poland is an ally," Voigt concluded. "The one ally that remained true when Great Britain stood alone, an ally whose fate is under the protection of successive pledges made by Great Britain. But the issue, now, is bigger than the future of Poland—it is bigger than the future of Russia, the stands for the reëstablishment of Great Britain. The issue is the future of Europe. That is why all Europe is looking on."

SCHOOL ROLLS DROP 60,000 IN LAST 4 YEARS

Chicago public school enrollment has dropped 60,000, evenly divided between elementary and high schools, in the last four years, school officials reported yesterday. The loss was 14,000 in the last year, with about 7,000 from the elementary and 7,000 from the high schools.

Present figures show 112,010 in high schools and 262,452 in grade schools, for a total of 374,462, lowest in recent years. Enrollment last February was 119,215 in high schools and 269,392 in elementary schools, for a total of 388,607.

Elementary enrollment was 292,962 in February, 1940; 284,588 in February, 1941, and 277,988 in February, 1942, Don C. Rogers, elementary superintendent, reported. In September, 1940, high schools had 140,587 pupils, but this rose to 142,486 in February, 1941, with a drop to 132,438 the following February, and with a 9,000 loss the next year.

Some school officials attribute the elementary drop to a movement of city residents to suburbs or give other reasons, but Rogers yesterday revealed a study which shows a direct ratio between the birth rate and school population.

Diplomats Call German Action 'Kidnaping.'

J. Dun, were brutally and shamefully treated by the German police when seized in Tunis. They were transported to Berlin and kept more than two months in the Alexanderplatz prison in filthy cells and without exercise. They finally were released and allowed to join the Baden-Baden group, arriving in a deplorable condition and almost without clothes.

Mrs. Dun, also seized in Tunis later, was badly treated in a Berlin jail and arrived to join the Baden-Baden group without baggage and adequate clothing.

Negotiations Dragged Out.

The American detention groups at Baden-Baden and Godesburg were released for repatriation after more than a year of protracted negotiation between Washington, D. C., and Berlin thru Swiss channels. During the early months it looked as if the Germans were deliberately trying to retain the Americans in Germany, perhaps as hostages, thru unacceptable proposals. The first exchange proposals were made Feb. 17 last year by the Germans and negotiations dragged along fruitlessly all summer.

Early in October notes were exchanged which indicated the two parties were getting together. On Christmas day Charge d'Affaires Tuck was able to announce the exchange was virtually certain. At the end of January an agreement in principle was reached and on Feb. 7 Tuck announced the date of departure.

Those in our party actually have been in detention for more than 15 months. They spent 63 days in Lourdes, France, before the Germans seized them and took them to Germany.

The composition of the American group is of interest. It embraces about 25 French, one American, two Russians, two Finns, one Swiss, one Swede, besides Spanish, four British, Belgians, Dutch, Rumanian, a few Lithuanians and Esthonians. Two have Nansen passports and six have no passports.

During the 13 months they spent in Germany, the Americans were comfortably housed and given preferential food considerations, and generally well treated except for one occasion in February of last year when they were threatened by the Germans with confinement in a barbed wire concentration camp because the Germans said some of their own people were not being properly housed in England. The incident was settled before anything happened.

One Child Born in Camp.

Despite the long imprisonment in Brenners Park hotel, shepherded always by Gestapo police inspectors, the Americans left in good health for the most part. One child was born in detention.

Food rations were supplemented by Red Cross food parcels. The Baden-Baden group received 20 tons of parcels worth roughly $15,000 during the 13 months.

The Americans in Baden-Baden were under the control of Dr. Schellmann, councillor of the legation representing the German foreign office, and Gestapo Chief Ring and eight other inspectors.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

A. F. C. writes: "I have had a great deal of experience making rope nets and various types of ship's gear, including canvases. Could I get a rating, and in what part of the navy?"

ANSWER: You might be able to qualify for a boatswain's mate first or second class in the navy ship repair unit as a sailmaker, etc. The duties require the ability to do all kinds of canvas work; the splicing of manila and wire rope; making and repairing of slings, cargo nets, fenders, and cargo-handling gear. You might seek an interview at the navy recruiting office at 321 Plymouth ct. and determine if you have enough of the right kind of experience to qualify for a rating.

A. G. F. writes: "I received my pre-induction physical examination and was accepted for limited service. Some people tell me the three week period prior to induction starts on the day of acceptance, others say it starts on the day my draft board receives the certificate of acceptability. An officer at the induction station told us our local board could tell us when we would be called. Can such information be released by the local board? How many days are allowed between the mailing of the induction notice and the date one is to appear?"

ANSWER: In Illinois there is a rather large backlog of limited service men to draw from and it may be several months or more before you are called. Your local board may be able to give you an approximate idea. Ten days usually elapse between the mailing of the notice to report for induction and the date of induction.

S. A. writes: "My husband has been in the army about a year and a half. Since he was drafted, his father was accidentally killed while working in a defense plant during our off-season. This has left me with a 240 acre farm and absolutely no man power to carry on with and it is too much for me alone and I'm expecting a baby in May. Do you think it would be possible for my husband to get out of the army to take care of me and the place?

ANSWER: It would appear from the statements in your letter that your husband should experience little difficulty in securing a discharge from the army. It is suggested that letters and affidavits be obtained from citizens in the community and also from the county war labor board and the county agent, stating the circumstances of your father's death and the necessity of your husband's being released to take care of you and the farm. It would be helpful, too, if a statement from your physician is included. When this material is gathered, send it to your husband and have him make application thru his commanding officer for discharge. In a case of this kind. there are two elements present—dependency and occupational necessity and the combination is likely to give your husband's application priority.

INTERNED JAPS ASK 11 'RIGHTS'; FREEDOM IS ONE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Japanese-Americans in the relocation center at Granada, Colo., have presented 11 demands on the war relocation authority, including a plea that they be given freedom to live and travel anywhere in the United States, Dillon S. Myer, WRA director, disclosed today.

Myer said he would answer some queries "with the best information available" and turn the others over to proper government agencies.

Asking that camp occupants be restored their full rights as United States citizens, the letter to Myer said draft age Americans of Japanese ancestry had been responding to the call for military service and civilian responsibility to aid the war effort.

Want Right to Fight.

These requests were made:

1. That equal opportunity for service and advancement in the military forces be offered Japanese-American draftees solely on the basis of individual merit and qualification.

2. That Japanese-Americans who are called to the colors no longer be assigned to segregated units.

3. That the right to travel and live wherever he chooses be restored.

Ask Privileges Back.

4. That evacuees be accorded all the rights and privileges which the Constitution gives them.

5. That any resettlement policy be coupled with adequate government protection and the economic means to start life anew.

6. That clarification be made regarding voting and residence status of Japanese-Americans who become of age in the centers.

7. That the right to become naturalized citizens be extended to alien Japanese.

8. That pending resettlement evacuees be accorded treatment befitting loyal Americans and that adequate wages be paid them.

Want Public to be Enlightened.

9. That vigorous effort be made by the government toward enlightening the "misinformed" American public with truth regarding the Japanese in America, and that the factual difference between the people of Japanese extraction who are loyal citizens of this country and the people in Japan be clearly presented.

10. That students of Japanese ancestry be freely admitted to all schools.

11. That the government establish adequate precautions so that the "sad" experiences of evacuation will never be repeated.

30 DRUMS OF MATERIAL STOLEN.

Thirty drums of a plastic molding powder were stolen by thieves in a burglary of a warehouse owned by the Cruver Manufacturing company at 117 N. Jefferson st., George Weber, superintendent, told the police yesterday.

UNRRA SCHEME: GIVE AWAY U. S. FARM MACHINES

Allocations to Foreign Nations Bared.

pet state out of western Poland," he said.

"Likewise, Russia has declared her intention of keeping the Baltic states—Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia. Are these grants being made to Russia, and if so, why not say so?"

Johnson called attention to a grant of 258 tons of farm machinery to Italy, a large part of which is still at war with the United S' tes.

"This is not the time to begin worrying about an enemy we have not yet defeated," he said. "I am amazed that the New Dealers have not included Germany and Japan on the lists."

Johnson fought the global relief resolution on the floor of the house early this month. He then said that "the letters UNRRA rightfully spell unlimited nefarious relief racket administration."

Opposed by Illinoisans.

UNRRA was strongly opposed by Illinois congressmen, 11 of the 54 votes in the house against the measure being from Illinois.

During the congressional debate, it was emphasized that the votes were merely for an authorization of funds, not an actual appropriation. No funds will be available until an appropriation bill is introduced in congress and approved by both house and senate.

DR. SARNOFF, 63, 31 YEARS POLICE SURGEON, KILLED

Dr. Isadore Sarnoff, 63, of 4903 Kimball av., a police department surgeon for 31 years before he retired in 1942, died in Swedish Covenant hospital early yesterday after he had been struck by a hit and run motorist at Lawrence and Kimball avs. Dr. Sarnoff had resumed private practice last March after his son, Lt. Comdr. Herbert S. Sarnoff, who succeeded him in the police department post, joined the navy.

Martin Gusich, 31, of 3224 Wells st., and William Sherman, 42, of 235 W. 45th st., were killed when their automobile, southbound in Wabash av., struck a northbound surface lines car at 13th st., then collided with a parked automobile. Rufus Thompson, 32, Negro, 4239 Evans av., a street car passenger, was injured.

Alex Kowalczyk, 28, of 4550 Merrimac av., a machinist, died in Alexian Brothers hospital of injuries suffered Feb. 10 when his automobile struck a railroad elevation at Irving Park rd. and Avondale av.

William Monday, 45, Negro, 6621 Rhodes av., died in Jackson Park hospital after he had been struck by an automobile in front of 6815 South Chicago av. The car was driven by Robert Howard, 41, Negro, 3228 Michigan av.

UNRRA TO CARE FOR REFUGEES IN EGYPT AND SYRIA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The united nations relief and rehabilitation administration is undertaking its first functional operation, it was disclosed today, by caring for European refugees in Egypt and Syria.

Miss Mary Craig McGeachy, UNRRA's new director of relief, announced the organization was taking over these refugee camps at the request of the British middle east relief administration. Miss McGeachy, a native of Canada, was formerly first secretary of the British embassy here.

PLANT TO MAKE ALCOHOL FROM WOOD WASTAGE

Rep. Coffee [D., Wash.] said here last night that construction of a 2½ million dollar plant to manufacture industrial alcohol from wood waste would be started this week at Bellingham, Wash. The project will be operated by the Puget Sound Pulp and Timber company. The entire undertaking is being financed by private enterprise, except for $900,000 invested by the federal government.

Construction may be completed in four months. The plant will produce alcohol at from 12 to 14 cents per gallon, compared with the average of 85 cents per gallon being paid by the government. The congressman said his state alone could produce 30 million gallons of industrial alcohol annually from wood waste.

He commended THE TRIBUNE for demonstrating to the nation the effectiveness of rubber made from such alcohol in tests made by the Trib-buna tires.

ALLMAN FIXES 10 PERIODS FOR POLICE LEAVES

Ten police furlough periods for this year were announced yesterday by Police Commissioner Allman. No furloughs will be granted during the primary election in April, the Democratic and Republican national conventions in July, the November election, and an unexplained period from Sept. 1 to Sept. 22. The furlough periods are from March 21 to April 9; April 26 to May 15; May 16 to June 24; June 5 to June 24; July 24 to Aug. 12; Aug. 13 to Sept. 1; Sept. 22 to Oct. 4; Oct. 12 to Nov. 1; Nov. 9 to Nov. 28, and Nov. 29 to Dec. 18.

BLACK MARKET RING UNCOVERED; 3 MEN ARRESTED

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 26 [Special].—Disclosure of a black market ring dealing in gasoline coupons with headquarters in Chicago was announced here tonight by Sheriff Joseph J. Shinners following the arrest in suburban Cudahy of a man said to be retail outlet for the Chicago operators.

He is Ralph Adanczyk, 25, proprietor of a butcher shop and grocery store at 3700 Hammond av., Cudahy. Seized with him as his assistant in peddling illicit gasoline coupons was Paul Nielson, 37, of 1802 N. 2d st., Milwaukee.

Shinner said that Danczyk after his arrest told him that he had obtained the coupons from Sam Beer, proprietor of the Boul Mich tavern at 506 N. Michigan blvd., Chicago. This information was turned over by the sheriff to officials of the office of price administration, who asked the help of the FBI.

Chicagoan Arrested.

Adanczyk then was taken to Chicago by an FBI agent and in the presence of the agent made a deal with Beer for the purchase of more coupons, Shinners said.

The sheriff said he had been informed by the FBI that Beer was then taken into custody and that Beer and Adanczyk were to be brought to Milwaukee later tonight.

A federal warrant has been issued accusing Adanczyk and Nielson of the illegal possession and sale of 1,408 C gasoline coupons good for 7,040 gallons, according to the sheriff.

100,000 Gallons Involved.

The sheriff said OPA officials expect investigation will show that from 50,000 to 100,000 gallons of gasoline were involved.

Adanczyk had set up headquarters for the sale of coupons in a parking lot in Cudahy near the plant of the Ladisch Drop Forge company, the sheriff said.

Winnetka Meeting Hears Col. McCormick Tonight

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will address the North Shore Sunday Evening club this evening in the New Trier Township High school, Winnetka. The subject of his address will be "Confession of Faith of an American."

MRS. BOWEN, 85, A BUSY WORKER ON ANNIVERSARY

The 85th birthday yesterday of Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, 1430 Astor st., was a busy one. Arising early, she spent the entire morning answering letters from grateful well wishers whom she had helped in one manner or another during the last 50 years as treasurer, and for seven years as president, of Hull House.

At noon, she received several old friends for luncheon at her home, and in the evening she was guest of honor at a family dinner party in the home of her daughter, Mrs. McCormick Blair, 1416 Astor st.

Mrs. Bowen had prefaced her 85th anniversary, in the two preceding days, with visits to the doctor and the dentist. She also attended a meeting of the Hull House board of directors.

Kidneys May Need Help to Clean Out Excess Acids
If you're feeling out o'sorts, Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles.
Worry, Colds, working too hard, or over-eating or drinking may create an excess of Acids and overload your Kidneys so that they need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.
Help Kidneys Remove Acids
Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the heart pumps blood about 200 times an hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded.
Seventeen years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in these three simple ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To palliate burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, which may easily make you feel years younger.
3 Day Trial Offer
To prove that Cystex may be the very medicine you need make this fair-play trial offer: Get a three-day supply of Cystex from your druggist today for only 35c. Take it exactly as directed and see the results in your own particular case—if not delighted and really surprised, or if not satisfied for any reason at all, simply return the empty package, and your money will be refunded in full. This is guaranteed. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, so start your Cystex 3-day trial today.

BLS RAPS LABOR COST OF LIVING INDEX AS WRONG

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The bureau of labor statistics took labor's cost of living apart today and concluded that they were "absolutely wrong."

The bureau submitted to the President's cost of living committee a 35,000 word analysis of the "recommended report" of the committee's labor members, George Meany and R. J. Thomas, with this comment:

"The claim of the Meany-Thomas report that the cost of living has risen 43.5 per cent [in three years] is not supported by their data. Rather there is conclusive evidence that they are absolutely wrong in asserting the rise in the cost of living is nearly twice as great as the BLS shows it to be [23.4 per cent].

Finds Full of Errors.

"The report contains many errors of fact, and makes use of unpresentative data to support its general conclusions. It does not meet the high technical standards which usually have characterized trade union research. Could the labor members of the committee, who assumed responsibility for these findings, have been fully aware of the nature of the evidence submitted, we do not believe they would have subscribed to the report."

Unswerved, Meany and Thomas joined in a statement today challenging the bureau to submit to the nation's housewives the question of whose figures are right. They said they got their figures from these women and declared:

"No group of government burocrats has ever before had the audacity to insult American housewives by telling them their experiences are all wrong and that they should instead try to live on BLS statistics."

Calls It National Average.

The BLS did not discuss the wisdom or practicability of using its index as a yardstick to measure or limit basic increases nationally, as the little steel formula does under certain conditions, but made these comments:

"It [the index] must be accepted for what it is—a good approximation of average price changes for essentials of family living. It is a national average, not micrometer reading applicable to the situation of every family. When it is used for policy purposes, consideration should be given to problems peculiar to the groups involved. Families differ, localities differ, prices vary widely.

"The cost of living index must be understood if it is to be properly used. Other agencies than the BLS have the responsibility for its application to national policy."

This appeared to leave room for inference that regional or city figures in the index might be considered when passing on wage increases, or that an elasticity in wage policy would be wise in dealing with different income groups.

Varies with Income Level.

"One of the facts that should be noted about the cost of living," said the BLS, "is that the lower the income group whose wellbeing is to be appraised, the more carefully the index must be used. At the lowest income level changes in the quality of available low cost merchandise, for example, take one especial significance. We certainly should not assume that every family which formerly had an income of $1,000 and now has a spending income of exactly $1,234 [a 23.4 increase] is as adequately provided for today as it was three years ago.

"At the very least, it should be remembered that an average increase of 23.4 per cent in the cost of living means that approximately half the families of the country have experienced a greater increase. The bureau's figures themselves show that the cost of living has risen much more in some cities than in others.

RATION TOKENS TO BE GIVEN IN CHANGE TODAY

The OPA said yesterday it anticipated little trouble when the token system of point change making is started today. Newly valid stamps, with a printed value of 8 points, will be worth 10, and blue and red tokens will be given as change for stamps of like color. For processed foods blue stamps A8, B8, C8, D8, and E8, each worth 10 points, will become valid and a similar allotment for each person will be made available on the first of each month starting with April.

Red stamps A8, B8, and C8, each also worth 10 points in meat and fat purchases, will become valid, and three more of similar value will come into use every two weeks. All stamps of both colors will be good for approximately 12 weeks.

Brown stamps Y and Z in book 3, for meats, and green stamps K, L, and M, in book 4, good for processed foods, will continue at their 1, 2, 5, and 8 point values until their expiration March 20.

'White House Sabotage' Told in Collapse of FCC Inquiry

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Representatives Miller [R., Mo.] and Wigglesworth [R., Mass.] said today the resignation of Eugene L. Garey as chief counsel for the house committee investigating the federal communication commission had been brought about by those "whose sordid activities cannot stand the piercing searchlight of an honest investigation."

The two representatives, who previously had protested a decision by the three man Democratic committee majority to suspend an inquiry into the sale of radio station WMCA, New York City, issued a statement 24 hours after Gary had quit.

White House Accused.

"The resignation under pressure of the chief counsel," Miller and Wigglesworth said, "is just one more result of the obstruction, intimidation, and sabotage resorted to by the White House, the department of justice, the federal communications commission, and the robed Richelieus of the palace guard, both past and present, to cover up the wrong doing and to conceal the pernicious activities of the FCC."

Garey, in submitting his resignation, declared in a letter to Chairman Lea [D., Cal.] that the investigation had been converted into "a sheer whitewashing affair, wholely responsive to political pressures and dominated entirely by political expediency."

Resignations Hinted.

Altho reports have been current on Capitol hill, that Miller and Wigglesworth contemplate resigning from the committee, neither gave any indication today of taking such action immediately.

They hinted at later revelation of some of the behind the scenes maneuvering in the committee, by saying "the time has come when we feel impelled to make a full disclosure of the facts.

"The American people are entitled to know the truth regarding the tawdry tactics employed by the Roosevelt administration to cover up and conceal from the public the activities of an important agency of the government," they said.

"The suppression and sabotage" which has been employed is a contrite confession at the bar of public opinion.

Truth to Be "Appalling."

"When the truth is known, whether now, in the weeks and months that lie ahead, or when a new and fearless congress calls for a complete investigation which cannot now be had because of administration obstruction, the facts disclosed will not only interest but appall the public."

The intra-committee dissension first emerged into the limelight about 10 days ago when the two Republicans asserted that suspension of the WMCA inquiry had been ordered by the three Democrats, Lea, Hart [D., N. J.], and Magnuson [D., Wash.], without consulting them.

Miller and Wigglesworth accused the Democrats of trying to "hush hush" the circumstances surrounding the sale of WMCA by Donald Flamm, to Edward F. Noble, former assistant to Harry Hopkins, White House intimate.

Flamm testified at a public hearing before the committee that he sold the station under pressure in a transaction he had been told "was greased from the White House down."

In calling off the committee inquiry into sale of WMCA, Lea said it was done until a court case involving the station can be disposed of in the New York Supreme court.

OPA SURVEYING MEAT DEALERS' OBEDIENCE HERE

Surveys in nearly 100 cities have disclosed that 25 per cent of meat retailers and wholesalers do not strictly obey regulations of the office of price administration, Joel H. Thornton of Washington, D. C., a member of the OPA's food trade relations section, said yesterday.

With James Degnan and Thomas R. Bradley, two other members of the section staff, and investigators from the Chicago area OPA, Thornton yesterday began a four day compliance survey of the city's meat dealers.

Thornton reported that in one large midwestern city recently studied, only 5 of 29 dealers were in 100 per cent compliance. He emphasized, however, that the large majority of dealers are not guilty of such violations as over ceiling prices and selling without ration points, but of such relatively minor infractions as failure to post price and ceiling lists and carelessness in marking various cuts of meat.

ONLY NOMINAL CHANGES MADE IN OPA PRICES

Prices of virtually all processed foods, as well as milk and poultry, will remain at current levels for the next three months, the office of price administration said yesterday when it distributed new price charts to dealers, good for the next quarter.

The main changes in the new charts over the last, put into effect Nov. 22, are the addition of gelatine and pudding mixes, tea and tea bags, cocoa, dry beans, white and graham crackers, and peanut butter to the community ceiling lists.

Turkeys, certain cheeses, odd and small container sizes of fruits and vegetables, cereal drinks, and coffee substitutes were dropped from the list.

The few price changes, except a 3 cent a pound reduction in that of fresh dressed ducks, are nominal, a comparison of the charts showed.

ROB PARKED AUTO OF $690 LOOT.

Thieves who forced the door lock stole cash register parts and tools valued at $690 from his automobile in front of his home yesterday, Henry Bell, 5510 S. Sangamon st., a salesman, reported to police.

HANNEGAN RIPS G. O. P. IN TEXAS AT $25 A PLATE

Winds Up Month Battle for $106,000.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 26 [Special].—Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic national committee, continued his speechmaking here tonight with a charge that Republicans are toying with the welfare of America by capitalizing on irritations that arise from rationing and price controls.

Hannegan spoke at a $25 a plate dinner which climaxed a month's drive in Texas to raise $106,000 for the party's coming campaign. The speech was his third since stepping into the shoes of Postmaster General Walker as national chairman last month and followed the pattern of his previous utterances.

Kept Donnell from Office.

The former St. Louis ward politician became a national figure in Democratic politics after he used his post as St. Louis Democratic chairman to lead a movement to steal the governorship of Missouri from Forrest Donnell, Republican, after the latter's election in 1940. Donnell was kept out of office for 45 days.

Hannegan told his audience it appeared to be the purpose of the Republicans "to seek to rise to power upon the irritations and dislocations that are inevitable in our mobilization for total war," asserting he drew his conclusion from "the statements of aspirants for the Republican nomination and the actions of the Republican leadership in congress."

"Such a policy betrays a woeful lack of understanding of the American people," he said. "Do they think support can be bought by promising more gasoline when our bombers need it to blast Berlin and Tokio? Do they believe that more sugar will gain somebody's vote when industrial alcohol is needed for munitions for ourselves and our allies?"

Charges Class War Fostering.

The chairman accused the Republicans of seeking to turn the laborer against the farmer and the farmer against the city dweller.

"When the war is over, the course of domestic life will become paramount," he said. "We should take no chances that the economic and social gains we have achieved in the last dozen years may be diminished if not destroyed thru the machinations of the party that plunged us into the distress and panic that marked the close of the last Republican administration."

M'NUTT IN IOWA SAYS HE OPENS 4TH TERM DRIVE

He told reporters he came here at the request of the Democratic national committee and that his speech had been read and approved by the President. He said he had taken it upon himself, when invited to speak, to open a fourth term drive, "because it is high time to get the movement started even tho the nominating convention is five months away," but thruout his talk he confined himself to criticizing the "outmoded" Republican leadership of the last 25 years, terming it "untrustworthy" and dating back to the "the model-T Ford era."

McNutt said his speech was the first of a series of political talks he will make preceding the Democratic convention in July. McNutt reviewed Roosevelt's record from 1933 on and accused the Republican leaders of sneering at and belittling his "political leadership."

Two Birthdays Are Celebrated

FOUR BURGLARIES IN SCHOOL AND SHOPS ADMITTED

Four burglaries, including the theft of $2,000 worth of musical instruments from Hyde Park High school, were confessed by members of a gang held yesterday by the Woodlawn police. The prisoners are George O'Brien, 18, of 7106 Ridgeland av.; Edward McDonald, 17, of 1536 E. 62d st.; Robert Little, 17, of 6751 Cornell av., and Robert Arends, 16, of 9641 S. Rarkside av.

O'Brien and McDonald confessed looting the high school and also admitted stealing $600 worth of tools from the Standard Unit Parts corporation, 6950 Stony Island av. Police recovered the tools and musical instruments.

Little and Arends admitted entering two cleaning establishments on the south side, but they got no loot. This was disputed by the owner of one of the shops, who signed a complaint against the pair.

FEDERAL BALLOT CALLED A VOTE STEALING PLOT

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Rep. Gearhart [R., Cal.] said today that administration forces are "expecting to steal 10 million votes" by means of the federal ballot for service men.

"It is a simple and plain scheme of usurpation of state's rights, a plain political thing," Gearheart told a forum of the National Republican club, "with the administration expecting to steal the votes because their candidate is known and our candidate is not known."

Gearhart declared the controversy over the President's advocacy of a federal ballot "presents convincing proof of the utter contempt for the Constitution which controls Washington 'thinking."

NEGROES' GAINS IN WAR TOLD TO URBAN LEAGUE

War time gains of Negroes, including increased employment in industry, were enumerated by Harold A. Lett, executive secretary of the New Jersey Urban league, at the 28th annual meeting of the Chicago Urban league yesterday in the Morrison hotel.

Other speakers urged increased education for the individual Negro to fit him for expanding opportunities.

The Rev. De Witt Turpeau, chairman of the league's civic education committee, announced a program for improving Negro citizenship thru widespread distribution of leaflets, stickers on car windows, church bulletins, and public forums.

WACs Are Guests

The Chicago Theater of the Air presentation of Sigmond Romberg's delightful operetta, "Blosson Time," produced in Medinah temple and broadcast over W-G-N, was dedicated to the women's army corps. Marion Claire starred in the role of Mitzi, and Bruce Foote, replacing Igor Gorin, who was ill, sang the role of Franz Schubert. Attilio Baggiore was cast as Baron Schober.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, was the speaker of the evening. [The text of the address is on the editorial page.] A WAC recruiting show was presented after the one hour broadcast. Highlights of the show were the army band from Camp Ellis, Ill., and the presentation of army officers who addressed a crowd of 4,400 persons, 3,000 of whom were WACs or prospective members of the women's army corps.

The dramatic portion of the role of Mitzi was filled by Laurette Fillbrandt and Marvin Mueller played the sympathetic part of the composer, Schubert. Others in the cast included Norman Gottschalk, Eloise Kummer, and Dick Good. John Barclay was narrator and the announcer was John Holbrook.

Radium Missing—Bomb Hits Marie Curie Hospital

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Demolition workers directed by scientists searched the bomb ruins of the Marie Curie radium therapy hospital today for a half gram of radium estimated to be worth $12,000 when a direct hit demolished part of the hospital during a raid. The bomb struck an empty wing and there were no casualties.

DORIOT BACK FROM RUSSIA.

New York, Feb. 26 [AP].—Jacques Doriot, head of the pro-Nazi French Popular party, has arrived in Paris from "the eastern front," the Paris radio said today.

GETTING THERE IS EASIER THAN GETTING HOME

Difficult as it is to buy railroad tickets to Florida, Arizona, and other resort areas for winter vacations, it will be even harder to get tickets to return home at the end of the holiday, railroad passenger officials warned yesterday. Because of the current heavy travel, the passenger officials say they must discourage the travel they spent years to promote.

Travel to Florida points is especially difficult because of the many military and naval installations in the state. It is possible to get a few tickets to Florida, mostly as a result of cancellations, but how to get home is the problem.

Congestion to Increase.

"In normal times the Florida trains were crowded beginning about the middle of March with northerners going back home and we frequently ran into space reservation troubles," a passenger official said. "But this year it will be far worse because of the heavy military travel."

The military authorities have indicated that their northbound space requirements on the Florida trains will be 25 per cent larger than in the past, which will cut sharply into tickets available for civilians.

Military travelers will include not only members of the army and navy on duty but an increasing number of wounded and sick men from the combat zones traveling in small groups, officials said.

Suggest "Refugee" Trains.

There is some possibility a few special "refugee" coach trains will be organized to take out some of the New Yorkers in Florida. Requests of the government for authority to run a few special trains which would include Pullmans were reported to have brought the response, "Let 'em ride in coaches." There has been no discussion of "refugee" trains for middle western travelers.

The situation with respect to Arizona and New Mexico resorts was similar to that in Florida, altho on a lesser scale.

"If you wish to go to Tucson or Phoenix you can probably get there all right," one official said. "But if you do go you had better plan on a long stay."

Brazilian Fires Pistol at Hitler—in a Movie

RIO DE JANIERO, Brazil, Feb. 26.—Adolf Hitler was shot three times today in a moving picture house. During a showing of the movie, "We Refuse to Die," Oscar Portela, a miner, got so excited he drew his gun and fired three shots at Hitler.

HOTEL GUESTS CLING TO 11TH FLOOR LEDGE IN NORTH SIDE FIRE

A narrow windswept ledge outside their rooms on the 11th floor of the Knickerbocker hotel, 160 E. Walton st., yesterday provided a perilous retreat from smoke suffocation for more than a score of guests who awakened to find themselves trapped in a fire.

They had to remain on the ledge, a foot and a half wide, until firemen extinguished the fire and ventilated 40 rooms on the floor.

Three of approximately 60 guests on the floor were overcome in their rooms. They were Dr. A. C. Kane, Grand Rapids, Minn.; George Purdy, and Mrs. Louisa Berg, 80, who were revived by fire department rescue squads. All three were hospitalized for further treatment.

About 5:45 a. m., A. W. Schields of Detroit, Mich., in room 1106, awoke to find his chamber in flames. He told firemen later he had been smoking in bed and believed his cigaret started the blaze after he had fallen asleep.

Schields ran out of the room, leaving the door open, permitting the flames and heat of fire to enter the corridor, and smoke to seep under door jambs and thru keyholes into adjacent rooms in the northwest corner of the hotel.

Allen G. Hurst, general manager and vice president of the hotel, estimated that the damage was $10,000.

SAILOR SEIZED IN $353 THEFT.

Michael Packinski, 41, of 8832 Burnham av., a seaman in the merchant marine, was arrested yesterday when he admitted, police said, the theft of some old coins and a war bond, all valued at $353.50, from the home of Walter Knapp, 8358 Baltimore av.

FUTURE OFFICERS AND POLITICAL PATRONAGE.

Knowing a congressman will not keep a young man out of the draft, but if he likes army or navy life and wants to make it his profession he had better know a congressman. In a year in which 10,000,000 drafted men are serving in the army and the naval services there are only 380 out of a total of 5,500 appointments to the military and naval academies available to enlisted men.

There are, of course, means of getting commissions in war time, but these commissions do not offer much to the young man who wants to make arms his profession. If he is commissioned in the navy he is, except in rare cases, a reserve officer who faces discharge at the end of hostilities. An army commission is in the Army of the United States, and officers not possessing commissions in the peace time United States army will, if the precedent of the last war is followed, have to make special applications and satisfy examining boards if they want to stay in the service.

There were no good reasons in peace time why appointments to the academies should have been kept as long as they were a matter of political patronage. The continuance of this system in war time is indefensible. The entire student body of the academies, which is intended, and properly so, to form the nucleus of our officer corps in the future, should be appointed from the enlisted personnel of the army and navy. It would be a good idea if no appointments were made except to men who had served at least one year in the ranks.

Political appointments may have had one advantage in that they prevented concentration of commissions in one section of the country or one class of the population. Our army and navy have been national services in the fullest sense of the term. But the political nature of the appointments has obviously been a detriment.

Obviously this nation is going to have to have a larger army and navy than ever before in its peace time history when the fighting stops. It is also probable that we shall have to continue conscription or universal military training. Under these circumstances the logical place to find future officers, in peace as well as in war, is in the ranks of young men called up to learn how to fight as part of their duties as citizens.

WASTED FLYING EXPERIENCE.

The administration is training 1,000 young women as airplane pilots for auxiliary duties with the army at a cost of $6,000,000. This WASP [women air service pilots] program is under the direction of Jacqueline Cochran, the society aviatrix.

Those women pilots who have already been trained are said to be doing capable work, but meanwhile the army and navy are overlooking a pool of experienced flyers, most of them too old for combat service, who could do the same jobs without training at government expense.

There are about 5,000 of these pilots who have been instructors, and in some instances instructors of instructors, in the civilian aeronautic commission's pilot training program. That program, which trained future pilots for the army and navy, is in the process of liquidation.

One of these experienced instructors said recently in the Voice of the People: "The women pilots are doing a wonderful job. They ferry planes and tow targets for gunnery practice. But why waste the taxpayers' money to train pilots to do the very same job that any one of several thousand civilian pilots is already qualified to do?"

Why, indeed? No attempt seems to have been made to use the skill of the training school instructors, aside from those who hold reserve commissions and may be called to active service. The rest of them, as one of their number said, are apparently ticketed to be drafted and put in the infantry.

OIL FOR THE WAR.

The Truman investigating committee of the senate has issued another demand that the British do their share of providing the oil with which the war is being fought. The committee backs up the report of Senators Brewster and Mead, who reported that the United States has furnished more than 85 per cent of the aviation gasoline and about 70 per cent of all petroleum products used by the allies.

The committee report said that American petroleum reserves would be exhausted in 12 to 15 years at this rate, while British holdings, the principal share of which are in the middle east and close to all European fighting fronts, would be sufficient for a century.

"For that reason," the report said, "it would seem fair to ask our allies, particularly the British, to recompense the United States for this excessive depletion by transfer to us of a compensating volume of proven reserves outside this country."

More than four months ago, President Roosevelt said that arrangements were being made to increase the supply of British oil for war to alleviate what he admitted was a disproportionate burden on United States reserves. About the same time, a British oil industry spokesman denied that the British would supply less than their just share.

The American public had a right to expect some action after these statements, but the Big Inch pipe line and thousands of tank cars continued to drain America's middle western oil fields in ever increasing volume. The oil moved to our eastern coast, but the residents there didn't get it. The oil was poured into tankers for shipment to the European war theater.

The allies have had control of the Mediterranean since the conquest of Tunisia and Sicily, and the tanker route from British reserves in Iran and Arabia is no longer and no more dangerous than the passage across the Atlantic ocean. The only contribution Mr. Roosevelt's administration offered to offset our dwindling oil supply on this continent was a plan to sink 130 to 165 million American dollars in a post-war pipe line across Saudi Arabia which would connect American oil holdings on the Persian gulf with British controled ports on the Mediterranean. In the unlikely event that this pipe line were finished before the end of the war, the British oil reserves still might not be tapped.

THE REPUBLIC WINS.

The overriding of the President's veto of the tax bill has been greeted with enthusiasm in almost every corner of the land. It is perhaps the first time on record that the people have rejoiced at the certainty that their tax bills, already yielding some $40,000,000,000 a year, will be substantially increased.

The feeling of satisfaction thruout the country is easily explained. At last the people's representatives have called a halt to Mr. Roosevelt's ambition to rule unchecked. The power of the legislature over the people's purse has been reasserted. The executive has been rebuked for the insults that he hurled at congress, and more especially for his attempt to subordinate congress to his will.

At last the will of the people is being expressed in Washington. The Republican victories of 1942 have finally found their true reflection in congressional action. The popular revolt against the New Deal within the Democratic party made its important contribution to the result. Some observers have expressed the opinion that Mr. Barkley spoke as vehemently as he did against the veto because he knew that his Democratic colleagues would have removed him from the leadership if he had upheld Mr. Roosevelt. At any rate there can be no doubt that Mr. Barkley and the majority of Democrats in both houses voted as they did because they knew the people were with them.

The congressional victory in Washington last week will be long remembered in gratitude. Congress has served notice that, like the people themselves, their representatives have highly resolved that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.

THE NEW DEALERS' INSURANCE GRAB.

Paul F. Jones, state director of insurance, has suggested a motive for the effort of the New Deal to impose federal regulation on insurance companies. The New Dealers, Mr. Jones says, still hope to be in power after the war, but foresee the day when they will no longer be able to indulge in deficit spending. Federal corporations thru which they are attempting to socialize the nation will still have their vast construction and subsidy programs. Against the eventuality that money for this federal Frankenstein's monster will not be available from the public treasury, Mr. Jones says, the spenders are trying to get federal regulation of insurance companies in order to use it as a blackjack to make them invest their policyholders' funds in New Deal follies.

Since the reforms brought about by the classic investigations of Charles Evans Hughes more than 30 years ago, policyholders in life insurance companies, at least, have had relatively little cause to complain about the trusteeship of their funds. Most of the important companies have been mutualized and their earnings accrue to the policyholders. Their investment policies generally have been prudent, and life insurance has been made one of the soundest investments available to an American citizen.

The federal government is already in the insurance business. Old age benefits are nothing more than a combined annuity and life insurance policy to which employes and employers make compulsory premium payments. The manner in which the New Dealers regard these payments was pointed out on Tuesday by Sen. Barkley in his criticism of Mr. Roosevelt's veto of the tax bill.

To bolster its contention that the net tax increase provided by the bill would be less than a billion dollars, the treasury subtracted from the general taxes levied the increase in social security collections that the bill canceled. This sort of bookkeeping indicates clearly the view of the administration that the wage-earners' and employers' payments into the fund are not accepted as a trust, but are regarded as part of the general revenue of the government.

No citizen would buy a policy in an insurance company that treated his premium payments in such a cavalier manner, nor would any state regulatory agency permit such a company to do business.

DEMOCRATS POSING AS REPUBLICANS.

The virtual unanimity in thought of Illinois Republicans and Republican candidates for their party's nominations in Illinois is reflected in the scarcity of real contests in the party primary, for which filing has just closed.

A few candidates have come forward in opposition to the slate that was overwhelmingly approved by the party organization. They include ambitious men whose claims were overlooked and the usual political oddities who merely like to see their names on a ballot. There are, in addition, the Democratic candidates in the Republican primary. Their candidacies have been urged upon them and are sponsored by the New Deal newspapers. These men will be saying in the primary campaign the same things that the Democrats will be saying in the election campaign.

The New Dealers recognize that in Illinois, as in the nation, their only hope is to control the machinery of the Republican party. The scarcity of candidates willing to bear their banner in the Illinois Republican primary shows how futile even that hope is.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

[Following is the address delivered last night by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, on the Chicago Theater of the Air, over W-G-N, WGNB, and the Mutual Broadcasting system.]

BY COL. ROBERT R. McCORMICK.

Last Tuesday we celebrated Washington's birthday.

As a young man, he opened the war of Virginia against France. Later, he saved Braddock's defeated army and led the advance guard of Forbes into Fort Duquesne.

A leader in the movement for independence, he was unanimously chosen commander in chief by the continental congress. He held this rank for seven years and until foreign troops had been captured or driven from the country. Retiring to private life, he was influential in calling the Constitutional convention, of which he was unanimously chosen its presiding officer, and in the Constitution's adoption by the states.

The office of President of the United States was created largely because it was known he would be selected by the states for that office. He was twice so chosen, unanimously.

Declining a third election, he left to the nation a farewell address of advice. Time will only permit me to read from it its most vital paragraphs:

"The name of American, which belongs to you in your national capacity, must always exalt the just pride of patriotism more than any appellation derived from local discriminations. With slight shades of difference, you have the same religion, manners, habits, and political principles. You have in a common cause fought and triumphed together; the independence and liberty you possess are the work of joint counsels and joint efforts, of common dangers, sufferings and successes. . . .

"Toward the preservation of your government and the permanency of your present happy state it is requisite not only that you steadily discountenance irregular opposition to its acknowledged authority, but also that you resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its principles, however specious the pretext. One method of assault may be to effect, in the forms of the Constitution, alterations which will impair the energy of the system, and thus to undermine what cannot be directly overthrown. . . .

"If in the opinion of the people the distribution or modification of the Constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for tho this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed. . . .

"And let us with caution indulge the supposition that morality can be maintained without religion. Whatever may be conceded to the influence of refined education on minds of peculiar structure, reason, and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle.

"Promote, then, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it should be enlightened. . . .

"As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit. . . .

"Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all. Religion and morality enjoin this conduct. . . .

"In the execution of such a plan nothing is more essential than that permanent, inveterate antipathies against particular nations and passionate attachments for others should be excluded, and that in place of them just and amicable feelings toward all should be cultivated. The nation which indulges toward another an habitual hatred or an habitual fondness is in some degree a slave. It is a slave to its animosity or to its affection, either of which is sufficient to lead it astray from its duty and its interest. . . .

"So, likewise, a passionate attachment of one nation for another produces a variety of evils. Sympathy for the favorite nation, facilitating the illusion of an imaginary common interest in cases where no real common interest exists and infusing into one the enmities of the other, betrays the former into a participation in the quarrels and wars of the latter without adequate inducement or justification. It leads also to concessions to the favorite nation of privileges denied to others, which is apt doubly to injure the nation making the concessions by unnecessarily parting with what ought to have been retained, and by exciting jealousy, ill will, and a disposition to retaliate in the parties from whom equal privileges are withheld; and it gives to ambitious, corrupted, or deluded citizens [who devote themselves to the favorite nation] facility to betray or sacrifice the interests of their own country without odium, sometimes even with popularity, gilding with the appearances of a virtuous sense of obligation, a commendable deference for public opinion, or a laudable zeal for public good, the base or foolish compliances of ambition, corruption, or infatuation. . . .

"Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence [I conjure you to believe me, fellow citizens] the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake, since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government. But that jealousy, to be useful, must be impartial, else it becomes the instrument of the very influence to be avoided, instead of a defense against it. Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts and influences on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests.

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities.

"Our detached and distant situation invites and enables us to pursue a different course. . . .

"Why forgo the advantages of so peculiar a situation? Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalship, interest, humor, or caprice?

"It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world. . .

". . . Constantly keeping in view that it is folly in one nation to look for disinterested favors from another; that it must pay with a portion of its independence for whatever it may accept under that character; that by such acceptance it may place itself in the condition of having given equivalents for nominal favors, and yet of being reproached with ingratitude for not giving more."

Of Washington, Jefferson, his great successor, said:

"For his was the singular destiny and merit of leading the armies of his country successfully thru an arduous war for the establishment of its independence, of conducting its councils thru the birth of a government new in its forms and principles, until it had settled down into a quiet and orderly train; and of scrupulously obeying the laws thru the whole of his career, civil and military, of which the history of the world furnishes no other example."

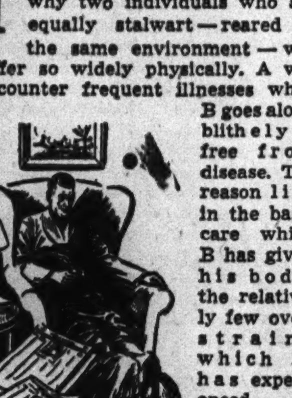
DON'T "FUDGE" ON CONVALESCENCE.

The question is often asked why two individuals who are equally stalwart—reared in the same environment—will differ so widely physically. A will encounter frequent illnesses while B goes along blithely—free from disease. The reason lies in the basic care which B has given his body; the relatively few overstrains which he has experienced.



Suppose that each of these men possesses a strong physique. Heredity is as good in one as the other. The chances are that infection will be thrown off by either with comparative ease. It is taken for granted that in the event of influenza, each will go to bed and be provided with proper nutriment and skilled nursing.

But A, not content to remain quiet after fever has departed, rises from his downy couch and parades around the room. He feels all right and he is all right. On the other hand, his "pump" is working just a little harder than is the case with B.

Now, for a year or two or even longer, nothing will happen. Both subjects will remain in excellent health but if A has made it a practice to rush convalescence, certain alterations in the tissues will occur which cannot fail to lower resistance.

For example, A resumed business before his cardiac muscle was quite restored to normal. Because the integrity of the circulation was not at par, the lungs exhibited minor changes. In like fashion there may have been intervals when his liver became engorged. Such episodes were not acute and were separated by months or years. Nevertheless, a small amount of scar tissue was deposited, replacing the liver lobules. Since it is more difficult for blood to find its way thru damaged vital organs, a mild elevation of pressure resulted.

Here is the picture 10 years after A has formed the habit of "jumping the gun" in the recovery program. His arterial tension is 30 points higher than B's and the channels have become more brittle. His liver may be somewhat cirrhotic. The kidneys likewise have degenerated slightly with some loss of efficiency. During much of this period it may not be easy for the physician to detect striking differences between A and B. Only when these signs of weakness become prominent enough to produce symptoms can he determine that B is better off physically than A.

The test will come should a serious ailment strike or should deterioration of the blood vessels or vital cells take place at a more rapid pace. As we can understand, once decay has been well started, particularly if many important structures have been injured, trouble may develop at greater speed.

Let us assume that another decade has elapsed. A has gone his way while B has pursued a more hygienic program. Under the stress and strain of equal mental and physical loads, which of the two will withstand the onslaught? Which will lapse into invalidism? The answer requires no profound knowledge of logic. No one need be surprised when A's blood conduits give way. In time they will not be able to carry the normal quota of nutriment to every part.

The lesson is that illness does not come suddenly. Altho disease may present itself with the flash of an exploding bomb, the tissues have been making ready for the break thru years of neglect or abuse.

SPREADING T. B.

T. P. writes: What do you think are the chances of a child's contracting tuberculosis from being in constant contact with one who had the disease several years ago but who regained perfect health? However, she finds some minor symptoms returning.

REPLY.

The malady is almost certain to be transmitted if the association is close and the patient is an open case. On the other hand, if the lesions are healed and the tubercle bacilli are not present in the sputum or the discharges, there is little danger.

NOT SO EASY.

Mrs. M. Z. writes: I have heard that putting ordinary table salt in the bath will help to reduce. Is this possible?

REPLY.

Strong solutions of salt will withdraw water via the skin. This is of no permanent value as thirst will demand that fluids be replaced promptly.

BONE MARROW.

M. G. writes: What is drying of the bone marrow?

REPLY.

It probably doesn't, altho it may degenerate in the presence of infection. We dare not permit this to happen as this tissue is the chief source of new blood cells.

TUMORS.

C. R. C. writes: What is false pregnancy?

REPLY.

Occasionally fibroids or ovarian tumors will imitate pregnancy.

CALCIUM STONES.

N. M. writes: What are calcium stones?

REPLY.

THE FARMER AND WORLD MARKETS.

Rudyard, Mont., Feb. 14.—Under the heading, "Post-War Planning," the secretary of agriculture, Claude R. Wickard, has released a program to the papers of 11 objectives, and invites discussion. The 11th objective says this: "A 'freer' international trade policy involving a decrease in domestic production of agricultural commodities that cannot meet world competition without tariffs or subsidies."

The 1940 Yearbook entitled "Farmers in a Changing World," was started under the direction of Henry A. Wallace and completed under the direction of Mr. Wickard. This yearbook was compiled and written by the BAE staff, and lists 219 references as proof of their conclusions. I quote extracts: "The results of these huge cereal and meat imports on European social and economic life were of the most fundamental character. On the other hand, the laboring classes in cities were provided with cheap and abundant food. At the same time however, European farmers, unless protected by tariff barriers, were unable to compete, and many were ruined by declining prices and falling land values. . . . Great Britain was our chief market, and with free trade prevailing after the repeal of the corn laws in 1846, agriculture there suffered particularly. . . . Continental countries that imported sizeable quantities of American foodstuffs suffered similarly. The results were mirrored partly in the tremendous migration from Europe westward during the 70s and 80s, partly in the flocking of farmers to cities, and partly in the agrarian movements that sought relief in government policies. . . . European governments, in an effort to aid their agricultural classes, raised duties and imposed embargoes on sanitary grounds, as in the case of hog products, . . . After the 80s, new agricultural regions were opened in Russia, Argentina, Australia, and Canada and their produce began crowding American foodstuffs out of European markets. At the same time foreign markets were contracting, the domestic market was expanding. Industrial development in the United States caught up with the overstimulated agricultural development, and as urbanization increased, a larger share of the farm produce was consumed domestically. In 1899 the average number of wage earners in industry totaled 4,700,000; by 1909 it had increased to 6,000,000."

England was noted for its "ghost farms" and the "dole" and London was noted for its slums. This seems to indicate that when the farmers are destroyed, so are those who are dependent on agriculture for their income. American agriculture is mechanized and uses the products of labor and industry. The American farmers cannot sell products at world prices, and buy the products of labor and industry that is on an American basis. If we are destroyed we take labor and industry with us. Most imported farm commodities are produced without the use of machinery. The American producers support our schools and county, state, and federal government costs by taxation, while foreign producers do not pay taxes to support our government costs in the United States. FRED ATER.

JEFFERSON'S PROPHECY.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Thomas Jefferson wrote to James Madison, Dec. 20, 1787, from Paris: "Reason and experience tell us that the first magistrate will always be reëlected, if he may be reelected. He is then an officer for life. This once observed, it becomes of so much consequence to certain nations to have a friend or foe at the head of our affairs, that they will interfere with money and with arms. A Galloman or an Angloman will be supported by the nation he befriends. If once elected, and at a second or third election outvoted by one or two votes, he will pretend false votes, foul play, hold possession of the reins of government, be supported by the states voting for him, especially if they be the central ones, lying in a compact body themselves, and separating their opponents, and they will be aided by one nation in Europe, while the majority are aided by another. The election of a President of America; some years hence, will be much more interesting to certain nations of Europe than ever the election of a king of Poland was."

Quite a prophet!

WHAT ANDY JACKSON DID.

Houston, Tex., Feb. 21.—When Sen. Calhoun of South Carolina defiantly proposed to nullify the Constitution of the United States, President Jackson halted him, declaring that if Calhoun attempted it, he would hang him higher than Haman. What would Jackson say about President Roosevelt's defiant demand that congress nullify the Constitution by authorizing an unconstitutional federal Presidential ballot?

FRANK PUTNAM.

JUSTICE FRANKFURTER'S INCONSISTENCY.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 18.—The editorial you published Feb. 10 concerning Justice Frankfurter will be appreciated by every lawyer who reads it. Permit me to give you another example of the justice's inconsistency:

In January, 1938, the Supreme court, in a very carefully considered opinion held that the state of California could not levy a tax on income in Connecticut derived from receipts of re-insurance premiums, even tho some of the policies which were re-insured were written in California; that the due process clause denies to a state the power to tax or regulate a corporation's property outside of its jurisdiction. [Connecticut General Ins. Co. vs. Johnson, 303, U. S. 77.]

A few years prior to this decision the state of Wisconsin had passed a law levying a tax upon the dividends declared by foreign corporations doing business in the state, even tho they were declared and paid elsewhere. When this law was tested, the Supreme court of Wisconsin felt constrained to declare it unconstitutional, basing its decision upon the ruling of the Supreme court in the Connecticut General Insurance company case. [J. C. Penney Co. vs. Wisconsin, 233 Wis. 286, 289 N. W. 677.]

In December, 1940, Justice Frankfurter wrote the opinion of a majority of the Supreme court reversing the Supreme court of Wisconsin. [State of Wis. vs. J. C. Penney Co., 311 U. S. 199, 61 Sup. Ct. Rep. 246.] In his dissenting opinion, concurred in by the chief justice, Justice McReynolds and Justice Reed, Justice Roberts called attention to a long line of decisions of the Supreme court, including the Connecticut General case, and said:

"It would be mere affectation to cite the adjudications of this court founded upon these principles. I have thought these principles were of the warp and woof of the constitutional system which binds the states together in a federal union."

Nevertheless Wisconsin was permitted to levy and collect a tax on the dividend which was declared by the J. C. Penney company at its principal office and place of business in New York City.

FOR THOSE WHO WANT TO LEARN.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Jones Commercial Evening school acknowledges the public spirited attitude of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in general and the fine spirit and helpfulness of Ruth MacKay, "White Collar Girl," in particular.

A few weeks ago Mrs. MacKay received from her readers inquiries concerning court reporting classes which might be available to adults in the evening. Mrs. MacKay communicated with our school to learn whether we offered such a class. At that time we did not, but we informed Mrs. MacKay that we would establish any class in which a sufficient number of students would be interested. Mrs. MacKay announced this fact in her widely read "White Collar Girl" column and as a result two classes, with an enrollment of 65, have been instituted.

THEY CALL IT RENT CONTROL.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—"Landlord's" comment in yesterday's TRIBUNE was interesting to us. We paid $7.50 above the ceiling rent on an apartment in a western suburb for 18 months because the owner and the former tenant conspired to lie to us about the rent. After we were in it more than a year we accidentally learned what they had done. We went to the OPA. They investigated, found it was true, got the necessary statement and evidence to corroborate it from the former tenant, found the landlord hadn't even registered the building when he should have, called us downtown, showed us the evidence, and asked if we would be willing to "coöperate" and file suit.

Then, after several weeks elapsed, we were again called downtown and informed that the landlord was entitled to the increased rent on the basis of a "capital improvement" made in the property. The "capital improvement" was the removal of an artificial fireplace and bookcase and plaster patching the wall. They [the OPA] had known about this from the beginning and had previously informed us this was not a "capital improvement." It's all very legal, and depends on who interprets the law, and how.

Perhaps if "Landlord" were a Democratic precinct captain, or had a friend named "Joe" in the OPA . . . ?

We broke the lease. A TENANT.

AGAINST ROOSEVELT, NOT FOR WILLKIE.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 14.—The hue and cry will be raised that Willkie polled a record breaking vote in the last election, which entitles him to again receive the nomination. The millions who voted for Willkie actually did not vote for Willkie. They voted against Roosevelt and would have voted for any one who opposed him. Willkie received as many votes as he did merely because the trend against Roosevelt had reached a higher point at the time of the last election than formerly. Today Mr. Roosevelt would be overwhelmed by any one at all who received the Republican nomination—that is, any one except Willkie. Willkie is the only one who would lose—hence the intense desire of the New Dealers to again fashion Wendell's nomination. OAK PARKER.

SHOE SAVING HINT.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 17.—I offer this suggestion for making children's shoes last longer for size, especially those of pre-school age children who outgrow their shoes before they are worn out.

At night wet the forepart of shoes with water. Push out the forepart of the shoes, especially the toes, with the end of a broom handle after wetting. Then stuff the forepart of the shoes with tissue paper, pressing real tight with the end of a broom handle. Reshape the shoes with your fingers and allow to dry until morning. Do not expose to heat, as the paper absorbs most of the water.

This method works equally well on all shoes, including adults', where the toe boxes have been crushed or when one desires more toe room.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problems a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

JUDGMENT RELEASE.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People].—Three years ago I had my driver's license revoked. I failed to pay a judgment against me as the outcome of an automobile accident. 1. If I go thru bankruptcy proceedings is my judgment released and made void? I do not own property. 2. Will the state give me a new driver's license if I furnish sufficient insurance after the bankruptcy?

1. Yes, if it was an ordinary tort judgment. The attorney who handled the proceedings for you is in a better position to advise you than we are.

2. We do not see how bankruptcy would affect the situation, but in general, you should address your license questions to the secretary of state, Springfield.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PREFERRED STOCK.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People].—About 10 years ago I was one of three that incorporated a small company. 1. I was issued $1,000 preferred stock certificate, drawing 7 per cent interest. 2. The certificate was lost and I have never drawn one cent interest. The company is still in business. 3. Could I collect interest on same from the time of corporating? 4. Could any one sell the stock but myself? 5. To the company? 6. To any one else without my permission or signature? M. D. C.

1. Your rights would depend on the wording of the resolution under which the preferred stock was issued.

2. The transfer officer could name the terms on which he would be willing to dispense with production of the original certificate. He might ask for a surety bond.

3. See 1.

4. This would be possible if your certificate was indorsed.

5. Not if you first gave notice.

6. A purchaser without notice might acquire rights in an indorsed certificate.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROBATE FEES.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People].—1. I am advised that the courts permit a charge of 6 per cent fee for services for handling the details of probating an estate. 2. Is this to be based upon the gross estate or the net estate—the value of the estate after necessary expenses of the estate have been paid? J. W.

1. There is no such fixed percentage. On many estates the allowance would be smaller.

2. Insofar as a percentage is used as one of the factors in determining the allowance, it ought to be a percentage of gross since the trouble of handling the estate is largely measured by the gross estate. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People].—I am thinking of going to Indiana to marry. Can I obtain a license there if we both live in Chicago?

No. Indiana law requires that the license be obtained where the bride resides. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WALKOUT BY CIO UNION HOLDS UP ARMOR MAKING

Halts Plate Output for Landing Barges.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26 [Special]. —Production of armor plate for navy landing barges was at standstill in the nation today with 6,000 CIO workers out on an unauthorized strike at the Great Lakes Steel corporation plant in nearby Ecorse.

This plant is the only one in the United States producing armor for navy barges, and, according to a statement issued by the company, the navy's need for the armor is so great that often it has been flown by plane to ship yards.

Shipments of plate were suspended last night as the walkout spread thru the plant after a work stoppage involving 200 men took place because of the discharge of Norman Cole, a union steward, on charges of leaving his job without permission. The workers are members of the CIO United Steel Workers' union.

Pickets Stop 3,000.

Approximately 3,000 workers joined yesterday's walkout. Today a picket line turned back about 3,000 others who sought to report to their jobs.

Thomas Shane, district director of the USW, said the strike is contrary to the CIO's no strike policy, but added that it grew out of cumulative resentment by the men against a company practice of operating with short crews. He said he had proposed that an umpire be appointed to investigate Cole's discharge, with the men resuming work pending settlement of the short crew issue.

His proposal has been rejected by the management, he said, on the grounds that its right of discharge takes precedence over any guaranty of continued operation, war or no war.

Request Men Resume Work.

A statement by the company said its contract with the union provided for the appointment of an umpire in the case of a disputed discharge, but only when there was no stoppage of work. An umpire could have been named 15 minutes before the men walked out, it said, and can be named 15 minutes after they come back.

It was reported that no negotiations with the union are in progress and that no immediate prospect of a settlement is in sight.

A meeting of 7,000 employes of the Mack avenue plant of the Briggs Manufacturing company, producer of airplane wings for the navy, is scheduled for tomorrow to determine whether they will return to work Monday. The men walked out yesterday in a dispute over employment schedules.

110 FURNACES IDLE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP). — At least 20 blast furnaces and 20 open hearth furnaces in the Monongahela valley mills of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation were idle tonight following the walkout of several hundred workers in the Clairton coke works of the firm, a company spokesman said.

Five mills were affected by the shutdowns, caused by lack of gas piped from the by-product division of the coke works. Several thousand men were reportedly made idle by the closing of operations.

The strike started at midnight last night when about 140 men, members of the CIO-United Steel Workers of America refused to work because of a grievance over line promotions in the coke works. Union officials said the walkout was unauthorized.

AURORA OFFICER ONE OF 5 FLYERS KILLED IN ARMY BOMBER CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Mettell, who reside near Aurora, were notified yesterday that their son, Lt. William P. Mettel Jr., a bomber pilot, was killed Friday in a bomber crash near Great Falls, S. C., in which four others lost their lives. Young Mettel was a graduate of Marmion Military academy, Aurora.

Lt. W. P. Mettel Jr.

Mettell Sr. is a former chairman of the Kane county board and is now a member of the board.

Lt. Carlton Kleiser, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erling G. Kleiser, 451 Jefferson av., Elgin, was killed Friday in an accident at the Las Vegas [Nev.] army gunnery school, the family was informed. Kleiser entered the army air corps two years ago and recently was assigned to the aerial photography unit at Las Vegas.

COOK COUNTY TOPS WAR BOND QUOTA OF STATE

More E's Sold than in Previous Loans.

If no one in Illinois outside of Cook county had bought a single bond during the fourth war loan drive, the state quota still would have been reached, figures released yesterday by Frank McNair, chairman of the county war finance committee, indicated. He announced a county total of $911,159,000, which is 126 per cent of the county quota and 6 million dollars more than the quota for the entire state.

Indications are that the county total will reach 920 million dollars, he added. This is approximately 200 million dollars more than the county quota of $721,818,400. The treasury department is still tabulating late sales. Everything tabulated before Tuesday will count in the total, altho the drive officially closed yesterday.

E Bonds Set New Peak.

More E bonds, the small denomination "people's bonds," were sold in the fourth drive than in any previous campaign, McNair said. Total tabulated purchases in this category stand at $99,292,000. This figure, altho representing only 76 per cent of the quota, still is $22,542,000 more than E sales in the third drive.

County sales of all types of individual bonds total $172,274,000, or 68 per cent of quota.

The state did not sit back and wait for Cook county to put it over the top, figures released by the Illinois war finance committee proved.

State Sales Above Quota.

Total state sales thru Friday were $1,163,100,000, or 128.5 per cent of quota. Sales of E bonds stood at $172,500,000, or 85.8 per cent of quota. All types of individual bonds totaled $285,400,000, or 77.5 per cent of quota.

War loan sales for the nation stood at $16,001,000,000 on Thursday, the last day for which full figures were obtainable. This is more than 2 billions above the 14 billion dollar quota. Individual sales were $4,735,000,000, or 765 million dollars short of the $5,500,000,000 quota.

National E bond purchases totaled $2,669,000,000, while corporations bought $11,266,000,000.

DEMITRY CAL, 48, HERO COP, DIES; RITES TUESDAY

Services for Demitry Cal, 48, a disabled Chicago policeman who twice received THE TRIBUNE'S hero award for courage in the performance of his duty, will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday in St. Hyacinth's Catholic church. Policeman Cal, on the disability list since 1932, died Friday in Hines Memorial hospital.

He first received THE TRIBUNE award in November, 1925. Off duty, Policeman Cal shot and killed a bandit after the gunman had wounded him and a civilian in a pistol battle at 1823 North av. He also received the Lambert Tree medal for this act.

Policeman Cal was given the TRIBUNE award again in March, 1932, when he battled three gunmen who attempted to rob a restaurant at 3306 Fullerton av. The policeman was wounded in the head before he shot one of the bandits.

Policeman Cal, who served overseas in World War I., lived at 2536 N. Ridgeway av. He is survived by his widow, Pauline, and two daughters.

SEN. M'NARY'S FUNERAL FRIDAY AT SALEM, ORE.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—Funeral services will be held at Salem, Ore., next Friday for Charles L. McNary, Oregon's senior senator and Republican nominee for Vice President in 1940, who died here yesterday following a brain operation last November.

Memorial services probably will be arranged in the senate chamber at Washington where McNary had served since 1917.

Mrs. McNary, their daughter, Charlotte, 8, and Mrs. McNary's sister, Miss Mary Louise Morton of Washington, will accompany the body to Salem.

They will leave here tonight by train, and are scheduled to reach Chicago at 2:40 p. m. Monday. At Chicago they will change to a train leaving for Portland, Ore.

BROTHER SAVES BODY OF SUICIDE, SOLD TO SCHOOL

Carlington E. Hellquist, a Waukegan city fireman, returned home yesterday with the body of his brother, Louis, 28, which was sold to the University of Michigan Medical school for $25 after Louis ended his life in Flint, Mich., Jan. 1. Hellquist refunded the $25 to the school to reclaim his brother's body for burial in Waukegan. He quoted Sheriff Hugo Mullenbach, of Flint, who made the transaction, as saying he did not know the dead man had any relatives. Hellquist said, however, that his brother's selective service registration records listed the name of their father, Axel, and the father's Waukegan address. The family learned of the death thru a notification by the social security board.

Kidnapers Hold Motorist Two Hours, Take His Car

Adam Zarenda, 4347 Hazel st., reported to police that he was robbed of $11 and his automobile early yesterday by four bandits, two carrying revolvers, who invaded the car on Racine av. near Wilson av. and evicted him at Homan and 5th avs., after holding him prisoner two hours.

PERMANENT NHA SOUGHT BY HEAD SAYS CORTRIGHT

Cabinet Status Is Goal, He Asserts.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

The recent statement of John B. Blandford Jr., head of the national housing agency, before the Lanham committee in Washington that post-war public housing would be limited to the lowest income bracket, was a definite bid for continuance of NHA, probably as a permanent department of housing with cabinet representation, Frank W. Cortright, executive vice president of the National Association of Home Builders, asserted yesterday.

Frank W. Cortright.

Blandford's testimony, however, was a powerful argument for private enterprise in the home building field, for it contained definite assurance that NHA will confine itself largely to assisting home builders in assuming their full post-war responsibilities, Cortright said.

Up to Private Enterprise.

Cortright said he interpreted Blandford's statements before the committee as assurance that if private enterprise can expand to meet the total housing needs of the nation, as it intends to do, there will be no public construction.

"It is most gratifying to find that Blandford is cognizant of the gross inadequacies of the early post-war public housing activities," said Cortright. "The home builders of this country, now fully conscious of their responsibility to supply decent housing for all Americans, are studying the problems involved in land assembly, demolition of slum structures, and financing problems in connection with constructing large quantities of satisfactory shelter for the underprivileged.

"Blandford's assurances that the federal government should not program post-war housing but should largely confine itself to research and assistance in mortgage insurance and other aids to private enterprise will result in a mutually happy working relationship between government and industry in the proper housing of all Americans."

Urges Firm Policy.

Cortright said government must develop and declare a firm and stable post-war housing policy, so business men may plan and act in certainty. Housing will not be projected as a part of a vast public works program, Cortright believed.

"The federal government should unwind war regulations and controls relating to housing as rapidly as the war situation permits," he said. "When possible the programming of housing community by community by the government should cease. Washington should use facts and other stimuli to assist private enterprise to reach for a housing goal of perhaps 1½ million living units a year."

MORTGAGE MEN WILL DISCUSS REALTY TRENDS

How much prices of various types of real estate in Chicago and suburbs have advanced in recent years will be outlined at the first 1944 "mortgage clinic" of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, at the Drake hotel Thursday and Friday. The Chicago Mortgage Bankers' association, Harry A. Fischer, president, is a co-sponsor.

Twelve Chicago mortgage and realty men have been studying real estate trends and the future outlook for prices. Reports of their surveys will be made. At another session investment realty will be discussed by life insurance men.

This is one of a group of 127 war homes to be built by the W. Thomas Buckley Building corporation in Oriole Park village, on Rascher and Balmoral avs. between Octavia and Oketo avs. Carl J. Kastup is architect. Thirty have six rooms and 97 have five. Rentals will range from $50 to $56. Completion is expected by June.

HOME BUILDERS PICK M. M. BOWEN FOR SECRETARY

Milton M. Bowen, district priority officer in charge of construction and war housing for the war production board, will become executive secretary of the Metropolitan Chicago Home Builders' association on March 1. He succeeds Carroll F. Sweet, former chief priorities examiner of the federal housing administration, who recently became president of Jeffery Manor Building corporation. Bowen formerly was manager of the American Oriental Banking corporation, Shanghai, and later president of American Metal Products corporation, St. Louis.

Milton M. Bowen.

Realty Miscellany

William H. Ames, who has been with Aldis & Co. for the last 10 years, yesterday announced that he has joined Arthur Rubloff & Co. He will continue to specialize in the management and leasing of loop office and store buildings. He has charge of the Capitol building, the M. C. A. building, 430 N. Michigan av., and 15 properties in the loop. Prior to his association with Aldis & Co. Ames was with L. M. Willis & Co. for eight years.

William H. Ames.

Philip M. Klutznicn, assistant administrator in charge of war housing, of the national housing agency, and former regional director in Chicago, will speak at a dinner meeting of the Metropolitan Chicago Home Builders' association, Medinah club, Wednesday night.

Busch Brothers, realtors, 1125 W. 79th st., will celebrate their 30th anniversary March 4. This was the first real estate firm on 79th street, west of Halsted. During the last 30 years they have seen the section progress from farm land to a thriving community, and have built over 200 homes in the area.

At the Realty Boards

A review and forecast of the Chicago realty market by Stewart B. Matthews, Frank J. O'Brien, Arthur Rubloff, and Louis Sudler will be made at the March dinner meeting of the Chicago Real Estate board, Wednesday night, at the board rooms. Matthews will discuss the residential market; O'Brien the apartment house market; Rubloff commercial buildings, and Sudler fireproof residential properties.

ROUT SPENDERS, SAVE AMERICA, BROOKS PLEADS

More than 1,600 persons crowded the grand ballroom in the Stevens hotel last night to hear Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] warn American business men that planning for the future must not be left to those in government who visualize the fruits of continued deficit spending. The audience was made up of members of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators' organization.

Sen. Brooks.

Seated at the speakers' table with the Republican senator were four Democrats: United States Atty. Woll, Circuit Judge Cornelius F. Harrington, Judge Joseph A. Graber, and Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board. Richard J. Lyons, Republican aspirant for United States senator, and Francis B. Murphy, state director of labor, also were at the table.

They heard Sen. Brooks assert that members of his audience must help create a governmental policy that would release them from regimental restraints. He warned that the war was far from won and every effort must be directed toward that end.

Heaviest Debt in History.

"Then we turn to the road of peace," he continued. "On that road we will carry the burden of a national debt heavier than ever borne by any nation in the history of man. We will face the task of reconverting the concentrated economic forces of our entire nation from the single purpose of all-out and total production for war to the immediate and long range production for peace.

"We will face the necessity of adjusting millions of newly trained war workers and the readjustment of 11 million men and women returning from war. To meet these problems and move on as a nation of free men in our historic march of human liberty present the greatest challenge in our history.

Americanism Must Be Preserved.

"You must call into operation every ounce of your creative genius and imaginative power to help win the war, to preserve the American free competitive business enterprise, to visualize and lay the foundations and plans for the security of, social progress and prosperity of future America."

He asserted that plans for the future must spring from the minds, faith, and imagination of millions of men who were privileged to remain at home while their sons, daughters, husbands, and fathers faced death in the war. This future must not be left in the hands of those seeking to continue governmental deficit spending.

"In the field of motor transportation you men must take the initiative," Brooks declared. "This industry has grown entirely within your lifetime. You created it. You developed it. While hundreds of thousands have left your industry to fight for you, you must visualize, plan, and draw the blueprints for their future, your future, and your continued contribution to the welfare of your country and your fellow man.

Business Told Its Duty.

"While your absent colleagues submit to discipline and military direction to fight—while you submit to regulation, restriction, and rationing to support them—you must give added and untiring effort to the creation of a policy and attitude as to the problems of business on the part of your government different from that existing in the last decade.

"You must help create a governmental policy that will take a realistic attitude toward the problems of business, a policy that will release these regimenting restraints at the earliest possible moment, so that free America may move on to an ever greater accomplishment and a greater glory."

Evanston Boy, 8, Falls Thru Lake Ice; Drowns

Paul F. Zimmer Jr., 8, of 615 Sheridan rd., Evanston, was drowned yesterday when he fell thru softening ice on the lake front near his home. He and John Evans Wadden, also 8, of 545 Michigan st., Evanston, had been chopping holes in the snow covered ice, when it suddenly collapsed. The body was recovered by Policemen Herbert Runge and Edgar Salamon.

Predict Tax Veto Rebellion Is Death Blow to New Deal

Hurts 4th Term

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 26 (AP).—Harry H. Woodring viewed congressional rebellion against the President's tax veto as a boost for the anti-fourth term American Democratic party today while Alf M. Landon saw the rift as a sign that "we must change the President."

Both are former governors of Kansas, and Woodring, a Democrat, served as secretary of war in an earlier Roosevelt cabinet. Landon was the 1936 Republican Presidential nominee.

"Democrats are welcoming an opportunity to protest New Deal policies and the possibility of a fourth term and still stay within the Democratic party," Woodring said in an interview. "The party has been stolen from them and has become a vehicle for something for which it was never intended to stand.

Holds Congress in Contempt.

"Any President of the United States who feels so entrenched and autocratic as to be contemptuous of the elected representatives of the people ceases to be chief executive of and for the people and assumes the role of a despot over the people."

Woodring said Sen. Barkley's resignation as Democratic majority leader is "evidence of the deep seated resentment of this assumption and attitude."

Landon used similar language in his statement.

"A new President—Democrat or Republican—would not have a suspicious and unfriendly congress to work with as Mr. Roosevelt must have from now on," the 1936 Republican Presidential nominee declared.

Has "Royal Complex."

"Grass roots sentiment indicates the President has lost touch with the people," he said. "His 11 years in office has apparently given him a royal complex, which accounts for his waning popularity."

Need New Party

Three United States senators, two Republican and one Democrat, arrived in Chicago yesterday and expressed elation over the successful revolt against President Roosevelt's veto of the tax bill. They are Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.], Sen. Nye [R., N. D.], and Sen. Clark [D., Mo.].

Nye called it the beginning of the end of the New Deal and said that many Democrats were convinced they would have to wreck the party to save it.

"Sen. Barkley, when he charged the President was not in good faith, was unfair, and without facts on which to base his conclusions on the tax bill, merely echoed what others had said many times," Nye said. "But when he said it, he put a question mark in the minds of those who thought the President could do no wrong.

Barkley Was Sincere.

"No one can tell me that it was a cut and dried arrangement to reflect later new glory on the New Deal. Sen. Barkley was influenced by his interests in Kentucky, but no one can take away the sincerity of his speech."

Sen. Brooks said the overwhelming vote in house and senate should bring cheer to the heart of every liberty loving American.

"Representative government has reasserted itself," he declared. "The congress, elected by the people, to represent them in one of the darkest hours of our nation's history, has thrown back one of the most vicious assaults to discredit congress and usurp its constitutional powers."

Clark Says Little.

Sen. Clark commented briefly that the vote was a fine thing for constitutional government.

In the state Oscar E. Carlstrom, former attorney general, announced he would remain in the race for the Republican nomination as governor. He charged the present Republican regime with "Hitlerian and Gestapo" methods in an attempt "to foist a ticket selected by a self-appointed few upon the people."

CIO AT STUDEBAKER WILL VOTE TUESDAY; THREE REDS IN RACE

Thousands of war workers, whose union elections a year ago were so turbulent they had to be held three times before the balloting could be declared legal, will go to the polls again between 10 a. m. Tuesday and 3 a. m. Wednesday to name officers for the Studebaker local of the CIO United Automobile Workers union, No. 998.

The election will be held in a hall near the big southwest side Studebaker war plant. Police directed by Lt. George Barnes of the labor detail will be on hand to keep the peace and see that the balloting is honest. Their presence was requested by representatives of thousands of workers who fear a group of Communists and their sympathizers will attempt to steal the election or have it declared illegal if it goes against their ticket.

The Studebaker local was admittedly Communist dominated until THE TRIBUNE exposed that condition last fall. Now three Communist party members are running for reelection—Carl Swanson and Evelyn Fargo, candidates for the union bargaining board; and Gertrude Selig, known as boss of the union, who is candidate for recording secretary.

Two tickets have support from the dominant anti-Communist elements. One is headed by Robert Fulton, son of Fullerton Fulton, former regional CIO director in Chicago; and Harry [Ole] Olson, at present a union steward.

FORM POLITICAL UNITS IN PLANTS, IS APPEAL TO CIO

CIO union members were urged last night by Raymond S. McKeough, midwest regional head of the CIO political action committee, to form working political units in every plant, in order to influence the result of the coming Presidential election. McKeough, former congressman and former regional head of the office of price administration, spoke at the first annual international education conference of the United Automobile Workers, held in the Hamilton hotel.

McKeough said forces opposing social legislation of the New Deal are smirking because congress overrode the President's veto of the tax bill. He said he would have voted to sustain the veto if he had been a member of congress.

Walter P. Reuther, international vice president of the UAW, said leaders of the automobile industry are in Washington, trying to reestablish the industry on its prewar basis. "If we go back to business as usual, we'll have unemployment as usual," he said.

BAR DELEGATES TO ASK CURB ON AGENCY TRIALS

In response to a growing public demand for protection against unchecked burocratic action which threatens personal liberty, the house of delegates of the American Bar association will consider legislation to insure fair hearings and uniform procedures by federal administrative agencies when it meets in a midyear session tomorrow and Tuesday in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Tentative legislation has been prepared at the direction of Joseph W. Henderson of Philadelphia, Pa., president of the association, for approval at the meeting and presentation to congress by the Bar association's drafting committee, headed by Sylvester C. Smith Jr. of Newark, N. J.

Arbitrary procedures by government agencies would be eliminated by the proposed bill. It provides that full hearings be given before any determination is made and assures the individual that nothing to be used against his interest can be withheld from his scrutiny.

It demands further that a record showing evidence and specific findings of fact be required. A simple procedure is provided for complete reviews, with a specification that nothing used in arriving at a decision can be withheld from the record.

22 Withdraw Petitions for April Nominations

Twenty-two persons yesterday withdrew their nominating petitions for the April primary. Carl W. Larsen, 5020 Armitage av., withdrew his petition as Republican candidate for an associate judgeship on the Municipal court bench. His withdrawal leaves the regular Republican slate of 12 candidates and an additional independent Republican, William M. Hennessy, 2057 Arthur av.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special].—Northwestern knocked Purdue out of the Big Ten basketball title race here tonight as the Wildcats effectively subdued the Boilermakers, 51 to 45. It was the seventh victory in 10 conference starts for the Wildcats and the third loss in 11 league games for Purdue.

Except for two short spurts, Purdue was outplayed decisively. The Boilermakers took an early 4 to 0 lead, but the Wildcats, paced by Ronnie Schumacher, took at 20 to 14 lead midway in the first half.

Boilermakers Lead at Half.

Purdue then rallied and gained a 25 to 24 margin at the intermission, only to have the Wildcats come back and take a 34 to 29 lead in the first five minutes of the second half. Purdue's waning title hopes were revived momentarily as the Boilermakers steadied to take a 37 to 36 lead, but the Wildcats spurted again and had the better of it the rest of the way.

The Wildcats dominated the floor play and almost completely controled the rebound situation. Steve Frazier was the only effective scorer for the Boilermakers, making seven field goals and two free throws for a total of 16 points, top for the game. Ben Schadler paced the victors with seven field goals for 14 points. Lineups:

IRISH WIN, 66 TO 42

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special].—Notre Dame played one of its best games of the season tonight in the fieldhouse, overwhelming the University of Iowa, 66 to 42. The Irish shot away to an early lead and held the Iowans scoreless from the floor during the first 12 minutes.

Leo Klier, high scoring Notre Dame ace, led both teams with 17 points, altho he did not play during the last 10 minutes of the game. Dick Ives, currently leading the Big Ten scoring race, was checked all night by an alert defense and managed to net only four baskets.

Dave Danner was high man for the Hawkeyes with 14 points. The game was the last for Coach Ed Krause, who reports to the marines on Monday. It also was the last game of the season for Marko Todorovich and Bernie Rutledge, Notre Dame regulars. The lineups:

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26 (AP).—The scoring power generated by the line manager, Paul Thompson, of the Blackhawks, described as the greatest forward unit in the National Hockey league, paid dividends tonight when Chicago defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3 to 2, before 12,072 fans.

The threesome—Clint Smith, Bill Mosienko, and Doug Bentley—scored all three Chicago goals as the Hawks seized a 1 to 0 first period lead, lagged behind when the Leafs scored two goals in the second and then came thru for the winning goals in a wide open third period. The result gave Chicago a four point hold on fourth place and the league's last play-off berth over the Boston Bruins, who have eight games to play compared with 10 for Chicago.

Meet Rangers Tonight.

The Hawks are expected to widen the margin separating them from Boston tomorrow night in Chicago Stadium when they play the tail-end New York Rangers.

It was a brilliant exhibition of war time hockey. Mosienko sent Chicago into the lead at 15:15 of the first period by caging Smith's pass out from behind the Leaf net. Thruout the second period the Smith-Mosienko-Bentley trio was held in check by the Leaf's youthful line of Tommy O'Neill, Jackie Hamilton, and Jack McLean. And the Leaf youngsters found time to score two goals on their own hook, O'Neill getting two closely spaced tallies midway thru the period while Mush March was serving a penalty.

The Hawks applied pressure all

KELLY APPROVES PREP STADIUM DOUBLE HEADER

Mayor Kelly, in a telegram from Miami Beach, Fla., yesterday gave the go-ahead signal for the second annual Catholic league-Public School league double header in the Chicago Stadium. This set at rest reports that the games would be scrapped. No definite date has been set, but the games will be played in April. The wire was addressed to Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel and secretary of the games.

Proceeds of the program, which last year attracted 19,000 spectators, will be distributed among the city's four service men's centers.

De Paul Five Will Play in Garden Meet

Because of a 20 minute delay in receiving a telephone call yesterday morning, De Paul university's midwestern basketball champions chose to compete in the Madison Square garden invitational tournament instead of representing the 4th N. C. A. A. district in the National Collegiate tournament.

De Paul defeated Ohio State, Western conference champion, Friday night in the Stadium 61 to 49 in an overtime game. The winner presumably was to receive the N. C. A. A. invitation. The committee, K. L. Wilson, Northwestern; William Chandler, Marquette, and Ben Van Alstyne, Michigan State, which selects the team, postponed decision until yesterday.

Coach Ray Meyer of De Paul told the committee Friday night De Paul would accept an N. C. A. A. invitation but it must be received by 10 a. m. yesterday because of the previous invitation from Madison Square Garden. When a telephone call was not received by 10 o'clock De Paul wired Ned Irish, director of the New York tournament, its acceptance. Twenty minutes later Wilson called Meyer. When the Demons announced their selection of the Madison Square Garden offer, Ohio State was named to represent the 4th district.

Dodds Winner in Mile Race at A.A.U. Meet

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Gil Dodds, Boston's student pastor, ran a mile in Madison Square Garden tonight in 4:08.3 as he once more failed to break the world indoor mile mark of 4:07.4 in winning the National A. A. U. indoor championship. Dodds did better the event record, however. It was 4:08.7.

Hugging the shoulder of the oval all the way, Dodds pounded thru the first half mile in 1:58.8 and, sprinted right along to hit the three-quarter mark in 3:01.

Had No Competition.

He had no competition after the quarter mile mark and finished with a 75 yard edge over Don Burnham of Dartmouth. Bill Hulse of New York led at the end of the first quarter in :60.3 but then dropped behind. Bob Hume of the

YOUNG EQUALS WORLD RECORD

Runs 60 Yards in :06.1; Illini Win Meet.

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 26 [Special].—Claude [Buddy] Young of Chicago, the University of Illinois freshman sprinter, tied a world record, broke an all time Illinois mark, and won three events today in a triangular track meet.

Illinois won the meet, witnessed by 1,600, with 64½ points. Purdue was second with 32½, and Notre Dame, its ranks depleted by the transfer yesterday of six entrants in the marine and V-12 programs, finished third with 32.

Young won the 60 yard dash in 6.1 seconds, equal to the oft-tied world indoor record for this distance. It was the best time of his career for the former Wendell Phillips High school runner, who had run in :06.2 at the Millrose games three weeks ago.

Young also took first in the broad jump with a leap of 24 feet 4¼ inches, which swept aside the former Illinois record of 24 feet ½ inch set by Bill Lewis in 1942. He won the 70 yard low hurdles in 8 second flat, a tenth of a second slower than the American record held by Don Olsen of Illinois. He also ran with Bob Kelley, Bob Hinkle, and Marcelino Gonzalez on Illinois' victorious mile relay team, which is undefeated this year in four races.

TOURNEY OPENS TOMORROW IN STADIUM RINGS

Boxers Primed for 3 Nights of Action.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The annual punch-loaded offensive against boxing's biggest goal—the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions—began yesterday as the first battalions of the country's most brilliant fighters arrived for the sport's No. 1 show, to be decided tomorrow, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights in the Chicago Stadium. The early details hailed from such widely separated centers as Los Angeles, Cleveland, Memphis, Omaha, St. Louis, Pensacola, Port Huron, Mich., and Sioux City, Ia.

Yesterday's arrivals had been preceded by the three fighting members of the air transport command, Alaskan wing, who reached here Friday.

Today, the full force of the nation's fistic sharpshooters will assemble with the landing of teams from the remainder of the 29 centers which will vie with Chicago's best thru the three night bombardment. The 1944 Tournament of Champions has enlisted the most diversified personnel of the war years, not only in geographical range, but also in caliber of ring craftsmanship. Fans who watched the first landing parties work out in C. Y. O. Center gymnasium testified to the invaders' talents.

5 New Teams on List.

To the list of such regular invaders as Cleveland, Milwaukee, Nashville, Fort Worth, Omaha, and Kansas City has been added a quintet of newcomers, including three newspapers and two army air bases. The service entrants are the Alaskan wing, air transport command, and Chanute Field, Ill. The newspaper trio consists of the Los Angeles Times, the New Orleans Item, and the Pensacola News Journal. The respective sports editors of these papers—Braven Dyer, Fred Digby, and Frank Pericola—already have warned their rivals that they will make their Tournament of Champions debut one to be remembered by Stadium audiences.

Against this army of 232 boxers from the other 29 centers, Chicago will send its eight champions. This octet has responsibility which becomes increased this year by the variety and talent of the opposition. Never has a Chicago team been shut out of the championship lists. In 1942, Heavyweight Hubert Hood saved the local record. Last year, Chicago couldn't crowd into the roll of champions until the last two bouts, when Reedy Evans and Walter Moore captured the 175 pound and heavyweight titles, respectively.

Chicago Champions Ready.

The eight Chicagoans who will attempt to sustain this record in the fighting of tomorrow, Tuesday, and Wednesday are Flyweight Jackie Boyd, Batamweight Herb Mashino, Featherweight Louis Kick, Lightweight John Bratton, Welterweight Harry Sparrow, Middleweight Collins Brown, Light Heavyweight Charles Kucharz, and Heavyweight Luke Baylark.

All eight of those Chicago candidates proved in winning their city championships that they have the stuff to match the punches of their out-of-town foes. Bratton and Brown, off of their performances in the Marigold ring, demonstrated a knockout knack.

The Tournament of Champions always has been distinguished by spirited action, but it also carries with it the distinction of being the most smoothly conducted show in the sport. This efficiency record, which finds every bout starting on time and the entire program progressing without a hitch, is due to

ARCARO GIVES STIR UP A RIDE; WINS FLAMINGO

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—Eddie Arcaro guided Greentree stable's Stir Up to a surprising triumph at Hialeah park today in the $15,000 Flamingo, Florida's 3 year old feature.

With the biggest crowd of the year—17,262—in attendance, Stir Up raced the odds on favorite, Director J. E., into submission in a stirring duel down the back stretch, then went on to finish with a length and one-half advantage over the rank outsider, Skytracer, M. B. Goff's bay colt.

Director J. E. Runs Fifth.

Mrs. E. D. Jacobs' Stymie trailed Skytracer by five lengths. Fourth place went to Grant Thorn's filly Fire Sticky, and Director J. E., Ella K. Bryson's Kentucky Derby hope, wound up a badly beaten fifth.

Stir Up ran the mile and one-eighth in one minute, 52 2-5 seconds, far off the track record of 1:48 2-5 but creditable over a racing strip which is slow this season.

The backers of Mrs. Payne Whitney's triumphant colt, many of them laying their money on Arcaro's skill since Stir Up ran third in his only previous start Feb. 22, got back $18 on a straight ticket, $6.40 on a place, and $5.20 on a show.

Victory Repeats for Arcaro.

Forty to one in the straight pool, Skytracer returned $37.20 and $18. Stymie paid $8.

Arcaro's victory reminded Hialeah spectators of the 1941 Widener handicap, when the little jockey booted The Rhymer, a poorly regarded horse in a field of champions, to a stirring decision. Only this year he won with Four Freedoms, a $15.10 outsider, in the first division of the Palm Beach handicap.

The $14,825 first money brought Stir Up's total winnings to $24,695, a good profit for a yearling purchased for $3,800. The colt has been nominated for the Kentucky Derby.

Atkinson Has 4 Winners.

Ted Atkinson snapped a three day losing streak today by riding four winners. He scored with Profile, $9.60, in the finale. It was Ted's second such feat of the meeting, he having ridden four winners opening day.

Profile beat Justinian II. by four lengths and set a new turf course record of 2:33 1-5 for a mile and a half. War Stone was third.

The day's play was $1,019,514, falling off in the late stages and failing to equal the $1,046,797 of two Saturday's ago.

Vikings Seek Victory Over Italians Today

BY OFFSIDE.

The Vikings, who meet the Milwaukee Falk corporation soccer team next Sunday in the National Open western semi-finals, will keep in trim with a warmup game today against the Guisti-Italians in Winnemac stadium, Foster av. and Leavitt st., starting at 2:30 p. m.

The Italians, beaten, 8 to 0, by the Hansas last Sunday, will be at full strength. They were minus the services of three regulars in last week's contest and also found the snow covered field worked against their style of play.

Vikings Strengthened.

The Vikings, who have visions of winning league, state, and national honors this spring, have been strengthened by the acquisition of Andrew Hritz from the Philadelphia Nationals. He joined the team three weeks ago and quickly clinched a starting assignment with his brilliant play.

The only other new face in the Viking lineup is Horace James, borrowed from the Linneas, for the remaining cup matches. The team may lose Ova Fladin, captain and star half back, who was recently reclassified 1-A and may be called up for induction within a short time.

List Will Start.

Bill List is scheduled to start at left wing after being out of action for several weeks with injuries. Lineups:

CULVER BOXERS DEAL LOYOLA 1ST LOSS IN 3 YEARS

It was the first setback for the Chicago preps in three years and the absence of Ed Hartmann, featherweight, who is suffering from a throat ailment, and Le Roy Cordell, lightweight, also of Loyola, who is nursing a broken thumb, was felt keenly.

The Home Front

BY WILLIAM BAYLISS.

IF THE physical instructor at any public recreation center had been asked a couple of years ago how his program would be affected by the loss of all the interested boys in the 18 year old class, his first reaction doubtless would have been, "We might as well close the gymnasium." However, that is just the situation which has developed as a result of the war and there are few cobwebs on the equipment in any public athletic plant.

The Columbus park fieldhouse is only one of a number of such plants which testify to the truth of this latter assertion. In fact, Jim Kelly, the physical director at the west side park, will tell you that he has a busier program right now than at any time during his 12 year tenure there. "The athletic minded 18 year olds have left us for more important duties elsewhere," says Jim, "but their place has been filled by newcomers who really need the help we can give them a lot more than did those rugged youngsters who formerly almost overran the place. When the boys come back we'll of course be glad to see 'em, but it may surprise them to find some of the fellows whom they consider 'old men' vieing with them for time on the recreation program."

Group of war plant guards lines up for drill under Jim Kelly, physical instructor at Columbus park. Also on the program is training in the science of judo and at the right Harry Hall tosses Howard Meyer with one of the trick holds. Both are guards.

Aims to Provide Recreation for All in District.

Kelly's aim is to provide recreation facilities for every one from 6 to 60 who lives in the Columbus park area and he actually has classes including boys and men of both age extremes. One of the park's numerous efforts to coöperate in the national war program is a class for guards at war plants in the vicinity. This group meets each Thursday afternoon and is open to any guards who wish to attend. The three Hot Point plants in the vicinity require all of their guards to attend the classes and the membership now is around 35 men. Since it was organized in September, 1942, the class has been following a diversified physical fitness schedule which includes calisthenics, volleyball, marching, and judo.

Another outgrowth of the war is the Old Timers' class which meets twice a week and includes men from 35 to 50 and older, some of whom had not been inside a gymnasium for 20 years until their interest was revived. There's also a social badminton group of both men and women which meets Wednesday evenings.

Junior Commandos Receive Training in Tactical War Problems.

The Columbus Park Junior Commandos gather at the fieldhouse each Tuesday and Friday as soon as they get out of school and they quite often may be seen working out their tactical war problems in the vicinity. At first glimpse it may appear that it is hurrying things a little to be giving boys 11 to 14 tactical instruction in the rough game of war but as Kelly says, "They'd be playing war anyway, so why not give them the advantage of supervision on a program which coördinates a little military science with a lot of wholesome play?"

The Junior Commandos, incidentally, make their own weapons in the park craft shop and their miniature rifles are quite realistic appearing. There are 30 boys in the group, which is open to all youngsters in the community. Some of them, not yet in their teens, can go thru regulation infantry drill in a manner which would shame many an awkward squad in the army.

Six Teams Compete in Park's Industrial Basketball League.

For the age classes between the Junior Commandos and the Old Timers, one of the most popular projects is the Columbus Park Industrial Basketball league. This includes six teams: American Gear, Danley Machine Specialties, Kropp Forge, Taylor Forge and Pipe Works, Bendix Aviation, and Chicago Flexible Shaft. The league schedule was completed Friday night, with American Gear winning the championship.

Mark Cox, who has been conducting this column since its inception last summer, last week made the switch from the home front to the fighting front and now is Ensign Mark Cox of the navy. The new conductor bespeaks the continued coöperation of Mark's Home Front contributors.

Badminton and bowling may not be very similar, but Willard Gullicksen is outstanding in both. . . . Paired with Dan Robertson, he won the doubles championship for the Division Street association in a recent Y. M. C. A. badminton meet and he is one of the leaders in the Division Street Bowling league, in which he rolls with the Churchill Cabinets. . . . Les Lesser of Hammond Instrument continues to hold the individual leadership in the latter league, with an average of 178, tho John Schmidt of International Printing Ink is only one pin behind.

Bendix Aviation's Winter Sports club plans to make a day of it at Palos Hills today, the program including horseback riding and such winter sports as the weather permits. . . . Illinois Tool Works in the North Avenue-Larrabee league, Thordarsons in the Division Street section and Scott Radio in the Lincoln-Belmont division are setting the pace in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball leagues. . . . The Illinois Tool quintet has the only perfect record in the setup, with 11 straight victories. . . . At the other extreme is the Standard Transformer team in the same league, which has lost 11 straight but continues to display a spirit which entitles it to an "E" for sportsmanship at least.

On the other front—John Gallick, who formerly played basketball and softball for Montgomery Ward, now is stationed at the navy's training station at Monmouth college, where, along with other duties, he gives swimming instruction. . . . Hans Heinrich, formerly with Chicago Latrobe teams in the same two sports, recently was married then hustled back to camp, arriving just in time to get in on a 12 mile hike which was a warmup for a 25 mile jaunt a few nights later.

ICE-CAPADES STAR BEGAN HER CAREER AT N. U.

BY HARRY WARREN.

From the campus of Northwestern university to one of the featured roles in Ice-Capades of 1944 is the success story of glamorous Edythe Dustman.

Like most success stories, Miss Dustman found her way into the skating world by accident, but it has been no accident that has kept her in the realm of the flashing blades. Ambition and the desire to do something worth while with her spare time found her in the line of the Ice-Capades, but she sprang from this spot into one of the show's headline attractions.

Taught by Walley.

Miss Dustman left the campus of Northwestern for a position with Russell Patterson, one of New York's more prominent artists. Later she became a Powers model and while in this line of endeavor she was induced by Nate Walley, world skating champion, to try for a spot in Ice-Capades.

Walley took over the task of tutoring Miss Dustman in the intricacies of ice skating and there is some indication that his chores were not too unpleasant because he later married the gal and they now have a daughter.

The Ice-Capades of 1944 with its two and one-half car loads of props, a cast of 152, only 14 of whom are men, will open an indefinite engagement in the Arena Tuesday night.

Resembles Musical Comedy.

If the convincing words of Mary Frances Ackerman can be given credence, the Ice-Capades represents two and one-half hours of a mixture of musical comedy, ballet, artistic skating, comedy, beautiful girls, and Hollywood scenery. Miss Ackerman, one of the publicity representatives of the show, a girl who talks with her voice, hands, and eyes, might well be a fugitive from a Ziegfeld chorus or a Hollywood movie setting.

The Ice-Capades had a humble beginning. Back in 1935, the father of John H. Harris, president of the Ice-Capades, coined the name and founded the world's first Nickelodeon. A room with 98 kitchen chairs of various shades, hues, and sizes graced the confines of what had been an empty storeroom in a Pittsburgh warehouse district. The humble beginning was the starting line for the massive ice venture of today—a cast of 152 and a million dollars worth of talent and equipment.

Use Marine for Teacher.

Beauty apparently is only one of the requisites of the Ice-Capades, but that item has been taken care of rather thoroly. The 75 girls of the ballet learned their martial drill under the direction of no less an individual than Marine Sgt. Frank French, regarded as one of the toughest drill sergeants ever to wear a hash stripe.

From the feminine standpoint such outstanding ice performers as Donna Atwood, sweetheart of the Silver Skates; Eleanor O'Meara, Canadian and North American champion; Marilyn Quinn, junior miss, and Denise Benoit, share the spotlight with Miss Dustman.

MONARCHS ROLL 4,015 TO LEAD BOWLIUM MEET

Monarch Beers, with scores of 1070, 958, 1013, and 974 for a 4015 total, last night took the lead in the third annual Bowlium classic on the Bowlium alleys at the conclusion of the first half of the two squad 60 team meet, which still had another squad of 30 teams to bowl.

Dick Winsberg's 269 first game paced the Monarchs as they took the lead in the tourney which pays $750 to the winning team. Jim Willoughby of the Atlas Pragers rolled a 267 for the evening's second high score. The leaders after the first squad:

SPOTTING THE PINS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

THE program arranged for the Vern Anderson testimonial at Eddie Costello's Pla-Mor Lanes, 1935 E. 79th st., next Saturday night promises to be a real All-Star show in tribute to the erstwhile Mystery Man, who is now seriously ill. . . . The 8 p. m. squad will find such matches as Johnny Small vs. Ned Day; Don Pinc and Barney Grogan vs. Bill Flesch and Leo Faetz; Pvt. Joe Wilman, Camp Grant, vs. Buddy Bomar, and a police doubles argument sending Rudy Boedecker and Floyd Reichart againt Charley Drs and Tony Slanina. . . . The 10 o'clock schedule includes the following: Paul Krumske and Buddy Bomar vs. Ned Day and Joe Wilman, Johnny Small and Herb Freitag vs. Bud Wright and Jerry Skovie; Joe Sinke and Ad Carlson vs. Jack Scott and Pete Petersen, and Adam Plunge vs. Barney Grogan.

Will Accept Entries in Samuelson Tourney Until Midnight.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for one of the outstanding women's tenpin competitions of our town—the 12th annual Century of Progress women's handicap bowling tourney at Samuelson's arcade, 3947-49 North Crawford av. . . . For information call Gertrude Samuelson at Irving 0120. . . . The sponsors hope to top their 1942 record breaking year in which 514 teams, 1,029 doubles and 2,053 singles bowled. . . . Fred Wolf of Detroit Strohs found the importance of A pin in the recent Petersen Classic, collecting $40. . . . One more pin, and he would have collected $120. . . . One less and he would have been out of the money, but would have won the $125 special prize for the bowler coming more than 250 miles to Chicago who did not finish in the regular prize list. . . . On the first night of the season. Fred Immelt of the army engineers in Columbus, O., rolled 97—105—235. . . . The last game still stands as the season high for his league. . . . Sgt. Fred Brann, editor and publisher of the Buffalo Bowler, has been reported missing in action.

"If a bowler finds out that with a little practice he can take his place with other men on his team, he has his handicap inhibition pretty well licked. He will be ready to compete with his neighbor in business and live with him socially. Bowling is more than a sport here. It's a medicine." . . . These words were applied not to a regular league, but to one of the most unusual groups in the game—the so-called Malaria Classic league at the Percy Jones hospital in Battle Creek, Mich. . . . Entries are restricted to members of the rehabilitation company at the hospital, according to the doctor who made the foregoing remarks. . . . The teams have nine or ten members, boys who served on Guadalcanal, because of the high rate of absenteeism, due to their dates with a surgeon or recurrences of malaria.

Jerry Peck, bowling manager of the Chicago Arena, announces his first annual individual bowling classic there, beginning April 22 and continuing thru April 30. . . . Entries, which carry a fee of $10, must be in by midnight of April 15. . . . Estimated first prize in the list of 25 awards, is $400. . . . For further information, call Jerry Peck or Secretary Bill Hargadon at Delaware 8500. . . . The tournament will be determined in four games over eight

THE Illinois State Bowling association, one of the most venerable organizations in the tenpin sport, will open its 47th annual tournament on April 13 at Bowling Lanes, 5221 Broadway. . . . The event will carry an estimated prize list of $25,000. . . . This includes a $150 slice for booster squads. . . . Judge Stephen Adamowski is president of the association. . . . The entry deadline is March 15. . . . Further information may be secured from Secretary Al Sindelar, Room 1706, 32 W. Randolph st., or by phoning him at Franklin 8326. . . . The fee is $2 for each event. . . . Diamond medals will be awarded to the winner in each event, and three special medals will go to the high men in the all-events division. . . . The 1943 winners and their scores follow: Team—Bowlway Recreation, Elgin, 3,021; Doubles—J. Unewitz and A. Kuzmickus, 1,249; Individual—Art Gerdes, Chicago, 693, and All-Events—Herb Freitag, Chicago, 1,970.

Expect 108 Teams to Compete in Legion Tournament.

The American Legion bowling tournament, set for the week-ends of March 4 and 11 at the Dearborn-Jackson Recreation, will draw a team record entry of 108. . . . Johnny McCue of the Milford Recreation, 3315 Milwaukee avenue, announces the Milford Individual Classic, to be run from May 6 thru 19. . . . It's a five-across-ten contest, with a fee of $10, plus bowling. . . . Based on 1,000 entries, the prize list will range from $1,000 to $30. . . . Rockford will send 150 bowlers to the annual Illinois Moose state tourney. . . . The second place Bee Vacs and third place Mobilgas team promise a battle when they meet Wednesday in Samuelson's Major league. . . . The Fritzi Scheffs are still in front with a 49-26 mark. . . . The Bowlway, 4911 Broadway, will hold another men's doubles sweeper today.

J. O. Meyers of the Highland Ten Pin, 139 N. 2d st., Highland Park, is arranging his first annual Highland Park junior sweepstakes for bowlers with an average of 186. . . . It will be held March 25-26 and April 1-2. . . . It carries a top prize of $500. . . . The Thompson Restaurants still lead the North End Traveling league by six games, but there'll be a hot battle for second place between the Chapin & Gores and Schamberger-Schlitzes, who are now tied for that spot, when the league gathers in five different establishments.

TRIANGULAR AT CHICAGO WON BY LAWRENCE

Lawrence college beat out North Central college and the University of Chicago yesterday in an indoor track meet at Chicago. The final point summary was, Lawrence college, 56½; North Central college, 50½, and Chicago, 24.

Bill Daub of Lawrence and Ralph Hemmer of North Central tied for scoring honors with 10 points each. Daub earned his in the shot put with a distance of 38 feet, 5 inches and in the 60 yard dash with a time of :06.4. Hemmer snared his 10 points in the pole vault, clearing 10 feet 6 inches, and in the high jump, with a leap of 5 feet 7 inches.

JUG M'SPADEN LEADS WITH 141 AT NEW ORLEANS

Second Round Scores Soar in Wind.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 26 (AP).—Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Philadelphia managed to hold a two stroke edge on the field in the 5,000 New Orleans Open here today, tho he slipped from his four under par first round performance, going one over par with a 73 in the second round.

Sam Byrd Second.

McSpaden has totaled 141 strokes for 36 holes. Today he apparently was bothered by wind which buffeted the city park course.

Sammy Byrd of Birmingham, who was tied for second spot yesterday with Craig Wood, clung to the runner-up position with a 70—73—143 as Wood went down the list with a miserable 81, one of his worst rounds in recent years of tourney competition.

The veteran Byron Nelson trudged in with a 78, which he said "was the worst 18 holes I've shot in five years." Jimmy Hines, who earlier loomed as a tourney favorite with two fine practice rounds, took an 80.

Harbert Shoots a 72.

Nelson is now in 6th place with 71—78—149, topped by Chick Harbert's 74—72—146, and by Bob Hamilton and Joe Kirkwood, who are tied for fourth with a pair of 147s. Pvt. Harbert had the best round of the day with a 36—36—72, moving into third place with a series of explosive tee shots.

Following Nelson are Harry Cooper and Fred Haas Jr., with a pair of 150s. Haas, of New Orleans, easily led the amateurs with his 75—75—150.

Scores for the two rounds:

Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Phila.	68	73	141
Sam Byrd, Birmingham	70	73	143

University of Michigan finished third with Hulse fourth.

Again it was a siege of lonesomeness that cost Dodds his world record chances. He needed 67.3 seconds for the final quarter after blazing thru the second 440 in 58.5.

Eisenhart Wins 1,000.

The meet started with an upset when Les Eisenhart of Columbus, O., former National Collegiate half mile champion, and John Roxborough of Michigan, present Big Ten king at the distance, finished in that order in the 1,000 yard run.

John Fulton of San Francisco and Joe Nowicki of Rochester, rivals last Saturday and favorites tonight, could do no better than third and fourth in the rough race that was timed in 2:15.

Hardly a stride was taken during the latter stages of the race without one athlete clawing another as they jockeyed for position on the 11 lap track.

Equals World Record.

Fulton set the early pace and did the 440 in :59.2 and the half mile in 1:59.2 before Eisenhart and Roxborough took command.

The 60 yard dash went to Ed Conwell of New York university in the world record equaling time of :06.1 and Ed Dugger, formerly of Tufts but now with Uncle Sam's army at Dayton, O., snagged the 60 yard high hurdles in :07.5.

Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, only man to clear 15 feet in the pole vault, was grounded tonight and kept from defending his title. Weather conditions forced his plane down at Cleveland.

Champoins crowned tonight and their marks include:

60 YARD HIGH HURDLES—Ed Dugger, unattached, Dayton, O., :07.5.
BROAD JUMP—Pvt. Barney Ewell, Camp Lee, Va., 24 feet 6 inches.
SHOT PUT—John Yonaker, Notre Dame, 50 feet 8½ inches.
POLE VAULT—Jack De Field, Minnesota, 14 feet.
MEDLEY SPRINT RELAY—New York university, 2:00.4.
1,000 YARD RUN—Les Eisenhart, Columbus, O., 2:15.
MILE WALK—Joe Medgyesi, New York A. C., 7:10.5.
600 YARD RUN—Robert Ufer, University of Michigan, 1:11.3 [meet record].
TWO MILE RELAY—Dartmouth, 7:50.9.
THREE MILE RUN—Ensign Oliver Hunter, Columbia Midshipmen's school, 14:22.2.
HIGH JUMP—William Vessie, Dartmouth, and David Albritton, unattached, Dayton, O., tied at 6 feet 6 inches.

Wheaton Triumphs Over Concordia Five, 51 to 46

the work of those referees, judges, timers, clerks, and announcers who have devoted their time to Golden Gloves for years.

Youngsters on Teams.

A number of seasoned campaigners of other Golden Gloves tournaments will return from out of town, altho there will also be a considerable number of 16 and 17 year olds. One of these is Joey Damato, a Youngstown, O., featherweight who is out to match the sensational work of Tony Janiro, the baby of the 1943 Cleveland Plain Dealer team. In addition, a number of service men will be seeking Golden Gloves. Chicago will be represented by Coast Guardsman Sparrow and Pvt. Mashino. The Milwaukee Journal team was strengthened by the victories of Sgt. Jim Donohoo and Pvt. Jackie Gibson of Madison's Truax Field. Corp. Jimmy Miller of the Smyrna army air field will be back swinging again for the Nashville Tennessean.

The Tournament of Champions will see fighting in two rings tomorrow and Tuesday night. Tomorrow will find the four lighter divisions making their first assault, and Tuesday will be devoted to the four heavier classes. On Wednesday, they'll argue for the 32 places which will qualify them for the championship finals in the Stadium on March 10.

GOLDEN GLOVES CENTERS

The field for the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions opening tomorrow in the Chicago Stadium was drawn from 29 out of town centers, where newspapers or military authorities coöperated with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in the formation of teams. MERULLO MAY KEEP DEFENSE JOB, CUBS TOLD

Len Merullo, the Cubs' regular shortstop last season, may pass up major league baseball this season in favor of defense work. He has returned his contract unsigned, explaining that there was no need of going thru the formality because of his present tieup to a war job in Boston. The expectation is that the shortstop post will be taken over by Bill Schuster from the Pacific Coast league. Bobby Mattick, himself a former big leaguer, watched Schuster closely last season and predicts the player will be the best defensive man the Cubs have had at the position since Bill Jurges.

BECK BACK IN MAJORS.

Decatur, Ill., Feb. 26 [Special].—Walter Beck will return to the majors. The veteran Decatur hurler has returned his signed contract to the Detroit Tigers and will report March 14 for spring training in Evansville.

MILLS' FUNERAL TO BE TUESDAY IN BELOIT, WIS.

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special].—Funeral services for Thomas E. [Tommy] Mills, director of the Rockne Memorial fieldhouse, who died yesterday of a heart attack, will be held on Tuesday morning in St. Thomas church, Beloit, Wis. The body will be at the McGann funeral home, in South Bend, until 8:30 p. m. Sunday.

The Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of Notre Dame, today paid a tribute to Mills, who helped Knute Rockne coach Irish football teams from 1926 to 1929. Father O'Donnell said, "The campus was saddened yesterday by the death of Mr. Thomas Mills, a member of the faculty for many years, and later director of the Rockne memorial. In both capacities he acquitted himself with a fidelity that won for him the admiration and respect of administration, faculty, and students. He will be missed at the university of his adoption, whose ideals were an integral part of his life."

Morton Heavies Beat New Trier Five, 43-37

The Morton heavyweight basketball team defeated New Trier, 43 to 37, in Cicero last night. New Trier held a 22 to 14 lead at the half, but was unable to check the league's third place holders in the last two quarters.

EMERSON WINS GARY DISTRICT MEET, 47-38

Emerson High school of Gary won the Gary district tournament in the Gary municipal auditorium last night before 4,500 by defeating Horace Mann of Gary, 47 to 38. A second quarter drive, which brought 12 points while Horace Mann was held scoreless, accounted for the victory. Emerson held a 14 to 12 lead at the end of the first quarter and ran the count to 24 to 12 at the half. The score at the end of the third quarter was 36 to 25.

Bernard Olis, forward, was Emerson's star with seven one hand shots from the corner of the floor, which, with two free throws, gave him scoring honors with 16 points. Emerson will meet Hammond High school, victors of the Hammond district, in the first game of the Hammond regional tournament next Saturday night in Hammond. Lineups:

Todd Upsets Latin, 41-27, in Meet Final

The jinx which has prevented the champion of the Private school basketball league from winning the league's tournament, prevailed last night for the fourth year when Todd of Woodstock upset Chicago Latin, 41 to 27, in the finals at Harvard.

Cal Jones, guard, and Len Di Michele, forward, paced the Todd attack with 12 points each. Johnny Groth's four field goals and five free throws were Latin's best individual effort. These 13 points earned Groth individual high scoring honors. Todd held a 13 to 11 lead at the end of the half.

Concordia won third place by defeating Chicago Christian, 51 to 33, in the first game of the final card. Lineups:

thru the third period but could not beat Paul Bibeault in the Toronto nets, until Smith finally connected at 14:50 on a 20 foot drive which hit the mesh and rebounded out before Bibeault even say it. Thirty-four seconds later Bentley drove thru two Toronto players from just inside the red penalty line for the winning score, giving the Hawks five victories against four defeats and a tie in 10 games against Toronto this season.

MONTREAL WINS TITLE

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 26 (AP).—The Montreal Canadiens clinched the National Hockey league championship tonight with a 10 to 2 victory over the Boston Bruins in a game that dealt another heavy blow to the Bruins' chances of getting into the Stanley cup playoffs.

A sellout crowd of almost 12,000 watched the Canadiens coast thru their 21st home game of the season without a defeat. The victory gave the Canadiens 67 points, one more than the second place Detroit Red Wings could gather by winning all their remaining games.

MINOR LEAGUES CAN'T SWALLOW 'Z' CURE-ALL

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The major leagues' habit of having farm clubs scattered thru the minors as player development projects is much like the weather. People who try to picture them as horrible evils do a lot of talking and that's all. People also talk about the weather and nothing ever is done about it.

This brings us up to the latest cure-all, granted that baseball needs a cure instead of a quantity of vitamins which promote business brains. It is the Zeller plan, so tabbed because of being submitted by Jack Zeller, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, but there is a suspicion that other hands figured in the bringing forth of the brain-child.

Ideas Aren't Sound.

The "Z" scheme probably has some good points somewhere along the line which embraces five clauses but one of them is the equivalent of making minor leagues the schools for the majors at bargain prices. There would be no open market for outright sales to the majors. It would be a cut and dried affair on a pre-arranged scale and it could happen that a minor league owner could be frisked for his entire team in one swoop. The farm club opponents should be able to think up a better plot or get ideas from the palace guard.

There would be no major league "farm" holdings in minor circuits under the "Z" way. Working agreements, a device whereby a major arranges for such little niceties as first pick of a minor league team, would be taboo. The drafting by majors from the minors would cease in its present form. Each big league club would be permitted to have a maximum of 20 players in the minors on option which means they are subject to recall. That alone is 320 players over which the minors would have no control. That's enough to stock two minor leagues.

No Chance for Bidding.

To get players from the minors, except their optioned men, the majors would assemble under the "Z" scheme and file claims in the reverse order of the standing of the clubs; that is the first placers would draw last but the process could go on as long as a buyer remained. The top figure would be $12,000 for the first pick from a Class AA club. All other figures would be graded down from this.

All the above would be very nice for the majors because it would no longer be necessary to bid against each other for talent, a practice that now enables the minor league owner of a particularly bright prospect to hit the jack pot. The average minor league owner would much prefer to gamble on the possibility that he might be the next lucky one to uncover a $75,000 item.

LATIN AMERICA RUBBER PLAN IS HELD 'HUMBUG'

La Varre Describes Waste in Brazil.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Charging that the American people are being "humbugged" about the Latin-American rubber production program, William La Varre challenged "the White House commissars" today to make public a rubber report he wrote for Secretary of Commerce Jones last April.

William La Varre.

La Varre is the man who resigned as chief of the department of commerce American republics division on Feb. 12 in protest against a war which he said followers of Vice President Wallace are waging against American commerce.

Charges Tax Money Waste.

La Varre said today that the rubber program in Latin America is a fiasco created by Douglas Allen under the direction of Wallace and Leo Crowley, head of the foreign economic administration. Allen is president of FEA's Rubber Development corporation, which is in charge of rubber procurement.

La Varre asserted that American taxpayers' money is being extravagantly misused at the headwaters of the Amazon river for personal profit. There, he said, one of the men high in control of the rubber program has "a booming war time private business which waxes richer in proportion to the number of other Amazonian businesses and business men he has put out of business."

La Varre said that Allen is chairman of the Otis-Astoria corporation, New York, and that this firm deals in mahogany, nuts, and rubber.

Tried to Halt Boondoggling.

He warned that Americans will have to do "a lot more riding in trolley cars" and walking because the United States is not getting the South American rubber that could have been obtained.

"Our dwindling stockpile of natural rubber, which we have to mix with our synthetic rubber, should have been increased in the last 12 months by 60,000 tons of South American rubber," La Varre said. "But we didn't get it. Instead we have produced only a record of a fantastic Amazonian boondoggling blunder which makes us the laughing stock of all intelligent South Americans.

"I tried for two years, in the department of commerce, to stop this cock-eyed extravagance. I am told I am the first government official to resign for the expressed purpose of telling the American people publicly what is being done to them in international politics and commerce."

Asks Report be Published.

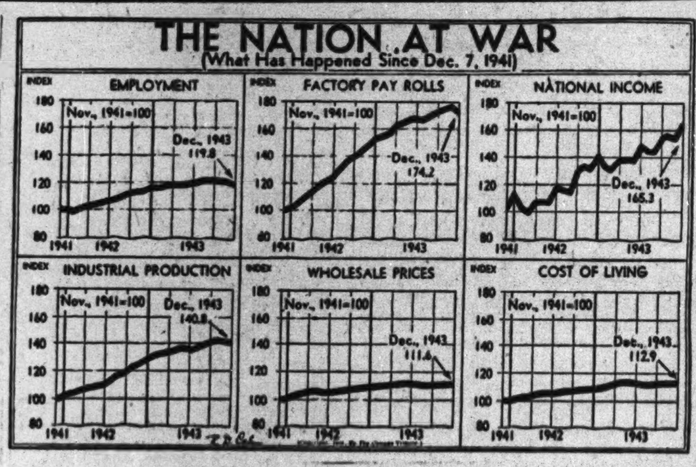
La Varre resigned in protest not against the department of commerce but the planners who, he said, have gained control of American commerce since the department's powers were usurped by Crowley's organization, the FEA inherited the work of Wallace's defunct board of economic warfare.

"I contributed," La Varre said, "to the now forgotten Baruch rubber report which recommended the production of all the wild rubber possible from this hemisphere. It was a good report and plan—but nobody followed it.

"I challenge the White House commissars to produce my report of April, 1943, or the Amazon rubber procurement fiasco, which I made for the secretary of commerce. If they won't produce it, maybe a congressional committee can subpena it, and let the people know how stinking was the Amazon rubber fiasco in 1943—and how it still stinks."

Raps Colonizing Scheme.

"We could have obtained enough rubber from Latin America, with a simple program to have given us enough good tires to service our essential needs for 1945, but the idea was to make a simple program as complex as possible for the purpose of subversive injuring of private enterprise. Seven different New Deal agencies were set up in Washington to run the Amazon rubber program, at cross purposes."



Switch A. & P. Trust Suit to Danville Court

Danville, Ill., Feb. 26 (AP).—The government dropped one and started another anti-trust law action today against the New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and subsidiaries which the department of justice described as the nation's largest food and food products handler.

A criminal information charging the parent company and 30 officers and subsidiaries, called the "A & P group," with conspiracy to control prices and to injure and destroy food manufacturers, processors, canners, wholesalers, and independent retailers was filed in the United States District court here.

Dallas Suit Withdrawn.

This was almost simultaneous with action in the federal court at Dallas, Tex., by which an indictment containing similar charges, which had been returned by a grand jury Nov. 25, 1942, was nol prossed on motion of Wendell Berge, assistant attorney general.

After the information was filed here, Caruthers Ewing, A & P general counsel, said in New York: "We expected the government to lodge an information, which is simply a charge by a special assistant attorney general without the necessity of going before a grand jury."

Ewing said the original charges were "vague and indefinite."

Berge said at Dallas that the case there was dismissed because action of District Judge W. H. Atwell in striking portions of the indictment cast grave doubt on its continued validity. Berge described the case, however, as "one of the most important in the anti-trust division's program covering the food industry."

Hearing Date Not Set.

Horace L. Flurry, special assistant to the attorney general in charge of the Dallas case, was in Danville when the information was filed by William Hart, United States attorney, and his assistant, Ray Foreman. They did not say why the Danville district was selected. Judge Walter C. Lindley did not immediately set any date for arraignment of defendants or hearing counsel.

The information alleged that A. & P. lowered food prices at times below cost in certain areas until its stores acquired volume business, using profits from other areas to make up losses, also that the defendants obtained lower prices, discounts, and rebates which competitors could not obtain.

After the Dallas dismissal but before he was aware of the Danville filing, John A. Hartford, A. & P. president, said in New York he was confident that "no court would ever find anything wrong with our continued effort to give people more food for their money."

Chicago Bank Clearings Drop in Holiday Week

Nabisco Ordered to Drop Discounts to Big Buyers

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The National Biscuit company has been ordered by the federal trade commission to discontinue what the agency termed a "headquarters quantity discount" on products sold to chain stores and jobbers. The commission decided the practice violated the Robinson-Patman act by discriminating in prices between different purchasers.

NLRB ATTACKS CURB ON ITS JURISDICTION AS AID TO COLLUSION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The national labor relations board asked congress in its annual report today for repeal of a prohibition against invalidation of labor contracts which are more than three months old. It said the rule had protected contracts reached by collusive action and overridden the principle of majority rule. Congress last July wrote the prohibition into a bill appropriating funds to operate the NLRB in the current fiscal year.

The prohibition was originally aimed at preventing the board from proceeding to a decision in the Kaiser shipbuilding cases in which a CIO union was challenging the validity of closed shop contracts between the management and AFL unions on grounds that the contracts were made before the employes were hired and the employes, therefore, were denied the right to choose a bargaining agent. It resulted in a suspension of proceedings in the Kaiser case and 55 others.

The board reported it conducted 4,153 elections in the year to determine collective bargaining representatives. Affiliates of the AFL participated in 2,018 elections, winning 1,398 and receiving 267,118 votes. Affiliates of the CIO participated in 2,350 elections, winning 1,766 and receiving 515,271 votes. Unaffiliated unions participated in 745 elections, winning 416 and receiving 140,780 votes.

GRAIN MARKET FIRM ON WHEAT BUYING BY MILLS

Mill buying of May wheat, presumably to remove hedges against sales of wheat grits to distillers, gave the market a firm undertone yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Closing sales were unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel higher. Rye finished ¼ to ⅝ cent higher. Oats were ⅛ cent higher to ⅜ cent lower.

The war food administration announced no bids for flour would be received as scheduled and that additional purchases have been postponed indefinitely until a new program has been worked out.

Brokers said some rye may be sent to Finland via Arctic ports. This view had effect as a price making factor in that grain, altho the late rally came on buying by a professional trader who was also a buyer of deferred delivery wheat near the close.

WPB LETS WOOD USERS DECIDE ON WHAT TO MAKE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The WPB today lifted restrictions on the making of wood furniture, advising manufacturers they may produce any type they wish as long as they use no more than 84 per cent of the lumber they used in 1943.

The action modified an order issued in early December which prohibited manufacture of certain items such as magazine racks, tea wagons, home bars, record cabinets, and towel racks. WPB said the order had proved difficult to administer and was revised for that reason.

It did not alter regulations limiting wood consumption and retained restrictions governing use of seven particularly scarce types of wood. Each manufacturer will continue to be limited to not more than 35 per cent as many patterns as he offered in September, 1941.

Dividend to Be Omitted by Hearst Publications

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 26 [Special].—The board of directors of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., voted to omit the dividend normally payable March 15 on class A stock.

Stocks Close Mixed; Show Gain in Week

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—The stock market today ended a relatively lively and moderately strong week with selected rails and specialties edging upward, but almost as many issues closed lower.

New 1943-'44 peaks were touched by Delaware & Hudson, American Telephone, Engineers Public Service, United States Leather "A," and Gillette. Ahead also were Southern Railway, Atlantic Coast Line, Oliver Farm, Sears Roebuck, and Goodrich. In the minus ranks were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, Consolidated Edison, United Aircraft, Anaconda, and Texas company.

American Distilling Active.

American Distilling "plain" ran up 3 points on short covering, but later backed down and finished 3 points lower. The "stamped" issue, which goes off the list next week, lost 2.

Railroad shares, especially those in the reorganization category which would be aided by provisions of the tax measure, on Wednesday reached their highest levels since Oct. 6, 1937.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was unchanged at 51.4 but for the week had a net advance of 0.5 point. Dealings were sluggish most of the session, but volume expanded toward the close to 372,710 shares compared with 346,103 a week ago.

RAIL BONDS RISE.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—A few bonds registered substantial gains on active dealings today, but the list as a whole was narrowly irregular on low volume. Atlantic Coast Line collateral 4s advanced 2⅝ points, the first 4s of '52 climbed 1¾ and the 4½s of '64 nearly as much.

Other issues up fractions to a point or more included Lehigh Valley Coal 5s, Alton 3s, Rio Grande Western collateral 4s, Seaboard 4s of '50, and Childs company 5s of '43. Moderate losses were shown by Milwaukee general 4s of '88, North Western "when issued" 4½s of '99, and Big Four 4½s.

CHICAGO LIST GAINS.

The price trend continued upward yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange with most active issues showing fractional gains. These included Chicago corporation, up ¼; Cities Service up ⅝, Athey Truss Wheel up ¼, and Midland United $6 prior lien up ⅝. Northwest Bancorporation closed at a new 1943-'44 peak of ⅝, up ⅛.

FINANCING FIRM ORGANIZES NEW INSURANCE UNIT

Commercial Credit company yesterday announced the organization under Maryland laws of the American Health Insurance corporation. It is a subsidiary of American Credit Indemnity company, which in turn is a Commercial Credit subsidiary.

J. F. McFadden, president of American Credit Indemnity, has been elected president of the new unit. F. A. Deniston, formerly executive director of the Plan for Hospital Care, Chicago, is executive vice president. Don C. Hawkins & Co., Chicago, has been appointed special agent for the company.

PROFIT SLASH THRU REPRICE RULE ASSAILED

Reliance Company Nets $952,228.

The attitude of the government renegotiation authorities was criticized in the annual report issued yesterday by Reliance Manufacturing company [Illinois], which last month refunded $2,600,000 on renegotiated contracts for 1942. Slightly lower profit was shown for 1943 after providing reserves for possible renegotiation refunds applying to that year.

"The severe attitude of the renegotiation authorities has the effect of reducing profits to a point that can hardly be considered adequate for the large volume of business turned out by the company both for civilian and military purposes," E. T. Bard, executive vice president, told stockholders.

During 1943, the company substantially increased its output of clothing and parachutes for the army and navy, he said, "and its output during 1944 will be still further increased by reason of the acquisition of two additional plants."

Profit Slightly Lower.

Profit for 1943 amounted to $952,228, equal to $4.01 a common share, compared with $974,829, or $4.09 a share, in 1942. The earnings for both years were computed after deduction of $100,000 reserve for contingencies. The allowance for renegotiation of contracts for 1943 was not specified. In the 1942 accounts the renegotiation reserve was 2 million dollars.

Chicago Mill and Lumber company reported a reduction in net income for 1943 and discussed the discovery of oil on its land in northern Louisiana. Altho its No. 1 well proved dry in the Tuscaloosa sand at 3,876 feet, it was plugged below the top of the Wilcox formation and at that point began producing oil in December. A gathering pipe line owned by Standard Oil Company of Louisiana has been completed to the property.

Assign Production Quota.

The state has given the well a quota of 109 barrels a day, but the report said the company is not certain it will yield this amount in settled production. A second well proved dry in the Wilcox formation.

The report disclosed that the company had purchased timber holdings near Benoit, Miss., estimated to contain 40 million board feet. To provide funds for this transaction and for other purposes, the company negotiated a term loan for $2,150,000 from the First National Bank of Chicago, due serially 1944 to 1950.

The company's profit for 1943 was $738,422, equal to $3.14 a share, against $833,754, or $3.55 a share, in 1942.

Storage Problem Made More Acute by Rising Pork Supply

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

The packing industry bottleneck caused by immense cold storage stocks of meat and lard has become more serious since Feb. 1 when the second largest holdings on record for that date were reported by the department of agriculture. Preliminary reports for the Chicago area yesterday showed further increases of 32 per cent in stored lard and 24 per cent in pork in the first half of this month.

Packers have been struggling for many weeks with the problem of finding storage space for meat which they are forbidden to sell to civilians because of ration restrictions and which lend-lease authorities are unable to accept because of shipping difficulties.

Predicts Some Relief.

Murray T. Morgan, in charge of lend-lease buying, said he expected relief for packers soon because of the release last week of shipping instructions for large quantities of meat. However, he held out little hope that the storage problem would end soon. Cold storage plants will be kept filled to capacity for some time, he said, partly as a safeguard against an sudden dip in shipments of meat animals from farms.

"It is good sense to carry a surplus of meat from a big production period into a period when output shows a seasonal decline," he said.

Urge Ration Value Slash.

Spokesmen for packers urged immediate federal action to relieve the congestion by temporarily slashing the point value of the kinds of meat that may move last into export.

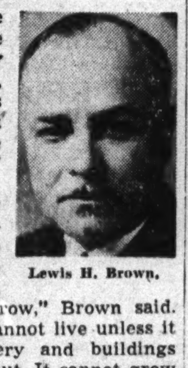
Distribution experts expect some relief thru a seasonal decline in supplies of animals, a trend already noticeable in all classes of stock. Butchering of cattle thru the entire country during the last two weeks was smallest in five months, except in the Christmas and New Year holiday period. Veal production was smallest in six months, and lamb and mutton lowest in eight months. Pork and lard production showed the least decrease, but was smallest in more than a month. However, output of all kinds of meat except lamb and mutton is substantially above all previous records for February.

Expect Beef Shortage

Shortages of better grades of beef are expected in some parts of the country during the spring and "probably will be accelerated materially by black market operations," the American Meat institute announced yesterday. "There were 16 per cent fewer cattle in midwestern feed lots on Jan. 1, than a year earlier," the institute said. "Those cattle have been marketed or now are being marketed after a short period of feeding on grain. Normally, such cattle are fed for a longer period and reach the market in the spring months."

Manville Tells Employes Its Plan for Peace

Reasons for financing and plans for the post-war period were explained to employes of the Johns-Manville corporation by Lewis H. Brown, president, in his "annual report to Johns-Manville job jobholders," just released.



Lewis H. Brown.

"Our company—like every business—has to save some part of the money it takes in to live and to grow," Brown said. "The company cannot live unless it replaces machinery and buildings which are worn out. It cannot grow unless it can buy new tools and new buildings.

Company Saves for Future.

"If our company let all its income go for materials and services, wages and salaries, taxes and dividends, it would be like a man who spent all his income for food and drink without saving anything for the suit of clothes he will need when his present one wears out."

He reported that wages and salaries in 1943 were 17 per cent higher than in 1942, that total employment was 14,100 at the end of 1943, that earnings of the company amounted to 4⅓ cents on the dollar compared to 5 cents the preceding year, and that 10 million dollars "was deposited in a fund for deferred expenditure to meet unusual contingent obligation created by war, to care for equipment purchases postponed because of war conditions, and to help finance necessary post-war developments."

Jobs for Service Men Planned.

The fund will also assist Johns-Manville men and women given leaves of absence to enter service, Brown said. Altho much new equipment will be needed, the company will not have to shut down for reconversion when it turns to peace time production, he predicted.

"We know that, all over this country, a huge backlog of requirements for building materials has developed," he said. "Thus the demand for new houses and for materials for maintenance and repair of existing houses continues to mount."

TRADE INTERESTS PUT SKIDS UNDER PLAN TO SELL BUTTER HOARDS

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—The projected release of approximately 20 million pounds of butter to civilians from the government's hoard of 130 million pounds in storage was reported today to have collapsed in the face of trade opposition. Dealers prefer to handle fresh butter as the period of flush production that will reach its peak in the spring nears.

With New York City consumers complaining rancid butter is being sold in this market, it was learned that the butter advisory committee of the war food administration had recommended that any "uncommitted stocks on hand" be held in storage.

The advisory committee recommended after a two day conference with WFA authorities in Washington that WFA reduce its creamery reservations when the butter set-aside program is resumed on or after April 1.

Securities Dealers' SEC Case Delayed to March 29

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP).—The securities and exchange commission announced today a further postponement until March 29 of oral arguments in proceedings to review disciplinary action taken by the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., against certain members for violation of a price maintenance agreement. A previous extension until March 1 had been granted to enable the N. A. S. D. to file a reply to department of justice briefs.

DEMANDS LAW TO GOVERN WAR SURPLUS SALES

Trade Group Warns of Depression.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 [Special].—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States today demanded prompt enactment of legislation establishing policies to govern the disposition of surplus war plants and supplies. It warned that if such laws are not passed a serious depression may develop when the war ends.

Releasing the recommendations of a special committee on the problem, headed by Albert C. Mattei of San Francisco, the chamber said they were in "general harmony" with the proposals recently advanced by the senate post-war committee and in the Bernard M. Baruch report.

Asks Gradual Disposal.

"On the broad principle that our government should withdraw from all business operations," the committee said, "most of this property will have to be disposed of, and the manner of its disposal will have a profound effect upon our economy."

If the surplus plants and materials were sold at the lowest obtainable price in the quickest possible time, the report said, this would "interfere with the conversion of our economy to a normal peace time basis and create widespread unemployment." It held the only alternative was "returning the surplus property to the private economy in such a gradual and carefully planned manner as to have the minimum detrimental effect upon trade and national income."

Urges Early Decisions.

The committee urged prompt passage of legislation setting up a "new and independent agency" to handle this problem and the "establishment of basic principles and policies" to guide it.

It appealed for early decision on what plants and properties were to be returned to private ownership and what must be retained for military purposes. No locality should be favored in such disposition, it held, and "as a broad principle," surplus plants, real estate, and other facilities should be sold and not leased.

Surplus commodities should be disposed of as rapidly as consumers demand such goods, but "the government should not push the sale of surplus goods at a time when business generally is uncertain or declining, so as to induce or accentuate a depression," the report continued.

Predicts Freeze of Farm Pay; Chicago Wage Boosts Granted

Ceilings Expected

Wage ceilings for farm labor probably will be established in many midwest states this year to prevent excessive spiraling during the harvest season, especially that of truck garden crops, W. T. Ham, acting chief of the wage stabilization division of the war food administration's office of labor, said here yesterday.

The piecework wage rates paid for harvesting some crops in this area in 1943 showed a tendency to rob canneries of their employes, Ham told a conference of state agricultural extension directors and state farm labor supervisors meeting in the Stevens hotel.

Canneries Outbid for Hands.

"Tomato growers in southern Illinois and southern Indiana were paying so much money to harvest hands last year that canneries had trouble keeping enough employes to handle the pack," he said. "Similar experiences were reported in truck crop areas in northern Illinois, Michigan, and Minnesota."

The wage stabilization division of the WFA exercised its authority to establish local emergency farm wage ceilings in only two states, California and Florida, in 1943, he said. Citrus fruit growers competed excessively for pickers in Florida, and asparagus growers bid their field wages fantastically high in California. The average asparagus picker made $20 a day, Ham said, and one asparagus picking team of eight men worked up to $54 each a day.

Predicts Widespread Curbs.

"This year labor will be scarcer, and wages will tend to rise on the farms," he said. "Growers will be eager to prevent the wages rising beyond reason, and it will be important to keep the farms from robbing the canneries of their help and also from pirating one another's employes. I think wage limitations will be imposed in many states."

State agricultural extension department directors will appoint state WFA wage boards to fix the ceilings, which must be approved by the WFA in Washington, he said. The growers or canners may request the ceilings, he pointed out, or the WFA boards may act on their own initiative.

Increases Approved

Fifteen wage increase applications were approved and two denied yesterday, Edgar L. Warren, chairman of the 6th regional war labor board, announced. Eight Chicago cases were approved as follows:

Glidden company permitted 5 cents an hour night shift premium; men's starting rate 60 cents an hour with 65 cents after 60 days; women's starting rate 55 cent with 60 cents after 60 days; effective Oct. 1, 1943. Other increases averaging 8 to 12 cents an hour denied.

Garment Workers' Boost Passed.

New York Handkerchief company and International Ladies Garment Workers' union, AFL, agreement on 6 cents an hour increase to 310 factory workers, effective Nov. 15, 1943, approved. Other increases denied.

Chicago Photo-Engravers association and Chicago Photo-Engravers union, No. 5, agreement on increased minimum scale for journeymen of $1.64 an hour, with $5 differential for night shift, effective July 12, 1943, approved.

Standard Transformer company received modified approval of rate ranges for 1,000 production and maintenance employes, effective Nov. 12, 1943.

Franklin association and Bindery Women's union, No. 30, agreement on wage increases of $2.50 a week, effective Nov. 1, 1943, approved.

Harvester Application Approved.

International Harvester company application to adjust wage rate schedule for 1,472 positions in Chicago area plants, except West Pullman, approved.

Apartment Building Owners and Managers association and Elevator Operators and Starters union, AFL, dispute decided by WLB ordering increase to $120 a month for operators.

Rheem Manufacturing company and Miscellaneous Warehousemen's association, AFL, application for rate ranges effective Nov. 1, 1943, approved.

One Chicago and one Cicero case were denied.

United States Tobacco company application with United Automobile Workers of America, local 286, AFL, for 10 cents an hour increase for 294 employes denied.

Taylor Forge Increase Denied.

Taylor Forge and Pipe works, Cicero, application with independent union for 6 cents an hour increase for hourly paid workers and 4 cents an hour in incentive base rates denied.

Federal District Judge Igoe ordered arrearages in wages amounting to $3,000 paid to 24 employes of the Wrightwood dairy, against which involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were filed Friday. The employes had been granted wage increases by WLB last October.

People and Events

TRUST INVESTMENTS.

Economic and financial developments of the last decade have upset much of the traditional thinking with respect to the handling of investment funds.

With the diminishing supply of high grade fixed return securities during a period when trust funds have grown, yields have shrunk to record lows. These low yields have been made particularly unattractive by the upward trend of living costs and taxes, which reduce the "real" value or purchasing power of already meager investment returns.

In this situation pressure has been strong for the adoption of "dynamic" or flexible investment policies in place of "static" policies enforced by legislation or deeply rooted traditions.

Specifically, advocates of the dynamic rule have in mind the recognition of equities as properly includible in a conservative investment portfolio, including the portfolio of a trust fund.

Within the last five years several state legislatures have relaxed their severe limitations and granted more discretionary power to fiduciaries. The Connecticut legislature enacted a statute to this effect in 1939, New Hampshire liberalized its law in 1941, and in 1943 California, Delaware, and Minnesota enacted laws based on a model statute prepared by the legislative committee of the American Bankers association's trust division. Plans are under way for similar action in a number of other states.

Not only by legislative action are fiduciaries being given a freer rein. Trust instruments are increasingly granting broader powers to trustees in the choice of investments.

When legislative and trust instrument shackles are removed it becomes necessary, of course, to exercise more care in the choice of the fiduciaries themselves.

ZACK MOSLEY

Lake Worth, Fla.

"SMILIN' JACK," pen-and-paper pilot to the world, high-flyer of cartoon characters, does little that his creator, Zack Mosley, couldn't do himself. They're so alike that Mosley is known as Smilin' Jack.

Mosley claims that Jack is simply his ideal flyer, but his friends insist, and his record proves, that they are one and the same.

Jack is an accomplished pilot. So is Zack. Both have flown a variety of planes. Before joining the army air forces Jack flew with the civil air patrol. Zack is Captain Mosley of the CAP, credited with 19 months of anti-submarine patrol on the Atlantic frontier.

Both Jack and Zack have brothers nicknamed Stretch. Jack is very fond of a lady named Cindy, the Incendiary Blonde. Zack is married to her.

Jack is a handsome, broad-shouldered man with an exclamation mark mustache. Zack is equally handsome, but has no mustache.

Jack doesn't know it, but he owes his existence to poison ivy. If Zack hadn't picnicked too long and too lustily one summer Sunday

By MARTHA MURPHY

Since the day in 1917 when an army Jenny made a forced landing on the Mosley ranch in Oklahoma, Zack has lived on air. Born on Dec. 12, 1906, in Hickory, Indian Territory, now Oklahoma, Zack grew up in a world where northers blew the pinfeathers off chickens, and Indian boys grew so fast that the buttons popped off their shirts.

The advent of the Jenny made startling changes in that world. Lindberghs and Rickenbackers and lovely lady flyers, later to be known as "li'l de-icers," began to people the chicken houses and cow barns. Wondrous planes swooped thru the night and pens and pencils became magic wands instead of algebra tools.

With aviation in one hand and art in the other, Zack glided into jobs jerking sodas, acting as handyman in lumber yards. He saved a little money, hopped a train to Chicago, and enrolled in the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

In the daytime he studied. At night he worked in the Harding restaurants. "I was a sort of male hostess—a greeter and seater—at first," Zack says. "Later, when I broke my arches on the Harding marble floors, I was promoted—or demoted—to cashier." In between greeting and seating and sketching Zack hung around airports, talking (Continued on page two.)

LOOK TRIM ON THE JOB!

By ELEANOR NANGLE

JOBS ARE not hard to come by these hectic days when all industries are going full blast. Girls are rushing from the high schools—and, unfortunately, from the grammar schools—into jobs that pay them fairly well even for imperfect handling of the work they're paid to do. Life in the business world, these girls are thinking, is an absolute cinch.

'Tain't so. . . . Some of these girls have no intention of remaining in business. They're marking time until they marry. Others will want careers and be bitterly disappointed if, at war's end and the inevitable demobilization of working women on the home front, they're given a regretful notice. Still others, who never wanted a career in the first place but had to go into business, are going to be forced to remain there for one reason or another. Those in the last two groups will save themselves a lot of disappointment if they learn now that a profitable career is earned the hard way and that the toe-hold on the ladder of success is maintained only by a special kind of self-discipline.

Which secretary would you keep and pay well and promote to better things when the war is over? Not the one on the left, typical of the girls who are indifferent about appearance. Rather you'd prefer the one with crisp, clean hair, simple dress, well brushed tailored clothes, and a consistent trimness.

You can be a just so-so worker for the war's length or you can be a good one. It's up to you. And if you want to remain in business—or if you have the admirable taste for doing anything you do as well as you possibly can—you'll not be deceived into lethargy by the incredible (and fleeting) easiness of obtaining and holding a job today.

• • •

You'll sharpen your wits, your conscientiousness, and your appearance if you're smart. The three are of equal importance. Don't let any one fool you into thinking they aren't.

The girl fresh from grade or high school often has exactly the wrong ideas about the way to dress for an office. If she's trying to capture the boss' eye by overdressing she's making a grave mistake. Men like frilly clothes and flower in the hair and swishy skirts—but not on the women who work in their offices. The kind of men who don't place the proper value on good taste and good attitude in the women who work for them won't, you may be sure, develop into important executives. And, on the average, women are only as successful as the men they work with and for.

Maybe you're starting out in business in a small, humdrum capacity, one of hundreds banging away at typewriters or toting mail or manipulating file cards. Don't think that your job isn't worth dressing up to. Every job is. And bosses weary fast of the "cute tricks" who wear sweaters and swing skirts and dangling earrings and flowers in their hair. The girl whose presence wears well is the one who is invariably only conspicuous in an office for her tidiness and her impeccable taste (usually more tailored than otherwise) in coiffure and clothes.

There is a special need for immaculate grooming on the part of the working girl. Her hair should shine, and her shoes; her clothes should be well brushed, her white touches very white. And above all her clothes should be the simple, somewhat sturdy kind, without ruffles or froufrou or feathers.

If she looks frowsy or a bit on the floozy side she deadlocks her chances of promotion from behind the files. She'll never be moved to an inside office, no matter how efficient, if her appearance grates on her employer's nerves. Sometimes employers themselves can't quite explain why the very sight of some girls irritates them, but women should know why. Soiled collars, too fussy dresses, rundown heels, cocker spaniel hair arrangements, sloppy or exotic makeup—all these things, which may seem infinitesimal sins in themselves, add up to subtle displeasure to the eye and the sensibilities of the executive who wants his secretary to reflect in appearance as well as efficiency his own capabilities.

And don't forget ever that the clothes you wear influence your attitude. When you know you look crisp and clean and smart in the best business girl manner you'll act that way, too. You'll be crisper and cleaner and smarter about your work.

to birdmen and watching the planes come in.

Zack completed a year at the academy and two years at the Art Institute of Chicago and studied cartooning for a year with Carey Orr, Chicago Tribune cartoonist. For five years he worked as one of three collaborators on an aviation comic strip distributed by another Chicago syndicate.

In 1932 he enrolled for flying lessons at the Chicago Municipal airport to gather authentic material for an aviation strip of his own. Picnic poison ivy pushed the strip into being.

Mosley suffered so severely from the itchy rash that he had to wear his wife's silk stockings under his trousers. He couldn't lie down and spent night after night at his drawing board, bringing Jack into being.

When the poison ivy subsided sufficiently for him to wear his own socks Mosley wrapped up Jack and took him to New York. They waited eight days in the office of Capt. J. M. Patterson, editor and publisher of the New York News. A few days later Jack became the property of the Chicago Tribune-New York News syndicate. He made his first appearance on Oct. 2, 1933, in a full color comic section strip called "On the Wing."

Jack has come a long way since those days. Then he was a callow youth with tousled hair and a bow tie. Like Zack, he scared himself in learning to fly. Once he froze the controls with his feet and so frightened his instructor that he refused to fly with him again. Zack had the same experience.

Both Jack and Zack gained confidence on the day of Mosley's first solo. Zack added a tiny pair of wings to his signature that day which has never since been omitted.

Jack has undertaken a great many businesses. When Zack flew for fun with the New York News aerial camera man Jack was piloting a newsreel plane. When Zack visited air shows Jack flew in them.

Not so long ago Jack built "Sky camps," tourist camps for aviators and plane passengers, with money inherited from his wife, Joy Beaverduck, who had mysteriously disappeared over southern waters. The venture was a flop. Jack's slogan still remains, however, "Anything, any time, anywhere."

Jack's aerial adventures have taken him into many jams. Troubles reached a peak when he was mistaken for a convict escaped from a Devil's Island sort of prison. The prison records had been destroyed and Jack had a horrible time establishing his identity.

His love life has been a continual tailspin. Ten years ago he was enchanted by a sweet, simple airport waitress named Mary Miller. Since then his tastes have become more sophisticated and he has progressed from molasses-voiced Dixie Lee, a stewardess, to Cindy, the Incendiary Blonde, a modern red-hot mamma.

For a hectic, fisticuffing few months Jack was married to Joy Beaverduck, a flying heiress whom Zack describes as a flighty flyer. In an effort to outshine Jack as a pilot Joy took off on a daredevil flight toward South America and never returned.

Joy recently reappeared on a tropical island in the Southwest Pacific, wearing a sarong so short it would make a Polynesian blush and answering to the title of Coral Princess. She doesn't remember Jack, but with the kind coöperation of Cindy he has persuaded her to remarry him.

Jack's stag circle has changed, too. His best pal is the mysterious lady killer, Downwind Jaxon. Downwind is the kind of aviator with a girl in every airport, dozens of li'l black books, and a fast line of love talk for every li'l de-icer he meets.

Downwind has never shown his face to the public. Presumably it is too handsome to look upon. He stands always with his back to the reader or with one cheek turned. Neither Jack nor Zack makes any explanation.

As Jack's acquaintanceships have broadened and deepened, so have Zack's. Every friend of Jack's is a real friend of Zack's or is named for a real friend. Mary Miller, for instance, was named for Zack's wife, Mary, but Cindy embodies her personality. Mrs. Mosley is as brunette as Cindy is blonde, but both might be called curvacious and incendiary.

• • •

Cindy, now in her early thirties, was a child bride. So was a close friend of the Mosleys.

Cherry, the lissome lovely who recently made Cindy a grandmother by presenting her with a grandchild whose sex has not yet been announced, is named for Cherry Sue Orr (now Mrs. Henry Carson Jackson), daughter of the Tribune cartoonist.

Joy Beaverduck, Jack's heiress wife, is a collective combination of lady flyers Zack has known.

Fat Stuff, the paunchy South Sea Islander with a posture profile like a Chinese Buddha's, is an Indian boy who attended school with Zack in Oklahoma. Until Fat Stuff learned neatness in the army his swelling stomach popped the buttons off his shirts into the gullets of a flock of featherless chickens. Zack

Softer, Smoother Skin — it's yours with just One Cake of Camay

"Camay's mildness suits my skin!" says Mrs. R. J. Zipse, of Maplewood, N. J. "So many brides are devoted to Camay," explains Mrs. Zipse. "It's easy—with the Camay Mild-Soap Diet—to have that romantic fresh dewy look."

Skin Specialists prove Camay is Really Mild

Fresher! Softer! Sweeter! That's how your skin can be—with just one cake of Camay! Simply change to proper mild care ... to the Camay Mild-Soap Diet. Skin specialists tested this care on over 100 complexions ... on girls with skin like YOURS! And most complexions simply bloomed—noticeably softer, fresher, clearer—with the first cake of Camay.

These tests proved Camay's mildness ... proved it can benefit skin. "Camay is really mild," said the specialists, "it cleansed without irritation." No wonder the Camay Mild-Soap Diet brings such striking improvement to complexions. So stop haphazard skin care. Get Camay and see how one cake can bring new softer charm to your skin.

Go on the Camay Mild-Soap Diet!

Cream Camay over your face—pay special attention to forehead, nose, chin. Then—rinse warm. Give oily skins an extra C-O-L-D splash! Repeat Camay's mild care, night and morning.

Simple, isn't it?—and your very first cake of Camay means lovelier skin!

WARTIME "SOAP SAVERS"!

The materials that go into soap are precious—so make your Camay L-A-S-T!

GET GOOD LATHER ... from just a few rubs on the Camay cake. Use only what you need.

KEEP CAMAY DRY ... take it from the water—quick—after lathering. Wipe your soap dish dry.

USE EVERY SLIVER ... Sew up a washcloth for a bath-mit. Put Camay slivers inside. You'll get grand lather!

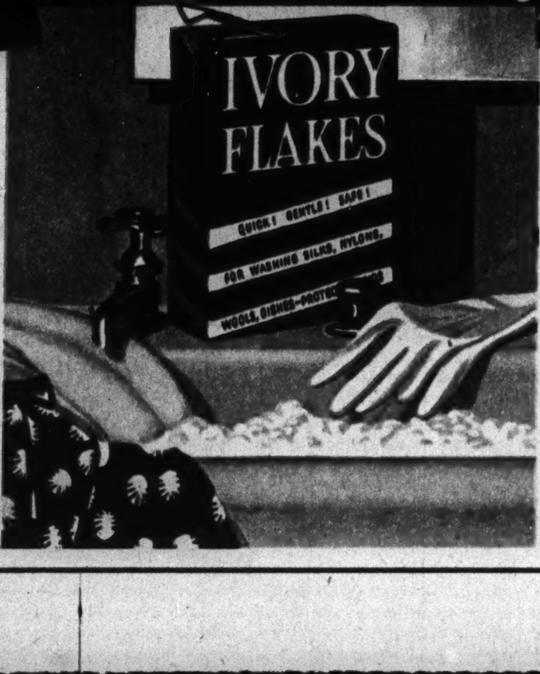
TWICE the Wear with Ivory Flakes Care!"

"I JOINED THE ASSEMBLY LINE," says Wilma Wallace, reared in Beacon, New York, "when my fiancé joined the Navy. Sure, I'm well paid—but most of my hard-earned money goes into War Bonds. They'll help speed the day when my Bluejacket can sail home for keeps! Anyway, nice new clothes are so scarce and expensive, now. So, I've set my sights for twice the wear with Ivory Flakes care.

"DON'T TREAT THINGS ROUGHLY with the wrong kind of soap," warns Wilma Wallace. "Change to gentle care with pure, mild Ivory Flakes." Scores of wash tests on undies, sweaters, dresses, blouses, negligées prove pretty washables give as much as twice the wear with Ivory Flakes care. The flake form of baby's mild Ivory is extra safe, too—for everything needing extra care—stockings, girdles, bedspreads, curtains.



"MAKE IVORY FLAKES LAST LONGER, TOO! You're probably wasting soap without knowing it," suggests Wilma Wallace. "Stop right now! Soaps use vital war materials. Measure Ivory Flakes in a cup or glass. Add carefully to lukewarm water. Even a small amount will make a mountain of rich, kind-to-colors suds."

Wash tests prove the Ivory Flakes way, Helps keep "pretties"
bright and gay!

TERRIFIC TALLU!

LOOKING AT HOLLYWOOD WITH HEDDA HOPPER

(Copyright: 1944: The Chicago Tribune.)

Hollywood.

WHEN Tallulah Bankhead said in "Lifeboat" that she was practically immortal it bowled me over. And it suddenly struck me that when you count all the things she's done, seen, and been, and those coming up unseen, I suppose you could really call Tallu immortal.

I've known her ever since she arrived in New York from Alabama. I won't say how many years ago that was, but if ever there was a southern belle with real beauty but more dash than you had been led to believe those clinging vines had, it was Tallulah. She had beauty, youth, a wide-eyed wonderment, and an ambition that drove her into the darnedest things.

• • •

There was no star of that day so mighty or aloof who could escape having Tallulah sit at her feet—and that went for Ethel Barrymore, Elsie Ferguson, Emily Stevens, and you can go on down the line from there. But it wasn't just hero worship. She was learning her trade. Her trade was acting. Whenever she was lucky enough to get a small part in any play she'd rush to the top stars and ask if they'd let her read it to them. And before you could say Tallulah Bankhead they were teaching her their tricks.

She played as hard as she worked. She was invited to all the parties, so therefore she met the rich and famous men as well as women. She was asked to pose for the best photographers. In fact, Ira Hill had a photograph of her in his case on 5th avenue for three years. It was thru that photograph she got to England.

Charlie Cochrane, London's big producer, was visiting in New York at that time. He happened to be lunching at the Algonquin hotel with Frank Case, and said to Frank: "I've just been strolling up the avenue, and I saw the photograph of the most beautiful girl! It was in Hill's window."

Frank said, "Would you like to meet her?" Charlie said, "I'd give practically anything to meet her."

At that Frank waved across the room and said, "Tallulah, come here." And Tallulah came over and was introduced to Charlie Cochrane.

Charlie was just as impressed with the original as he had been with the shadow. Learning that she was an actress, too, he said, "If you ever get to London I'll put you in a play."

She had a witness to that. And from then on she wondered how she'd ever get to London, 'cause she wasn't very opulently endowed with this world's goods. But she was very athletic, limber, and could do cartwheels almost as well as Elsie Janis. So at a big party at the old Waldorf her host asked if she would cartwheel all the way around the table. It was a long table. She hesitated. He said, "If you do, I'll give you anything you want." Then Tallu went into action, finished up beside him, and he asked, "What do you want?" Replied she, "My passage to England." And that's how she got there.

Her arrival there was a little startling to Charlie Cochrane. He had a heck of a time getting her in. When she landed they asked her what she was going to do. She replied, "I'm going to do a play for Charlie Cochrane." They wanted to see her credentials. She didn't have any. So when she got off the boat he was telephoned to and had to come all the way down to Southampton and vouch for her and promise not only to give her an engagement but to take her under his wing, because she hadn't yet passed her 21st birthday.

At right: Tallu in an early film.

Well, that got her to London. Then he had to find a job for her. Gerald du Maurier was about to begin rehearsals of "The Dancers." There were two leading ladies—a British girl and an American. The American naturally had the lesser role. But Tallu got the job.

There was no holding her after that. She met all the gay blades in London. She was a social success before she even opened. So much so that August John painted her portrait. Incidentally, it's one of the best things he ever did. It's now hanging in her drawing room, and beside it the one John did of George du Maurier. She bought that after his death.

• • •

Her opening night in "The Dancers" was something to shout about. I know—I was there with Mrs. Cochrane. It was the first London opening I'd ever attended. If you "go over" there you're set in their good books until the day you die. The most famous people fill the house, overflow the stage afterward, where champagne flows and merriment goes on until dawn.

Being with Gerald du Maurier was pretty fast company for our little girl from Alabama. The fourth act was anticlimactic, but Tallu raised it from the cellar and made it her own personal triumph. I went back to her dressing room to congratulate her, and found her with her head down among the grease paint, weeping copiously and crying: "They didn't like me—they didn't like me—they didn't like me!"

"Don't be an idiot! They're crazy about you. You went over like a house afire. You gave the most perfect imitation of Ethel Barrymore I've ever seen."

Only then her head came up and her tear-stained face turned to me and said, "Do you suppose they recognized it?"

"Why should they? They don't know Barrymore over here."

She went from play to play, and she was the absolute toast of London for eight years. Hundreds of kids waited at the stage door after every performance and just screamed their love for her as she came out. She was never too tired or too busy to stop. She had a word of cheer for all of them and called many of them by name. One of her biggest successes was "Her Cardboard Lover," with the late Leslie Howard. Her house at 1 Farm street, which was an old reconditioned stable, was the meeting place for the sophisticates of three continents.

When Tallu returned to New York it was only natural that she should be offered a film contract, and she signed a long-term one with Paramount in 1931. her first picture being "Tarnished Lady," directed by George Cukor. It wasn't very good. In fact, none of her pictures amounted to much—not even "Faithless," which she did for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

In those days the heroines were so sickeningly sweet and innocent that if they smelled anything stronger than a wild flower they were considered immoral. Well, you just can't picture Bankhead sweet. Naturally she wasn't happy in the movies.

Her unhappiness over her films naturally led her to do some very unorthodox things. Coming home from a party in the wee, small hours of the morning, and, seeing the cool pool at the Garden of Allah, and thinking it might be refreshing to take a dip before she went to bed, she plunged in—in her sequin gown. It stayed on the bottom, but she came up. The only person around was a poor old gardener, who ran for a blanket and tried to cover her. She threw it aside and said, "You would cover what people have paid a fortune to see?"

The next day she showed up at a luncheon with Peggy Fears, in a little sailor suit, looking all of 16, as innocent as you please, for some ladies' charity—and won them hands down, so that none of them believed the story about her swimming party.

But life palled on the west coast, and it was back to Broadway for her, where she was lucky enough to get "Forsaking All Others," which led to "Little Foxes," something she could really get her teeth into and did. And last year "Skin of Your Teeth," which became so much a part of her that when she left they had to close the show—nobody else could carry it.

Then Alfred Hitchcock offered her the lead in "Lifeboat," and now half a dozen top producers are scrambling for stories for her—among them Ernst Lubitsch. Mind you, Tallu isn't easy to cast on the screen. She has a strong face which is hard to photograph. But when it comes to acting she'll take no back talk from anybody. She doesn't have to. Her praise and admiration for Hitchcock know no bounds.

Never a girl to do anything by halves, she either loves or hates, and with the same degree of passion, and makes just as much noise about it. An avid follower of sports, when Joe Louis won the championship she couldn't wait to get an autographed photograph of him to have in her dressing room. She'll scream herself hoarse at a baseball game. Well, hoarser than she already is, because she has that husky voice—one of her chief assets.

Tallu was married once, to John Emory. When John realized he could never hope to win an argument he looked elsewhere.

You'll ask Tallu about such and such a scene in such and such a play that she's done, and she'll immediately go into a performance of it. If there are half a dozen people around it's even better. It means that much more praise and applause.

But her character's just as strong as her loves and hates. She was so appalled at the fall of Dunkirk that she took a mighty vow she'd never take a drink until England won the war. She never has. Even when in "Lifeboat" she was submerged in torrents of water and threatened with pneumonia, and the doctor prescribed brandy, she never went beyond strong tea.

This doesn't begin to give a picture of her language, which could match that of Jack Barrymore when she was in the mood. But if you've gotten this far you'll get the idea that Tallulah Bankhead is quite a person. And I'd advise you not to miss her or "Lifeboat."

She's made a lot of enemies in her day. Any one as forceful would. But no one can deny that she's brought a glowing vitality and light to the American stage and added luster to a Broadway that was slowly but surely showing a tendency to decay. And I'm hoping she'll get another picture as good as "Lifeboat" so we can again have her back in Hollywood and on the screen.

CHICAGO WOMEN TELL HOW TO MAKE CLOTHES LAST LONGER DURING WAR

Choose American Family Flakes 3 to 1 over all other package soaps for wartime washings, new survey reveals

"I get clothes white without hard rubbing or harmful bleaching and American Family Flakes does the job," says Mrs. Selma Legowski (5747 School St.)

"I solved the problem of keeping colored things looking bright longer when I gave up strong granulated soaps for American Family Flakes," writes Mrs. B. Gans (6856 S. Cregier)

DON'T WASTE SOAP!

It's made of war materials!

1 Soak clothes in clear, cool water first.

2 Don't use your washer until you have enough clothes to run a full load.

3 Fill washer with water at desired temperature. Start machine. Measure American Family Flakes in cup and add slowly until suds are about 2 inches thick.

PREMIUMS

American Family Flakes and American Family Bar Soap both give you valuable coupons—which you can exchange for practical, useful articles for yourself or your home without a penny's extra cost. Use American Family and save coupons for thrilling premiums at the American Family Premium Store, 57 W. TAKE IT EASY!

By MAUREEN DALY
(Author of "Seventeenth Summer.")

TOO MANY gals are worrying! They are singing a long, low song of the blues because, tho they are smooth and solid characters, there are no handsome Jacksons making with the phone calls and asking for dates these days. So at 16 and 17 these honey chiles think they have reached the end of the trail; the jig's up.

While all the other girls are having king-sized fun, dating boys by the drove, going to dances, having cokes after school, and being "only young once," these long-faced biddies sit at home on week-end nights feeling glum and telling each other that there must be something wrong somewhere.

Here's a letter from a group of six Sad Sals who have gotten together and pooled their troubles, and their story goes this way:

"We're six average girls in our second year of high school. We dress and talk as sharply as any high school girl. Up to now we've considered ourselves pretty slick chicks! We crave dancing, slow or jive; we aren't prudes, but we know when to stop. We're hep to the newest styles, and none of us are hard on the eyes. But the fellows just don't seem to turn our way. Every Friday and Saturday night, instead of going out on dates as most of our friends do, we go to one of the kids' houses and sit around and gab. We don't think we should ask fellows over to our houses, since they don't ask us for dates and we don't want to make ourselves seem cheap. Have you any suggestions?"

• • •

Instead of handing out the usual con about brushing your hair, eating your carrots like a good girl, and keeping smiling till the boys finally realize how wonderful you are, here is some first-hand consolation from a gal who once went thru just such puzzled loneliness and has now wound up in the strictly moonlight and roses department. This is what she has to say:

"I'm not strictly hep to the jive, being some years past the saddle shoe age, but only too well do I remember the flutters and heart yearnings of my own teens, so I thought I would clear up a few things that seem to be worrying so many girls who don't go over so well with boys. I guess I mean the Jills who have Jackson trouble. (Is that how you handle this jive talk?) I spent four of the best years of my life worrying because I was unpopular. I was pretty, intelligent, and incurably romantic, but—all that got me nowhere. At least not with the sterner sex, and that's what counts. When I was graduated from high school at 16 I was convinced that I was destined to be a hopeless old maid. Then all at once I got the hang of the thing, and—whoosh!—the swath I cut is still the talk of this part of our town. So you younger girls who are worried because you spend your evenings washing sweaters or lapping up cokes with Mary Lou, take heart, because your time is coming up in a year or two. Some people need longer to get started, that's all.

"P. S.—What's jive talk for 'the most wonderful man in the world'? I married him."

There's a boy for every gal—some girls just take a little longer to find the right one, that's all. So skip the long-faced pining, this "don't get around much any more" attitude, and convince yourself that this time next year you will be queen of the May, right in there dating with the best of them. You know you're a 20-20 little squab, but you just haven't been discovered yet.

So don't worry yourself into a goon-gal complex. You can't waste time mooning with all the schoolwork, homework, and warwork you have on your hands. Your Super Joe may be coming up any day now, and you can make yourself smarter and smoother while you wait.

"COUNTESS MARITZA"

"Countess Maritza" will be presented on the Chicago Theater of the Air Saturday, March 4, on W-G-N, WGNB, and the Mutual network from 8 to 9 p. m. (C.W.T.), starring Marion Claire and Igor Gorin.

By ALBERT GOLDBERG

THE MUSIC of the Hungarian gypsy has exercised an immemorial fascination for composers. For centuries this gay, vagrant, haunting music was as free and untrammeled as the life it depicted. It came from the fiddles and the throats of the gypsies and disappeared into thin air, handed down only by word of mouth from generation to generation. But along with the new romantic feeling that came into music after Beethoven—the music of Weber, Schubert, Schumann, Chopin, Liszt, and Brahms—there also arose a new consciousness, the spirit of nationalism, and with it an appreciation of the inexhaustible treasures in each nation's great storehouse of folk music.

Odette Myrtil

One of the first to utilize folk melodies in their original form was Chopin's contemporary, the great Franz Liszt—Hungarian by birth, gifted with pianistic genius, a flaming temperament, a picturesque appearance, and a lordly, romantic manner that brought all of Europe to his feet in worshipful admiration. In his native Hungary he was acclaimed a king. Liszt loved and understood the deep melancholy of the gypsy lassu and the wild, unrestrained gayety of the czardas and friszka. Out of these materials he forged his 15 famous Hungarian Rhapsodies, war horses which every great pianist—and some others—have ridden to victory since the day they were written.

Light opera composers have found the style of Hungarian music tailored to their purpose, from Johann Strauss' "The Gypsy Baron" to Victor Herbert's "The Fortune Teller." The most successful modern purveyor of Hungarian operetta has been Emmerich Kalman. Born in Budapest in 1882, he studied music seriously at the Academy of Music and won a prize in composition offered by the city of Budapest. The stage soon attracted him, and his first works were typical Hungarian operettas, "Fall Maneuver" in 1909 and "Gypsy Primas" in 1912.

But Vienna, the home of operetta, inevitably beckoned, and Kalman's style soon changed from the vigorous, earthy Hungarian idiom to the more polished, romantic, and sentimental manner preferred by the Viennese. He continued to write operettas on Hungarian subjects—"The Gay Hussars," "The Gypsy Princess," "Sari," and "Countess Maritza"—but the fundamental style is more Viennese than Hungarian.

"Countess Maritza" was produced in Europe in 1924 and two years later, with the original libretto of Julius Brammer and Alfred Grünwald revised by Harry B. Smith, scored a great success on Broadway in a production by the Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert at the Shubert theater, Sept. 18, 1926. In the cast were Yvonne D'Arle, late of the Metropolitan Opera; Walter Woolf, Vivian Hart, and the fiddle-playing Frenchwoman, Odette Myrtil, who climbed to musical comedy stardom with her "Play, Gypsies! Dance, Gypsies!"

In the play, Countess Maritza is a spoiled Hungarian noblewoman who, to relieve the tedium of life on her country estate, gives a brilliant party to announce her engagement to a nonexistent and fictitious lover. To this party comes a man she has just hired for a gardener because she liked his handwriting, but who is in reality an impoverished nobleman. An operetta version of "The Taming of the Shrew" follows, with the nobleman winning the countess and revealing his identity to save her from morganatic embarrassment.

THAT LAD LADD

WHEN a handsome young killer called "the Raven" made a terrific hit in Veronica Lake's picture "This Gun for Hire," movie fans all over the country wanted to see more of the new actor. They did, for Paramount immediately put Alan Ladd into big roles. But they had been seeing him before—minor roles in such films as "Rulers of the Sea" and some 30 others. He plugged along until he finally got a good part in "Joan of Paris." At the same time he was called, along with many other young actors, for screen tests for the killer part in "This Gun for Hire." Alan was first to be tested, and when the producer saw the results he called off all the others. Alan was his lad.

The one who got Ladd his break was Sue Carol, former film star, then an actors' agent. The one who got Sue was Ladd. They eloped to Yuma.

TRY BAX—THE COMPLETE* VITAMIN CAPSULE

Maybe you don't realize how fit and tireless you could feel, if you were getting all the vitamins you need. Government surveys show that even in normal times, most of us fail to get enough vitamins—and it's all the more true today with food rationing.

Don't let vitamin names and claims confuse you ...just get BAX—the Complete* Vitamin Capsule —and get all your vitamins

Each tiny BAX capsule contains a full day's minimum requirement of all the vitamins established for human nutrition. All in a single capsule—no need to take several tablets or capsules. And no point in taking products containing only a few vitamins!

15 days' supply of BAX only 73c... compare the economy

15 BAX Capsules bring you 15 days' full supply of vitamins. Many other products require you to take 2 to 3 tablets a day—so you have to buy up to 45 tablets to compare with only 15 BAX capsules. And don't confuse BAX with products containing only a few vitamins. BAX not only supplies the known important B-complex factors, but other vitamins just as valuable. BAX contains A, D, B_1, C, B_2(G), B_6, Niacin, Calcium Pantothenate. These include factors lacking in many other products, but which can make a big difference to you.

You'll like your vitamins in capsules

It would cost us less to use pills or tablets, but BAX vitamins are sealed in individual gelatine capsules because of the many advantages to you. They guard against oxidation and possible loss of vitamin strength; also eliminate the need for sugar, varnish, wax or other coatings. And so easy to swallow!

Particularly with food rationing, make doubly sure you and your family get plenty of life-enriching vitamins. Ask your druggist for BAX, the *Complete Vitamin Capsule.

15 days' supply 73¢
30 days' supply $1.39
Full 60 days' supply—the economy size—only $2.39—less than 4¢ a day

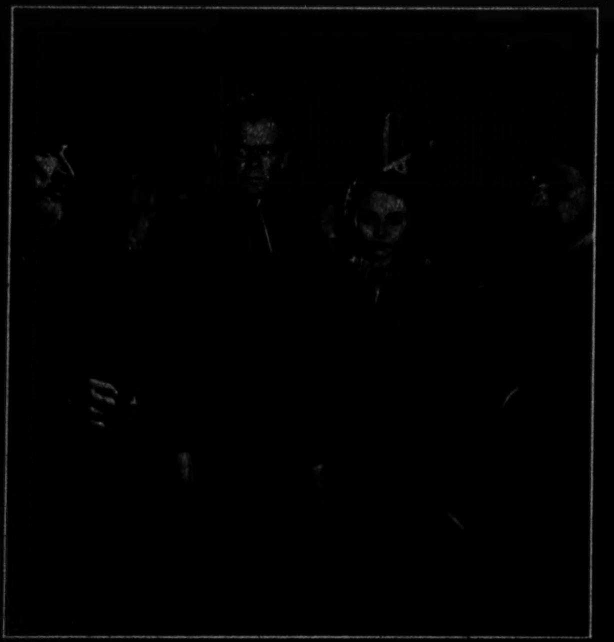
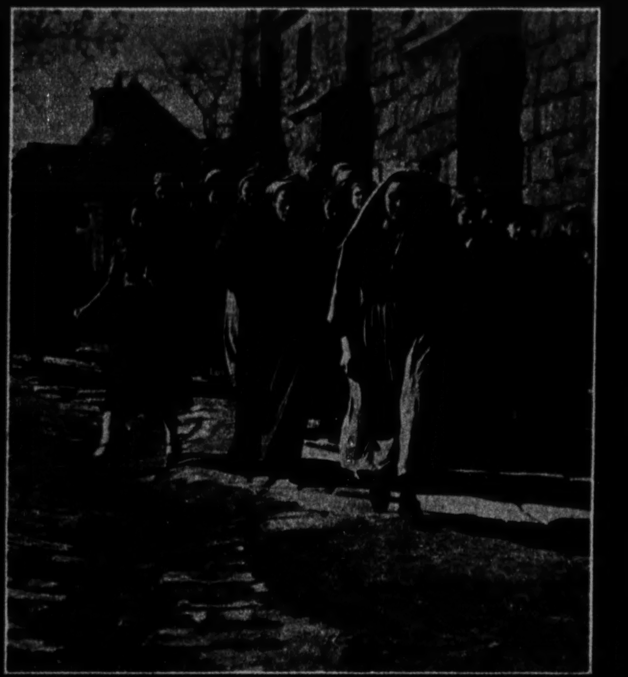
THE GRAPHIC LITTLE THEATER Presents "THE SONG OF BERNADETTE," with JENNIFER JONES

1 In the little French town of Lourdes word spreads that a miracle has happened. Little Bernadette Soubirous (Jennifer Jones) has told of seeing a beautiful Lady in a grotto near town.



2 Disbelief in Bernadette's vision is expressed by town officials and Peyramale (Charles Bickford), dean of Lourdes. But Bernadette answers all their questions and continues her visits to her Lady.



3 As word spreads Bernadette is followed on her daily pilgrimage to the grotto. The crowds hope for a miracle.

4 Before long they are rewarded. Bernadette's exaltation in the presence of the Lady, whom only she can see, reaches a climax when a healing spring issues from the grotto. Several miraculous cures are effected.

5 As pilgrims come to the grotto from all over the country, church authorities examine the case closely and finally decide that indeed Bernadette has been chosen as the agent of God's miraculous works.

6 One day Peyramale takes young Bernadette to a convent where she will spend the rest of her life. In time Bernadette dies, and later comes the great day at Rome when she is canonized as a saint.

Industry's Part in Post-War Employment

When helmets are laid away the fight for a durable peace must still go on. The final victory will be won in terms of jobs and security. Industry plans to help win this post-war battle by continuing to produce at a rate that will keep plants busy, workers employed. Here are some of the ways:

1. By reconverting plants to the production of peacetime goods as rapidly as conditions permit...
2. By rebuilding the facilities that will enable the world's industry to get back on a peacetime basis of production...
3. By replenishing the supply of homes, cars, radios and all the other conveniences of a peacetime world which millions of families will be able to buy with their war bond savings...

To carry out this program millions of workers will be needed in both new industries and old. Plans are now in effect to rehabilitate, train and re-employ former employees disabled in the armed services.

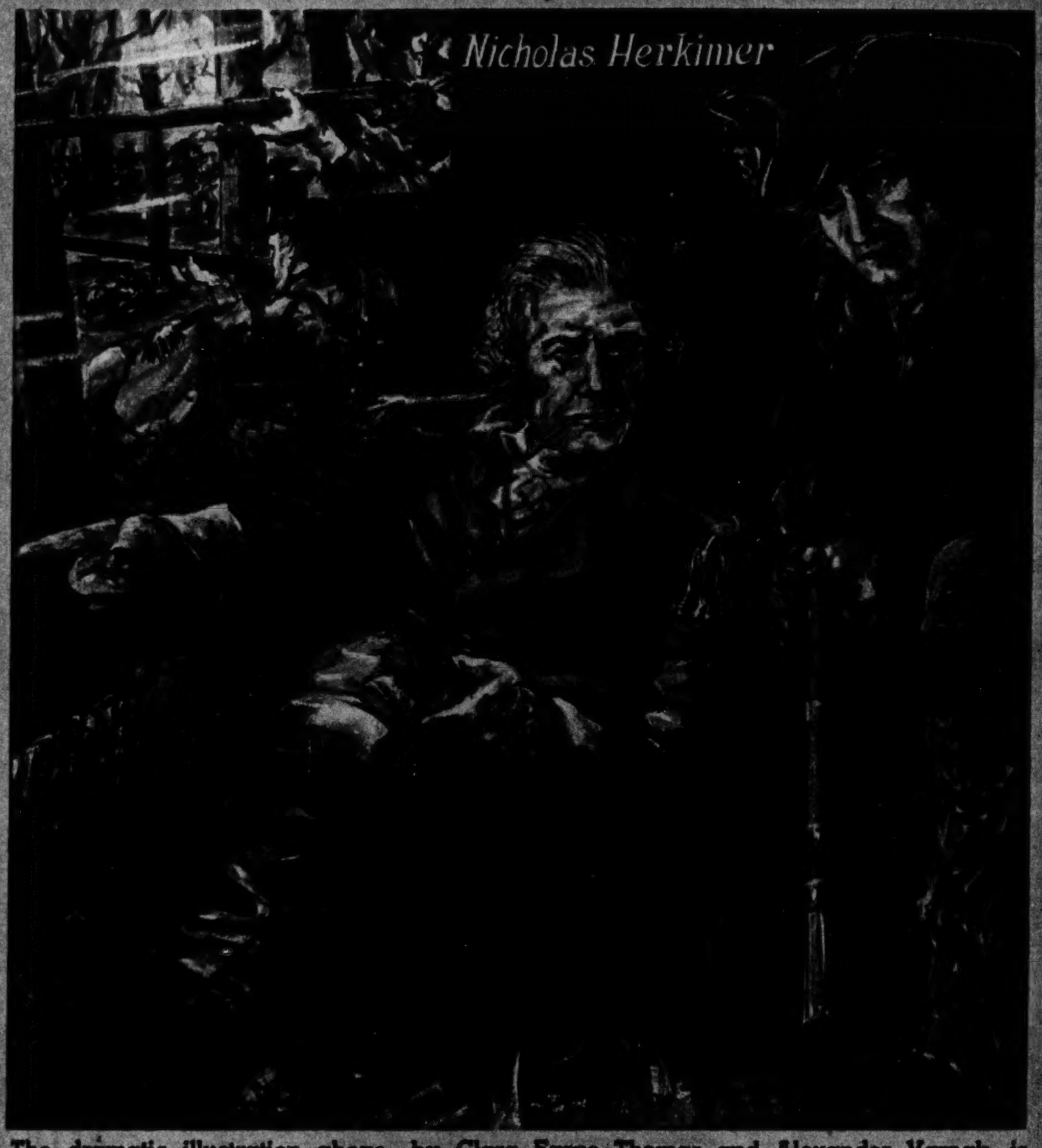
ROMANTIC FIGURES of AMERICAN HISTORY



The dramatic illustration above, by Clara Fargo Thomas and Alexander Varnak, is another of the series appearing currently in this section with biographical sketches. Watch for this feature every Sunday.

For this cool bravery, displayed at the battle of Oriskany, Aug. 6, 1777, Nicholas Herkimer has gone down in history as one of America's famous military leaders.

Herkimer, a brigadier general of New York militia, set out from Fort Dayton, on the Mohawk river, at the head of a force of between 700 and 800 men. His object was to relieve Fort Stanwix, near the site of the present city of Rome, N. Y., which then was besieged by British, Tories, and Indians under the command of Col. Barry St. Leger.

Near Oriskany creek Herkimer's little army was ambushed by a hostile detachment consisting mainly of Tories and Indians. At the first fire Herkimer was wounded and his horse killed. Some of his troops, those at the rear of the column, fled and left their remaining comrades to fight it out with the enemy.

Herkimer, altho unable to walk because of his wound, remained in the thick of the fight, kept his men together, directed them as to how to repel the enemy attacks, and saved them from annihilation, altho more than 200 of them were killed and almost that number wounded or taken prisoner. The Tories and Indians left the battlefield first, after which the survivors of Herkimer's army slowly retraced their steps to Fort Dayton.

On Aug. 16, 10 days after the battle, Herkimer bled to death as the result of an amputation performed by an inexperienced surgeon.

Herkimer was born near Fort Dayton (now Herkimer) some time in 1728, his parents having moved to the Mohawk valley from Germany a few years earlier. He fought as a lieutenant of militia in the French and Indian war. After that he acquired moderate wealth, mostly in the form of land, and as the Revolutionary war drew near he was made chairman of the committee of safety of Tryon county, N. Y. The Mohawk valley at the beginning of the war was the scene of a bitter civil war between the American patriots there and the loyalists, and Herkimer, as a brigadier general, was charged with the defense of the region.

He attempted in vain to keep the Indians under Chief Joseph Brant neutral in the conflict, and in 1776 he led a force against John Johnson, a notorious leader of the Tories. The revolutionary cause lost a valuable leader when Herkimer fell at Oriskany.

YOUTH ON THE CAMPUS

A PICTURE STORY OF THE PAUL BUNYAN "FORMAL" AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN APPEARS IN TODAY'S PICTURE SECTION.

By ELEANOR NANGLE

Ann Arbor, Mich.

THE FACT that the ballroom of the union, heretofore the setting for the Paul Bunyan "formal" that is the traditional big shindig of the school of forestry at the University of Michigan, is now the cafeteria where a couple of thousand ASTP men eat three times a day made it necessary for the Forestry club to give its dance at the Michigan league this year. Aside from that change it was just like the good old parties of other years, maybe even a shade more successful, since to the college student body of a war time era a big, beautiful, and truly gay dance is an event that does not go unappreciated.

• • •

The Paul Bunyan, the "informal of the formals" on Michigan's social schedule, was brilliant as college parties go nowadays. Not extravagant, tho. Ingenuity and effort on the part of the hosts accomplished miracles in decoration. For example, spruce waste product from the thinning operations in the experimental forests, hauled to the campus by the Foresters, was utilized to transform the league ballroom into an appropriate outdoorsy setting. The fragrant green boughs were piled high along the walls on all sides of the room, placed there by the same Foresters, who had cut them down as a school chore. Because the ballroom is now used by day as a dining room for civilian students, the miracle had to be accomplished between the end of the dinner hour and 9 o'clock, when the music started. And the boys on the decorations committee had to labor until daylight removing every bough and pine needle before the ballroom resumed its less glamorous function next morning.

The Paul Bunyan is a do-as-you-please party, a dance where the guests, male and female, wear lumberjack shirts and blue jeans and take off their shoes if they feel like it. When dancers get tired they flop to the floor; the rest must pay for their endurance with agility. Music, provided by an imported orchestra, in itself a rare campus treat in war time, is anything the group desires, which seems to be a variety. For one dance it might be the sobbing "Intermezzo," for another the stompy "Shoo-Shoo, Baby," for the next the "Put Your Little Foot" polka. This year's Paul Bunyan was voted the best ever by the 325 couples who danced what they wanted to dance, dressed comfortably as they like to be dressed.

And, true to tradition, they sang lustily. It's an old Paul Bunyan custom for all to flop to the floor in the middle of the evening for an enthusiastic old fashioned sing. The hosts of the school of forestry first sing their own forestry song and some old-timers they regard as their own—"Coming Down from Bangor" and "Samuel Hall." Their guests from the general student body respond with "The Victors" and "The Yellow and the Blue," and then there is apt to be spontaneous demand for the mellow old numbers like "The Old Mill Stream" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." The sing, as much as the vivid costumes and the happy informality, gives the Paul Bunyan its special flavor of the old fashioned neighborly dance where even the most sophisticated astound themselves by naving a perfectly wonderful time.

The presence on Michigan's campus of enormous contingents of ASTP and V-12 men has brought about many changes this year. The old alums who treasure the memory of a union that was in many respects a comfortable, well run men's club are surprised to see waitresses rather than men in the limited dining space remaining for civilian use, and, most shocking of all, that women may now enter and leave the building by the main entrances, a privilege formerly granted only on homecoming week-end.

The league, formerly known as the Women's league, since most feminine activities were centered there, has become more cosmopolitan and far, far more crowded. On a Saturday now the league is apt to be the scene of one large dance and a couple of small ones, of dinner parties, family reunions, and even wedding receptions for an occasional service man and his bride away from home. The once quiet lobbies and lounges of both the union and the league seem like Grand Central station to the visitor who can recall their pre-war tempo.

VOICE OF THE MOVIE FAN

Letters published in this department should be written on one side of the paper. If you wish a personal reply please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Miss Tinée: I have read your column for as long as I can remember and hope it will go on forever. Would you please print Roy Rogers' picture and also tell me where I can write to him? Thank you.

JO ANN.

Roy Rogers

Dear Jo Ann: Here's Mr. Rogers' picture, and you can write to him in care of RKO studios, Los Angeles. You're welcome.

Dear Miss Tinée: Have you noticed how many of the old-time players are returning to the screen because of war and man shortage? I am so thrilled to see familiar faces once more and hope directors will keep up the good work of utilizing talent that long has been laid on the shelf. At the moment I'm thinking of Bryant Washburn, whom I've seen playing minor roles in several pictures. He's as smooth as a 1944 model—and, to my way of thinking, quite as good looking as when he worked with Essanay. Good luck to your column!

JESSICA F. M.

Dear Jessica: Them's my sentiments, too!

Dear Miss Tinée: Last night I saw "Watch on the Rhine" and thought it one of the best pictures I've seen in many years. Can you tell me the name of the little girl who played Bette Davis' daughter, and did she play the part of Christina in "Now, Voyager"? Also, where can I write to her? Thank you, and bushels of orchids to your column, even tho we don't always agree.

MARGARET.

Dear Margaret: Janice Wilson played Bette's daughter, and she also played Christina in "Now, Voyager." You can write her in care of Warner Brothers, Burbank, Cal. Thanks for the orchids, and please come again.

SMILIN' JACK

first saw "walking, talking, nude chickens" when an Oklahoma norther whipped the feathers off a chicken on the Mosley ranch.

The dit-da-dit language of Fat Stuff's babies and a friendly family of woodpeckers which swoop in and out of the strip represents a theory of Zack's. Zack believes that babies may talk in Morse code and that if one listened long enough he might receive their messages.

The cartoon children and the woodpeckers send out such enlightening communiques as "This is a silly situation, isn't it?" and "Whatcha doin' tonight, babe?" Morse code fans like them.

• • •

The villains, the skunks like Mr. Brotherly and Fuzz Wuzz, alias Sweet Dreams, are the only purely fictitious characters in the strip.

As Jack has changed, so has Zack. One has broadened the other. The Mosleys now have two homes, both of which have appeared in the strip. The cool, castlelike house at 219 Palmetto, Lake Worth, Fla., where the Mosleys now live all year 'round, is shown in the strip as Cindy's home. Her daughter, Cherry, lives in the rambling frame and fieldstone house which the Mosleys own at Sands point, Port Washington, N. Y.

Both the homes feature an aviation motif in their decor. Propellers and planes prance across the draperies and glasses of the Florida house. A real propeller stands behind the bathroom door.

A fat Scottie named Flapsie runs in and out. He was registered as Flaps Down because he is built so low to the ground that he looks like a plane coming in with its flaps down.

From outside comes the cackling of 200 chickens and the blatting of three goats which belong to Zack's father. Zack was delighted to discover that the goats do not smell.

Fancy foods are seldom served in the Mosley menage. Zack prefers fare like sorghum molasses and corn bread and black-eyed peas and salt pork.

Dinner conversation for a time centered on reports from the Mosleys' colored maid on the progress of the "Smilin' Jack" movie serial. The Mosleys gave a premiere party when the first few of the serial's 13 instalments were at a local theater, but they missed most of the rest.

Capt. Zack fires the .50 caliber anti-gremlin gun that he invented.

Zack built a studio into the Sands point home, but in Florida he works in a breezy room atop a hangar at the Lantana airport. This studio serves the purposes of both art and convenience.

Zack's interest in the civil air patrol has become so insistent that some folks say he is an aviator first and an artist second. The location of his hangar studio, at the end of the airport runway, makes him available for emergency CAP calls. His Stinson Reliant, 245 h.p., the third plane he has owned, is hangared below, ready to be wheeled out on a moment's notice.

Zack, one of the organizers of the CAP and attached to national CAP public relations, recently was appointed national CAP headquarters special service officer.

A born entertainer, he has a stock of stories gleaned from long association with show folks. In conjunction with CAP coöperation in the army air forces recruiting drive for aviation cadets, he flies to cities thruout the country, stages a short show, and sometimes sketches a Smilin' Jack character for boys who sign up. The younger kids ask for Smilin' Jack, the older for Cherry or Cindy.

Last fall Zack, the one-man camp show, made an 11 day circuit of the air transport command bases in the Caribbean area. The life-length figures of Cindy in a very short bathing suit which now decorate the walls of the officers' clubs and recreation rooms in those bases are graphic testimony to his visits.

Zack calls his ATC show "Airplanes, Beer, and Pinups." "Those are the things aviators are most interested in," he says.

His half-hour routine is built on jokes and pantomimes. He never tells a story that could be told over the telephone—that is, it must be seen to be savvied.

Besides "Airplanes, Beer, and Pinups" he has special repertoires for Rotary clubs, children, and stag parties.

• • •

In peace time the Stinson, fitted out as a flying studio, saw service as a taxi to aerial exhibitions. Mrs. Mosley took a turn at piloting then, but has flown little lately.

Nowadays the Stinson makes many trips on research missions. Zack never allows Jack to see or pilot a plane he hasn't studied himself. He never finds himself in situations Zack hasn't worked out scientifically well in advance.

So when the Mosleys' friends learn that Zack has made a trip such as the one thru the Caribbean, that he has been talking with WAVES on duty at a naval air station in Florida, visited air WAC training centers, that he is studying the work of rehabilitation hospitals, the CAP courier service, and the effect of loose talk, they know that Jack is about to have comparable experiences.

The strips are so soundly based on fact that sometimes it is necessary to submit them to the war department for censorship before they are published.

Because of the pressure of his varied interests (in his "spare" time he creates squadron insignia for all branches of the armed forces) Zack employs two art assistants and a secretary.

The six daily strips and Sunday full page which must be completed each week require an average of 100 man hours, at least half of which Zack puts in himself. He works calmly and quietly, mostly at night.

His working clothes are a pair of shorts for Florida and two or three sweaters for Sands point. The rest of the time he wears the khaki uniform and the red shoulder tabs of the CAP.

• • •

Zack answers every request for an original sketch. Whenever a fan letter starts out, "You are the sweetest, finest, most wonderful cartoonist in the world," he reads no farther and reaches for his drawing board.

He likes best to draw Downwind. "I don't have to put a face on him," he says.

Recently almost every mail has brought a letter of commendation from an official of the war department for Smilin' Jack's furtherance of war time programs. Zack is justly proud of these letters.

The Mosley mail box often is stuffed with letters of what Zack calls constructive criticism. Once Zack had Jack refuse a hot dog, saying that it would give him indigestion. A meat packers' association protested immediately, claiming that the frankfurter had been disgraced by being called a hot dog and attaching a lengthy scientific report attesting to its digestibility.

When the Coral Princess (Joy Beaverduck) armed herself with a razor-edged knife and went Jap hunting in her Pacific paradise a flood of letters came in pointing out that she was holding the knife the wrong way.

Like other cartoonists, Zack measures his strip's popularity by its mail. Whatever the letters contain, he just hopes Jack's more than 12 million fans will keep 'em coming.

"Honestly, slip covers are a cinch to wash in Super Suds' EXTRA SUDS!"

"I'VE TAUGHT Janet and Harry to be real useful around the house. Like helping me put clean slip covers back on the furniture."

"In fact, everything washes loads easier in SO MUCH MORE SUDS and LONGER-LASTING SUDS," says Mrs. Geraldine Easton

"I USED to dread washing slip covers. With children around the house, slip covers can't help but get pretty dirty, especially at the top. Well, you'd be surprised at how little rubbing I have to do on those extra-dirty spots, now that I've got Super Suds' EXTRA SUDS! I haven't found the dirt yet that could stand up very long against those UP-AND-AT-'EM SUDS. And the really wonderful thing is that new, sudsier Super Suds is gentle, besides . . . to materials, colors, and to my hands."

Make the easy "milk-bottle suds test." Shake up two teaspoons of your old wash-day soap and a glass of water in a milk-bottle. Then do the same with new, sudsier Super Suds in another milk-bottle. Even cool or hard water will do. See if you don't get MORE SUDS, LONGER-LASTING SUDS, from Super Suds.

"Gentle washing for rayon stockings"
"Super Suds' EXTRA SUDS just won't take no for an answer when they're getting after dirt. On the other hand those RICH, SPUNKY SUDS are so mild I trust even my sheerest rayon stockings to them."

Roast pork and baked apples take the same oven temperature, 350 degrees, and may be baked together.

BAKED APPLES and ROAST PORK

By MARY MEADE

BAKED APPLES and roast pork are natural "go-togethers." They may be prepared at the same time in the oven, altho the pork will naturally require longer exposure to that 350 degree heat.

Roast pork on a rack in an open pan for 30-35 minutes to the pound. If you use a roast meat thermometer, continue the roasting until the temperature registered is 185 degrees. Pork always is cooked well done. The meat may be rubbed with salt, pepper, and marjoram before roasting. Some cooks give it a once-over lightly with a cut clove of garlic, too.

Core Rome Beauties or other baking apples, but don't pare them. Set them in a pan in which you've placed a small amount of water. Put a teaspoonful of sugar into each apple if you wish, or bake the apples without sugar. Use a 350 degree oven and bake them for about an hour. If you like glazed apples and can spare the sugar, baste them at intervals during baking with a sugar sirup made by boiling 1 cup water and 1 cup sugar for 5 minutes.

There are dozens of interesting dishes which can be prepared from left-over pork. Be certain to save every drop of the drippings. Part of the fatty drippings may be used for gravy to be served with the roast the first time it makes its appearance. The rest may make more gravy for the next day or may be used to season a bread dressing to go with the left-over pork.

• • •

Make your favorite bread dressing, using pork roast drippings in place of the butter with which you used to be extravagant. A little pork fat will do a good job of seasoning. Don't overdo it. Spread the dressing in a shallow baking pan and bake in a moderate oven until thoroly hot. Reheat slices of pork in gravy and serve over the dressing. Or you can lay slices of pork over the dressing before it goes into the oven, cover the combination with gravy, and bake until thoroly hot.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

LEMON GELATIN PIE
(One 9-inch pie)

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water, less 2 tablespoons
⅔ cup sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind of 1 lemon
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
1 baked pie shell (may be graham cracker)

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; stir in ⅓ cup sugar. Cool somewhat and add lemon juice, salt, and grated rind. Chill until sirupy; beat until foamy. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites into which remaining sugar has been folded. Beat egg yolks and fold in last. Turn into baked pie shell and chill until firm.—MRS. JOHN GAREY, 905 S. WANTED
1,000,000 WOMEN

To help me build my NEW Book of Home-Made Recipes using Wilson's B-V.

George Rector
Food Consultant to Wilson & Co.

A SUPERFINE MEAT FLAVOR
In Concentrated Form

Wilson's B-V, the nationally popular meat flavor, contains certain rich elements of good red meat, with selected vegetable seasoning for additional flavor.

Wilson's B-V is the next thing to meat itself for adding rich meat flavor to casserole dishes, aspics, vegetables, etc.—as a base for soups and broths; for making rich, brown gravy without meat juices—or a bracing hot drink. B-V comes in highly concentrated form. Gives more meat flavor for your money. Costs less in the long run.

NO POINTS NEEDED FOR B-V

1036 PRIZES!

Wilson's wonderful B-V Meat Flavor Concentrate, which requires no points, has made such a nationwide "hit" that I am sure America's clever housewives have discovered many interesting ways to use B-V "Meat Magic"—in point-saving dishes, soups, casseroles, gravies, etc.

I would like to bind the best of these home-made B-V recipes into a new book that will be available to thousands of women.

So, to make it worth your while to try Wilson's B-V—to prove what marvelous meat flavor B-V imparts to point-saving dishes—and to induce you to enter the B-V recipe you like best in the contest, for a place in my new Wilson's B-V Recipe Book, Wilson & Co. have authorized me to offer a total of $7500.00 in cash for the 1,036 winning recipes.

See your dealer for Wilson's B-V. No points are needed. Then follow the simple contest rules. I'll be looking for your recipe.

GEORGE RECTOR

WILSON & CO. INC.

This is all you do:
FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE RULES

On one side of a sheet of paper write plainly your favorite B-V recipe entry that has not previously been published (complete with ingredients and directions) FOR A FAMILY OF FOUR. Classify your recipe at top of page, whether it is a cocktail, soup, meat loaf, meat pie, stew, souffle, meatless dish, gravy, hot drink, chop suey, hot vegetable, aspic salad, or any other dish that is improved by the rich meat flavor of Wilson's B-V.

Write your name and address, with the name and address of your dealer, on same page as recipe. Securely attach to your recipe the coupon below completely filled in, and send to Wilson's B-V Contest, P. O. Box D, Chicago, Illinois.

Recipes will be judged for flavor, originality, general usefulness and availability of ingredients.

The following prizes will be awarded to the 1,036 winners submitting the best recipes: FIRST PRIZE, $1,000. Next five prizes, $100 each. Next ten prizes, $50 each. Next twenty prizes, $25 each, and 1,000 prizes of $5 each. Use the money to buy War Bonds and Stamps.

This contest is open to anyone in the United States except employees of Wilson & Co., and their families, their Advertising Agents and their families, and professional cooks, chefs and Home Economists.

You agree, when entering this contest—that the Judges' decision will be final and that all recipes will become the property of Wilson & Co., Inc.—that we cannot enter into correspondence regarding contest—that no entries will be returned—that only one prize will be awarded to any one contestant (however, send in as many entries as you like).

Your dealer has extra instruction sheets and entry blanks. In case of ties, tieing contestants will receive duplicate prizes.

Winners will be notified as soon as possible after close of contest.

MOSTLY ABOUT DOGS

By BOB BECKER

MANY dog owners believe that their pets won't stay healthy unless big beef bones are made available to them at all times. The average owner usually is quite positive in his belief that a dog has to gnaw on bones and if possible crack them and swallow the fragments if it is to lead a normal life.

If owners could read statements from veterinarians on this question we think they would change their minds. We recall one comment by the American Kennel club veterinarian, who said that the little nourishment in a bone is of small consequence in the life of the dog when compared with the danger that lies in a constant bone-chewing routine. Large, active dogs often can digest uncooked bones, but, as we learned some years ago, the dog that uses his teeth on large, hard bones week after week soon wears out the second and last set of teeth he gets. It's true that the animal gets calcium from bones. However, we know of easier ways to provide that mineral for a dog than by letting him injure his teeth chewing on bones week after week.

Our dog which had access to far too many bones up to the time he was 5 years old was a springer spaniel. If permitted this dog would lie on the lawn by the hour trying to whittle down a big bone. He didn't know it, but at the same time he was whittling away the enamel on his teeth. By the time he was 5 his teeth looked as if they belonged to a dog about 13.

* * *

Today our dogs get an occasional chewing bone. They have a lot of fun with these. Sometimes we even hide these smooth bones for the dogs and have them hunt them in the house or in the yard. When they find them they get a little gnawing exercise. But these dogs are not getting a chance to chew on bones enough to injure their teeth.

Altho we know of some dogs that are allowed to eat small bones from chickens, turkeys, game birds, and rabbits, we never have wanted to take a a chance on these, because they splinter so easily. These splinters are very sharp. Inasmuch as a dog doesn't chew any of his food into small pieces, for he does not have the teeth for that purpose, it's possible for a dog to swallow a sharp bone fragment, and then he has to be hustled to a veterinarian.

By far the most useful purpose of a large, smooth bone is to help a pup during its teething period. A puppy that is losing its first set of teeth has a desire to chew on something. That is the time a big bone helps the pup get rid of its milk teeth. The young dog likes to work on something hard, as it feels good to its gums. Such a bone also is a useful plaything for the pup.

If a dog owner should give a bone to the family pet, and the animal growls and snarls when any one comes near, such behavior on the part of the pet is not surprising. As a rule you will see this reaction in a majority of dogs, because it is an old inherited trait that comes from the days when wild dogs had to fight with other members of a pack for a good meal after a game animal had been killed.

If a dog does snarl at some member of the family under such circumstances it doesn't mean that the dog is getting ugly. He is guarding a possession—one that is very important to a dog. Instinct dominates the dog, and even tho the person he loves the most is the one threatening to take the bone from him, he may snarl and growl as a warning.

The chow is a very striking breed because of its size, beautiful coat, and expression. It's an Asiatic breed and belongs to the same northern family of dogs which includes the Samoyed and the elkhound. This is a 9-month-old chow.

DOES YOUR DOG ITCH? SCRATCH?

Don't Blame Fleas, Mange, or Diet...2 to 1 It's "Fungitch"

Amazing New Sulfadene Eliminates Canine Skin Infection Long a Puzzle to Science!

IF YOUR dog scratches, he probably has "FUNGITCH" . . . a fungus infection caused by contact with mouldy grass and weeds. "FUNGITCH" starts as an itch . . . then leads to dandruff-like scales or sores with brownish edges, mouldy odor—or infection in ears, on paws, underbody, tail or eyes . . . resulting in something more serious, expensive care, or actual loss. Treatment of 5,121 dogs—at Dr. Merrick's Animal Hospital—reveals SULFADENE stops itching quickly, clears up sores in a few days. To relieve your dog of this affliction, apply SULFADENE externally at first sign of "FUNGITCH." Mrs. B. J. Cahill writes: "It's so easy to apply. Tuffy stopped scratching immediately. Infection on body gone by end of week." If your dealer hasn't SULFADENE, mail $1.00 for generous treatment. Money refunded if it fails. DOCTOR MERRICK'S SULFADENE

Why your dog's health depends on sound nutrition

Dogs . . . like humans . . . must have a balanced diet of solid, nourishing food if they are to be healthy and happy.

So it's just good sense to choose a daily food that is guaranteed nutritionally adequate for your dog.

FRISKIES cubes provide 19 essentials of proper canine nutrition . . . in the solid food form nature intended your dog to eat. Start your dog on FRISKIES . . . and be sure.

HOW TO INTRODUCE YOUR DOG TO FRISKIES

FIRST, give him just a few cubes of FRISKIES by hand.

NEXT, mix a few FRISKIES cubes with his accustomed food.

AND FINALLY, increase the amount of FRISKIES in each successive feeding, at the same time reducing the amount of his former food, until he's on a FRISKIES diet. (See package for correct amount.)

Your dog will eat FRISKIES eagerly, if you follow these rules. If now and then he does not eat FRISKIES readily, remove his dish and try later. Dogs must be trained to sound eating habits.

There's no waste with FRISKIES. Each FRISKIES cube is solid food . . . all food. Clean, easy to handle, thrifty!

Take that Kidney and Egg plate. No need to worry about digestions when you fry with Crisco. All Crisco-fried foods are full-flavored—digestible even for children.

Sample that Sweetbread Pie. The digestible pastry will melt in your mouth. Don't forget! With Crisco's sure-fire Pastry Method, you get flaky, tender, easy-digesting pie crust every time!

Crisco is the only shortening you can buy that gives you all these things: (1) Fried foods so digestible children may eat them; (2) Lighter cakes than even the most expensive shortening; (3) A sure way to get flaky, tender pie crust. Use pure, all-vegetable Crisco for all your cooking!

SAVORY LIVER IN POTATO BOATS

4 baking potatoes	2 tbsps. Crisco
½ lb. beef liver, cut in cubes	1½ cups stewed tomatoes
1 medium onion, chopped	Salt
	Pepper

Wash potatoes; prick with fork and rub skins with Crisco. Bake till tender. Brown liver cubes and onion in skillet in hot Crisco. (Do all your frying with digestible Crisco. You needn't worry about fried foods being upsetting.) Add tomatoes and seasonings. Cover skillet; cook slowly 30 min. Split potatoes; pinch open; season as desired and pour liver mixture into opening. Serve with steamed green beans and sliced cooked carrots. All Measurements Level. Individual serving illustrated. Serves 4.

Crisco

9 OUT OF 10 DOCTORS SAY "It's Digestible!"

SUMPTUOUS SWEETBREAD PIE

Soak one pair of sweetbreads in ice water 20 min. Simmer in 2 qts. boiling water with 2 tbsps. vinegar and 2 tsps. salt for 30 min. Plunge in ice water. Drain. Separate sweetbreads; remove fat and thick connecting tissues. Break into pieces. Sauté 2 cups sliced mushrooms in 2 tbsps. Crisco.

Make White Sauce: Blend 3 tbsps. flour with 3 tbsps. melted Crisco. (No need to use butter—Crisco makes delicious sauces.) Add 2 cups milk; cook till thickened. Before removing from heat, add 1 or 2 beaten egg yolks. Add mushrooms and sweetbreads. Season to taste. Serve in shallow casserole. Top with tender, flaky pre-baked pastry circles made from single-crust recipe of Crisco Pastry. (Follow the new sure-fire Pastry Method on the Crisco label. You'll get flaky pie crust every time! So mouth-melting, you know it's digestible!) All Measurements Level. Serves 4.

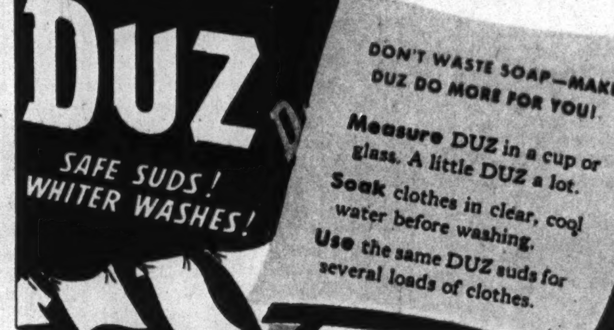
DUZ does Everything

. . . ALL 3 KINDS OF WARTIME WASH!

DUZ does MORE

Work-clothes, children's play-clothes—or just plain white shirts—whatever it is—let DUZ do your dirty work. DUZ really does it—it's Procter & Gamble's new kind of soap that can't be beat for getting the dirtiest clothes clean and white.

But DUZ does more than that. It's safer for colors than any other leading washday soap—safer even for rayon undies. And DUZ is kinder to hands in the dishpan. DUZ does everything!



"Gosh! Mom's papered my old room!"

All news from home is big news to your soldier overseas. Write him V-Mail today. And let Parker Quink help to make every word readable!

TICKETS TO HOME—your letters prove that dear and familiar things aren't really as far away as the atlas says.

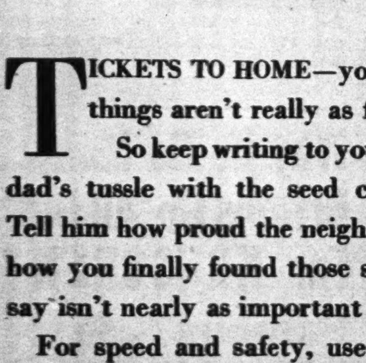
So keep writing to your fighting lad overseas. Tell him about dad's tussle with the seed catalogs . . . and Betty's new war job Tell him how proud the neighborhood youngsters are of him . . . and how you finally found those sneakers he was looking for. What you say isn't nearly as important as the fact that you write!

For speed and safety, use the only kind of overseas mail that always goes by air—V-Mail. No extra postage is required. Yet it has priority over all but official communications. More than 115 million V-Mail letters have been sent without a single loss!

Official V-Mail letter forms may be obtained at any stationery counter. It is wise to write all your V-Mail with "Micro-film Black" Quink. For this brilliant, all-purpose ink photographs an intense black, assures sharp reproduction. Remember, V-Mail letters are delivered to your lad 1/4 the size you write them.

Let's make March America's month of heroes. Write V-Mail letters regularly to your young hero overseas.

Be sure to give full name, rank, serial number, unit or service organization (Company, etc.), and Army Post Office number.



For V-Mail and every use . . . brilliant Parker Quink!

"Micro-film Black" Quink writes black . . . stays black . . . permanently readable. Ideal for V-Mail and every use. It assures the sharpest, clear-cut photographic reproduction.

Parker Quink comes in 7 permanent colors: Micro-film Black, Blue-Black, Royal Blue, Green, Violet, Brown, Red. Quink is also available in 2 washable colors: Black, Blue. Family size 25¢. Other sizes, 15¢ and up. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin, and Toronto, Canada.

Mounting pen shortages focus attention on protective Parker Quink. Every bottle, whatever its color, contains a special ingredient, solv-x. This solv-x acts in your pen to safeguard it against war-time failure. It prevents the corrosion of metal and the deterioration of rubber which high-acid inks always bring on. It cleans the feed and eliminates clogging and gumming.

Parker Quink is ideal for use with steel pens, too. Brilliant in color, full-bodied, and smooth flowing.

● ORANGE SHORTCAKE with hot orange sauce. Sounds delicious—and is! Easy to make, thanks to Bisquick... For your shortcake biscuits:

2 cups Bisquick
⅓ to ⅔ cup Liquid (about half each of orange juice and milk)

Mix according to biscuit directions on Bisquick package. Cut with 2-inch cutter. Split. Serve warm, with orange slice and hot orange sauce between layers and on top. 6 to 8 servings.

HOT ORANGE SAUCE:
Combine 3 tbsp. Gold Medal Flour
6 tbsp. Sugar (¼ cup + 2 tbsp.)
¼ tsp. Salt
1 tbsp. Grated Orange Rind

Add 1 cup Orange Juice gradually. Stir until smooth. Cook slowly until thickened (about 5 min.), stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add 1 tbsp. lemon juice.

• • •

● JUST ADD LIQUID to Bisquick for biscuits! Use milk for regular biscuits. Also dumplings, meat pie toppings. Quick 'n easy directions on package. Also for pancakes, waffles, muffins, cobblers, etc. Calamity-proof, too!

• • •

BROILING MEAT PATTIES? Heat cooked green beans under broiler rack to catch meat drippings. No butter necessary. Do same with corn when broiling ham, say my staff.

● SHORTENING in Bisquick. Pure vegetable shortening. Also baking powder, Gold Medal Enriched Flour, salt, sugar, powdered milk. Six ingredients!

• • •

Speaking to all women of "Tampax Age"

Don't overlook this great advance in monthly sanitary protection

Mothers, daughters, rich, poor, East and West—don't think Tampax is just a new brand of sanitary protection with some slight changes in construction. Tampax is a complete change in idea from the regular outside pad-belt-and-pin harness. For Tampax is worn internally! A doctor designed it to absorb internally; therefore it can cause no odor, no chafing. You can change it more quickly and dispose of it easily. You can carry a month's supply in a purse. You can wear close-fitted clothes; Tampax brings no bulges or ridges. It can even be worn in tub or shower—no belts or pins. Just pure surgical cotton (very absorbent!) compressed in dainty applicator. Sold at drug stores and notion counters in 3 absorbency-sizes. Ask for it today. Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Mass.

Why Do So Many Britons Go 'All Out' For KRUSCHEN?

Famous BRITISH SALINE

Now Made In U.S.A.

All Over The World You May Hear "Why Don't You Try KRUSCHEN?"

In Australia, South Africa, India, Canada, when because of constipation, one says he feels "Under-the-weather", "Out-of-sorts", "headachy" you're quite likely to hear: "Why don't you try Kruschen—it did me so much good."

Personal advice like this voiced by thousands must mean that Kruschen gave extreme satisfaction.

Folks who get up in the morning feeling "dull", "heavy", "miserable"—with a stomach that rebels at food, nasty tongue and a foul breath—all because of delayed bowel action, should profit by this Famous British Saline Aperient—now made in U.S.A.

THEY'RE STOY-ENRICHED!

STOY Soy Flour Gives Foods Tempting Variety, Satisfying Flavor, Extra Food Value!

Baking powder biscuits that melt like butter in your mouth! Rich in appetizing flavor, satisfying goodness, muscle-building nourishment! These biscuits are a typical STOY-enriched food!

STOY, as you know, is the modern miracle food that does so much for dozens of favorite recipes. Gives them pleasing variety, flavor-richness, extra nutrition. It's not a mix—but a fine 100% soy flour, favored by nature with 2½ times more protein to the pound than meat itself! Far more than milk or eggs!

STOY comes in flour form—to be used along with regular flour, in easy recipes. Wonderful in breads, biscuits, muffins, cakes, pies, cookies. Enriches the flavor of soups, puddings, casseroles. Stretches the flavor and volume of meat loaves, meat pies, hamburgers. And always gives foods a satisfying goodness all its own.

A great protein food, STOY is an important low-cost source of this vital substance . . . so important to growth in children, to infection-fighting and body-repair in adults as well. A single pound of STOY (about 15¢ worth) will give your family as much protein as they would get in 2½ pounds of extra meat!

Ask your grocer for STOY today—and for a free copy of the famous STOY Recipe Book. If your grocer cannot give you one write direct to Staley's, Decatur, Illinois, and we'll mail you a copy free of charge. But start using STOY today!

America Re-discovers the "Miracle Food of the Ages!"

The miraculous life-sustaining powers of the soy bean have been known to the Orientals for centuries. "Meat without bones" they named it. For well they knew that in the soy bean they had a body-building food that rivaled meat itself.

Now science has revealed the secrets of this "miracle food of the ages", and made its benefits available to modern America.

These are brought to us in the form of a fine 100% soy flour that is 2½ times higher in protein, ounce for ounce, than lean boneless meat! It provides extra vitamins too, and the vital food minerals, calcium, phosphorus, iron. Added to foods of every kind, soy flour is doing its part to keep America the best fed nation in the entire world.

MAKE A PANFUL TONIGHT!

Simple directions right on the STOY package! Or simply add 2 tablespoonsful of STOY to your own favorite recipe. They're de-luscious!

A MARVELOUS NEW WAY TO MAKE BETTER FRIED CHICKEN!

STOY-fried chicken! Encrusted with a delicious crunchy coating of STOY Soy Flour! Here's how: Take ½ cup STOY, add 1 tsp. salt, pepper to taste, and use this to coat pieces you want to fry. Coat well on all sides, brown slowly in shallow fat, then reduce heat and fry till tender. Turn occasionally. Cover if necessary. Use STOY for frying fish, meat, eggplant, and poultry of all kinds. See the STOY Recipe Book at your grocer's for details of this and other tempting recipes. Or write to Staley's, Decatur, Illinois, for a free copy.

STOY MAKES OATMEAL MORE DELICIOUS, MORE NUTRITIOUS!

STOY-enriched oatmeal! Richer-flavored, more satisfying, more nutritious! For the finest oatmeal you ever served, try this! Combine ½ cup of STOY with 1 cup cold water, mix until smooth. Add 1 tsp. salt. Bring 3 cups water to boil, add STOY mixture, cook until it comes to boil. Slowly stir in 1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal, and cook for 2½ minutes, or longer if preferred. The high content of protein in STOY makes oatmeal extra-valuable as a muscle-building food!

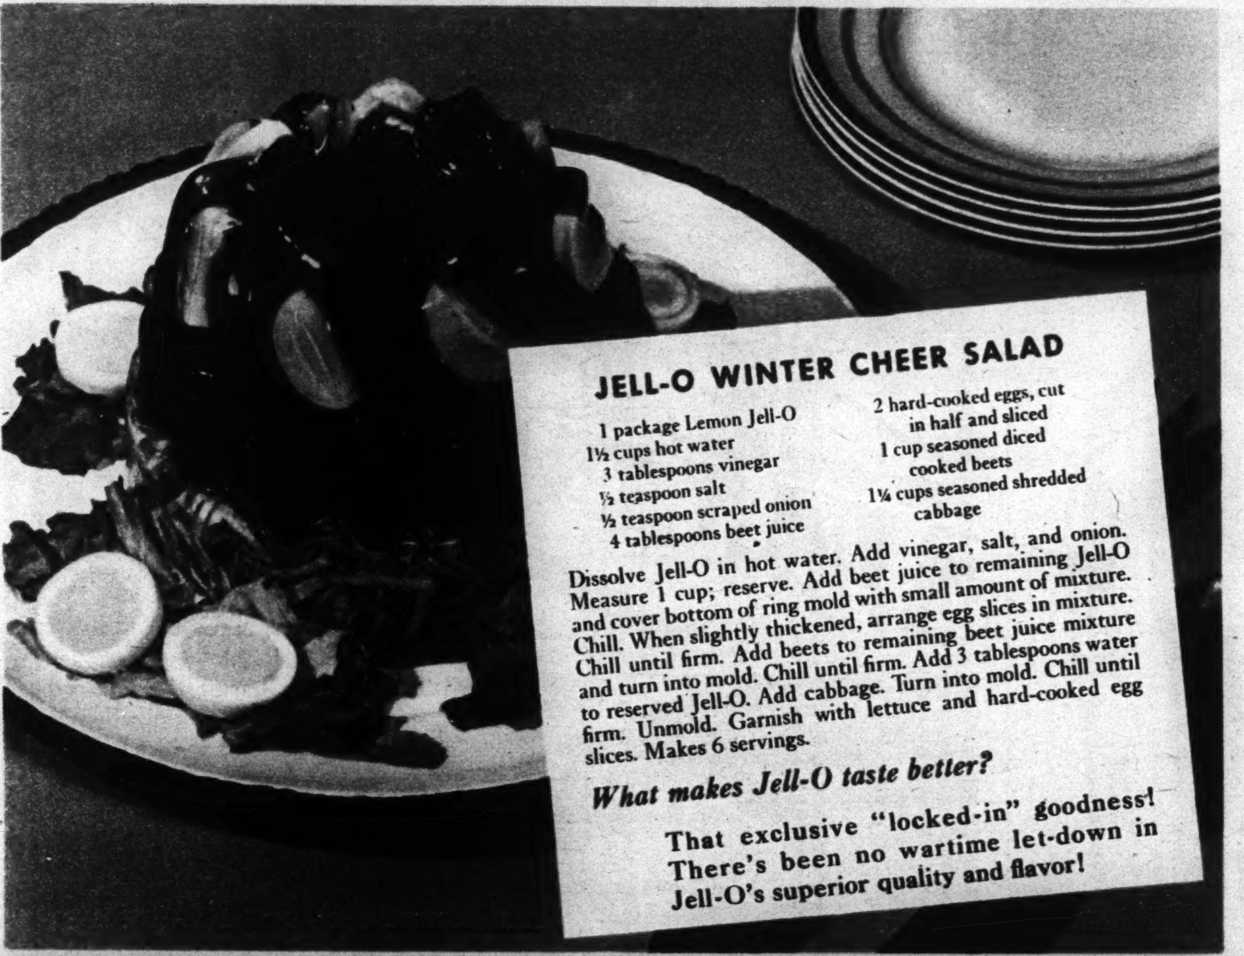
STOY IS 100% SOY FLOUR —NOT A MIX!

"Use—and enjoy—every crumb, every drop!" Says Kate Smith



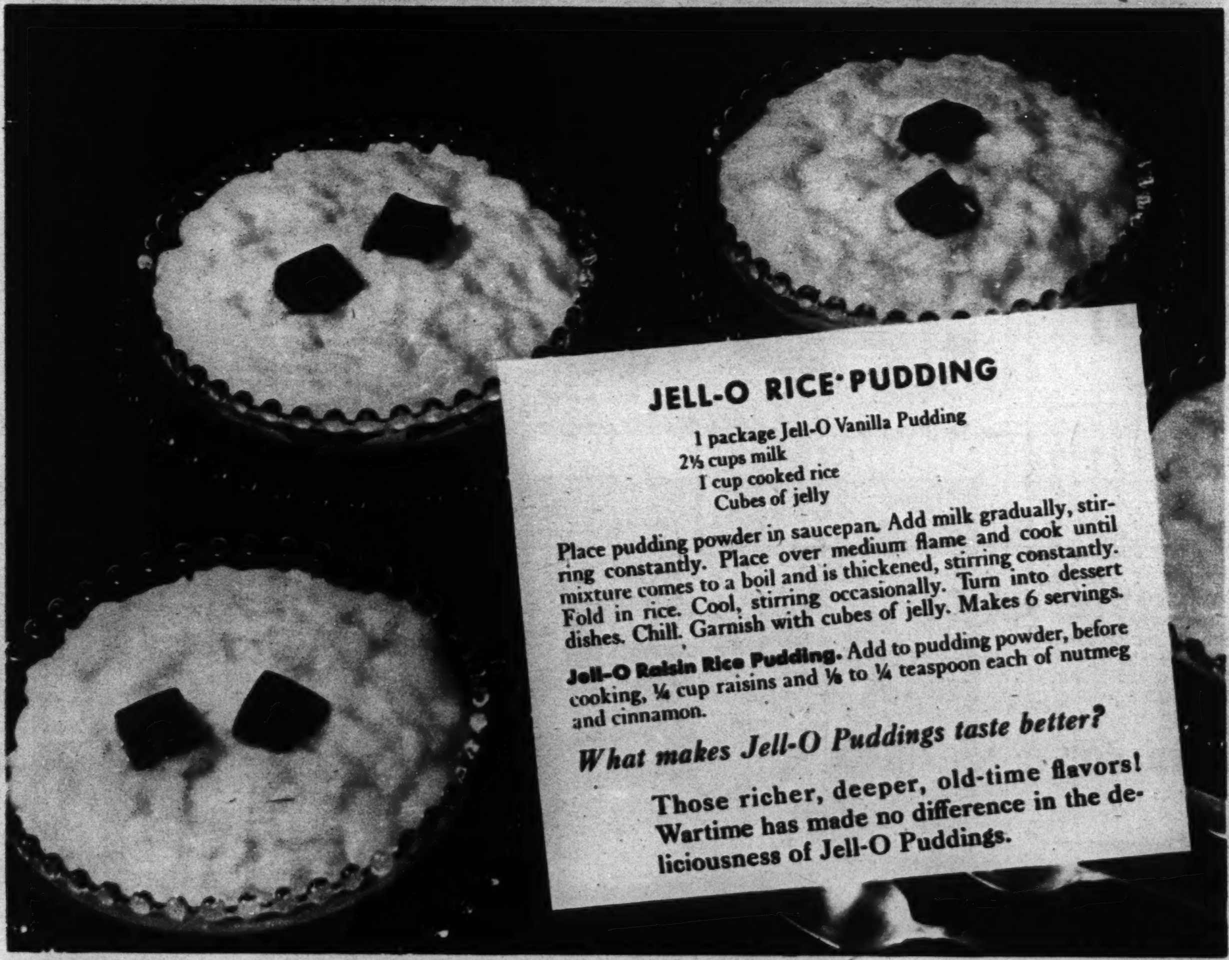
JELL-O WINTER CHEER SALAD

1 package Lemon Jell-O
1½ cups hot water
3 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon scraped onion
4 tablespoons beet juice
2 hard-cooked eggs, cut in half and sliced
1 cup seasoned diced cooked beets
1¼ cups seasoned shredded cabbage

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Add vinegar, salt, and onion. Measure 1 cup; reserve. Add beet juice to remaining Jell-O and cover bottom of ring mold with small amount of mixture. Chill. When slightly thickened, arrange egg slices in mixture. Chill until firm. Add beets to remaining beet juice mixture and turn into mold. Chill until firm. Add 3 tablespoons water to reserved Jell-O. Add cabbage. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with lettuce and hard-cooked egg slices. Makes 6 servings.

What makes Jell-O taste better?

That exclusive "locked-in" goodness! There's been no wartime let-down in Jell-O's superior quality and flavor!



JELL-O RICE PUDDING

1 package Jell-O Vanilla Pudding
2⅓ cups milk
1 cup cooked rice
Cubes of jelly

Place pudding powder in saucepan. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Place over medium flame and cook until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened, stirring constantly. Fold in rice. Cool, stirring occasionally. Turn into dessert dishes. Chill. Garnish with cubes of jelly. Makes 6 servings.

Jell-O Raisin Rice Pudding. Add to pudding powder, before cooking, ¼ cup raisins and ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon each of nutmeg and cinnamon.

What makes Jell-O Puddings taste better?

Those richer, deeper, old-time flavors! Wartime has made no difference in the deliciousness of Jell-O Puddings.

"HERE'S OUR BIG CHANCE to prove what really smart housewives we are ... Can we cut waste? Make food fight for freedom by using every crumb and every drop? And yet keep the family feeling as royally fed as ever?

"Sure we can! And what a thrill we get out of doing it!

"Take this problem of having to serve the same old foods too often. If the folks get tired of 'em, they leave 'em. That's waste! So we have to find new ways to make old stand-bys more appealing."

Beets and Cabbage—but different!

"I'm guessing, for instance, that beets and cabbage have been on your family's menu often this winter. But oh, how different they'll taste in this new Winter Cheer Salad, with its zippy, appetizing blend of seasonings.

"And how tempting they look, molded in clear, shimmering Jell-O! The way a dish looks does so much to wake up appetite, so that folks will happily eat 'every crumb, every drop'!"

This may surprise you ...

"My second recipe on this page shows a wonderful new way to make creamier, fluffier, more delicious Rice Pudding. And a way that saves time, fuel, eggs, and sugar! What's more, you can make it with left-over rice ... How's that for wartime thrift?

"Notice that this wonder recipe starts with Jell-O Vanilla Pudding. That's what gives you such creamy smoothness, rich flavor, and light fluffiness without eggs and long cooking.

"These days, when meals are often a bit thin, you especially need nutritious, filling, made-with-milk desserts. I hope you'll try this one soon."

How to get your fair share

"I know how fast genuine Jell-O and Jell-O Puddings go off your grocer's shelves these days. Everybody seems to be wanting them—and, of course, supplies have been limited by sugar rationing. But every effort is being made to distribute the supply fairly. Ask your grocer to save your share for you!"

There are some 80,000 Americans who have done one of the truly big flying jobs in this war . . . yet they have never laid hands upon a single one of the wonderful war planes you read about.

They are the volunteer members of the Civil Air Patrol. As an auxiliary of the Army Air Corps, they fly the little peacetime planes they bought when flying was their hobby.

They fly upon time taken from their civilian jobs. Armed with little but good American spunk, modern Davids matched against modern Goliaths, they helped the Army and Navy spot and battle Hitler's U-boats off our shores until increased production of war planes enabled the Navy to take over completely. They carry millions of pounds of light but critical military freight to free big wartime cargo planes for other jobs. Recently, they've pitched in to give important preliminary training to youngsters not old enough for the Air Forces.

We at Lycoming know these Flying Minute Men well. Our engines power many of the planes they flew from peace straight into war. We salute them as true pioneers of America's newest frontier — the frontier of the free, blue sky!

SAFETY FIRST

KITTENS are cute little animals and the Teenie Weenies are fond of them but they are also a little afraid of them too, for young kittens are sometimes very thoughtless and often quite rough. Of course they don't want to be rough but a kitten is so big and a Teenie Weenie so small it is very easy for a kitten to severely injure a Teenie Weenie by a mere playful pat of its paw.

One afternoon the Dunce and the Chinaman were crossing a field near the Teenie Weenie village. Suddenly the Chinaman heard a noise. He glanced over his shoulder and he saw a kitten playing with a dry leaf which swung in the breeze from the stem of a weed.

"Klitten!" the Chinaman whispered into the Dunce's ear. "We all time better go from here."

The two Teenie Weenies scurried away thru the tall grass but the kitten saw their movement, and, no doubt thinking the Teenie Weenies were mice, it started leaping toward them. Now Teenie Weenies are fast runners but a kitten can run fast too and the two Teenie Weenies began to look for some hole in which they could hide. They ran as fast as their short legs would carry them but they couldn't find a single place to hide.

"Those bushes over there," yelled the Dunce pointing toward a clump of low bushes near by, "we can climb up out of reach there."

The Teenie Weenies ran to the bushes and managed to scramble up to safety. The kitten tried to climb the bush but it couldn't make it and so it stood on its hind feet and reached up toward the two Teenie Weenies as far as it could with its sharp little claws.

"Get out of here!" yelled the Dunce very slowly and loudly so the kitten would understand. "Go home!"

The kitten simply stared at the Dunce and it was plain to see that it hadn't understood a single word. It sat down beneath the bush and watched the Teenie Weenies for a long time. It was almost night before the kitten finally walked away and the Teenie Weenies then climbed down and hurried home.

When they burst into the shoe house the Teenie Weenies had finished their supper but the Cook had kept almost a third of a baked bean warm in the tiny cook stove and the two hungry little men ate their fill while they told the excited Teenie Weenies about their adventure with the kitten.

COAST GUARD COVERS WATER FRONT IN WAR

Marks 2d Year of City Port Patrol.

BY JOHN THOMSON.

One of the least known phases of the American war program passed another milestone last week as the coast guard observed the second anniversary of its enforcement of port security in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The coast guard base at Chicago, on one of the largest inland fresh water lakes in the world, is responsible under the program for the security of the area between Michigan City and Waukegan, and as far south as Seneca on the Illinois river. The area comprises the nation's greatest war production district.

Varied List of Duties.

Under Comdr. P. G. Patterson, captain of the port of Chicago, the coast guard boards and checks each vessel entering or leaving the port; guards new navy ships on Lake Michigan and on the Illinois river as far as Peoria; maintains a water front and river patrol 24 hours a day; guards the loading of explosives; enforces navigation laws, and enforces on water fronts and adjoining navigable waters all laws and regulations of any federal agency.

Fireboats on the water front and navigable rivers are alert at all hours to put out fires under their jurisdiction and to answer calls for help from city fire departments along the water fronts.

The coast guard's floating base on the Chicago river at North av. is typical of the river patrol that is maintained. An 80 foot, 57 ton converted pleasure craft houses coast guardsmen under Chief Mate Gordon E. Riley, who directs the maintenance of the ship and other government ships at the base, and issues orders for patroling the north and south branches of the river as far north as Addison st. and as far south as California av. The patrol goes beyond these limits on request.

Reservists Lend Aid.

Temporary reservists aid the regular coast guard in maintaining the patrol from the floating base. They put out brush and rubbish fires along the river banks, remove logs and other debris that might prove a menace to navigation, chase suspicious characters away from the river or from business or industrial plants along the river, tip up loose barges, and maintain a constant surveillance of the river.

"The schedules and crews are irregular, so that no one can count on a patrol boat not being along at any time," said Chief Riley. "A lot of people who might be inclined to sabotage are deterred just by the knowledge that the coast guard might be just around the corner keeping an eye on them."

When the ice clears from the mouth of the river in the spring the ship used as a floating base goes on lake duty and the patrol headquarters is moved to the old Chicago anchorage south of Navy pier. In winter months a coast guard cutter breaks ice for the patrol and for other coast guard and navy vessels.

Secure Ships Against Damage.

A large number of the ships built in Chicagoland shipyards are taken down the inland waterway to the Mississippi and into the Gulf of Mexico, and the coast guard must secure all ships against damage or sabotage.

Loading of explosives is of minor importance in port security work in this district, but the coast guard provides a guard at the few places where they are loaded. With many private ships carrying valuable war cargoes, the coast guard is often called on to furnish security watches for the ships while they are in port.

Because of its port security enforcement, the coast guard claims its share of the credit for prevention of calamities such as the Black Tom explosion of World War I., and cites the drop in waterfront fire damage, despite greatly increased shipping activities, as resulting from the security program.

Checking the identity of incoming and outgoing ships and examining the ships and cargoes is one of the biggest tasks under port security. The coast guard has logged many thousand vessels, government ships as well as private craft, on their outgoing and return trips at Chicago.

Issue 20,000 Boat Licenses.

In the Chicago area alone the coast guard has issued nearly 60,000 identification cards and more than 20,000 boat licenses since it took over port security. No one can enter navy, coast guard, or private grounds in war production along the waterfront without proper orders or identification. The temporary reserve, which in the Chicago district numbers 1,865 persons who serve 12 hours a week, is used extensively at guard posts and relieve younger men for sea duty. The coast guard estimates it takes five reservists to replace one regular man.

Rain, snow, or sunshine, fair weather or foul, the coast guard plugs away with unrelenting persistence at port security. It may not be as adventurous or as glamorous as some of the other jobs to be done, but it is a necessary one, and the coast guard is doing it quietly and efficiently.

Alert Coast Guard Units Assure Security of Chicago's Water Front

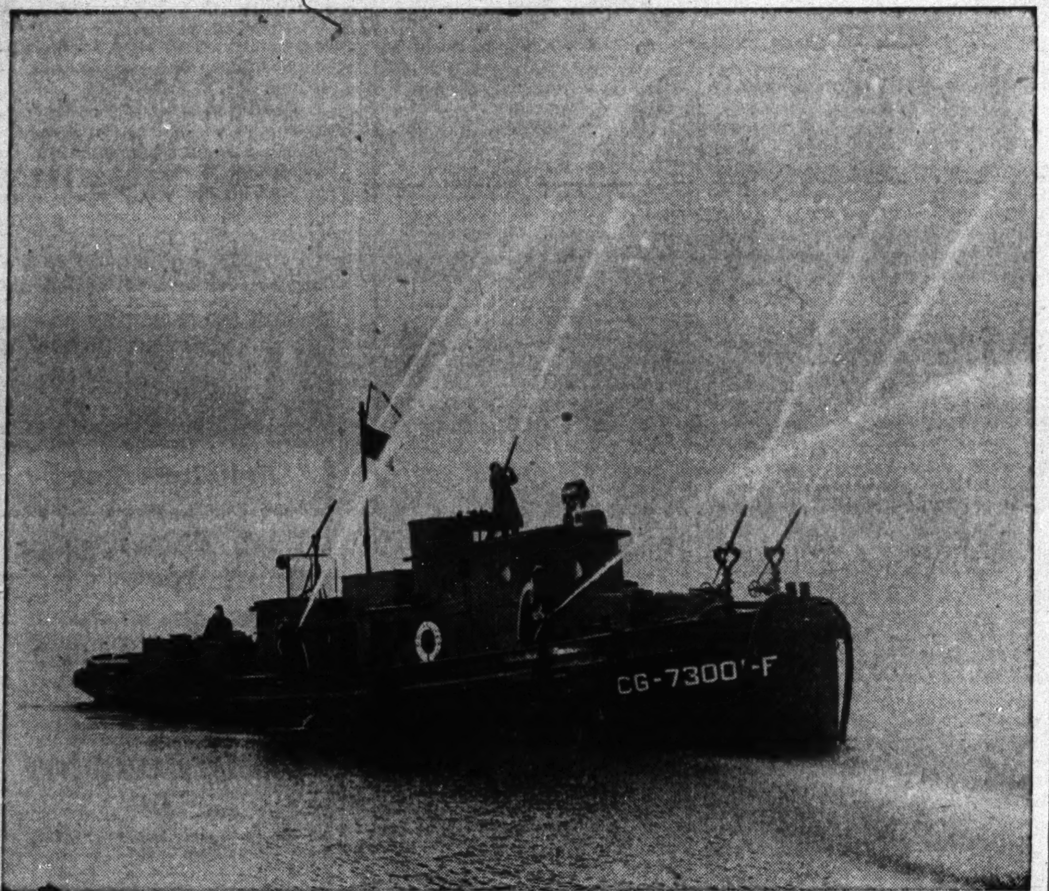
Swabbing down one of the 83 foot sub busters docked at the patrol base at the entrance to the Chicago river are three members of the coast guard. The sub busters saw action in the Atlantic before being brought to Lake Michigan to serve as escorts for the aircraft carriers. When the escorts are icebound the ice breaker opens the way for them into open water. [TRIBUNE Photos by Julius Gantter.]



Pumping water from all outlets, this coast guard fireboat, stationed on Lake Calumet at the Pullman Standard company's shipyard, demonstrates the power that a single fireboat can turn loose against any fire it is called on to help put out. Putting out fires is only one of the coast guard's tasks in port security, which has been the coast guard's job since Feb. 25, 1942.

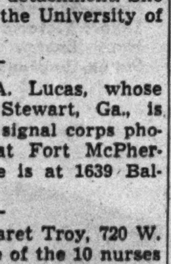
Women at War

Seaman Mary Sunday Lazar, who as a child played on the desert near Bagdad where she was born, is now taking yeoman training at the coast guard training station, Palm Beach, Fla. Her father, Khasha Lazar, was formerly interpreter for the British consul in Bagdad. The family came to this country when Miss Lazar was 5 years old. Andrew L. Lazar, her brother, a gunner's mate first class in the coast guard, is now stationed at Norfolk, Va. Their parents live at 1825 Sedgwick st.

Seaman Lazar.

Recently awarded the good conduct medal at the first WAC training center, Fort Des Moines, Ia., were Technician 4th Class Rose Zaremski, 6809 N. Clark st.; Sgt. Evelyn L. Metz, 7722 N. Ashland av., and Sgt. Lois E. Krouse, 510 Wellington st.

Second Lt. Mary N. Diefenderfer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Diefenderfer, 515 Briar pl., recently was appointed commanding officer of the WAC detachment at the Carlsbad army air field, N. M. Commissioned as a second lieutenant last May, she attended intermediate officers' school for several weeks while awaiting orders. Arriving at Carlsbad last September, Lt. Diefenderfer was assigned as adjutant of the WAC detachment. She formerly attended the University of Wisconsin.



Lt. Diefenderfer.

Pvt. Marjorie A. Lucas, whose station is Camp Stewart, Ga., is now attending the signal corps photographic school at Fort McPherson, Ga. Her home is at 1639 Balmoral av.

Second Lt. Margaret Troy, 720 W. Sheridan rd., is one of the 10 nurses from Chicago and vicinity on the staff of the 94th Evacuation hospital in Italy which was recently commended for its efficiency and skill in treating 5th army battle casualties at the front in Italy. The citation, addressed in part to the nurse corps, said:

"The wounded to whom I [the commanding general] have spoken were high in their praise of the attention they are receiving. I am confident that your hospital is doing everything possible to provide care for the sick and wounded in such a manner that reflects credit to the high standards of the medical corps of the United States army."

Among 11 Chicago WACs who recently completed basic training at Daytona Beach, Fla., was Pvt. Elizabeth Marusic, 4541 Sheridan rd. This group was assigned to Camp Grant. Pvt. Marusic was formerly a telephone operator.

QUICK WATSON, THE NEEDLE! ARE THEY 4 OR BUT 1?

Leap Year Babes Still a Puzzle.

For two little girls in Skokie, Tuesday will be a great day.

Their parents hear them saying to each other, while they're playing in the yard, "We're leap year babies and we're going to have two birthdays!"

The two of them, Pamela Grotenhuis and Nina Nipper, live right next door, are both 4, and will have their first birthday party together.

Born in England.

Pamela, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert O. Grotenhuis, 4836 Elm st., was born 'n England and has been here about three and a half years. Her father, personnel director for a marketing research company, had been sent to England to help establish a new office for his firm. Pamela has a sister, Margaret, 11 months old.

Nina's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward Nipper, live at 4832 Elm st. They also have a son, Ward, who is 12. Mr. Nipper is an actuary for an insurance company.

Party on Tuesday.

Nina and Pamela will have their party at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Jay Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Thomas of Winnetka, is another north side leap year baby who was born in 1940. His parents are having open house for him today, and then they'll do some private celebrating Tuesday. "After all," said Mrs. Thomas, "he hasn't had a birthday yet."

Wants to Help with Cake.

Barbara Ceiceill Shanas, who also was born in 1940, wants to help her mother make the cake for her birthday party Tuesday. The first question she's been asking these mornings is, "Mommy, isn't my birthday yet?" Her father, Joseph Shanas, 3413 Elaine pl., is in the automobile business.

Mr. and Mrs. Schabander Daniel, 825 Roscoe st., are planning a family party for their leap year son Eli, who also will be 4 on Tuesday.

OUR TOWN

MISS ELEANOR ERSKINE has been elected president of the senior class at Rosary college, River Forest. She is a member of the Writers' club at the college and an associate editor of the college literary magazine, the Eagle. Miss Erskine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Erskine of Highland Park.

Eleanor Erskine.

Miss Bernardine G. Schmidt, 4111 N. Damen av., has resigned as teacher in the Mayfair school, effective March 18, to accept an appointment as supervisor of remedial reading, and sight conservation in the special educations' clinic of Indiana State Teachers college, Terre Haute.

AT Valparaiso college, Valparaiso, Ind., Miss Loraine Bruening, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Bruening, 1240 Cornelia av., has been appointed chairman of the student union maintenance committee. She is a sophomore, majoring in English, and is a member of Gamma Phi social sorority.

A graduate of the Chicago Teachers' college, Miss Schmidt received her master's degree at De Paul university and is now completing her Ph. D. work at Northwestern university. She has achieved recognition in her field, the education of exceptional children, as writer, lecturer, and radio speaker.

Miss Robin V. Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Butler, 2136 Lincoln Park West, and Miss Natalie Caine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan W. Caine, 5909 Kenmore av., recently were accepted as students at the Katharine Gibbs school and have started their work there.

Dr. Bradley Will Address Wicker Pk. Woman's Club

Dr. Preston Bradley will be the speaker at the Wicker Park Woman's club Tuesday afternoon at the Norske club, 2350 N. Kedzie av. His subject, "Tomorrow's Problems," will be a discussion of current events. Mrs. C. B. Hankel Jr. is chairman of the day. A dessert luncheon and brief business meeting, with Mrs. Carl Pauly, president, in charge, will precede the program. There will be election of officers. A meeting of the board will be held at 11 o'clock.

59 More Join Navy List of ROTC Heroes

Fifty-nine young men from the north side were among the 155 members of Northwestern university's naval R. O. T. C. who received commissions yesterday at special exercises on the Evanston campus. In the class were 98 Chicagoans. The men were sworn into the navy by Capt. Andrew D. Denney, commanding officer of units on Northwestern campus.

All but one of the new officers received commissions as ensigns in the naval reserve. The other, Raymond John McGlynn, 1716 Albion av., was commissioned a lieutenant in the marine corps reserve. The entire class has received orders to report for active duty immediately.

This class was the largest in the history of the Northwestern unit, which was formed in 1926 as one of the six original units in the United States. Included in the group were 80 members of the junior class who were commissioned eight months in advance of their regular graduation date in November.

400 Already Serve.

A tradition for heroism in action already has been established by the more than 400 graduates of the Northwestern unit now in active service at battle stations thruout the world. A recent survey revealed that graduates of the unit are in command of subchasers and gun crews of armed merchant vessels, while others are serving on battleships, submarines, destroyers, aircraft carriers, and landing craft.

Beginning with the attack on Pearl Harbor, former Northwestern R. O. T. C. boys have participated in every major naval engagement of the war. The first of these men to die in the war was Lt. Harold Christopher of Dwight, Ill., who was awarded the navy cross posthumously for bravery at Pearl Harbor. Seven other members of the unit have been killed in action.

Maj. Bernard Kelley, Evanston, who won The Tribune R. O. T. C. medal in 1940, was a survivor of the sinking of the cruiser Helena on which he served as a marine officer. Lt. Donald Kirkpatrick, Evanston, who received the distinguished flying cross for bravery in the battle of Midway as a navy pilot, was a graduate of the unit in the class of 1937.

Other distinguished graduates of the unit include Cliff Groh, Wilmette, who transferred to the navy air corps and served with the Flying Tigers in China and Burma; Lt. Charles Dillon, 7745 N. Hermitage av., who received a citation after his patrol bomber sank a submarine, and Lt. James Liddell, Evanston, a submarine officer who aided in evacuating Americans from Corregidor.

Speaks Well for Course.

The ability of R. O. T. C. graduates to assume responsible positions almost immediately after graduation is looked upon by the Northwestern unit as a tribute to the training received during the four year course which is conducted by naval officers. Basic study in seamanship, ordnance, gunnery, and communications are included in the course. The advanced course includes navigation, marine, steam, and electrical engineering, fire control and military law.

By supplementing this training with the regular academic course, the R. O. T. C. student acquires the essential qualifications of a junior officer. After six months on active duty, graduates of the unit are eligible to apply for entrance into the regular navy provided they are recommended by their commanding officer.

The R. O. T. C. is one of the three navy groups training at the university, which has become known as the "Annapolis of the Midwest." Other units are the midshipmen's training school on the Chicago campus, and the radio operators' school on the Evanston campus. The combined enrollment toltals 4,300 men.

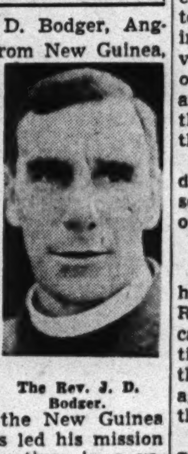
EPISCOPAL GROUPS TO HEAR MISSIONARY FROM NEW GUINEA

The Rev. John D. Bodger, Anglican missionary from New Guinea, will speak at the 11 a. m. service today at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston. He will talk again at 8 o'clock tonight at the Episcopal church of the Atonement, 5749 Kenmore av.



The Rev. J. D. Bodger.

Dean Bodger is head master of the Cathedral school at Dogura, which is located in the middle of the New Guinea battle area. He has led his mission trained Christian natives in a variety of services to the allied troops, ranging from building landing strips for planes to finding and caring for the wounded.

Gen. MacArthur, who arranged for Dean Bodger's trip to the United States, wrote: "May I take this opportunity to express my deep appreciation for the services that you and your mission performed in assisting the armed forces in Papua."

PICK CITY TICKET FOR APRIL VOTE IN LAKE FOREST

Mayor Charles F. Clarke and seven other Lake Forest city officials were selected as candidates to succeed themselves at a village caucus held recently in the home of Richard H. Mabbatt, former mayor and chairman of the committee. The election will be held April 11.

The other officers are Edward G. Lindenmeyer, treasurer; William H. Harding, marshal; R. S. Wells, supervisor, and Aldermen William E. Davis, Edward K. MacDonald, Elliott Donnelley, and Edward K. Welles. Local aldermen serve a two year term, while other city officers have a one year term.

Garrit M. Bax was nominated for police magistrate to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Edwin Burgess last September. The former magistrate was killed in an automobile accident. First filing for the city regular ticket was Feb. 10. The last filing date will be March 7.

PLAN CAMPAIGN FRIDAY TO GET BIGGER SUPPLY

Seek Co-Operation of Teachers.

Friday will be Waste Paper day for the 113,000 students in Chicago's 39 public high schools. Working as a team, Chicago's high school boys and girls hope to collect 350 tons in the all-out one day drive.

The paper will be carried to the schools Friday morning in 12 to 15 inch bundles, tied securely with rope, and collected later in the day by trucks furnished by the Chicago waste paper salvage committee.

This will be the first organized drive the schools have sponsored since the city-wide paper campaign was intensified a few weeks ago, William L. McFetridge, general chairman of the salvage committee, announced.

Seek Teacher Coöperation.

Last week George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, addressed bulletins to the principals of the schools, asking coöperation from them and 4,000 teachers and other school employes in the drive. On Tuesday the salvage committee's "flying squadron" of speakers will visit each school and explain details of the drive to the pupils. The speakers are under the direction of Joseph Marcus.

Payment for paper collected Friday will be made to the individual schools and will be used for their own activities.

Details Worked Out.

Details of collecting the paper have been worked out by John R. Robinson, representative of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, the group which reorganized the waste paper drive a few weeks ago to intensify the campaign for the duration.

Altho Friday's will be the first organized campaign the schools have attempted together, regular collections have been made each week at individual schools. Pupils of Chicago's 550 public and parochial elementary schools collected 1,248,124 pounds of waste paper last week, an increase of 400 tons over the preceding weeks, McFetridge said.

Contest Already On.

The collection marked the first week of the five weeks' contest for $1,000 in prizes donated by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association. The contest, which gives American flags to the nine leading public schools, campaign ribbons to the winners in each public school in the city, and cash prizes to the parochial schools, opened Feb. 14 and will continue until March 18.

Parochial schools showed high figures, McFetridge said, collecting a total of 641,500 pounds of paper during the week. This has been credited in part to the drive in all Catholic churches, started 10 days ago, to bring out waste paper collected in homes which do not have a pupil in either public or parochial schools.

St. Joseph's Takes Lead.

The parochial school leading in the drive is St. Joseph's, 8801 Marquette av., with an average of 49.42 pounds of paper collected by each pupil.

North side parochial schools, with the average collection per pupil, include Holy Name cathedral, 750 N. Wabash av., 15.43 pounds; St. Josaphat, 2320 N. Wayne av., 12.37 pounds, and Assumption, 315 W. Erie st., 12.86 pounds.

At Lake View High school, 4015 N. Ashland av., Donald A. Johnson, faculty member and war coördinator for the school, has planned special bulletin board announcements and assembly programs preparatory to Friday's high school paper collection campaign. Thus far Lake View students have collected approximately 20 tons of paper.

Hope to Exceed Record.

Students at Lane Technical High school, 2501 Addison st., will work on the paper salvage drive all this week. Their record in the last drive was 21 tons, and they hope to equal or exceed this total. The campaign is being handled by the Junior Red Cross committee. Miss Irene Mautz, committee sponsor, said that proceeds from the sale of the paper will be used to buy new books for the book drive.

A special assembly urging a large paper collection Friday will be held at Sullivan High school, 6631 Bosworth av., on Tuesday. Miss Helen Hagen, in charge of the drive, said that students have been making collections from week to week since January.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS AIDS LAKE BLUFF ORPHANS

To help the Lake Bluff orphanage celebrate its 15th anniversary, children of the beginners department of the Grace Methodist church Sunday school in Lake Bluff will present Miss Margaret M. Brooks, superintendent of the orphanage with $25 today.

The money, which will be given just before the church services begin, has been collected for three months in pennies, nickels, and dimes. The children in the department are two to six years old and are under the leadership of Mrs. Theodore Cavins of Lake Forest.

They are asking that a bed be purchased and dedicated to the Sunday school.

HIGHLAND PARK PLANS JUBILEE FOR 75TH YEAR

Week's Observance Will Open Sunday.

Highland Park will formally observe its 75th anniversary March 11, climaxing a week long celebration beginning next Sunday during which each civic organization, club, school, and church in the community will have an individual jubilee program. Because of the war no general program has been planned.

Mayor Joseph Garnett and Edward M. Knox, general chairman of the celebration, have asked that each organization have its special birthday observance at the meeting nearest the anniversary date. Chairman Knox said the committee's whole idea is to keep the celebration "quiet and inexpensive, since there is no time for an elaborate program during a war year."

Groups to Compile Histories.

The committee has requested that every organization prepare a comprehensive history of itself in order that Highland Park will have accurate information on all social and service organizations and on any other groups that have been a part of its civic growth. This historical material will be assembled and published under direction of a special committee, headed by Mrs. Norman H. Meiners, whose Northwestern university thesis on the "Origin and Early History of Highland Park" has been a chief source of historical information about the city.

As another feature of the celebration, exhibits concerned with the history of Highland Park will be on display thruout the week in store windows. The anniversary committee is making arrangements to provide display space for any group preparing an exhibit.

An important result of this celebration, the committee hopes, will be the organization of a Highland Park historical society as a depository for the safekeeping of historical information collected for the anniversary observance. John A. Putnam, pioneer resident of Highland Park, is currently making a study of by-laws and constitutions of other historical societies in preparation for a meeting to be held shortly at which plans for a local society will be presented.

Incorporated in 1869.

Mrs. Meiners' history shows that Highland Park began its corporate existence on March 11, 1869, the anniversary of the granting of its charter by the general assembly. Frank P. Hawkins, agent for the Highland Park Building company, was the first mayor.

The company, composed of Chicago and suburban civic leaders, also built the Highland Hall hotel, said to have been the finest outside of Chicago, which was located on Ravine dr. at St. Johns av. A veranda ran 1,000 feet along the outside of the hotel building on each of its three floors.

Mrs. Meiners relates that the immediate reason for the incorporation of Highland Park into a city was the desire to eliminate "those business establishments known as saloons." In 1869 eight were in the area included in the city. Liquor licenses were held by grocers and hotel owners. Grocery licenses, at that time, were issued any one having "a house of entertainment with four beds and stabling for eight horses."

Sought Churchgoers.

The clientele whom the Highland Park building company wanted to interest in Highland Park were churchfolk, Mrs. Meiners said, particularly since two members of the company were Baptist ministers.

Before long, the town accumulate a grocery store, paint store, bakery, and hardware store. Fletcher's pier became a popular spot for lake excursion trips from Chicago. Sheridan road was put thru to Highland Park in the '70s, largely as a result of the activities of Alexander Clark, Colney Foster and Mayor Hawkins. Telegraph lines were in operation from the beginning of the city. In 1898 the Bluff City Electric railroad built a local line extending into Highland Park, which later became the North Shore line. Telephones came into use in 1895.

Churches Spring Up.

An undeominational religious organization was formed in 1869, meeting in MacDonald's hall where the Rev. George L. Wrenn conducted services and performed pastoral duties. The Baptists were first to withdraw into a new church of their own, completed in 1872. In 1873 Catholics of the community erected a building of oak logs.

Observations on the early populace of Highland Park, which Mrs. Meiners gathered from historians, say the early settlers were Irish and Germans with a desire to work and build homes for themselves and their families.

NORTH END CLUB PLANS MUSICAL, BENEFIT PARTY

Rogers Park Women Will Meet Tuesday.

Two annual events of the North End Woman's club will be held this week. The first will be a musical program under direction of Mrs. Leo Kraemer, music department chairman, at 2 p. m. tomorrow. A feature will be the musical quiz in which all members will participate. Tea will be served with the music committee as hostesses.

On Thursday afternoon the club will hold its annual spring philanthropy party in the clubhouse. A dessert luncheon at 12:30 p. m. will open this gathering. Mrs. Don Cammon, philanthropy chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

Rogers Park Woman's Club.

A meeting of the Rogers Park Woman's club Tuesday will open at 10:45 a. m. with a program sponsored by the legislation department. Mrs. James A. Larsen, chairman, will introduce Frank W. Parker, an Indian employed by the office of Indian affairs. He will show a technicolor film of the Pueblo Indians, and pictures of the government irrigation project in the desert area of the southwest.

Wilmette Woman's Club.

Miss Virginia Kirkus will speak on "A Bridge of Books" at a meeting of the Wilmette Woman's club at 2 p. m. Wednesday. At the 10:15 a. m. session, Agnes L. Sasscier will talk to the collector's study group on "Parian Ware." Mrs. Sasscier, whose articles on antiques have been published in several magazines, had her own collection of Parian ware on exhibit in November at the Chicago public library. She will display some of her collection at the lecture. Mrs. Charles T. Morrison, chairman of the collectors' group, will introduce the speaker.

The art department, whose chairman is Miss Frances Scheidenhelm, will present George Fred Keck, architect and a faculty member of the Illinois Institute of Technology. Mr. Keck will speak on the discovery and development of the solar type house, with its advantages of light and fuel conservation.

Ravenswood Woman's Club.

The second in a series of book reviews sponsored by the Ravenswood Woman's club will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Three Links Temple building, 4740 N. Western av. Tea will be served following a review by Florence Bourke Ellis. Mrs. T. C. Meinhardt, ways and means chairman, is in charge of reservations.

Evanston Woman's Club.

Mrs. Cyril Thompson, 3d vice president and program chairman of the Woman's club of Evanston, will present Miss Virginia Kirkus in a lecture on books at a meeting Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. LeRoy Nilles, tea chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Harry W. Thorp, Mrs. A. R. Topping, Mrs. Oscar M. Torrison, Miss Ada Townsend, Mrs. J. H. Van Vlissingen, and Mrs. P. V. E. B. Ward. Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Orville Coan, and Mrs. Robert H. Allison.

At 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, Mrs. Thompson will present an aviation program. H. F. Hampel and W. W. Davies, both in the research and engineering departments of a large air transport company, will discuss the "Age of Flight." The discussion will concern the economic research and engineering study which leads to air transport expansion.

Highland Park Woman's Club.

The home and education department committees of the Highland Park Woman's club are coöperating in arranging several unusual features for the Kensington tea to be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the club. Mrs. O. Laurence Olesen, a club member since 1900, is planning a table of historical relics commemorating Highland Park's 75th jubilee celebrations and also the early days of the club. Old books dating back almost to the Indian days, braided and hooked rugs, maps, quilts, and collections of pewter and copper will be on display. Luncheon and bridge tables will be set with antique glass and silver.

An "Information Please" table, where club members will exhibit antiques of undetermined vintage and history, is expected to prove interesting.

Jane Bevan Hoops Is Bride

Miss Jane Bevan Hoops, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Hoops, Winnetka, recently became the bride of Dr. Oliver Herbert Bricker, son of Dr. and Mrs. Albert E. Bricker, Downers Grove. The wedding took place at the Winnetka Congregational church. The bride was graduated from Northwestern university, Evanston. Dr. Bricker received his M. D. from the University of Illinois. The couple is residing in Seattle, Wash., where the bridegroom, now a navy lieutenant, is stationed. [Du Bois the Drake Photo.]

NORTH SIDE PTA COUNCIL PLANS HOME EXHIBIT

Display Handicraft at River Park Tuesday.

The North Side council of Parent-Teacher associations will sponsor a homemaker's exhibit from 1:30 to 3 p. m. Tuesday at the River park fieldhouse, 5100 N. Francisco av. Judges of the exhibit, which will include all types of handicraft and home canned goods, will be Mrs. R. E. Mittricker, state chairman of the home and family life division, and Mrs. L. E. Sandeno, homemaking chairman of the Northwest council.

Mrs. John Templeman, council chairman of education for home and family life, is in charge of arrangements. Tea will be served by the council board. Mrs. H. O. Keys is president.

Stewart—Mrs. Charles W. Balch, recreation chairman of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, will talk on "Stressing Recreation in War Time" at the Stewart PTA meeting at 1:15 p. m. Wednesday. Election of officers will be held. Mrs. Milton Langtim, hospitality chairman, and mothers of 5th grade pupils will be hostesses at the social hour.

Senn—Senn PTA will have a book review and music recital for its program at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Mrs. Harry W. Hoppe will discuss "Tomorrow Is Forever" by Gwen Bristow. Vera Hazen, lyric soprano, will sing, and Mrs. L. J. Cashman will play the organ. Mrs. J. R. Garland is chairman.

Knickerbocker—Miss Gertrude Shea, principal of Knickerbocker school, will speak on "War Time at Knickerbocker" at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow for members of the PTA who will meet in the school library. Mrs. Lawrence Scimeca, vice president, will have charge of the meeting.

La Salle—The March meeting of the La Salle PTA will be held at 1:15 p. m. Thursday in the school assembly hall. The Rev. Eldon Lindberg will speak on youth at home and at school.

Mrs. George A. Fowler will review "The Family Portrait," a play by Lenore Coffee, following a business session of the Niles Center Woman's club Wednesday. Mrs. Fowler is a club member. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. by Mrs. F. W. McIntosh and her committee. Mrs. Fredric W. Dunlap is club president.

Our Lady of Lourdes Club.

Members of Our Lady of Lourdes Woman's club will meet at 2 p. m. Friday in the Ravenswood temple, 4605 N. Paulina st. Guest speaker will be Lt. Comdr. Philip Nicholas, senior chaplain at Navy pier. His subject will be "Personal Experiences with Men of the Navy." A social hour will follow the lecture. Mrs. Edward Fitzmaurice is president of the club.

NEWBERRY LEAGUE TO OPEN EVANSTON BOOK REVIEW SERIES

Sarah Weidner Youngren will give the first in a series of six book reviews, sponsored by the Newberry Center league, at 2 p. m. Friday in Glenna hall, First Methodist church, Evanston. The series will continue with afternoon reviews on March 31 and April 28. Morning programs will be given on March 17, April 14, and May 12. Mrs. Knapp O. Saunders and Mrs. Albert H. Pendleton are co-chairmen of the book review series.

Sarah W. Youngren.

DR. E. F. TITTLE TO OPEN LENTEN SERIES TODAY

A special series of Lenten sermons will begin at 11 a. m. today at the First Methodist church, Evanston. Theme of the series, to be conducted by Dr. Ernest F. Tittle, minister, will be "What Does It Mean to Be a Christian?"

Beginning today with a talk entitled "A New Type of Man," subjects on subsequent Sundays thru Easter will be: "Not a Code but a Character," "The Marks of a Christian," "Fellowship in Christ," "The Sense of a Divine Vocation," "How to Become a Christian," and "The Hope of the Christian." The Rev. Arthur T. Clark, assistant minister, and the Rev. G. Eugene Durham, director of the Methodist Student Foundation at Northwestern university, will assist at this morning's service.

The Rev. Mr. Clark will conduct the first of five sessions of a class to prepare young persons for church membership at 4:30 p. m. today in Dr. Tittle's office. On Palm Sunday, April 2, the class will be received into church membership during the morning worship service. Assisting at the class sessions will be Miss Geraldine Gregg, director of the church school.

Chilean Pianist.

Rene Amengual, Chilean pianist and composer, will give a program of Latin-American music in Lutkin hall, Northwestern university, at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday.

Fine Tailoring makes Fine Blouses

1. Izod, of London, designed the white crepe shirt on the left. It has the look of good English tailoring, with beautifully set shoulders and piped buttonholes. $10.95

2. More fine crisp tailoring is visible in another Izod blouse in white crepe with a tie at the neck. Fits beautifully. Handsomely detailed. $10.95

3. For a refreshing change try the smooth fitting collarless, back-buttoned blouse at the upper right. $6.50

CAROL SILVER GUEST PIANIST ON AIR THEATER

Carol Silver, young Chicago pianist, will make her first appearance over W-G-N Mutual as guest soloist on the Chicago Theater of the Air Symphony hour from 11 p. m. to midnight tomorrow. Miss Silver, who is 19, made her New York debut in Town Hall on Feb. 12. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul R. Silver, 2824 Jarvis av.

Miss Silver will join Henry Weber and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra in McDowell's second concerto in D Minor for piano and orchestra. The orchestra will play Beethoven's Symphony No. 4. Mr. Weber comments on the program. Miss Silver last year was named winner in a competition to determine the midwest's outstanding young pianist.

MARY SMALL IS STAR OF SHOW STARTING TODAY

Songstress Mary Small, now in her twenties and a 10 year veteran of radio, will head her own show starting today. Titled The Mary Small Revue, the program will be aired at 4 p. m. on Sundays over WENR Blue. Music for the new show will be provided by Ray Block's orchestra. Sunny Skylar will do the vocalizing. Fred Uttal will act as master of ceremonies. Her guest for today is to be Walter O'Keefe, radio comedian.

HELLER TELLS OF BRINGING FUN TO JUNGLE FRONT

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Little Jackie Heller, radio singer and comedian, who has already spent nine months in South Pacific war areas and expects to stay with the troops "until we march into what will be left of Tokio," has written this desk and given a vivid impression of what entertaining men on the jungle fronts is like.

"At this writing we are the first show ever to go into the front lines in a combat zone," Jackie said. "I wish you could see these men laugh, cheer and go wild during a performance. These kids have had nothing in the way of entertainment except some 16 millimeter class "Z" pictures. Why they don't send out later pictures no one knows, but they don't get them here.

Perform in Mud, Rain.

"These lads won't let you go after a performance. I've never seen such enthusiasm in my 17 years of show business. We have done hundreds of shows in mud up to our ankles or in terrific rain. Many's the time we have done a show from the back of our truck so the rain wouldn't ruin our piano which takes a hell of a beating in this weather.

"We've spent many anxious hours in our rat and land crab infested foxholes. Mr. Tojo makes no distinction between entertainers and the man behind the gun."

Jackie wrote that he and Randolph Scott of the movies were sharing a foxhole.

"For once my being small has its advantages," Heller wrote. "Randolph Scott is 6 feet 3 inches; I am 5 feet 1 inch, so I am the only one in the hole who is comfortable," With Heller in a U. S. O. unit are Lew Parker, late of "Hellzapoppin'," as M. C., and George Finkleberg, once pianist with Bob Crosby.

Finds Morale High.

Heller said that he had met hundreds of boys who remembered his Club Matinee and Breakfast Club radio appearances. Considering the heat, the muck, the monotony of food, the anxiety, said Jackie, "the morale of the men, many of whom have been over here for two years, is very high."

"Most of our food is dehydrated," Jackie wrote. "If fresh vegetables and meats are coming out here, some one is getting them before they reach the areas I've played since leaving Hawaii."

His biggest thrills since leaving home: Seeing a fighter pilot bring down two Jap Zeros in two minutes —"something of a record"—the night after they reached a jungle island, and broadcasting to the United States from Guadalcanal at 3:37 a. m. [local time] last Thanksgiving.

American radio programs sent over in recorded form arrive four months late, said Jackie. They get the news from San Francisco, listen to the latest American dance music as sent out from Tokio. They ignore the propaganda interlardings of "Tokio Rose," the M. C.

Thrill of His Life.

"If she could hear what our men say about her comments she'd blush right thru the microphone and never go on the air again."

Concluding, Jackie said: "It's not pleasant to be in one of these stinking holes and wonder whether one of those eggs from above has your name on it. . . . But entertaining these men has been the greatest thrill of my life and I wouldn't have missed this trip for anything in the world. I've made countless new friends—and that money can't buy. I am ready to stay out here until we march into what will be left of Tokio."

'MARITZA' NEXT OPERETTA FOR THEATER OF AIR

The Chicago Theater of the Air cast of 100 will return to W-G-N's main audience studio next Saturday night to present Emmerich Kalman's operetta, "The Countess Maritza." The performance will be broadcast on W-G-N, WGNB, and the coast-to-coast Mutual network from 8 to 9 p. m.

Marion Claire will be starred in the title role. Igor Gorin, baritone star of radio, movies, and the concert stage, will sing the role of Count Tassilo.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

The music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra under Henry Weber and a chorus coached by Robert Trendler. Jack La Frandre, writer-director of the series, will produce the show.

EVANSTON HIGH PLANS 'FITNESS AND FUN' SHOW

2,000 Students to Give Exhibitions Saturday.

With activities ranging from folk dancing to ranger tactics, and from first aid to human pyramids, more than 2,000 students of Evanston Township High school will present one of the biggest exhibitions ever undertaken by the school when they appear in the physical education demonstration "For Fitness and Fun" Saturday night in Beardley gymnasium. Proceeds from the demonstration will be used to purchase equipment for the boys' and girls' physical education departments.

The event will include 750 members of the boys' physical education classes who will join 1,250 girls in presenting typical routines from the school's accelerated gymnastic program. Since physical education became a daily requirement for Evanston students a year ago, emphasis has been put upon ranger drills and calisthenics instead of competitive sports, and these activities will form a major part of the boys' section of the program.

500 in Folk Dance.

Featuring the girls' part of the program will be folk dancing by more than 500 freshmen and sophomores. Another dance exhibition will be presented by 100 girls, 50 of them dressed like men in garbs of blue jeans, flannel shirts, and bandanas. Around 300 junior and senior girls will participate in a massed rhythmic gymnastic drill, while members of the special girls' physical education classes will demonstrate posture improving exercises.

Demonstrations of the contrast in methods of bed making, home nursing, artificial respiration, and bandaging as they were practiced in 1350, 1775, and 1831 and at the present time will be given. Girls participating in the school's war time courses in home nursing and first aid will take part in this portion of the performance, which will be directed by Howard W. Wilson, drama department head.

Show Ranger Tactics.

The boys' section of the performance will emphasize five types of physical activity directed toward developing the type of combative training offered men in the army and navy. More than 150 boys will illustrate some of the ranger drills used by the British Commandos, such as running Indian fashion in the face of gunfire.

Members of the military training corps also will have a part in the demonstration. A special detail accompanied by the girls' drill team will present national and school colors. Color guard is under direction of Cadet Lt. Col. James Jenson. The selected drill team is led by Maj. Jane Denham.

WAUKEGAN DEAN SHOWS WAY IN PAPER SALVAGE

Episcopal Parish Collects 1,000 Tons of Scrap.

For three years Dean Howard Ganster has preached the value of waste paper to his congregation at Christ Episcopal church, Waukegan. He sold the idea so well that, up to now, the parish has collected 1,000 tons of scrap paper.

Out of their waste paper fund, parishoners have paid $3,000 for a parish house and a $3,500 debt to Bishop Wallace Conkling, and have maintained a gift box project for men from the congregation who are in service. These boxes are sent once every two months to each of 297 service men. This project, said Dean Ganster, costs a minimum of $150 a month, which is paid entirely from waste paper sales.

Fund for Post-War Chimes.

Some of the waste paper revenue goes toward the fund for a set of chimes to be bought after the war. The chimes will commemorate all men and women from the city of Waukegan who served in the army and navy. A total of $12,000 in war bonds has already gone into the chimes fund.

Dean Ganster not only preaches about waste paper, but he practices what he preaches. He works right along with his congregation in the actual job of finding and collecting scrap paper. Out of the 1,000 tons collected, the minister "hazards a guess" that he has picked up about 600 tons himself.

Spends Day Off at Task.

"I've gone around begging waste paper so long that I have all my friends trained into saving it for me by now," said the pastor. At first he used his car to make paper pickups but when the upholstery became "embarrassingly ragged," Dean Ganster bought a regular delivery truck. Every Monday, the "churchman's holiday," he spends most of the morning and afternoon making waste paper collections.

Dean Ganster, who has been minister of the Waukegan church for the last 30 years, finds children his most "willing helpers" in the parish waste paper drive. But he has given them something to work toward.

"Three years ago," the pastor explained, "I made a brave offer that any child who collected one ton of waste paper for the church would get a free trip to Washington, D. C., thinking nobody would take me up on it."

15 Take Trip Already.

However, the offer resulted in Dean Ganster escorting a total of 15 young people on three different trips to Washington, plus making two trips to the Smoky Mountains with 10 younger children. In each case all expenses were paid by the pastor.

"There are 25 or 30 more young people who have a rain check for a trip to Washington after the war," laughed the pastor, "but, this time, I've raised the price—it's now four tons of waste paper for a free trip."

COAST GUARD COVERS WATER FRONT IN WAR

BY JOHN THOMSON.

One of the least known phases of the American war program passed another milestone last week as the coast guard observed the second anniversary of its enforcement of port security in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The coast guard base at Chicago, on one of the largest inland fresh water lakes in the world, is responsible under the program for the security of the area between Michigan City and Waukegan, and as far south as Seneca on the Illinois river. The area comprises the nation's greatest war production district.

Varied List of Duties.

Under Comdr. P. G. Patterson, captain of the port of Chicago, the coast guard boards and checks each vessel entering or leaving the port; guards new navy ships on Lake Michigan and on the Illinois river as far as Peoria; maintains a water front and river patrol 24 hours a day; guards the loading of explosives; enforces navigation laws, and enforces on water fronts and adjoining navigable waters all laws and regulations of any federal agency.

Fireboats on the water front and navigable rivers are alert at all hours to put out fires under their jurisdiction and to answer calls for help from city fire departments along the water fronts.

The coast guard's floating base on the Chicago river at North av. is typical of the river patrol that is maintained. An 80 foot, 57 ton converted pleasure craft houses coast guardsmen under Chief Mate Gordon E. Riley, who directs the maintenance of the ship and other government ships at the base, and issues orders for patroling the north and south branches of the river as far north as Addison st. and as far south as California av. The patrol goes beyond these limits on request.

Reservists Lend Aid.

Temporary reservists aid the regular coast guard in maintaining the patrol from the floating base. They put out brush and rubbish fires along the river banks, remove logs and other debris that might prove a menace to navigation, chase suspicious characters away from the river or from business or industrial plants along the river, tip up loose barges, and maintain a constant surveillance of the river.

"The schedules and crews are irregular, so that no one can count on a patrol boat not being along at any time," said Chief Riley. "A lot of people who might be inclined to sabotage are deterred just by the knowledge that the coast guard might be just around the corner keeping an eye on them."

When the ice clears from the mouth of the river in the spring the ship used as a floating base goes on lake duty and the patrol headquarters is moved to the old Chicago anchorage south of Navy pier. In winter months a coast guard cutter breaks ice for the patrol and for other coast guard and navy vessels.

Secure Ships Against Damage.

A large number of the ships built in Chicagoland shipyards are taken down the inland waterway to the Mississippi and into the Gulf of Mexico, and the coast guard must secure all ships against damage or sabotage.

Loading of explosives is of minor importance in port security work in this district, but the coast guard provides a guard at the few places where they are loaded. With many private ships carrying valuable war cargoes, the coast guard is often called on to furnish security watches for the ships while they are in port.

Because of its port security enforcement, the coast guard claims its share of the credit for prevention of calamities such as the Black Tom explosion of World War I., and cites the drop in waterfront fire damage, despite greatly increased shipping activities, as resulting from the security program.

Checking the identity of incoming and outgoing ships and examining the ships and cargoes is one of the biggest tasks under port security. The coast guard has logged many thousand vessels, government ships as well as private craft, on their outgoing and return trips at Chicago.

Issue 20,000 Boat Licenses.

In the Chicago area alone the coast guard has issued nearly 60,000 identification cards and more than 20,000 boat licenses since it took over port security. No one can enter navy, coast guard, or private grounds in war production along the waterfront without proper orders or identification. The temporary reserve, which in the Chicago district numbers 1,865 persons who serve 12 hours a week, is used extensively at guard posts and relieve younger men for sea duty. The coast guard estimates it takes five reservists to replace one regular man.

Rain, snow, or sunshine, fair weather or foul, the coast guard plugs away with unrelenting persistence at port security. It may not be as adventurous or as glamorous as some of the other jobs to be done, but it is a necessary one, and the coast guard is doing it quietly and efficiently.

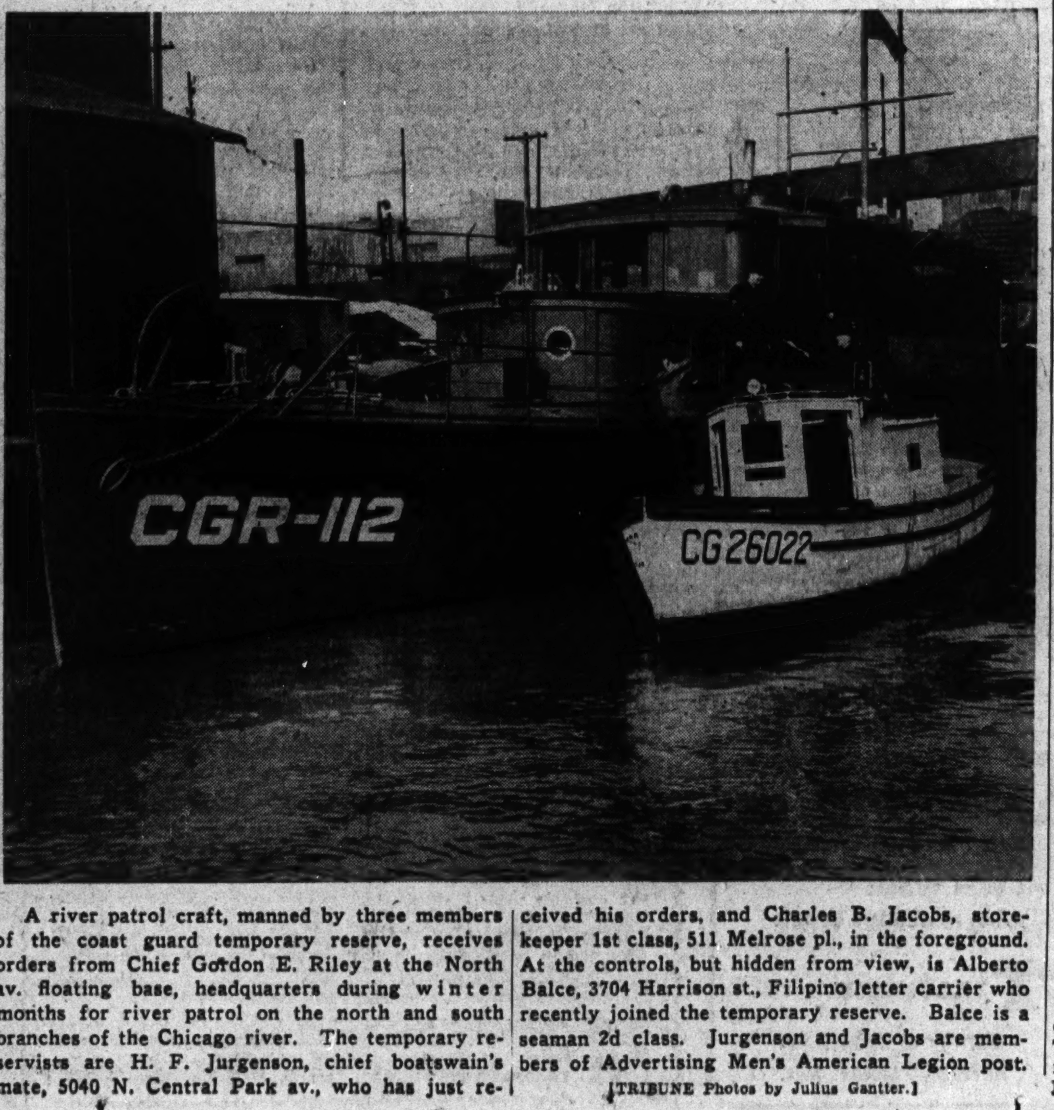
Pumping water from all outlets, this coast guard fireboat, stationed on Lake Calumet at the Pullman Standard company's shipyard, demonstrates the power that a single fireboat can turn loose against any fire it is called on to help put out. Putting out fires is only one of the coast guard's tasks in port security, which has been the coast guard's job since Feb. 25, 1942.



A river patrol craft, manned by three members of the coast guard temporary reserve, receives orders from Chief Gordon E. Riley at the North av. floating base, headquarters during winter months for river patrol on the north and south branches of the Chicago river. The temporary reservists are H. F. Jurgenson, chief boatswain's mate, 5040 N. Central Park av., who has just received his orders, and Charles B. Jacobs, storekeeper 1st class, 511 Melrose pl., in the foreground. At the controls, but hidden from view, is Alberto Balce, 3704 Harrison st., Filipino letter carrier who recently joined the temporary reserve. Balce is a seaman 2d class. Jurgenson and Jacobs are members of Advertising Men's American Legion post.

PUBLIC REVIEW OF MILITIA WILL BE HELD TODAY

Infantry to Perform at S. Side Armory.

The 8th infantry regiment, Illinois reserve militia, commanded by Col. Clifton E. Jones, will hold open house in its armory, 3517 Giles av., from 4:30 until 8:30 p. m. today.

The program is being held to help acquaint the public, especially those persons residing in the regiment's assigned defense area, from 22d street south and west to the city limits with the work and aims of the organization, and to mark the end of a drive for recruits to replace members who have been called into the services.

Soldiers to Drill.

The program for the day will consist of a regimental review with the soldiers in full combat equipment, demonstrations by the regimental drill team commanded by Lt. Louis Banks of Company D, a concert by the regimental band under the direction of Warrant Officer Harry L. Johnson, a mass swearing-in of the new recruits, and a war movie.

Plan Armory Tour.

Visitors will be conducted thru the armory and will see various phases of training, the company rooms, and the history of the regiment, as shown by pictures of activities and documents dating back over 60 years.

Among the special guests will be members of the militia's general staff, retired members of the 8th infantry, and representatives of many of the large corporations and war plants on the south side from which the enlistment of the regiment is drawn.

NEGRO SOLDIER TREATMENT TO BE TOLD TODAY

The Rev. D. Z. Jackson, president of the Douglas Civic league, and Edgar Brown, director of the National Negro council, will speak at a meeting sponsored by the Chicago Citizens Committee of 1,000 to protest alleged mistreatment of colored soldiers, at 3 p. m. today, at the Liberty Baptist church, 56 E. 46th st. The complete report of the Fraternal Council of Negro churches, already presented to the war department, will be read by the Rev. Mr. Jackson. The report is based upon a tour of southern army camps, the tour being authorized by the war department.

GIRL WILL JOIN WAVES ON LEAP YEAR BIRTHDAY

Louise Paulson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Paulson, 1754 E. 79th st., will celebrate her fifth leap year birthday by being inducted into the WAVEs in ceremonies at the Square post home of the American Legion, 70th and Elizabeth sts., Tuesday evening. Miss Paulson has been a member of the junior auxiliary of the Square post unit for 15 years and is a past president of the auxiliary. Her brother, William E. Paulson Jr., is a naval aviation cadet stationed at St. Thomas college, Albert Lea, Minn.

Membership is open to all men who have been awarded the Purple Heart and those attending the meeting will be elegible to vote for officers.

PLAN CAMPAIGN FRIDAY TO GET BIGGER SUPPLY

Seek Co-Operation of Teachers.

Friday will be Waste Paper day for the 113,000 students in Chicago's 39 public high schools. Working as a team, Chicago's high school boys and girls hope to collect 350 tons in the all-out one day drive.

The paper will be carried to the schools Friday morning in 12 to 15 inch bundles, tied securely with rope, and collected later in the day by trucks furnished by the Chicago waste paper salvage committee.

This will be the first organized drive the schools have sponsored since the city-wide paper campaign was intensified a few weeks ago, William L. McFetridge, general chairman of the salvage committee, announced.

Seek Teacher Coöperation.

Last week George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, addressed bulletins to the principals of the schools, asking coöperation from them and 4,000 teachers and other school employes in the drive. On Tuesday the salvage committee's "flying squadron" of speakers will visit each school and explain details of the drive to the pupils. The speakers are under the direction of Joseph Marcus.

Details of collecting the paper have been worked out by John R. Robinson, representative of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, the group which reorganized the waste paper drive a few weeks ago to intensify the campaign for the duration.

Altho Friday's will be the first organized campaign the schools have attempted together, regular collections have been made each week at individual schools. Pupils of Chicago's 550 public and parochial elementary schools collected 1,248,124 pounds of waste paper last week, an increase of 400 tons over the preceding weeks, McFetridge said.

Contest Already On.

The collection marked the first week of the five weeks' contest for $1,000 in prizes donated by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association. The contest, which gives American flags to the nine leading public schools, campaign ribbons to the winners in each public school in the city, and cash prizes to the parochial schools, opened Feb. 14 and will continue until March 18.

Don C. Rogers, assistant superintendent in charge of elementary schools, announced that south side schools leading in the paper drive are: Gunsaulus, 4420 S. Sacramento av., whose students collected 7,750 pounds or 11.1 pounds per pupil; Hubbard, 6200 S. Hamlin av., 6,200 pounds or 15.8 per pupil; Barton, 7650 S. Wolcott av., 4,535 pounds, 7.5 per pupil, and Barnard, 10354 Charles st., 6,400 pounds, 15.4 per pupil.

Leading south side parochial schools announced by Msgr. Daniel J. Cunningham, superintendent of Catholic schools, are: St. Joseph, 8801 Marquette av., with an average of 49.4 pounds per pupil; St. Martin, 320 W. 59th st., 28.07 per pupil; St. Maurice, 3619 S. Hoyne av., 22.87 per pupil; Holy Cross, 4541 S. Wood st., 22.65; St. Felicitas, 1521 E. 83d pl., 22.51, and St. Mary of Perpetual Help, 1023 W. 32d st., 19.14.

Among Catholic Leaders.

St. John Nepomucene, 30th st. and Lowe av., 15.07; St. Turibius, 4110 W. 57th st., 14.15; Assumption, 12242 Parnell av., 12.06, and St. Joseph, 730 W. 17th pl., 11.54.

Plans for the next paper drive by south side schools include a Kelly High student dance which will be run by the student council. A ticket will be given to each student bringing 50 pounds of paper.

Tilden High does its part in the paper drive by sending boys to the various centers where paper will be picked up. Because so many Tilden students live a long distance from the school and have to ride so far, it is difficult for them to bring paper and they are encouraged to deliver it to their local grammar schools. The school lunchroom, however, nets 200 pounds of scrap paper a day. This paper is sorted by the engineers and turned in.

At Hirsch High school students collected more than 8,000 pounds after the Christmas vacation and collected 2,000 pounds in the first four days of the new drive. The student council under Jack Chalbeck, president, is sponsoring the drive, and will award $5 in war stamps to the student bringing in the largest amount of paper. Mrs. Alice Jackson is the faculty member in charge.

Phillips High students already have collected more than two tons of waste paper under the direction of Student Chairmen Adolph Slaughter and Augustus Green. Mrs. Thelma Powell, faculty war coördinator for Phillips, is supervising the student drive.

Hyde Park has set as its quota the collection of three tons a week. A committee of 20 outstanding boys have been assigned to supervise the collection in the school's 100 division rooms. Arrangements have been made for students living at a great distance from the school to participate in group pickups of the paper they have collected. Elliott Hasen is the faculty supervisor.

THURSDAY CHILD IS NOT VERY FAR FROM GOAL NOW

Leap Year Babes to Have a Birthday!

"Thursday's child has far to go," if we would believe the old nursery rhyme, and six youthful south siders who were born on the last Thursday of February four years ago can well believe it—they've had to wait 1,092 days for another Feb. 29 and the chance to celebrate their first real birthday.

Done out of their yearly birthdays thru a fluke of the calendar, and forced to compromise with celebrations on the 28th of February, the leap year children and their parents have planned large and very special festivities for Tuesday.

Delve Into Numerology.

Altho Virginia Baletto, 8450 Prairie av., is busy anticipating the ice cream, candy, cake, and party promised her for her first genuine birthday in four years, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baletto, have been amusing themselves with a not too serious fling into numerology, concerning themselves with the frequency with which the number four has popped into their child's life.

"Not only does Virginia have a birthday every four years, but she is our fourth child, was born in 1940 when I was 34 and my husband 40, and in a hospital room bearing the number 304," her mother explained. "Besides, there are four letters in her dad's first name and four in mine, Mary," Mrs. Baletto added.

Never Had a Party.

Sherry Bogin, 7028 Clyde av., has been to many birthday parties, but has never had one of her own, and her mother, Mrs. Jeanette Bogin, has promised her ample opportunity to make up for lost time on Tuesday.

"We've never celebrated Shirley's birthday before because it didn't seem just right and we decided it would be better to save all the festivities for a big blow-out when the real thing came along," Mrs. Bogin explained.

Father Won't Be There.

Altho the big party in Shirley's honor will be replete with birthday trimmings, the one guest who had a special invitation to come and a special reason to be there, her father, won't be able to make it. He is Pvt. Ernest M. Bogin, who is stationed at Camp Kohler, Cal.

All the family is expected to gather for the first birthday celebration of Barbara Ann Borgen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron G. Borgen, 7118 Constance av. Altho there has always been some sort of observance for Barbara on Feb. 28, Tuesday's party is going to be a real family gathering and quite an occasion, her mother said.

Something Special Tuesday.

Adolph Golab, leap year son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Golab, 10716 Avenue M, has always had a birthday cake with candles and frosted trimmings, but his mother has planned a bigger and better cake for this year's "real" birthday. "As his uncle, Pvt. Norman L. Stark, is in the army, I'm going to decorate the cake with military trimmings to make it different and special," Mrs. Golab said.

Other four year olds who will observe their first birthday Tuesday are Ann Marie Kantowicz, 7241 Phillips av., James Kamp, 6830 Ridgeland av., and Kenneth Sorensen, 8041 Rhodes av.

Joliet Avalon Club.

The Avalon club will meet Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Bert Arnold, 142 Akin av., Joliet.

VERNON OGREN WINS NAVY PROMOTION AND WIFE IN SAME WEEK

Vernon D. Ogren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albin W. Ogren, 7803 Constance av., has been promoted to lieutenant [j. g.]. During the same week he was married to Dorothy Forsander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Forsander, 7634 Champlain av. Mrs. Ogren will make her home with her husband at the naval armed guard center in New Orleans, La., where he is stationed at present.

Lt. V. D. Ogren.

Lt. Ogren was awarded a commendation by the secretary of the navy last December in recognition of the performance of his gun crew in the invasion of Sicily. He was in command of navy gunners on a merchant ship which participated in the first landings on the Mediterranean island. His ship was credited with destroying three Nazi raiders and was given credit for three other probables.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota, he was a teller with the Harris Trust and Savings bank before enlisting.

Their Picture Lost, and Found, at War

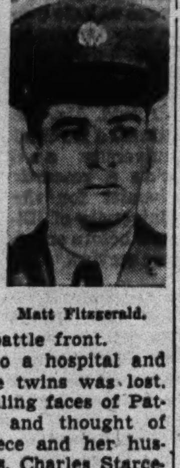
South Sider Carries It Thru 3 Campaigns.

Pvt. Matt Fitzgerald, 25, 1449 E. 71st pl., has been in three major campaigns of this war and in each battle he carried with him his favorite picture—a photo of Pat and Chuck, his niece's twin children. While participating in the Italian invasion, his truck was hit by German shellfire and the contents of the truck, which contained the picture, were strewn over the battle front.



Matt Fitzgerald.

He was taken to a hospital and the picture of the twins was lost. He missed the smiling faces of Patrick and Charles and thought of writing to his niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Starcevich, 10021 Exchange av., for a copy of the picture. He was reluctant to mention the incident for fear his seven brothers and sisters-in-law would worry too much.

It's Found—in Lost and Found.

A month later the lost and found section of the Stars and Stripes had a surprise for him. The picture of the twins stared out at him.

The publication wrote, "Pat and Chuck have been left behind by their father, who is somewhere in Italy. They were found alone in a deserted bivouac area and forwarded to us for safekeeping. Naturally they are anxious to get back in the thick of things and are patiently waiting to be claimed. If their father will get in touch with this department, the photograph of Pat and Chuck will be forwarded to him immediately."

Well, Matt isn't their daddy, altho he is their godfather, and he contacted Stars and Stripes and now the twins are in there fighting again.

Pvt. Fitzgerald has been in the army three years and has been overseas for 15 months. He was among the first Americans in the African invasion. Before entering the service he worked for the Wisconsin Steel company.

S. SIDE SYNAGOGS PLAN SERIES OF JOINT MEETINGS

Dr. Simon Greenberg, professor of education at the Jewish Theological seminary, New York, will speak at 8 p. m. Tuesday at Congregation Rodfei Zedek, 54th st. and Greenwood av. His subject will be "Religious Education in the Post-War World."

The meeting is being sponsored by Congregations Am Echod, Rodfei Zedek, and South Side Hebrew. It will inaugurate a series of intercongregational functions at which members of the faculty of the Jewish Theological seminary will speak.

Dr. Greenberg, a graduate of the Jewish Theological seminary, is a former president of Rabbinical Assembly of America and the author of textbooks now being used in the Hebrew schools of Conservative synagogs.

SET NO GOAL FOR RUSSELL SQUARE FUND CAMPAIGN

Community Can Use All Raised in Drive.

In order to insure the continued operation of recreational facilities for youngsters in the Russell Square community, the community committee is making its annual appeal for funds.

"We are setting no goal for our drive," said Casimir B. Gwizdalski, 8261 Brandon av., chairman of the Russell Square community committee drive. "The activities we can carry on for young people are limited only by the amount of money we receive."

Committee 10 Years Old.

The organization, which has been in existence for nearly 10 years, provides recreation, athletic opportunities, and camping facilities for community children.

Chief among the activities sponsored by the committee is the year 'round operation of the St. Michael's Boys' club, 3160 E. 83d st., where youngsters can be instructed in crafts, and have access to game rooms and club rooms. The gymnasium in the old St. Michael's school building also is available for the boys.

Operates Summer Camp.

The committee owns and operates Camp Lange, near Michigan City, Ind. Three hundred and thirty-two boys and girls from the Russell Square community attended the camp last summer.

Facilities at the Boys' club also are made available by the committee to the Red Cross, and for Americanization classes and other community activities.

The committee, member of the Council of Social Agencies of Chicago and a nonprofit corporation, is headed by Clemence Guzinski, 8422 Brandon av. Other officers include John Tekiela, 8127 South Shore dr.; Andrew Pindara, 8257 Commercial av.; John Kowalkowski, 8343 Brandon av., and John P. Lulinski, 8119 South Shore dr. Its membership includes industrial, business, and professional men of the community.

4 Brothers in War

Lt. Daniel Comroe. Capt. Jules Comroe.
Capt. Leon Comroe. Capt. Joseph Comroe Jr.

Four brothers in the Comroe family of Hyde Park are serving in farflung battlefronts of the war.

S. SIDE TWINS CONFUSE ARMY MEDICAL CORPS

Their 2 Brothers Are Also in Uniform.

Four pictures of young men in army uniform are perched on the desk of Dr. Joseph Comroe. "My sons," he proudly explains. They are Capt. Joseph Comroe Jr., medical corps; Lt. Daniel B., a pilot in the air force, and Capt. Jules and Capt. Leon, twins, in the medical corps. All are graduates of Hyde Park High school.

"The twins have always been somewhat of a problem to every one," Dr. Comroe says. "Not that they weren't model students—they were four-year honor students at Hyde Park High, belonged to the Pathagorian club and were members of Epsilon Alpha at the University of Chicago. It's just that they're identical twins.

Patients Seeing Double?

The professors at school had to ask them to dress differently so that they could identify them. When they were at the County hospital, Billings hospital, and upon joining the army three years ago, in the hospital at San Luis Obispo, Cal., patients would have a relapse thinking they were seeing double."

They were separated for the first time in their lives when they were sent overseas. Their father doesn't know whether the army authorities were getting confused too, or whether it was for the good of the patients. Capt. Jules is now serving as transport surgeon on the Pacific and Capt. Leon is in England.

Capt. Joseph, 33, has been in the service for two years, and is now somewhere on the Atlantic. He is a graduate of the Chicago College of Dental Surgery.

Stationed at Waco.

Lt. Daniel Comroe, 22, was a student at the medical school of the University of Illinois at the time he enlisted. He is stationed at Waco, Tex.

The Comroes are not only a medical family, but also a musical family. The twins play the clarinet and the bass fiddle, and were members of the University of Chicago orchestra. Capt. Joseph plays the saxophone, Dr. Comroe plays the violin, and Danny and Mrs. Leah Comroe play the piano. "Yes, we do have our own orchestra," Dr. Comroe said.

"That's one of the secrets of the twins' popularity with their patients," he adds. "They entertain them with music."

DR. M. E. LAZENBY WILL SPEAK AT LENTEN SERVICE

Dr. M. E. Lazenby, editorial associate of the Christian Advocate, will speak at the second of a series of midweek Lenten services at the Woodlawn Methodist church, Woodlawn av. at 64th st., Thursday evening.

Other speakers in the series include: Dr. Frederick F. Shannon, former pastor of the Central church; Dean Charles W. Gilkey, Rockefeller Memorial chapel, and Dr. William E. Clark, pastor of the City church, Gary, Ind. The speakers will be heard each Thursday following a church night dinner which begins at 6:30 p. m.

On Thursday, March 30, members of the Women's society will present "The Challenge of the Cross," a religious play.

St. Thomas Church Guild Will Hold Music Program

The guild of the tabernacle of St. Thomas the Apostle church will meet at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 8, in Tighe hall, 5467 Woodlawn av., to hear Mary Florence Sheridan, coloratura soprano, accompanied by Oscar Deis.

This WEEK in the GARDEN

Monday, Feb. 28.

Any vegetable seedlings that are large enough to handle should be transplanted. Grow them in a comparatively cool place to encourage a short, compact, strong growth. Later the plants can be placed in the coldframe or on an inclosed porch for hardening off.

Apparently few gardeners realize the importance of such a procedure, but it is one that is necessary if successful transplanting into the field is to be accomplished. Indoor grown pansies should be coming along nicely; they, too, do best in a cool place, but one that is light.

Tuesday, Feb. 29.

When making out the order for seeds remember that most of the finest varieties are the old timers, altho some of the newer sorts are an improvement over the old. One should select those that are recommended by reputable seedsmen for the area in which the crops are to be grown.

Seedsmen test all varieties, so they know the kinds that do best. Vegetable plants must be given sufficient room to develop if maximum production is to be obtained; close planting prevents any individual plant from producing as it should, so that thinning is essential, and this applies to flowers as well as other plants.

Wednesday, March 1.

The lawn can be given an application of plant food now, and commercial foods need not be watered in at this season because the grass had made little if any growth and the soil is so moist the fertilizer will pass into solution quickly. Most lawns are not properly started, which is the reason they take so long to develop. First thoro preparation of the soil will produce a fine thick turf of Kentucky blue grass in about three years.

Thursday, March 2.

Roses are receiving much more attention than formerly and there are no better flowers for the gardener. They should be properly planted, the soil should be well drained, and regular cultivation should be given.

If the soil drains too rapidly spade under a copious amount of humus to make it retain water. If the soil contains too much clay break it up by adding sand, manure, and peat. Apply food at regular intervals, for roses grow best when well supplied.

Friday, March 3.

Pruning shrubs should be finished this month, but it should be done with a definite object in view. Don't buy pruning shears and start in by cutting away branches that should not be cut. Study each plant, for no two are alike.

There is a difference in the way each cut is made. Cut so that the top bud, the one which will make the new stem or branch, points outward or it will grow in toward the center, which is undesirable.

Saturday, March 4.

Some of the new vegetables that are highly recommended include lettuce Great Lakes. Its chief value lies in its heat resisting qualities; it stands the sun and does not go to seed as freely as other kinds. It may be well tried in the home garden.

HELLER TELLS OF BRINGING FUN TO JUNGLE FRONT

Jackie in Foxhole with Randolph Scott.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Little Jackie Heller, radio singer and comedian, who has already spent nine months in South Pacific war areas and expects to stay with the troops "until we march into what will be left of Tokio," has written this desk and given a vivid impression of what entertaining men on the jungle fronts is like.

"At this writing we are the first show ever to go into the front lines in a combat zone," Jackie said. "I wish you could see these men laugh, cheer and go wild during a performance. These kids have had nothing in the way of entertainment except some 16 millimeter class "Z" pictures. Why they don't send out later pictures no one knows, but they don't get them here.

Perform in Mud, Rain.

"These lads won't let you go after a performance. I've never seen such enthusiasm in my 17 years of show business. We have done hundreds of shows in mud up to our ankles or in terrific rain. Many's the time we have done a show from the back of our truck so the rain wouldn't ruin our piano which takes a hell of a beating in this weather.

"We've spent many anxious hours in our rat and land crab infested foxholes. Mr. Tojo makes no distinction between entertainers and the man behind the gun."

Jackie wrote that he and Randolph Scott of the movies were sharing a foxhole.

"For once my being small has its advantages," Heller wrote. "Randolph Scott is 6 feet 3 inches; I am 5 feet 1 inch, so I am the only one in the hole who is comfortable," With Heller in a U. S. O. unit are Lew Parker, late of "Hellzapoppin'," as M. C., and George Finkleberg, once pianist with Bob Crosby.

Finds Morale High.

Heller said that he had met hundreds of boys who remembered his Club Matinee and Breakfast Club radio appearances. Considering the heat, the muck, the monotony of food, the anxiety, said Jackie, "the morale of the men, many of whom have been over here for two years, is very high."

"Most of our food is dehydrated," Jackie wrote. "If fresh vegetables and meats are coming out here, some one is getting them before they reach the areas I've played since leaving Hawaii."

His biggest thrills since leaving home: Seeing a fighter pilot bring down two Jap Zeros in two minutes—"something of a record"—the night after they reached a jungle island, and broadcasting to the United States from Guadalcanal at 3:37 a. m. [local time] last Thanksgiving.

Thrill of His Life.

American radio programs sent over in recorded form arrive four months late, said Jackie. They get the news from San Francisco, listen to the latest American dance music as sent out from Tokio. They ignore the propaganda interlardings of "Tokio Rose," the M. C.

"If she could hear what our men say about her comments she'd blush right thru the microphone and never go on the air again."

Concluding, Jackie said: "It's not pleasant to be in one of these stinking holes and wonder whether one of those eggs from above has your name on it. . . . But entertaining these men has been the greatest thrill of my life and I wouldn't have missed this trip for anything in the world. I've made countless new friends—and that money can't buy. I am ready to stay out here until we march into what will be left of Tokio."

One-Time Child Prodigy Solos on W-G-N-Mutual

Joseph Knitzer, who displayed unusual skill in handling the violin when only 13, will be soloist during the Cleveland Symphony orchestra concert from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight over W-G-N-Mutual. Knitzer will play Beethoven's concerto in D major. Guest-conducted by Rudolph Ringwall, the orchestra is to feature Weber's overture to "Euryanthe."

Carol Silver, young Chicago pianist, will make her first appearance over W-G-N Mutual as guest soloist on the Chicago Theater of the Air Symphony hour from 11 p. m. to midnight tomorrow. Miss Silver, who is 19, made her New York debut in Town Hall on Feb. 12. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul R. Silver, 2824 Jarvis av.

Miss Silver will join Henry Weber and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra in McDowell's second concerto in D Minor for piano and orchestra. The orchestra will play Beethoven's Symphony No. 4. Mr. Weber comments on the program. Miss Silver last year was named winner in a competition to determine the midwest's outstanding young pianist.

MALCUZYNSKI TO BE GUEST OF PHILHARMONIC

Witold Malcuzynski, noted pianist, will make a guest appearance with the New York Philharmonic orchestra during its program at 2 p. m. today over WBBM-CBS. Malcuzynski is scheduled to play Chopin's Concerto No. 2 in F minor.

Under the direction of Dr. Artur Rodzinski, the orchestra will offer Brahms' Fourth Symphony in E minor.

During the intermission, Carl Van Doren will present another chapter of the American Scriptures. This feature was named the outstanding program series in 1943 by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Fred Allen, Quiz Kids Swap Visits Tonight

Fred Allen will juggle questions and answers with the quiz kids on their program at 6:30 o'clock tonight over WENR-Blue. Seats in the New York studio from which it will be broadcast can be acquired only thru the purchase of war bonds. Quiz Kids Joel Kupperman, Richard Williams, Harve Fischman, Ruthie Duskin, and a fifth child, who will be the winner of city-wide New York quiz kid contest, will return Allen's visit by appearing on his program over WBBM-CBS at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

NBC Symphony Features Works by Brahms, Bach

Compositions by Brahms and Bach will be featured during the NBC Symphony of the Air program at 4 p. m. today over WMAQ-NBC. Leopold Stokowski, who has conducted the symphony orchestra for its winter season, completes his 12 concert stretch as conductor today. Arturo Toscanini will return to head the orchestra March 5.

Name Ship for Clapper.

United States maritime commission officials lately announced the forthcoming launching of a Liberty ship named for Raymond Clapper, Mutual network commentator and newspaper columnist, who lost his life in the Marshall Islands invasion.

'MARITZA' NEXT OPERETTA FOR THEATER OF AIR

The Chicago Theater of the Air cast of 100 will return to W-G-N's main audience studio next Saturday night to present Emmerich Kalman's operetta, "The Countess Maritza." The performance will be broadcast on W-G-N, WGNB, and the coast-to-coast Mutual network from 8 to 9 p. m.

Marion Claire will be starred in the title role. Igor Gorin, baritone star of radio, movies, and the concert stage, will sing the role of Count Tassilo.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

The music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra under Henry Weber and a chorus coached by Robert Trendler. Jack La Frandre, writer-director of the series, will produce the show.

MARY SMALL IS STAR OF SHOW STARTING TODAY

Songstress Mary Small, now in her twenties and a 10 year veteran of radio, will head her own show starting today. Titled The Mary Small Revue, the program will be aired at 4 p. m. on Sundays over WENR Blue. Music for the new show will be provided by Ray Block's orchestra. Sunny Skylar will do the vocalizing. Fred Uttal will act as master of ceremonies. Her guest for today is to be Walter O'Keefe, radio comedian.

CLUBS BUYING AMBULANCE PLANES

ODD FELLOWS UNION LODGE IS 100 YEARS OLD

Mark Centennial at Dinner Saturday.

Chicago was a struggling city of 5,000 population and not quite 10 years old. Its streets were knee deep in mud when it rained and the main business area was a group of low frame buildings bordering Lake st., when on a cold February afternoon in 1844 nine young Chicagoans gathered in a store room at the southwest corner of Lake and State sts. to organize Union lodge, I. O. O. F., the father of all Chicago and Cook county Odd Fellow lodges today.

Expect Crowd of 2,000.

Next Saturday night Union lodge which now has 170 members will celebrate its centennial with a dinner-dance in La Salle hotel. More than 2,000 Odd Fellows, representing Union lodge, its 60 subordinate lodges, 98 Rebekah groups, and 15 encampments, all in Cook county, are expected to attend.

There will be a banquet at 6:30 o'clock, a grand march at 9 o'clock, and dancing until midnight. Stage and night club talent now appearing in Chicago will give the program.

Members of the committee are Lon E. Butts, 627 S. Campbell av.; J. T. McCallum, 743 N. Central av.; W. W. Davison, 2424 N. Central Park av.; Thomas H. Dunlop, 4737 Adams st.; James F. Davison, 2424 N. Central Park av.; John F. Strohm, 3501 Jackson blvd., and William E. Hayer, 3532 Belden av.

State officers who will be banquet guests Saturday night are O. F. Scherer of Olney, grand master; Gilbert Elson of Lexington, deputy grand master; B. E. Taylor of Caseyville, grand warden, and David Gordon of Springfield, grand secretary.

Early Records Burned.

Not much is know about the early history of Union lodge as the records were burned when the Methodist church block on Clark st. was destroyed in the fire of 1871. A few stories, however, have been handed down to Mr. Butts, recording secretary, who has delved into the history of the lodge.

"It took Thomas J. Burns, grand master of Illinois, almost a week to travel by horseback from Springfield to Chicago for initiation ceremonies that February afternoon," Mr. Butts related. "Now the trip is made by train in three and a half hours."

The oldest lodge member is Eudoras Cripe, 92, of 3225 Warren blvd. He has been an Odd Fellow for 68 years. He can remember "the boys recalling the long flight of stairs they used to climb every Thursday night to the fourth floor of the Methodist church building on Clark st. and Washington blvd. for meetings. In the winter the room was so cold that four wood stoves, one in each corner, were kept going during the meetings."

Quarters Moved to West Side.

After the fire the lodge began moving its headquarters westward. Still meeting on Thursday nights, the lodge members now gather at the Mid-City Odd Fellows temple, 3350 Jackson blvd. Before that they met at McEnery's hall, 4039 Madison st., and many other places.

The lodge was the first to be organized in Chicago and Cook county. By the end of the first year the membership had grown from the nine charter members to 72. By the end of five years the lodge had furnished 21 of its members for the beginning of a new lodge, Duane, now meeting at 1016 N. Dearborn st., and approximately the same number for Excelsior lodge which since has been consolidated with Duane.

Since then 66 other lodges in Chicago and Cook county have sprung up from Union lodge, and 98 Rebekah lodges and 15 encampments.

Traveled for Lodge.

Lodge work is very close to the heart of Mr. Butts but nothing has quite equaled the years from 1906 to 1916 when he was a member of the champion degree staff which was called to confer degrees to lodge members thruout the country. Only he and Thomas Dummer are left of the original 24 as active members in the lodge.

"For 10 years we traveled about the country, conferring degrees wherever we were called," Mr. Butts related. "We traveled by train and had our own coach. We always wore our uniforms—gray coats with black braid and black pants."

Mr. Butts chuckled when he recalled one summer the men decided to change their black pants for white ones.

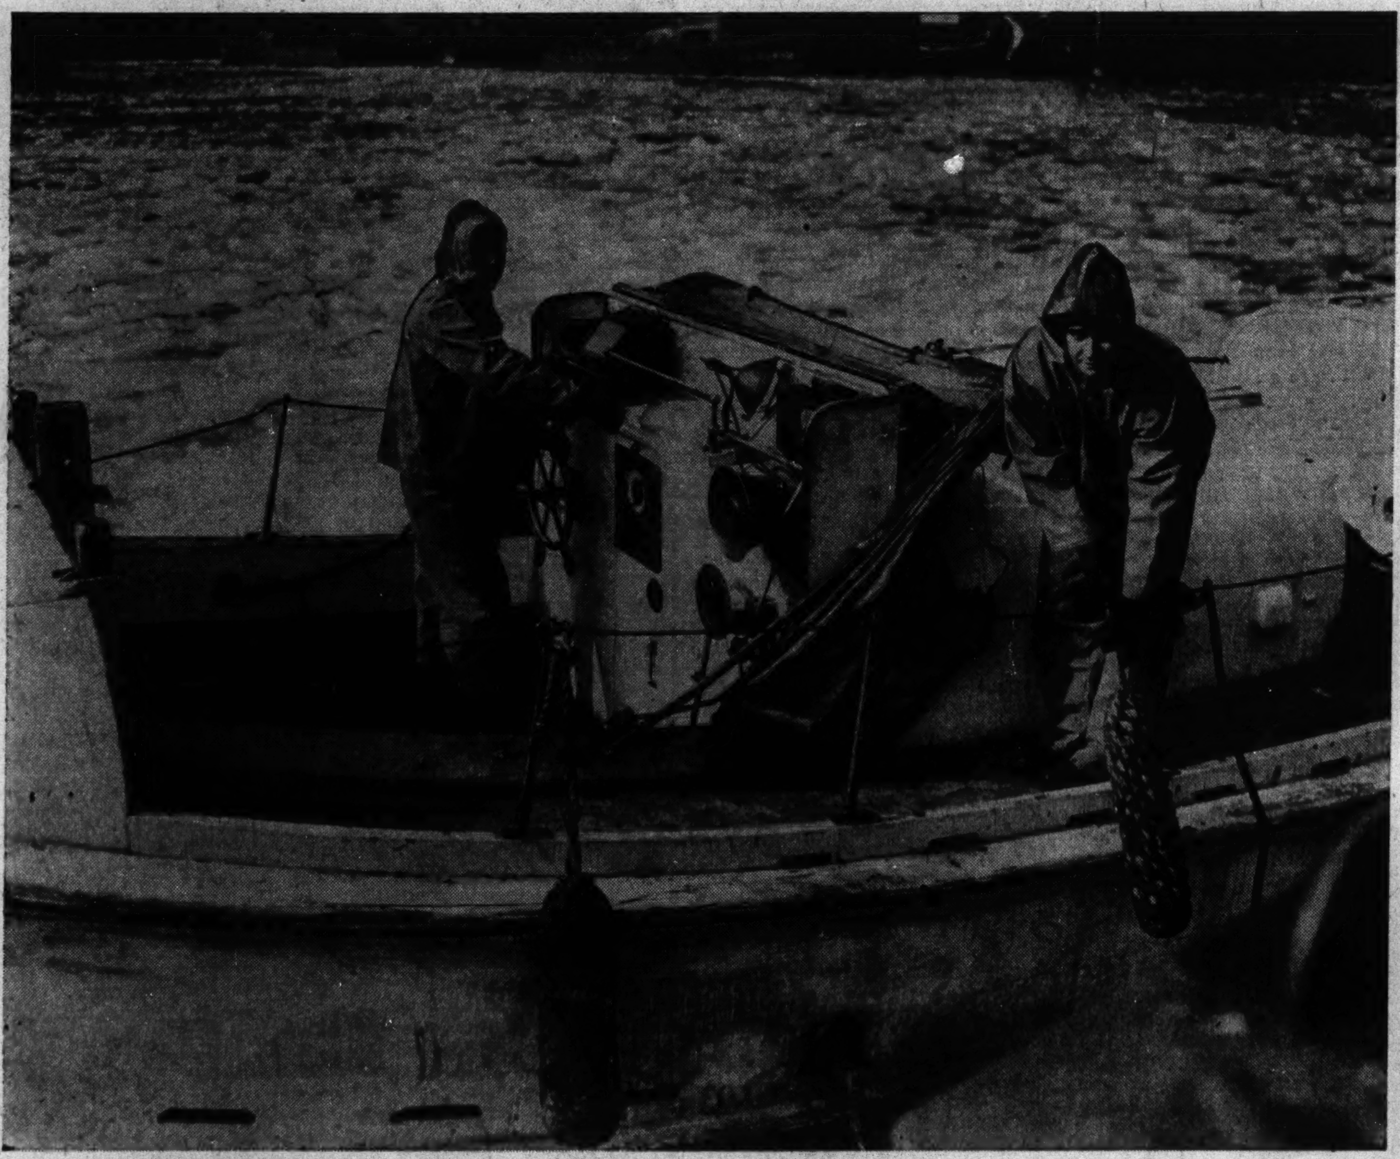
"That was only a fancy whim of a few months. The white pants got soiled too easily and the boys complained that they made our uniforms look like waiters' attire."

Staff Wins Prizes.

The Union lodge degree staff won two first prizes and several second place awards, offered by the Sovereign Grand lodge, for their work during the 10 years. A few of the cities at which they conferred degrees were Indianapolis, Ind.; St. Paul, Minn.; Toronto, Can.; Cincinnati, O.; Baltimore, Md.; Des Moines, Ia., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

"We have kept our lodge alive by initiating young members, but now the young ones have gone to war," Mr. Butts sighed regretfully.

Alert Coast Guard Units Assure Security of Chicago's Water Front



The United States coast guard, which on Friday celebrated its second anniversary as the enforcement agency for port security, operates this 36 foot cutter and ice breaker, with a steel bottom four inches thick, in Lake Michigan and the Chicago river as part of the security program. Manning the cutter, which breaks ice for coast guard and navy ships and smaller craft, are George Tjernlund (left), boatswain's mate 1st class, of Ironwood, Mich., and Horace Harrison, machinist's mate 1st class, of Harvey.

EVERY 4TH YEAR BRINGS PARTY TO THESE CHILDREN

It's 1st Birthday for Many Youngsters.

Boys and girls born on Leap year day, who have been disappointed in other years because they didn't have birthdays, will make up for it Tuesday.

At least eight west side families are busy with plans for birthday parties and family dinners for their four year olds on Tuesday. Mothers are planning cakes with thick icing and candles, favors, and other birthday trimmings. The boys and girls are anticipating the gifts they expect to receive on their four in one birthdays.

Ronald Yearling, who is blond with big blue eyes, has been excited about his birthday for weeks and wants "everybody to come" to his party. Actually his mother has invited 12 neighborhood children and their mothers to help celebrate. There will be ice cream, favors, cocoa, and a cake with four candles.

His two grandmothers, Mrs. John Saunders, 1338 S. Karlov av., and Mrs. Emma Yearling, 1447 S. Komensky av., also will be among the birthday guests.

Ronald Was A Big Event.

Just as Ronald's first birthday is a big event in the Yearling home this year, his birth to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Yearling, 4404 Congress st., was a big event in the Lawndale community four years ago. Ronald was born at 5:43 p. m. Feb. 29, 1940, and was the first leap year baby born in the community. His parents, who then lived at 1420 S. Komensky av. received a collection of 20 gifts offered by the Lawndale merchants to the first leap year baby born in the Lawndale district.

Barbara Sue Axelrod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Axelrod, 5814 Chicago av., will have two parties Tuesday. The first will take place in her nursery school room when she will cut a cake topped by one large candle. In the evening she will preside over a family dinner party for 15. Among the guests will be her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morriss Axelrod, 5806 Chicago av., and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Sachs, 4738 Flournoy st.

Barbara Sue has a sister, Judith, 3, and a brother, Robert, 8 months.

To Share Cake with Uncle.

Anna De Falco, 4 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mario De Falco, 1418 Flournoy st., will share her birthday cake with an uncle, Richard De Falco, 711 S. Millard av., who will be 16 Tuesday. Ten neighborhood children have been invited to a party in the afternoon and the cake will have one large candle. Anna has a brother, Mauro, who recently celebrated his first birthday.

One of the largest birthday parties Tuesday will take place in the Dr. Milton Saffir home, 1258 Independence blvd., with 4 year old Sarah Leah Saffir hostess. She will entertain 35 neighborhood boys and girls and cousins. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Saffir, will take movies of the children and will show films, especially designed for children's parties. The party will be climaxed with the cutting of a large birthday cake.

OAK PARK SEEKS HARLEM AVENUE BUS EXTENSION

The board of directors of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce has petitioned the Illinois Commerce commission for an extension of bus service on Harlem av. from Grand to Touhy avs. The board has asked that the commission appeal to the Chicago and West Towns Railway company to extend the present bus route which goes north as far as Grand av. and south to Argo-Summit.

The resolutions state that large numbers of war workers in the Amertorp, Buick Aviation, Douglas Aircraft, and Aluminum Company of America live beyond the bounds of the present bus service and are not serviced.

The petition also cites a need for a more adequate transportation system to the trade area in the Lake and Marion sts., and Harlem av. district.

HIGH SCHOOLS PLAN ONE DAY PAPER DRIVE

350 Tons Set as Goal for Friday.

Friday will be Waste Paper day for the 113,000 students in Chicago's 39 public high schools. Working as a team, Chicago's high school boys and girls hope to collect 350 tons in the all-out one day drive.

The paper will be carried to the schools Friday morning in 12 to 15 inch bundles, tied securely with rope, and collected later in the day by trucks furnished by the Chicago waste paper salvage committee.

This will be the first organized drive the schools have sponsored since the city-wide paper campaign was intensified a few weeks ago, William L. McFetridge, general chairman of the salvage committee, announced.

Seek Teacher Coöperation.

Last week George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, addressed bulletins to the principals of the schools, asking coöperation from them and 4,000 teachers and other school employes in the drive. On Tuesday the salvage committee's "flying squadron" of speakers will visit each school and explain details of the drive to the pupils. The speakers are under the direction of Joseph Marcus.

Details of collecting the paper have been worked out by John R. Robinson, representative of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, the group which reorganized the waste paper drive a few weeks ago to intensify the campaign for the duration.

Altho Friday's will be the first organized campaign the schools have attempted together, regular collections have been made each week at individual schools. Pupils of Chicago's 550 public and parochial elementary schools collected 1,248,124 pounds of waste paper last week, an increase of 400 tons over the preceding weeks, McFetridge said.

Contest Already On.

The collection marked the first week of the five weeks' contest for $1,000 in prizes donated by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association. The contest, which gives American flags to the nine leading public schools, campaign ribbons to the winners in each public school in the city, and cash prizes to the parochial schools, opened Feb. 14 and will continue until March 18.

St. Joseph's in Lead.

Msgr. Daniel J. Cunningham, superintendent of Catholic schools, announced that St. Joseph school, 8801 Marquette av., led on a per capita basis the list of Catholic schools in last week's collection. A total of 49.42 pounds of paper was collected per pupil. On the west side St. Malachy school, 2256 Washington blvd., led with 10.72 pounds of paper per pupil.

Don C. Rogers, assistant superintendent in charge of elementary schools, announced that Emmet, 5500 Madison st., and Penn, 1616 S. Avers av., led the public schools in districts 4 and 5 on the west side. Pupils collected 6,203 or 6 pounds per person at Emmet and 11,500 or 6.2 pounds per person at Penn.

Take Part in Drive.

Schools which will participate in the one day drive include Austin, Crane Technical, Farragut, Flower Technical, Harrison Technical, McKinley, Manley, Marshall, Medill, and Spalding.

Austin High already has contributed 10 tons to the waste paper campaign and expects to collect from eight to 10 tons more next Friday. Enthusiasm for the drive will be worked up at general assembly meetings Wednesday and Thursday.

Get Home Work Credit.

Marshall High has contributed from one to three tons of paper weekly to the campaign. Designating each Monday as Waste Paper day, pupils are given home work credit in their classes if they bring a collection of Sunday papers for the drive. This week they will be given credit both tomorrow for Sunday papers and again on Friday for their contributions to the one day school drive.

Pupils at Harirson High school collected 41,000 pounds of waste paper in January when the school organizations sponsored a paper doll contest. Each organization named a paper doll candidate and for every five pounds of paper a vote was cast. The contest ended in a tie between Joan Hadad, the candidate for the school choir, and Ann Harey, who represented the R. O. T. C.

Women at War

Eleanor F. Allen, daughter of Mrs. Grace G. Allen of Hinsdale, has been promoted to a first lieutenant in the WAC at Patterson Field, O. Lt. Allen was assigned to Patterson field last September, and is chief of the personnel travel unit. Lt. Allen was commended by the commanding officer at Fort Des Moines, Ia., where she was previously stationed, for saving the life of a civilian worker by giving a blood transfusion. The transfusion was given two weeks after she donated a pint of blood to the Red Cross for the plasma bank.

Ruth M. Greenburg, 1221 S. California av., and Marguerite R. Marz, 703 N. Hamlin av., recently were graduated from the naval training school for women reservist yeomen at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls.

Regina H. Dyer, 316 S. Loomis st., has been promoted to technician 5th grade at the tank destroyer replacement training center at North Camp Hood, Tex.

Marion S. Petersdorff, seaman 2d class, has completed basic training at the naval training school in the Bronx, N. Y., and will report at storekeeper school at University of Indiana, Bloomington. She is a graduate of Proviso Township High school, in Maywood and formerly resided at 5810 Erie st.

DISTRICT SELLS BONDS TO AID WAR WOUNDED

Women Sell Bonds in Project.

Approximately 6,000 clubwomen in the 6th district Federation of Women's Clubs, are sponsoring the purchase of two hospital service planes, costing $110,000 each thru the sale of war bonds. The campaign, known as the 6th district hospital service plane drive, will run until March 10 and only series "E" bonds will be counted.

Bond sales for the hospital planes started Jan. 15. Altho the sales will not be computed until after March 10, Mrs. Edward Baldinger, 6th district war service chairman, predicts the clubwomen will exceed their goal.

The planes will be used to transport wounded soldiers from the battle fronts to evacuation hospitals.

Booths in Public Places.

The bonds are being sold among the club's own members, at booths manned by clubwomen in stores, theaters, and civic meetings, and in banks. Among the smaller clubs, Berwyn Woman's Civic club, has set a goal of $20,000 in bonds to be sold among members and their friends by March 10. The members already have sold $14,000. Total membership is 88.

In two and a half months last summer, the club members sold $30,000 in bonds thru solicitation of the club and friends. Club meetings are held each Wednesday and each member present is expected to report to Mrs. Edna Delejs, war service chairman, the amount of bonds solicited during the week.

"We work at it steadily," Mrs. Delejs explained, "and each member present usually has at least one or two sales to report."

The larger clubs have volunteer workers who sell bonds at booths. Mrs. Roy Boudrye, 6th district president, reported that Riverside Woman's club and the Cicero Woman's club each has sold approximately $50,000 in bonds since Jan. 10.

Austin Sales Reach $366,000.

Among the larger clubs which sell thru membership only, the Austin Woman's club sold approximately $366,000 in bonds last year from May 1 to Dec. 31. The sales were made weekly thru the membership of 525 on club days. Members also contacted friends during the week.

Nineteenth Century Club of Oak Park has a bond table in the clubhouse each Monday when the members meet and again on Friday for the Red Cross unit. From Jan. 1, 1943, to Jan. 1, 1944, 1,000 members purchased $92,000 in bonds.

52 Clubs Take Part.

A total of 33 senior clubs and 19 junior clubs are participating in the campaign. Each club has a war service chairman and at least one authorized bond salesman. To be an authorized bond salesman the club members must enroll in a three day training program sponsored by the treasury department. Mrs. Joseph Juric of Riverside is the treasury's representative for west towns and she directs the 6th district club bond salesmen.

The 6th district clubs recently contributed $250,000 in bond sales to the state federation's "buy a bomber" campaign. The drive was finished in January, a few days before the west side clubs launched a campaign of their own.

LA GRANGE CLUB TO HEAR OPERA SINGER TONIGHT

Nino Martini, opera singer, is tonight's attraction at the La Grange Sunday Evening club. Congressman Dies, who was to have opened the club's 17th season last October, will be the speaker March 12. His topic will be "Enemies of Democracy."

An extra program will be provided March 19 when colored motion pictures of the "Alcan highway" will be shown by William L. Darden.

Programs of the Sunday Evening club are held in the auditorium of Lyons Township High school, La Grange.

WAR POSES NEW PROBLEMS FOR CIVIC HOSTESS

Shifts of Population Add to Duties.

War time has presented a new phase for community hostesses, according to Mrs. Ottilie Shiffer, 161 North Edgewood avenue, La Grange, who is supervisor of a group of hostesses in the west suburban area. Newcomers are urged to work with the Red Cross, become nurses' aides, and assist in the various drives. In this way, it is explained, strangers soon make new friends and again lead busy lives despite altered surroundings.

Mrs. Ottilie Shiffer.

Mrs. Shiffer also said that wartime shifts of population had increased the duties of a community hostess. Where perviously, newcomers to the suburbs mostly were from the city, war industries now have brought in families from all parts of the country.

Hostesses in the area under Mrs. Shiffer's supervision who call upon brides and new mothers as well as newcomers are Mrs. Mary T. Currier, Aurora; Mrs. Ruth Minard, Downers Grove; Mrs. George Scott, Western Springs; Miss Gertrude Wilson, La Grange; Mrs. Norman Brunkow, Oak Park; Miss Maureen Kimball, Elgin; Mrs. Ruth Hesley, Riverside, and Mrs. C. F. Daniels, Naperville.

Tells of Civic Life.

The community hostess not only calls with words of welcome and a gift of merchandise from local business firms, but brings information about churches, schools, and civic organizations. Usually, there is a letter of greeting from the mayor or village president and a booklet from the chamber of commerce. The friendly visit often lasts an hour.

Social groups are organized by the hostesses to include the newcomers only. These clubs meet to get better acquainted in hotels, tea rooms, the Y. M. C. A., or one of the homes. The Western Springs Newcomers club has held programs on flower arrangements and book reviews.

Veteran hostesses in the west suburban area are Mrs. Currier of Aurora, and Miss Wilson of La Grange. Most of the hostesses are college women and the majority of them are themselves housewives.

Lends Her Furniture.

When a family of newcomers in Downers Grove found itself quite helpless while awaiting the moving van, Mrs. Minard, the hostess for that village, brought furniture from her own home to make them more comfortable. Families moving about are said to be in need of friendly aid, particularly at this time because of the house shortage and scarcity of household equipment. Hostesses have been called out in the night to aid the sick in emergencies.

Mrs. Shiffer said the Welcome Wagon Service company for which she is supervisor in the west suburban area derived its name from pioneer wagons in the early days when the west was being settled. Then the Conastoga wagons were sent out by a settlement to an approaching wagon train to furnish fresh water and supplies. The newcomers were welcomed and urged to stay and become a part of the community.

"The days of the westward trek are over," said Mrs. Shiffer. "The wilderness has vanished. Its place has been taken by a complexity of living, but the pioneer spirit remains. In these trying days of war, thousands of families are being uprooted every year and forced to find new homes and form new friendships. Behind them is the past, old friends, and ways of living."

It is contended that many a newcomer, discouraged by a strange environment, might not have remained in a community had not a hostess, making an early call, opened up avenues for making new friends and assisted them over the adjustment period.

HINSDALE UNION CHURCH PLANS LENTEN TALKS

Devotionals Scheduled for Holy Season.

"He Set His Face Steadfastly" will be the theme of the devotional period to be led each week by Dr. Theodore K. Vogler at the Lenten institute being conducted at the Union church of Hinsdale.

The Wednesday night sessions begin with a fellowship supper at 6:30 o'clock, a devotional period from 7:15 to 7:45 o'clock, and a class period from 7:45 to 8:45 o'clock.

Unity to Be Theme.

Mrs. Julian Heppes and Mrs. William Welsh are co-chairmen of the class period which has for its theme "Uniting Today for Tomorrow." Subjects to be discussed Wednesday night will be "A Just and Durable Peace," and "The Six Pillars of Peace." Topics for future meetings are as follows:

"America's Foreign Policies—Past and Present," March 8; "Time for Greatness" by Herbert Agar, "From Victory to Peace" by Paul Hutchinson, "America's Foreign Policy" by Walter Lippmann, reviewed by Dr. Percy R. Hayward, March 15; "Half of Humanity," March 22; "Mainsprings of World Politics," March 29.

Book Review This Week.

"The Apostle," by Sholem Asch, will be reviewed Wednesday night by Lucy Wilson Moore. Marguerite Harmon Bro, author and a former member of the editorial staff of the magazine Social Action, will speak March 8 on "The Family in War Time." On March 15, Dr. Hayward will conduct book reviews.

Prof. Samuel Kincheloe, a member of the faculty of the Chicago Theological seminary, will speak March 22 on "The Church and the Community," based on the findings of the recent church survey in Hinsdale.

"The Democratic Home" will be the topic March 29 of Dr. Harry C. Munro, a director of family life education and adult work for the International Council of Religious Education.

AURORA BACHERS IF ANY, FEAR NOT THIS LEAP YEAR

On the theory that bachelors remaining in town these days are either too young or too old, the Aurora city council has this year cancelled its city-wide Leap Year celebration. Following a custom established in 1932, women were elected to serve on Feb. 29 in official posts, but on Tuesday eligible unattached males in Aurora will be free from harassment by the girls who used to take over the town. In 1940, the girls tossed into jail all the unmarried men they could catch.

Leap Year Baby

Yvonne Susanne Lilly has had to wait four years to observe her first birthday. The little Berwyn girl was born Feb. 29, 1940, and she'll have a real birth date Tuesday.

COUPLE MARK 50TH WEDDING AT OPEN HOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Gerhart, 1623 S. Fairfield av., recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception in their home. Mr. Gerhart has served as deputy bailiff in Municipal court for the last 30 years.

Six children and seven grandchildren attended the celebration. Among those who came from a distance were a daughter, Mrs. W. J. Zimmerman of Los Angeles, Cal.; a son, George, and family of Milwaukee, Wis., and another son, Joseph Jr. of Green Bay, Wis. The other children, Elmer, Walter, and Maynard Gerhart, live in Chicago.

One grandson, William Zimmerman, is a first lieutenant in the marine air corps. The youngest son, Maynard, expects to leave for the army in a few weeks.

Boy Exhibits Old Tribune Commemorating Lincoln

Harvey Karpiel, 2702 15th st., recently exhibited to his classmates at Plamondon school, 1525 S. Washtenaw av., an eight page section of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, dated Feb. 7, 1909, which commemorated the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's birth. The paper was handed down to Harvey by his grandmother, the late Mrs. Julia Barrett, who made a hobby of collecting old publications and prints. The old newspaper on Lincoln's life has a page of pictures showing scenes of his early life, a page on his family, bust pictures of Lincoln, and a picture page of his relics, assassination, funeral, and monuments.

year March 1 with small parties," her mother explained, "but this year we are planning a large party for her first real birthday—leap year day."

Four Candles for His Cake.

Jimmy Lofendo always has celebrated his birthday on March 1 but this year's Feb. 29th will be an occasion for a family dinner for 15 relatives. Four candles will decorate his birthday cake. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Lofendo, 904 S. Wolcott av. Among those present at the dinner party will be his brother, Donald, 7; his grandfather, Henry DiDomenico, 1020 S. Western av., and his grandmother, Mrs. Concetta Lofendo, 628 S. Racine av.

Yvonne Susanne Lilly, is pleased over plans to celebrate her first birthday on Tuesday. Yvonne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. La Verne C. Lilly, 1412 Scoville av., Berwyn. She has a brother, La Verne Roland.

Just Another Birthday.

Altho she was born on Feb. 29 four years ago, Darlene Diehm, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Diehm, 2944 Wisconsin av. Berwyn, has had birthday parties each year. Her grandmother, Mrs. Ella Diehm, said that so far as Darlene and the family were concerned, Tuesday would just be another birthday.

For Romel Hankerson, son of Mrs. Rose Hankerson, 123 S. 12th av., Maywood, Tuesday's leap year birthday will bring the excitement of four birthday parties combined into one. "Romel has a brother, Joseph, 8, who has had birthdays each year," said Mrs. Hankerson. "Romel has not thought this fair. We are going to try to make up for the neglect with Romel next Tuesday.

F. J. HATLEY WINS SECOND DOUGLAS AWARD OF MERIT

Fred J. Hatley, instructor in industrial arts at Proviso High school, recently received his second award of merit from the Douglas Aircraft corporation. While employed last summer at the Douglas plant, Mr. Hatley turned in several suggestions for time and labor saving devices. The first to win recognition was a jig to speed up production on landing gear. For this device he received an award pin and a $25 war bond.

The second award came as a surprise to Mr. Hatley. It came as the result of his suggestion for a jack to remove brushings and bushing supports and carried with it an award of $13 in war stamps.

DEDICATE CICERO CONCERT SUNDAY TO WAR WORKERS

Dedicated to the war industries of Cicero, the J. Sterling Morton High school music department will present its third concert of the season at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon in the school auditorium. Delegations of workers from west suburban manufacturing plants will attend.

Ruth Ann Shuma.

Louis M. Blaha will direct the 100 piece orchestra and the 150 piece band. Mr. Blaha has been connected with the school for 15 years, and under his baton both orchestra and band have won national music honors. Jerry J. Pech is assistant conductor.

Ruth Ann Shuma, 15, of Berwyn, who has appeared twice at Orchestra hall with the Chicago Piano Youth Symphony and in numerous recitals, will be a featured soloist, and will play Mendelssohn's piano concerto Opus 22, Capriccio Brillante. Ruth Ann has made recordings of Czecho-Slovak songs for broadcast directed toward that country. She also plays the flute and piccolo with the orchestra and band, and is pianist for the Morton choir, directed by C. H. Kickert, and with the Girls' String Quintet.

Harry Brabec will play a marimba solo, Von Weber's Polonaise Brillante, and Miss Marie Marek will play a violincello solo, Goltermann's Concerto IV. The band and orchestra include many talented young musicians who have appeared as concert soloists. Many graduates, former members of the organizations, are now in service with military bands. Six boys from the Morton music department now are members of the West Point Military Academy band.

The Morton Music club consists of parents and friends of members of the orchestra and band, and has for its officers James Cizek, president; J. R. White, vice president; Mrs. F. V. Sterns, secretary, and R. J. Robertson, treasurer.

On the afternoon of Sunday, March 12, the orchestra will accompany the Czech pianist, Rudolph Firkusny, who will give a concert in the Morton auditorium.

PROVISO BAND CONCERT TO BE HEARD SUNDAY

90 Student Ensemble in Second Program.

Proviso High school's 90 piece band under direction of J. Irving Tallmadge will present its second concert of the current season at 3:15 o'clock next Sunday afternoon in the Proviso auditorium at Maywood.

Following teh presentation of colors and the national anthem, the concert will open with the "British Eighth" march by Sgt. Chester Osborne of the United States army. The second number will be the famous tone poem, "Finlandia," by Sibelius.

A saxophone solo, "Fantasia on Faust Waltzes," by Milhaud will be played by Robert Bullard, and a brass sextet will play "Rain," written by Director Tallmadge.

Band numbers will include "March from the Love of the Three Oranges" by the contemporary Russian composer, Prokolieff, and the orchestral fairy tale, "Peter and the Wolf," with Manley W. Immel of Proviso's speech department as narrator. The second group of band numbers will conclude with "Here We Come Thru the Rainbow," by Stolz.

"Fountains at Dawn" will be played by a clarinet quartet, and a flute and clarinet ensemble will play Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

The entire band will return to play "The Nation's Prayer" and a concert band arrangement of the "Andante Cantabile" from Tschaikowsky's Fifth symphony. There will be a cornet trio, "Three of Us," and the program will conclude with the march, "Marching Along" and baton twirling by Proviso's sister team of majorets, Elaine, Priscilla, and Leonore Wild.

CITIZENS OF AIR HOUR TO HONOR ST. CHARLES HIGH

West Suburban Pupils on W-G-N Sunday.

St. Charles High school will be honored on the Citizens of Tomorrow program to be broadcast at 1:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon on W-G-N. Philip Maxwell, the show's master of ceremonies and known as the "principal of the air," will conduct a rehearsal of the 126th program of the series at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at the school, and the show will be recorded at 2 o'clock Wednesday.

Honored on today's broadcast at 1:30 p. m. will be Belvidere High school.

Miss Barbara Wittman, 17, a senior honor roll student at St. Charles will be interviewed on the program next Sunday. Miss Wittman is No. 1 honor roll student at the school and has demonstrated ability as a writer. Tribute also will be paid to Miss Norma Haddock, honor student and member of the student council of the high school at Carrollton, Ill.

Quotes Letter from Yank.

In his talk on "Write to the Boys," Mr. Maxwell will quote a letter from a service man at the front to Supt. E. R. Sifert of Proviso High school, Maywood.

G. E. Thompson, now completing his 25th year as principal of the St. Charles Community High school and superintendent of the St. Charles elementary schools, will explain how war time is a testing time for the high schools of America.

Nearly 500 boys and girls who have attended the St. Charles High school are now in military service. Seven have made the supreme sacrifice.

Principal Was Naval Officer.

Mr. Thompson was a naval officer on a destroyer at Gibraltar in 1919 when he was offered the superintendent of schools position. He is chairman of the education commission of the American Legion and for 20 years has been president of the Little Seven Athletic conference.

Songs to be sung on the radio program by the high school chorus and the a cappella choir directed by Tabor Kelly will include "Beautiful Savior," arranged by Christiansen, and Fred Waring's "This Is My Country." There will be a solo by Roger Oliver.

First Buildings in 1856.

Prior to 1898 there were two school districts in St. Charles, and the high school occupied the upper floor of the east side school building which was erected in 1856. In 1898 the two districts united and the present Charles H. Haines school was built.

In 1920 the St. Charles Community High school was organized, comprising a territory of approximately 40 square miles. When pupils moved into the new building in 1926 the enrollment was 103. This year the enrollment is 327. St. Charles has maintained a high school of highest accredited standing since 1910.

WEST SUBURBAN TOASTMASTERS NAME OFFICERS

William J. Condon of La Grange recently was elected president of the west suburban chapter of Toastmasters, a branch of Toastmasters International.

Other elected officers of the chapter are Fred A. Denz, Western Springs, vice president; Howard Gorman, Hinsdale, secretary-treasurer; Hugh G. Dugan, Hinsdale, deputy governor, and Charles Field, Western Springs, sergeant at arms.

Membership of the club is made of residents of Brookfield, Riverside, La Grange, Western Springs, Hinsdale, Clarendon Hills and Downers Grove. Meetings are held at 6:15 o'clock every other Tuesday night in the Hinsdale Community house. Dinner is served and speeches follow.

HELLER TELLS OF BRINGING FUN TO JUNGLE FRONT

Jackie in Foxhole with Randolph Scott.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Little Jackie Heller, radio singer and comedian, who has already spent nine months in South Pacific war areas and expects to stay with the troops "until we march into what will be left of Tokio," has written this desk and given a vivid impression of what entertaining men on the jungle fronts is like.

"At this writing we are the first show ever to go into the front lines in a combat zone," Jackie said. "I wish you could see these men laugh, cheer and go wild during a performance. These kids have had nothing in the way of entertainment except some 16 millimeter class "Z" pictures. Why they don't send out later pictures no one knows, but they don't get them here.

Perform in Mud, Rain.

"These lads won't let you go after a performance. I've never seen such enthusiasm in my 17 years of show business. We have done hundreds of shows in mud up to our ankles or in terrific rain. Many's the time we have done a show from the back of our truck so the rain wouldn't ruin our piano which takes a hell of a beating in this weather.

"We've spent many anxious hours in our rat and land crab infested foxholes. Mr. Tojo makes no distinction between entertainers and the man behind the gun."

Jackie wrote that he and Randolph Scott of the movies were sharing a foxhole.

"For once my being small has its advantages," Heller wrote. "Randolph Scott is 6 feet 3 inches; I am 5 feet 1 inch, so I am the only one in the hole who is comfortable." With Heller in a U. S. O. unit are Lew Parker, late of "Hellzapoppin'," as M. C., and George Finkleberg, once pianist with Bob Crosby.

Finds Morale High.

Heller said that he had met hundreds of boys who remembered his Club Matinee and Breakfast Club radio appearances. Considering the heat, the muck, the monotony of food, the anxiety, said Jackie, "the morale of the men, many of whom have been over here for two years, is very high."

"Most of our food is dehydrated," Jackie wrote. "If fresh vegetables and meats are coming out here, some one is getting them before they reach the areas I've played since leaving Hawaii."

His biggest thrills since leaving home: Seeing a fighter pilot bring down two Jap Zeros in two minutes—"something of a record"—the night after they reached a jungle island, and broadcasting to the United States from Guadalcanal at 3:37 a. m. [local time] last Thanksgiving.

American radio programs sent over in recorded form arrive four months late, said Jackie. They get the news from San Francisco, listen to the latest American dance music as sent out from Tokio. They ignore the propaganda interlardings of "Tokio Rose," the M. C.

Thrill of His Life.

"If she could hear what our men say about her comments she'd blush right thru the microphone and never go on the air again."

Concluding, Jackie said: "It's not pleasant to be in one of these stinking holes and wonder whether one of those eggs from above has your name on it. . . . But entertaining these men has been the greatest thrill of my life and I wouldn't have missed this trip for anything in the world. I've made countless new friends—and that money can't buy. I am ready to stay out here until we march into what will be left of Tokio."

MALCUZYNSKI TO BE GUEST OF PHILHARMONIC

Witold Malcuzynski, noted pianist, will make a guest appearance with the New York Philharmonic orchestra during its program at 2 p. m. today over WBBM-CBS. Malcuzynski is scheduled to play Chopin's Concerto No. 2 in F minor.

Under the direction of Dr. Artur Rodzinski, the orchestra will offer Brahms' Fourth Symphony in E minor.

During the intermission, Carl Van Doren will present another chapter of the American Scriptures. This feature was named the outstanding program series in 1943 by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

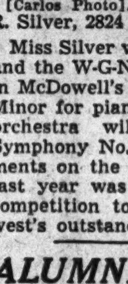
Bride of Army Cadet

[Deutch Photo.]

Mrs. Sol Schachtman, the former Ruth Pollack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Pollack, 2917 24th st., is residing with her husband in Moscow, Idaho. Cadet Schachtman is an army air cadet at the University of Idaho in Moscow.

CAROL SILVER GUEST PIANIST ON AIR THEATER

Carol Silver, young Chicago pianist, will make her first appearance over W-G-N Mutual as guest soloist on the Chicago Theater of the Air Symphony hour from 11 p. m. to midnight tomorrow. Miss Silver, who is 19, made her New York debut in Town Hall on Feb. 12. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul R. Silver, 2824 Jarvis av.



CAROL SILVER.

Miss Silver will join Henry Weber and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra in McDowell's second concerto in D Minor for piano and orchestra. The orchestra will play Beethoven's Symphony No. 4. Mr. Weber comments on the program. Miss Silver last year was named winner in a competition to determine the midwest's outstanding young pianist.

ALUMNAE OF ST. MARY'S HIGH TO HOLD RETREAT

Alumnae of St. Mary's High school will hold their annual day of recollection at 1:30 p. m. next Sunday in the school, 1031 S. Hoyne av. The Rev. J. E. Shevlin, chaplain at Columbus hospital, 2548 Lake View av., will speak.

Members of the program committee are Miss Kay Condon and Miss Eleanor Condon, both of Cicero; Miss Irene Lavin, 4927 Adams st.; Miss Magdalene Kessie, 326 S. Leavitt st., and Miss Alice Hartney, 7656 S. Aberdeen st.

Father Shevlin was ordained in 1928. Previous to his work at Columbus hospital he was chaplain at the Oak Park hospital. He is a member of the Diocesan Marriage court, local chaplain of the Serra club, and chaplain of the Catholic Dentists of Chicago.

Chicago Commons Head Talks at Oak Park Church

Miss Leah Taylor, head resident of the Chicago Commons, will address the annual luncheon of the Lutheran Deaconess Day nursery at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon in United Lutheran church, Oak Park. Children of the nursery also will take part in the program. Mrs. Lillian Loderhose, president of the nursery board, will preside.

'MARITZA' NEXT OPERETTA FOR THEATER OF AIR

The Chicago Theater of the Air cast of 100 will return to W-G-N's main audience studio next Saturday night to present Emmerich Kalman's operetta, "The Countess Maritza." The performance will be broadcast on W-G-N, WGNB, and the coast-to-coast Mutual network from 8 to 9 p. m.

Marion Claire will be starred in the title role. Igor Gorin, baritone star of radio, movies, and the concert stage, will sing the role of Count Tassilo.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

The music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra under Henry Weber and a chorus coached by Robert Trendler. Jack La Frandre, writer-director of the series, will produce the show.

MARY SMALL IS STAR OF SHOW STARTING TODAY

Songstress Mary Small, now in her twenties and a 10 year veteran of radio, will head her own show starting today. Titled The Mary Small Revue, the program will be aired at 4 p. m. on Sundays over WENR Blue. Music for the new show will be provided by Ray Block's orchestra. Sunny Skylar will do the vocalizing. Fred Uttal will act as master of ceremonies. Her guest for today is to be Walter O'Keefe, radio comedian.

Engineer Will Address Wheaton Theosophists

Joseph N. Hadjisky will speak on "The Threefold Nature of Reality" at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the headquarters of the Theosophical Society in America, Wheaton. Mr. Hadjisky is a graduate from the department of engineering at the University of Michigan. After the lecture, Leon G. Kirkpatrick will give a piano recital. Tea will be served.

COAST GUARD COVERS WATER FRONT IN WAR

BY JOHN THOMSON.

One of the least known phases of the American war program passed another milestone last week as the coast guard observed the second anniversary of its enforcement of port security in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The coast guard base at Chicago, on one of the largest inland fresh water lakes in the world, is responsible under the program for the security of the area between Michigan City and Waukegan, and as far south as Seneca on the Illinois river. The area comprises the nation's greatest war production district.

Varied List of Duties.

Under Comdr. P. G. Patterson, captain of the port of Chicago, the coast guard boards and checks each vessel entering or leaving the port; guards new navy ships on Lake Michigan and on the Illinois river as far as Peoria; maintains a water front and river patrol 24 hours a day; guards the loading of explosives; enforces navigation laws, and enforces on water fronts and adjoining navigable waters all laws and regulations of any federal agency.

Fireboats on the water front and navigable rivers are alert at all hours to put out fires under their jurisdiction and to answer calls for help from city fire departments along the water fronts.

The coast guard's floating base on the Chicago river at North av. is typical of the river patrol that is maintained. An 80 foot, 57 ton converted pleasure craft houses coast guardsmen under Chief Mate Gordon E. Riley, who directs the maintenance of the ship and other government ships at the base, and issues orders for patroling the north and south branches of the river as far north as Addison st. and as far south as California av. The patrol goes beyond these limits on request.

Reservists Lend Aid.

Temporary reservists aid the regular coast guard in maintaining the patrol from the floating base. They put out brush and rubbish fires along the river banks, remove logs and other debris that might prove a menace to navigation, chase suspicious characters away from the river or from business or industrial plants along the river, tip up loose barges, and maintain a constant surveillance of the river.

"The schedules and crews are irregular, so that no one can count on a patrol boat not being along at any time," said Chief Riley. "A lot of people who might be inclined to sabotage are deterred just by the knowledge that the coast guard might be just around the corner keeping an eye on them."

When the ice clears from the mouth of the river in the spring the ship used as a floating base goes on lake duty and the patrol headquarters is moved to the old Chicago anchorage south of Navy pier. In winter months a coast guard cutter breaks ice for the patrol and for other coast guard and navy vessels.

Secure Ships Against Damage.

A large number of the ships built in Chicagoland shipyards are taken down the inland waterway to the Mississippi and into the Gulf of Mexico, and the coast guard must secure all ships against damage or sabotage.

Loading of explosives is of minor importance in port security work in this district, but the coast guard provides a guard at the few places where they are loaded. With many private ships carrying valuable war cargoes, the coast guard is often called on to furnish security watches for the ships while they are in port.

Because of its port security enforcement, the coast guard claims its share of the credit for prevention of calamities such as the Black Tom explosion of World War I., and cites the drop in waterfront fire damage, despite greatly increased shipping activities, as resulting from the security program.

Checking the identity of incoming and outgoing ships and examining the ships and cargoes is one of the biggest tasks under port security. The coast guard has logged many thousand vessels, government ships as well as private craft, on their outgoing and return trips at Chicago.

Issue 20,000 Boat Licenses.

In the Chicago area alone the coast guard has issued nearly 60,000 identification cards and more than 20,000 boat licenses since it took over port security. No one can enter navy, coast guard, or private grounds in war production along the waterfront without proper orders or identification. The temporary reserve, which in the Chicago district numbers 1,865 persons who serve 12 hours a week, is used extensively at guard posts and relieve younger men for sea duty. The coast guard estimates it takes five reservists to replace one regular man.

Rain, snow, or sunshine, fair weather or foul, the coast guard plugs away with unrelenting persistence at port security. It may not be as adventurous or as glamorous as some of the other jobs to be done, but it is a necessary one, and the coast guard is doing it quietly and efficiently.

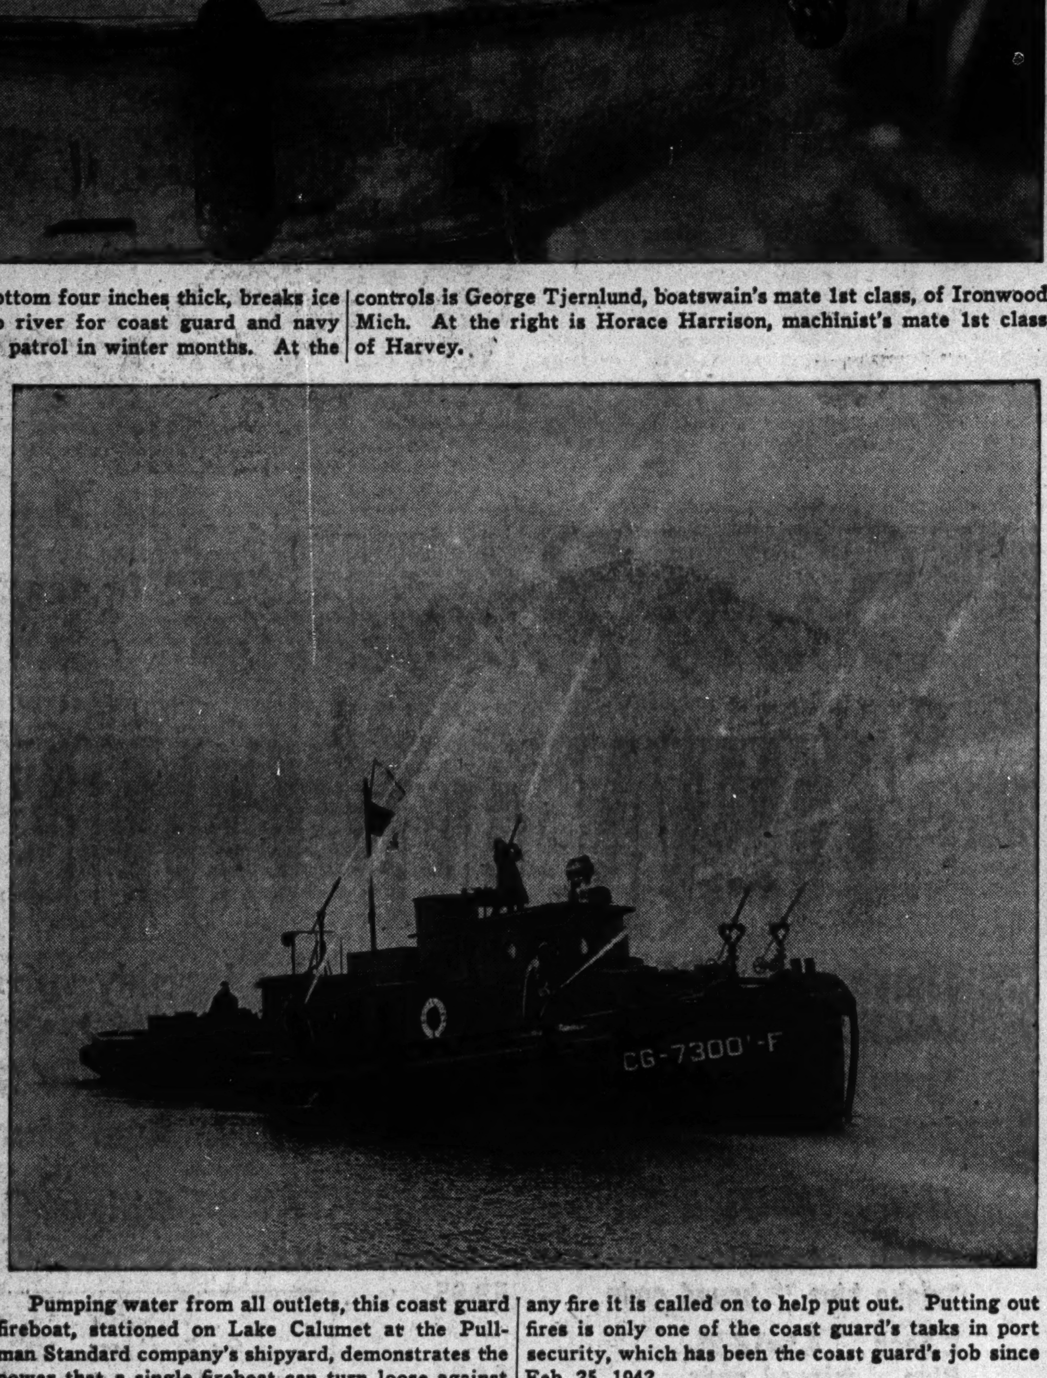
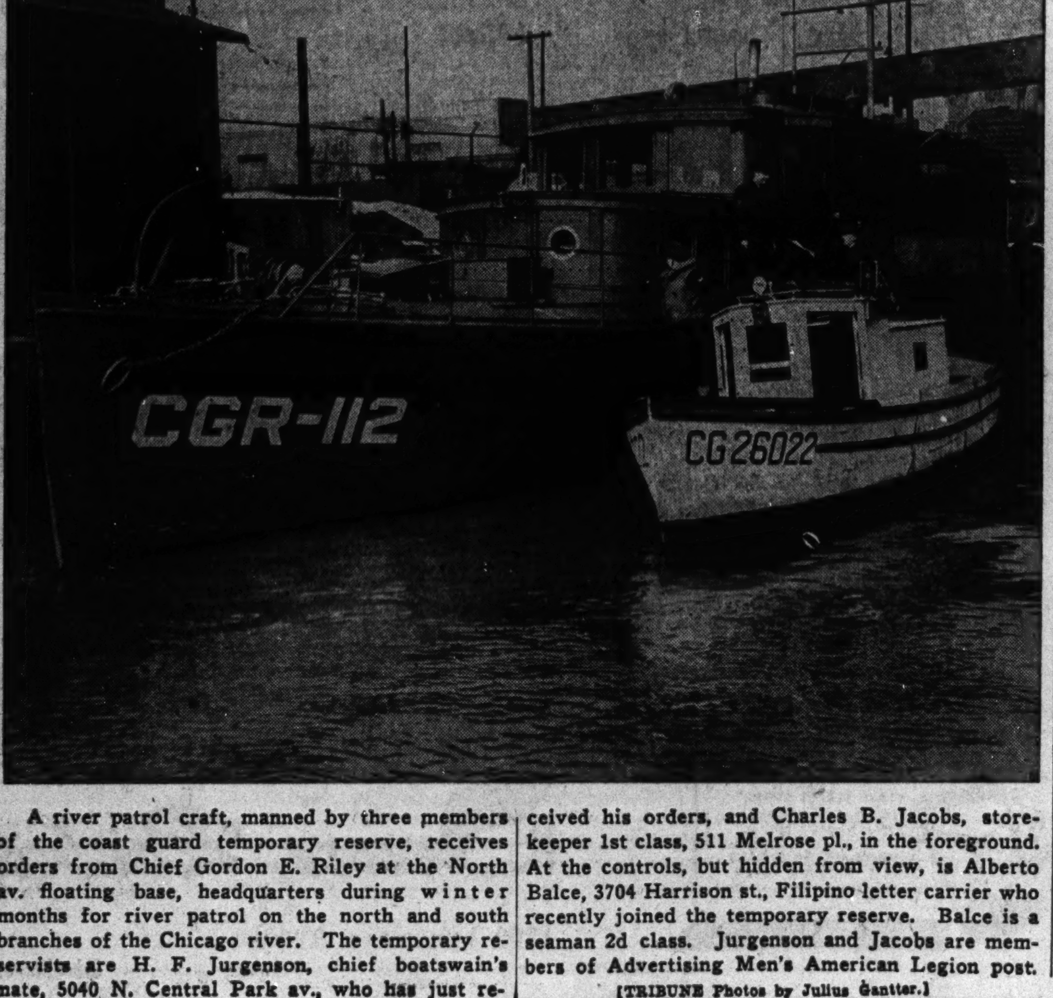
Swabbing down one of the 83 foot sub busters docked at the patrol base at the entrance to the Chicago river are three members of the coast guard. The sub busters saw action in the Atlantic before being brought to Lake Michigan to serve as escorts for the aircraft carriers. When the escorts are icebound the ice breaker opens the way for them into open water.



Pumping water from all outlets, this coast guard fireboat, stationed on Lake Calumet at the Pullman Standard company's shipyard, demonstrates the power that a single fireboat can turn loose against any fire it is called on to help put out. Putting out fires is only one of the coast guard's tasks in port security, which has been the coast guard's job since Feb. 25, 1942.



A river patrol craft, manned by three members of the coast guard temporary reserve, receives orders from Chief Gordon E. Riley at the North av. floating base, headquarters during winter months for river patrol on the north and south branches of the Chicago river. The temporary reservists are H. F. Jurgenson, chief boatswain's mate, 5040 N. Central Park av., who has just received his orders, and Charles B. Jacobs, storekeeper 1st class, 511 Melrose pl., in the foreground. At the controls, but hidden from view, is Alberto Balce, 3704 Harrison st., Filipino letter carrier who recently joined the temporary reserve. Balce is a seaman 2d class. Jurgenson and Jacobs are members of Advertising Men's American Legion post.

LUTHERANS OPEN LENTEN VESPER SERIES TODAY

Logan Square Church to Give Recitals.

The annual series of twilight Lenten devotions and sacred recitals will begin today at Christ Lutheran church of Logan Square, Richmond st. and McLean av. A series of four devotions, featuring sacred recitals presented by choral groups, coupled with Lenten messages by visiting clergymen, will constitute the program for the vespers, to be held at 4 o'clock each Sunday afternoon thru March 19.

Today's program will feature a sacred recital by the children's a cappella choir of Tabor Lutheran church, Sunnyside and Drake avs., with John G. Rieck as director. The Lenten message will be delivered by Chaplain Martin Yauk of the army, now stationed at Camp Grant. Chaplain Yauk will speak on "What the Cross Says About Sacrifice."

Talk by Norwood Park Pastor.

The service next Sunday will feature the Treble Clef choir of Messiah Lutheran church, directed by Harold Wukasch. The Lenten message will be given by the Rev. George Luecke, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran church of Norwood Park.

The Euphonia choir of Christ Lutheran church will sing at the third of the series, March 12. This choir is directed by Reinhold Arkebauer. The Rev. Armin C. Oldsen, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church of Valparaiso, Ind., will be the speaker.

To Hear Milwaukee Choir.

The Music guild of Christ church is presenting the Lutheran a cappella choir of Milwaukee, under direction of Hugo Gehrke, in a recital for the concluding twilight vesper of the season, on March 19. The Rev. Otto Theiss, of the International Walther league, will speak.

Christ church also is conducting a series of Lenten services each Wednesday night. A portion of each service is devoted to prayer for the nation and the men in the services. The Rev. Walter G. Dippold is pastor of the church, and E. J. Scheibert is his assistant.

TAFT STUDENTS WILL HOLD OWN TOWN MEETING

Taft High school has been selected as the first school in the midwest to stage a junior town meeting, it was announced by Kenneth A. Osbon, history teacher at the school. The meeting will be held Friday and the topic will be: "Shall there be compulsory military training for 18 year old boys in the post-war period?"

Osbon has been conducting town meeting classes for the last two years. Last April Taft sent as lead-off speaker to a New York broadcast, James Concannon, 17, 6690 Northwest highway, who now is an air training student in college.

Taft's speakers Friday will be: Robert Forney, 17, 6910 Olcott av.; Marjorie Bigler, 16, 3955 N. Lamon av.; Marion Doemland, 17, 6713 Olympia av., and Richard Femmel,

Elmwood Park Club Plans St. Patrick's Day Dinner

The Women's Democratic organization of Elmwood Park has completed plans for its annual St. Patrick's day dinner party, to be held Friday, March 17, at the Casa Nova restaurant. In addition to the traditional "Maggie and Jiggs" corned beef and cabbage dinner, a complete smorgasbord buffet will be served. Special guest will be John A. Cullerton, Leyden township Democratic committeeman and president of Elmwood Park. Mrs. Lottie McLean has been named general chairman of the event, and will be assisted by Mrs. Jeanette Gunderson. Walter Grubbe will be master of ceremonies.

Edgebrook Kiwanis Club Plans Ladies' Night Show

Edgebrook Kiwanians will entertain at Ladies' Night, with dinner and a movie program at the Edgebrook clubhouse on Wednesday evening, March 8. The two sound and color films to be shown are "Loaded for War" and "Tank Destroyers." Harley W. McGee is president, and Albert Bryan program chairman of the Kiwanis club of Edgebrook.

PLAN CAMPAIGN FRIDAY TO GET BIGGER SUPPLY

Seek Co-Operation of Teachers.

Friday will be Waste Paper day for the 113,000 students in Chicago's 39 public high schools. Working as a team, Chicago's high school boys and girls hope to collect 350 tons in the all-out one day drive.

The paper will be carried to the schools Friday morning in 12 to 15 inch bundles, tied securely with rope, and collected later in the day by trucks furnished by the Chicago waste paper salvage committee.

This will be the first organized drive the schools have sponsored since the city-wide paper campaign was intensified a few weeks ago, William L. McFetridge, general chairman of the salvage committee, announced.

Seek Teacher Coöperation.

Last week George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, addressed bulletins to the principals of the schools, asking coöperation from them and 4,000 teachers and other school employes in the drive. On Tuesday the salvage committee's "flying squadron" of speakers will visit each school and explain details of the drive to the pupils. The speakers are under the direction of Joseph Marcus.

Payment for paper collected Friday will be made to the individual schools and will be used for their own activities.

Details Worked Out.

Details of collecting the paper have been worked out by John R. Robinson, representative of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, the group which reorganized the waste paper drive a few weeks ago to intensify the campaign for the duration.

Altho Friday's will be the first organized campaign the schools have attempted together, regular collections have been made each week at individual schools. Pupils of Chicago's 550 public and parochial elementary schools collected 1,248,124 pounds of waste paper last week, an increase of 400 tons over the preceding weeks, McFetridge said.

Contest Already On.

The collection marked the first week of the five weeks' contest for $1,000 in prizes donated by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association. The contest, which gives American flags to the nine leading public schools, campaign ribbons to the winners in each public school in the city, and cash prizes to the parochial schools, opened Feb. 14 and will continue until March 18.

Parochial schools showed high figures, McFetridge said, collecting a total of 641,500 pounds of paper during the week. This has been credited in part to the drive in all Catholic churches, started 10 days ago, to bring out waste paper collected in homes which do not have a pupil in either public or parochial schools.

Leads Parochial Schools.

The parochial school leading in the drive is St. Joseph school, 8801 Marquette av., with an average of 49.42 pounds of paper collected by each pupil.

Northwest side parochial schools, with the average collection per pupil, include: St. Francis Xavier, 3043 N. Francisco av., 26.19; St. John Boxco, 2245 N. McVicker av., 23.42; Holy Innocents, 1447 Superior st., 23.34; St. Viator, 4150 Addison st., 16.75, and St. Stephen, 516 N. Peoria st., 14.59.

Don C. Rogers, assistant superintendent in charge of public elementary schools, has announced the leading schools in each district, with the total collections and the per capita figures. He shows 596,624 pounds of paper collected and sold to dealers, with the receipts going to the selling school for its school activity fund.

N. W. Schools in Lead.

Northwest side schools on the list are:

District 1, 97,936 pounds. Leading school, Portage Park, 5530 Berteau av., Margaret Urquhart, principal; collected 9,200 pounds, or 10.5 pounds per pupil.

District 2, 87,304 pounds. Leading school, Falconer, 3000 N. Lamon av., Paul T. Wallgren, principal; collected 8,000 pounds, or 10.1 pounds per pupil.

District 3, 64,538 pounds. Leading school, Mozart, 2200 N. Hamlin av., Charles P. Saunders, principal; collected 7,083 pounds or 11.4 pounds per pupil.

The setup at Tuley High school, 1313 N. Claremont av., is under direction of the commander of the school's American Junior army, Frank Arndt. He is assisted by Bebe Berenson.

Appoint Lieutenants.

Each of the 85 division rooms in the school is headed by a lieutenant, whose responsibility it is to see that his division brings in between 200 and 500 pounds of paper during the drive. War co-ordinator for the school is Joseph F. Smidl, and Miss Hazel L. Stillman is principal. For the last three months the school has averaged 6,000 pounds a month, with money received from the paper going toward the school's war honor roll plaque.

Von Steuben High school's paper drive is in charge of the sophomore class, headed by a committee which includes Norma Begoon, chairman, Marian Resnick, Charlene Schneider,

ONE CANDLE OR 4? A POSER FOR THESE CHILDREN

Leap Year Babes Come Into Their Own.

They will be four years old on Tuesday but each of their birthday cakes will bear one candle, for Tuesday will be the first real birthday of these northwest side children who were born leap year day, 1940.

Arthur Raymond Michaely, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Michaely, 5233 Foster av., has been looking forward to his birthday since the first of February. Every morning, when he wakes up, his first question is: "Is this my birthcake?" The "sheik of the family," Arthur has blond hair, blue eyes, and long blond eyelashes. His birthday celebration will include a party with his playmates from the Forest Glen Methodist Sunday school as guests, and a movie, the second one he has eer seen.

Arthur has two brothers, Charles, 7, and Billy, 1, and a sister, Sandra, 2.

A Double Celebration.

This will be the first real birthday celebration for Gail Patricia Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Lewis, 2842 N. 77th ct., Elmwood Park. In the last three years Gail has celebrated on Feb. 28, but this year there will be a party, with her eight cousins as guests. It will really be a double celebration, for Gail's baby sister, Jacqueline, will be 5 months old Tuesday.

Marianne Komin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Komin, 2620 N. St. Louis av., doesn't quite understand why she's never had a birthday before, but she does know that there is to be a big party this year, with favors and a birthday cake to be divided among the children she will invite. Marianne has a brother, Edward, 6 years old.

Not Today—It's Tuesday.

"Is this my happy birthday?" is the question Roberta Willers has been asking her mother, Mrs. Robert Willers, 7 Columbia av., Park Ridge, every morning for the last few weeks. Roberta's first birthday will be marked by a party for the neighbor children, altho she has had smaller celebrations the past three years on March 1. Roberta's twin died at birth. She has one sister, Norene, now a year old.

Red haired Billy Levy will play host to 20 neighborhood children at his first birthday party Tuesday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levy, 3208 Sunnyside av. There will be a big birthday cake, decorated with a Mickey Mouse and "Happy Birthday to Billy." For several years Billy did modeling for commercial photographers, but his mother declares he has become bored with that, so they have given it up. He has a sister, Arlene, 7.

Every Cake a Birthday Cake!

Melvin Howard DeGraff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam DeGraff, 4720 N. Springfield av., is definitely the baby in his family, for his brother Irwin is 18 and his sister Shirley 15. Every cake the family has is a birthday cake so far as Melvin is concerned, and each must be decorated with candles so that he can blow them out. His parents have planned a special birthday party for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wrobel, 3349 N. Laramie av., have planned a family gathering, to be held today, in honor of their leap year son, Norbert. "Norbie," an only child, has had minor celebrations on Feb. 28 the past three years, but this promises to be a major celebration, complete with a huge cake bearing one candle.

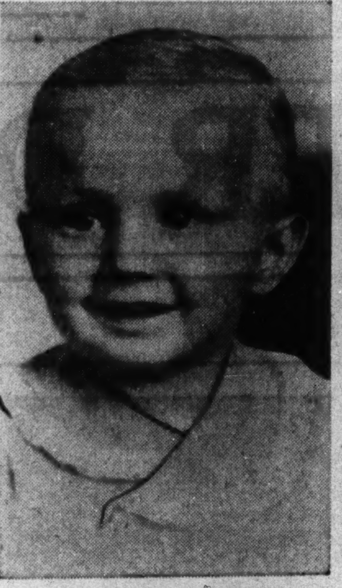
11 N. W. SIDE MEN RECEIVE ENSIGN RATINGS AT N. U.

Eleven northwest side residents were among the 155 members of Northwestern university's naval R. O. T. C. who received commissions yesterday at exercises on the Evanston campus. They were sworn in as ensigns in the United States naval reserve by Capt. Andrew D. Denney, commanding officer of navy units at Northwestern.

The new officers from this area include Herbert E. Hanson, 2749 N. St. Louis av.; William J. Henke, 5662 N. Neva av.; Ward J. Jenssen, 3955 N. Lamon av.; Frederick T. Johnson, 5329 Belle Plaine av., and Robert H. Mueller, 2819 N. Lowell.

Also Robert W. Schoffer, 6119 Navarre av.; Wesley A. Tennyson, 5436 Cullom av.; Lee F. Shrader Jr., Elmwood Park; and Ernest C. Lockwood Jr., Donald E. Gall, and John L. Conley of Park Ridge.

4 Year Olds Near First Birthday



Melvin Howard De Graff.

Marianne Komin.

Tuesday will be the first birthday of Melvin Howard De Graff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam De Graff, 4720 N. Springfield av., but he will be four years old on that day. One of several northwest side children born on Leap Year day in 1940, "Melv" will be having his first real birthday party on Tuesday. Marianne Komin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Komin, 2620 N. St. Louis av., is another Leap Year baby on the northwest side who will be having a cake with only one candle this year, tho she is really four years old.

YANK WILL MARK SIXTH BIRTHDAY ON ITALY FRONT

Feb. 29's Too Rare to Miss Celebration.

Sgt. Raymond L. Enzenbacher, 2025 N. Lawler av., will celebrate his 6th birthday on Tuesday. Altho he is not the youngest member of the bomb loading crew with which he is serving in Italy, he has had fewer birthdays than any of his buddies.

Sgt. Enzenbacher.

Born Feb. 29, 1920, he is not going to let even a World war interfere with one of his infrequent birthdays. "I don't know where I'll be when Feb. 29 rolls around," he told his mother in his last letter, "but wherever I am I'm going to take time out to celebrate."

Got Marbles, Guns in '40.

On his last birthday, in 1940, friends marked the occasion by a party at which they presented him with marbles, pop guns, jumping ropes, fire engines, and other toys appropriate to a fifth birthday. This year a round robin of greetings, signed by scores of his friends, is on its way across the Atlantic.

Raymond, who has been overseas for the last two years, wears five gold stars on his campaign ribbon signifying the five major engagements in which he has participated. A graduate of Steinmetz High school, he worked for the Eastman Kodak company before his induction in December, 1941.

Four Brothers Serve.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Enzenbacher of the Lawler avenue address, he has four brothers in service. Three of them are serving overseas. His oldest brother Andrew, an army corporal in the Fiji Islands, is a veteran of Guadalcanal. Lt. Albert Enzenbacher, second oldest, is a pilot in the army air corps at Victorville, Cal.

Raymond's two younger brothers are Robert, a corporal serving with a chemical maintenance unit in England, and Le Roy, a private stationed in Oklahoma. He has one sister, Gertrude, who works in the filing department of an insurance exchange company.

Northwest Side Woman Gives Blood for 10th Time

Among the recent visitors to the Red Cross Blood Donor service, 5 N. Wabash av., were four northwest side residents: Mrs. Helen Jones, 2815 N. Springfield av., 10th donation; Mrs. Lillian Budnick, 2502 N. Ridgeway av., ninth donation; Mrs. Ella Lee, 2627 N. Ridgeway av., fourth donation, and Mrs. Alice Retermann, 3845 Altgeld st., third donation.

WILLIAM TARNOWS MARK 50TH WEDDING AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

When Mr. and Mrs. William Tarnow celebrated their golden wedding recently, a party attended by numerous friends and relatives was given in their honor by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Shaughnessy, 4133 N. Hamlin av.

Mrs. Tarnow.

William Tarnow.

Mr. Tarnow, a native Chicagoan, is 71. His wife, Helene, was born in Germany 68 years ago. They were married in Chicago in February, 1894.

Twelve years ago Mr. Tarnow retired from the International Harvester company, where he had worked for 46 years. During the winter months the Tarnows make their home with their daughter and son-in-law at the Hamlin av. address. The remainder of the year they spend at their own home at McCollums' lake, McHenry county.

Wins Flying Cross.

The distinguished flying cross has been awarded to Sgt. Chester M. Stan, 2242 N. Neva av., a radio operator with a troop carrier unit in New Guinea.

4 N.W. LEGION POSTS TO HOLD PUBLIC RALLY

Induct 50 New Vets Tomorrow Night.

Four northwest side American Legion posts will combine in an open meeting at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the Logan Square Masonic temple. Participating units will be the Logan Square, Lafayette, Kosciuszko, and Fischer-Swanson posts.

Invitations have been extended to members of all business men's organizations in the area, to priests, ministers, and rabbis, principals of elementary and high schools, parent-teacher associations, members of Masonic lodges, Knights of Columbus councils, staffs of the local branches of the OCD, Kiwanis and Lions clubs, and political organizations in the community. Relatives of men in service are urged to attend.

Joseph Hind will be master of ceremonies. Massed colors of the posts participating will be presented and posted by uniformed Legionnaires under direction of Arthur Engler, 9th district sergeant at arms.

Recite Constitution Preamble.

Arthur Bielan and Joseph Murrin will lead in singing "The Star-Spangled Banner," after which Robert Roberts, chaplain, will pronounce the invocation and Harry Thielsen will lead the assembly in recitation of the preamble to the Constitution.

Boy Scouts in uniform, from troops sponsored by the Legion, will act as ushers. Later in the program they will present a 10 minute skit.

Lawrence J. Fenlon, past commander of the Cook county council, will speak on Legion sponsored legislation for the benefit of men now in service and of veterans of the present war. Fifty veterans of this war will be inducted into the Legion by the ritual team of Gen. George Bell Jr. post.

Plan Program of Music.

Music will be supplied by the Logan Square drum and bugle corps and that sponsored by the Kosciuszko post. The Norwegian Bjornsen choir will sing several numbers.

Gold star citations will be presented to the nearest relatives of six men who have given their lives in this war. Presentation will be made by Charles V. Falkenberg.

Heading the committee on arrangements, Hind will be assisted by Fred Peper, Charles V. Falkenberg, Frank Fleming, Frank W. Olsen, Harry Fish, Frank Kuflewski, Phil S. Skweres, George Kozy, Henry Theilsen, Joseph Hopsicker, Phil Kolby, Gotfried Pernan, and Charles P. Lidd.

N. W. MEN WIN HONORS IN S. W. PACIFIC AREAS

Play Large Part in Yank Victories.

Achievements of northwest side service men helped to make 1943 a record year in the Southwest Pacific, it is shown by a resume of last year's victories.

Among those decorated was Lt. William J. Bomicino, 1248 N. Campbell av., who was awarded the distinguished flying cross for heroic action on a flight to Wewak in which he engaged in a running battle with Jap Zero planes. Lt. Bomicino was in one of the ships of a two plane armed reconnaissance flight that spotted a Japanese convoy and prepared to attack.

400 Bullets Riddle Plane.

Zeros protecting the convoy swarmed down on the American Liberators, riddling Lt. Bomicino's plane with 400 bullets. One engine was knocked out, and two more were damaged, the rear turret and radio knocked out, and one aileron destroyed. The plane got back to the base, however, after downing four of the attacking Zeros. Later the crew bagged two enemy planes at Madang.

Others given citations included Pvt. Robert V. Mohlman, 1018 N. Wood st., who plunged into a flooded stream in New Guinea to save a comrade from drowning.

Wins Legion of Merit.

The legion of merit was conferred on Capt. Frederick E. Langlotz, 4914 Wolfram st., who perfected a method for analyzing the effectiveness of bombing missions. A similar award was given to Sgt. Gerald K. Sperling, 2914 N. Spaulding av., for his ability in laying out storage areas for three million rations in New Guinea.

Sgt. Alfred T. Davis, 1133 N. Karlov av., won the air medal and Sgt. Curtis E. Guill of Franklin Park won the distinguished flying cross for his conduct during an enemy encounter in which three Jap planes were destroyed.

MIDWEST PTA COUNCIL PLANS SPRING SESSION

Associations Will Meet in Barry School March 6.

Midwest council of the Parent-Teacher association will have its annual spring conference at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, March 6, at the Barry school, 2828 N. Kilbourn av. This will be a half day conference. The ode to the flag will be given by Mrs. Edward Hientzelmeier, and Mrs. Fred Marcotte will lead the assembly in the national anthem. Greetings will be given by Miss Josephine Liska, principal of Barry school, and the response will be made by Mrs. Joseph Flesch, president of Midwest council.

Mrs. W. Thornton Foreman, director of district 23, will speak and district representatives will be introduced. Council chairmen will make brief reports, as will local unit presidents. The nominating committee, comprised of Mrs. Peter Johnson, Mrs. William Ewing, Mrs. Edward Bruneau, Mrs. Arnold Larsen, and Mrs. W. J. Troedson, will present their report. Following the election, Mrs. F. E. Roberts will install the new officers.

Scammon—The Scammon PTA will meet at 1:15 p. m. Thursday in the school auditorium, 4201 Henderson st. Mrs. John Lehwald, chairman of the nominating committee, will make a report and the election of officers will follow. Mrs. Bessie A. Specht, supervisor of the physical education department of the board of education, will speak on "Out of School Recreation."

Miss Vivien Jaeger, supervisor of Kilbourn park, will have an exhibit of handicraft, knitting, and other work which Scammon students do at the park in their leisure time. A social hour will follow the meeting.

Farnsworth—Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of the Peoples church of Chicago, will address the Farnsworth PTA at 7:30 p. m. Friday, March 10, in the school auditorium, Linder and Balmoral avs. His subject will be "What Youth Can Do." Mrs. Robert M. Spears, 5253 N. Lind av., ways and means chairman, is in charge of arrangements and ticket sales.

Bateman—The homemaking group of Bateman PTA will meet at 1:15 p. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Maurice Baron, 4124 N. Whipple st. There will be a cooking demonstration.

Smyser—A cooking demonstration, arranged by Mrs. K. M. Becker, will be held at the meeting of the Smyser PTA at 1 p. m. Wednesday in the school. There will also be an exhibit of articles made by the homemaking class, and election of officers.

MAYFAIR CHURCH WILL HEAR RABBI GRAUBART TODAY

Today will mark the annual observance of Brotherhood Sunday at the Mayfair Methodist church, Wilson and Kilpatrick avs. Guest preacher will be Rabbi David Graubart of Congregation B'nai Shalom, 3245 Ainslie st. The Rev. Armand Guerrero, pastor of Mayfair church, spoke last Friday evening in an exchange service at B'nai Shalom.

Beginning on Wednesday, Mayfair church will hold a series of midweek lenten services in the sanctuary. The Rev. Mr. Guerrero will deliver a series of lenten messages on the theme "Personalities Around Jesus," and including John, Peter, Caiaphas, Pilate, Barabbas, and Judas.

The week of dedication for all Methodists will be observed by Mayfair church beginning today. An official board meeting will be held tomorrow, and Men's club meeting will be on Thursday. The spring luncheon has been planned for Monday, March 6.

Paragraphs About People You May Know

IN competition with hundreds of high school and college boys from Illinois, Robert Forney, Taft High school senior, has been awarded appointment to the United States Military academy at West Point, N. Y., by Sen. Brooks. He scored 485 points to achieve first place, a full five points above the next highest contestant. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Forney, 6910 N. Olcott av. He is an R. O. T. C. major and highest ranking officer in that organization, president of the school honor society, chairman of the City of Chicago clean-up campaign in 1943, and has held numerous other posts of importance in school affairs.

Robert Forney.

AN "all-out" family is that of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Eck of Des Plaines. The Ecks' four sons are in the service, Mrs. Eck is in war work, and Mr. Eck is superintendent of the telephone company in the village. The Ecks' oldest son is George F. Jr., 23, boatswain's mate 2d class, who has been in the navy for five years. He has seen service at Tunis, Casablanca, Sicily, and in the Italian campaign, and is still in the Mediterranean area. William, 22, is an ensign in the navy, flying a torpedo plane. Robert, 20, is an army lieutenant, flying a troop transport plane. James, 18, left early this month for the army. Mrs. Eck is employed by the Douglas Aircraft company near Des Plaines. In addition to their active participation in the war, all the Ecks are regular war bond buyers.

William Courtney, 16, 1830 N. Sawyer av., has been selected as president of the 4-A class of Jones Commercial High school. Courtney, an accounting machines major, formerly attended Kelvyn Park High school.

Elmer Neumann, 79 W. Campbell st., Arlington Heights, placed fourth in the zone preliminary for the seventh annual national high school oratorical contest held recently.

HIGH SCHOOLS PLAN ONE DAY PAPER DRIVE

350 Tons Set as Goal for Friday.

Marvin Levy, Gerson Fink, Phyllis Levin, and Sonia Schwartz. Friday has been designated as Magazine day, and each student is to bring at least one magazine, or more magazines and papers if possible. Money from the sale of these will go into the school's annual fund. Miss Marian Shea is principal of the school, which is located at 5039 N. Kimball av.

Four Classes Compete.

Competition between the four classes will mark the scrap paper drive at Schurz High school, 3601 Milwaukee av. Each week of the drive will be directed by one of the classes. When the drive is over, the class with the most successful week will be given as a prize 20 per cent of the profits derived from the collections made during their week. This they may spend as they choose. The remainder of the money goes into school funds. Miss Clara Schmitt is war coördinator for the school, and Albert G. Bauersfeld is principal. Each class has three faculty members sponsoring its part of the campaign. In general charge is the school's clean-up committee, sponsored by Mrs. Eleanor Joyce. The R. O. T. C. will lend active aid to the drive.

As in the last few months, Foreman High school students will continue bringing contributions of paper to their 1st period classes each morning. This paper is weighed in at the R. O. T. C. room, and the class with the highest total just before spring vacation will receive a trophy and a money prize in relation to the amount of paper brought in.

To Buy War Stamps.

This money will be turned into war stamps, to go as individual awards to the members of the winning class. Mrs. Ruth Hoppe, war coördinator for the school, has general charge of the drive. Miss Catherine A. Ryan is principal of Foreman, which is located at 3235 Le Claire av. The R. O. T. C. thus far has been the heaviest contributor to the school drive, as well as aiding in the weekly task of loading the paper collected onto the dealers' trucks.

At Taft High school, 5625 N. Natoma av., students last week took home bulletins urging their parents to coöperate in the school paper salvage campaign. A student committee will check in and weigh contributions on Friday. In charge of the general campaign is the school's cleanup committee, with Leonard Nettnin as chairman, working in coöperation with the school's war coördinator, C. E. Fulmer.

Heads O. C. D. Office.

James J. Kelley has been appointed head of the OCD war man power office at 5306 Lawrence av.

5 YANK MARINES MAKE UP TEAM TO NIP THE NIPS

N.W. Man Helps Bring Tarawa Victory.

As one of five marine privates whose collective quick thinking helped to hasten the victory at Tarawa Pvt. William P. Kulbieda, 862 N. Marshfield av., is an heroic example of the value of American teamwork.

Pvt. William Kulbieda.

For two days during the assault on Tarawa, Pvt. Kulbieda's outfit had been stalled by enemy fire from a large bombproof shelter on the east flank of the Japanese stronghold. Demolition crews were pinned down by heavy machine gun fire from the structure, and many marines were killed.

Marines Turn Tide.

Mortar shells were bursting close to the shallow trenches in which the marines huddled. At this point the concerted action of Pvt. Kulbieda and his four comrades turned the tide against the Japanese.

The marines acted with split-second timing. It might have been a nip and tuck basketball game. But the game was life or death.

Realizing that the enemy fire had to be lifted from the demolition crew so it could advance and place charges, the five men exposed themselves to Jap machine guns. They shifted to a new position from which they could direct their own fire on the Jap shelter. Their first shots were answered immediately.

100 Japs Die in Blast.

During the violent action which followed, the marine demolition group planted its charges, Japanese fire having been drawn from them by the five men. The resulting explosion partially demolished the enemy shelter, killing approximately 100 Japs.

The remainder, estimated at 200, emerged from the main entrance, firing as they came. They were routed by the marines, who followed up their advantage to secure the northeast section of the island.

Name Ship for Clapper.

United States maritime commission officials lately announced the forthcoming launching of a Liberty ship named for Raymond Clapper, Mutual network commentator and newspaper columnist, who lost his life in the Marshall Islands invasion.

HELLER TELLS OF BRINGING FUN TO JUNGLE FRONT

Jackie in Foxhole with Randolph Scott.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Little Jackie Heller, radio singer and comedian, who has already spent nine months in South Pacific war areas and expects to stay with the troops "until we march into what will be left of Tokio," has written this desk and given a vivid impression of what entertaining men on the jungle fronts is like.

"At this writing we are the first show ever to go into the front lines in a combat zone," Jackie said. "I wish you could see these men laugh, cheer and go wild during a performance. These kids have had nothing in the way of entertainment except some 16 millimeter class "Z" pictures. Why they don't send out later pictures no one knows, but they don't get them here.

Perform in Mud, Rain.

"These lads won't let you go after a performance. I've never seen such enthusiasm in my 17 years of show business. We have done hundreds of shows in mud up to our ankles or in terrific rain. Many's the time we have done a show from the back of our truck so the rain wouldn't ruin our piano which takes a hell of a beating in this weather.

"We've spent many anxious hours in our rat and land crab infested foxholes. Mr. Tojo makes no distinction between entertainers and the man behind the gun."

Jackie wrote that he and Randolph Scott of the movies were sharing a foxhole.

"For once my being small has its advantages," Heller wrote. "Randolph Scott is 6 feet 3 inches; I am 5 feet 1 inch, so I am the only one in the hole who is comfortable." With Heller in a U. S. O. unit are Lew Parker, late of "Hellzapoppin'," as M. C., and George Finkleberg, once pianist with Bob Crosby.

Finds Morale High.

Heller said that he had met hundreds of boys who remembered his Club Matinee and Breakfast Club radio appearances. Considering the heat, the muck, the monotony of food, the anxiety, said Jackie, "the morale of the men, many of whom have been over here for two years, is very high."

"Most of our food is dehydrated," Jackie wrote. "If fresh vegetables and meats are coming out here, some one is getting them before they reach the areas I've played since leaving Hawaii."

His biggest thrills since leaving home: Seeing a fighter pilot bring down two Jap Zeros in two minutes —"something of a record"—the night after they reached a jungle island, and broadcasting to the United States from Guadalcanal at 3:37 a. m. [local time] last Thanksgiving.

American radio programs sent over in recorded form arrive four months late, said Jackie. They get the news from San Francisco, listen to the latest American dance music as sent out from Tokio. They ignore the propaganda interlardings of "Tokio Rose," the M. C.

Thrill of His Life.

"If she could hear what our men say about her comments she'd blush right thru the microphone and never go on the air again."

Concluding, Jackie said: "It's not pleasant to be in one of these stinking holes and wonder whether one of those eggs from above has your name on it. . . . But entertaining these men has been the greatest thrill of my life and I wouldn't have missed this trip for anything in the world. I've made countless new friends—and that money can't buy. I am ready to stay out here until we march into what will be left of Tokio."

Bride of Ensign

Mrs. Maurice Harry Stern.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Ann McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Richard McMillan, 5733 Leland avenue, to Ensign Maurice Harry Stern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stern, 1122 North Springfield avenue, took place recently, following Ensign Stern's graduation from Northwestern university. Mrs. Stern is a graduate of Taft High school and attended the Art institute. She will make her home in Miami, Fla., where Ensign Stern will be stationed.

Miss Silver will join Henry Weber and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra in McDowell's second concerto in D Minor for piano and orchestra. The orchestra will play Beethoven's Symphony No. 4. Mr. Weber comments on the program. Miss Silver last year was named winner in a competition to determine the midwest's outstanding young pianist.

MARY SMALL IS STAR OF SHOW STARTING TODAY

Songstress Mary Small, now in her twenties and a 10 year veteran of radio, will head her own show starting today. Titled The Mary Small Revue, the program will be aired at 4 p. m. on Sundays over WENR Blue. Music for the new show will be provided by Ray Block's orchestra. Sunny Skylar will do the vocalizing. Fred Uttal will act as master of ceremonies. Her guest for today is to be Walter O'Keefe, radio comedian.

NBC Symphony Features Works by Brahms, Bach

Compositions by Brahms and Bach will be featured during the NBC Symphony of the Air program at 4 p. m. today over WMAQ-NBC. Leopold Stokowski, who has conducted the symphony orchestra for its winter season, completes his 12 concert stretch as conductor today. Arturo Toscanini will return to head the orchestra March 5.

'MARITZA' NEXT OPERETTA FOR THEATER OF AIR

The Chicago Theater of the Air cast of 100 will return to W-G-N's main audience studio next Saturday night to present Emmerich Kalman's operetta, "The Countess Maritza." The performance will be broadcast on W-G-N, WGNB, and the coast-to-coast Mutual network from 8 to 9 p. m.

Marion Claire will be starred in the title role. Igor Gorin, baritone star of radio, movies, and the concert stage, will sing the role of Count Tassilo.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

The music for the production will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra under Henry Weber and a chorus coached by Robert Trendler. Jack La Frandre, writer-director of the series, will produce the show.

COAST GUARD COVERS WATER FRONT IN WAR

Marks 2d Year of City Port Patrol.

BY JOHN THOMSON.

One of the least known phases of the American war program passed another milestone last week as the coast guard observed the second anniversary of its enforcement of port security in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The coast guard base at Chicago, on one of the largest inland fresh water lakes in the world, is responsible under the program for the security of the area between Michigan City and Waukegan, and as far south as Seneca on the Illinois river. The area comprises the nation's greatest war production district.

Varied List of Duties.

Under Comdr. P. G. Patterson, captain of the port of Chicago, the coast guard boards and checks each vessel entering or leaving the port; guards new navy ships on Lake Michigan and on the Illinois river as far as Peoria; maintains a water front and river patrol 24 hours a day; guards the loading of explosives; enforces navigation laws, and enforces on water fronts and adjoining navigable waters all laws and regulations of any federal agency.

Fireboats on the water front and navigable rivers are alert at all hours to put out fires under their jurisdiction and to answer calls for help from city fire departments along the water fronts.

The coast guard's floating base on the Chicago river at North av. is typical of the river patrol that is maintained. An 80 foot, 57 ton converted pleasure craft houses coast guardsmen under Chief Mate Gordon E. Riley, who directs the maintenance of the ship and other government ships at the base, and issues orders for patroling the north and south branches of the river as far north as Addison st. and as far south as California av. The patrol goes beyond these limits on request.

Reservists Lend Aid.

Temporary reservists aid the regular coast guard in maintaining the patrol from the floating base. They put out brush and rubbish fires along the river banks, remove logs and other debris that might prove a menace to navigation, chase suspicious characters away from the river or from business or industrial plants along the river, tip up loose barges, and maintain a constant surveillance of the river.

"The schedules and crews are irregular, so that no one can count on a patrol boat not being along at any time," said Chief Riley. "A lot of people who might be inclined to sabotage are deterred just by the knowledge that the coast guard might be just around the corner keeping an eye on them."

When the ice clears from the mouth of the river in the spring the ship used as a floating base goes on lake duty and the patrol headquarters is moved to the old Chicago anchorage south of Navy pier. In winter months a coast guard cutter breaks ice for the patrol and for other coast guard and navy vessels.

Secure Ships Against Damage.

A large number of the ships built in Chicagoland shipyards are taken down the inland waterway to the Mississippi and into the Gulf of Mexico, and the coast guard must secure all ships against damage or sabotage.

Loading of explosives is of minor importance in port security work in this district, but the coast guard provides a guard at the few places where they are loaded. With many private ships carrying valuable war cargoes, the coast guard is often called on to furnish security watches for the ships while they are in port.

Because of its port security enforcement, the coast guard claims its share of the credit for prevention of calamities such as the Black Tom explosion of World War I., and cites the drop in waterfront fire damage, despite greatly increased shipping activities, as resulting from the security program.

Checking the identity of incoming and outgoing ships and examining the ships and cargoes is one of the biggest tasks under port security. The coast guard has logged many thousand vessels, government ships as well as private craft, on their outgoing and return trips at Chicago.

Issue 20,000 Boat Licenses.

In the Chicago area alone the coast guard has issued nearly 60,000 identification cards and more than 20,000 boat licenses since it took over port security. No one can enter navy, coast guard, or private grounds in war production along the waterfront without proper orders or identification. The temporary reserve, which in the Chicago district numbers 1,865 persons who serve 12 hours a week, is used extensively at guard posts and relieve younger men for sea duty. The coast guard estimates it takes five reservists to replace one regular man.

Rain, snow, or sunshine, fair weather or foul, the coast guard plugs away with unrelenting persistence at port security. It may not be as adventurous or as glamorous as some of the other jobs to be done, but it is a necessary one, and the coast guard is doing it quietly and efficiently.

Pumping water from all outlets, this coast guard fireboat, stationed on Lake Calumet at the Pullman Standard company's shipyard, demonstrates the power that a single fireboat can turn loose against any fire it is called on to help put out. Putting out fires is only one of the coast guard's tasks in port security, which has been the coast guard's job since Feb. 25, 1942.

PALOS HEIGHTS PLANS LIBRARY OPENING SOON

Results from Civic Co-operation.

Palos Heights expects to have its own library soon as a result of coöperative action by members of the Woman's club and church and community groups.

The closest library is in Blue Island, a distance of six and a half miles, the Woman's club recently was told, and a short time later the club donated $100 to be used primarily for the purchase of juvenile books.

Members of the club and their friends also donated 250 best sellers to the library collection. At present these books are at the home of Mrs. Thomas Erwin, 12143 S. 73d ct., literary chairman of the Woman's club.

Men Proffer Services.

The library, which men of the community have offered to build, will be established in the community house at 12123 71st av. Harwell J. West, 12312 S. 72d ct., has offered to donate all files, cards, and other miscellaneous material needed. He is on the board of trustees of the library and represents the community at large.

Other library trustees are Mrs. Harold Rowley, president, and Mrs. Oscar Trubell and Mrs. Harris Blake, representatives at large, all of the Woman's club; Mrs. C. Boyd Anderson, and Mrs. Richard Rumke, representing the parent-teachers association; Mrs. Ross Sweeney, representing the Community church; Miss Shirley Hamilton, representing the Heigh-Teens, a high school group; Richard Kilner, representing the Community club, and W. J. Brown, representing the community at large.

To Honor Donors.

All library officers, including the librarian, will serve without pay. All books will contain a bookplate with the donor's name, according to Mrs. Erwin.

After the library has been established it is expected that story hours for children, forums for high school students, and adult educational classes will be held.

Palos Heights recently built its own fire department house thru the coöperative efforts of its citizens. The library will be used by approximately 315 families.

BEVERLY HILLS SCHOOL TO BUY SKY AMBULANCE

Students of the Academy of Our Lady, 95th and Throop sts., oversubscribed a fund to purchase a sky ambulance for the services, amassing a total of $120,025. The plane, costing $110,000 is a C-47 Douglas, a type which has proved valuable in transporting wounded from battle areas to hospitals behind the lines.

The academy's total bond purchases so far this year total $186,218. Previously the students purchased enough bonds to buy five landing craft, a jeep, and an amphibious jeep.

Early in 1943, the school purchased a P-51 Mustang plane valued at $75,000, which they named the Spirit of Longwood. In addition $11,000 was contributed to the fund for the purchase of the new cruiser Chicago.

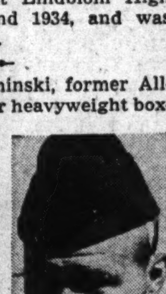
With AMERICA'S FIGHTERS

Pvt. Raymond J. Romac, son of Mrs. Marie Androff, 5536 S. Normandy av., was graduated recently from the flexible gunnery school, Laredo army air field, Laredo, Tex. With his diploma he received his aerial gunner's wings and a promotion.

Raymond J. Romac.

A promotion from technical sergeant to master sergeant was awarded to Robert J. Zelus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Zelus, 5726 S. Spaulding av. He is stationed with the 8th army air force service command in England. For the last 18 months Sgt. Zelus has been supervising storage and issue of light and heavy ammunition. He has discussed ammunition handling on two broadcasts from London to the United States. Zelus played football at Lindblom High school in 1933 and 1934, and was graduated in 1936.

Edward M. Kaminski, former All-American amateur heavyweight boxing champion, has turned in his gloves for a rifle. He is a marine recruit at San Diego, Cal. Pvt. Kaminski's wife, Mrs. Harriet Kaminski, lives at 4629 S. McDowell av. His mother, Mrs. Rose Kaminski, lives at 2914 S. Throop st.



Edward M. Kaminski.

Marine 1st Lt. Bruce J. Matheson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Matheson, 10026 Indiana av., has been awarded the Purple Heart for injuries sustained in aerial combat. Lt. Matheson is a member of the famed Boyington's Black Sheep squadron. Altho he was wounded severely in a battle with a Jap Zero near the Solomon Islands, Matheson shot down the enemy plane and returned to his base.

Ralph G. Snyder, formerly chief of the Burlington Railroad travel bureau in Chicago, is attending aviation radiomen's school at the naval air technical training center in Memphis, Tenn. He attended Morgan Park High school and took his boot training at Great Lakes. His wife, Mrs. R. G. Snyder, lives at 9911 Prospect av.

A plaque dedicated to Chaplain James Matthew Liston, first chaplain of the Chicago archdiocese to die in the line of duty, has been placed in a chapel at Camp Croft, S. C., where Chaplain Liston was formerly stationed. Chaplain Liston and a fellow clergyman lost their lives when they gave their life preservers to two sailors as their ship was sinking. They were last seen on deck as the ship sank. The late chaplain's father, James J. Liston, resides at 6613 S. Honore st.

Aviation Cadet William J. Southern, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Southern, 6814 S. Parnell av., has reported for duty at the army air forces bombardier school, Carlsbad, N. M., where he will study advanced bombardiering and navigation. On graduation Cadet Southern will be awarded his bombardier's wings and will be commissioned a second lieutenant or appointed a flight officer.

William J. Southern.

The army ordnance department recently announced that Sgt. Robert A. Edmunds, formerly of 14810 Riverside dr., Harvey, has completed a specialist's course at the ordnance school in Flint, Mich. Sgt. Edmund's brother, James L. Edmunds, lives at the Riverside dr. address.

Robert A. Edmunds.

Staff Sgt. Benjamin E. Ferrici, son of Ben Ferrici of 2911 Union av., has been awarded the air medal for five combat missions over occupied Europe. He is a gunner on a Flying Fortress attached to the 8th army air force. He was formerly a cab driver and entered the air force in 1942.

George William Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Pearson of 6738 S. Throop st., recently was graduated from the naval air training center, Corpus Christi, Tex., and was commissioned an ensign in the naval reserve. He received his preliminary flight instruction at Memphis, Tenn.

George W. Pearson.

Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox once said that Edward McElroy, 18, batting practice catcher of the club, was one of the most fearless players he ever saw. McElroy as a private in the army may have a chance to exercise that quality against the enemy. He donned his uniform at the Fort Sheridan reception center. Pvt. McElroy's home is at 1000 Garfield blvd.

PATTY CAKE OLD STUFF TO THESE YEAR OLD BABIES

Actually, Betsie Ann Beattie, 14803 Madison st., Harvey, is 4 years old. But, according to the calendar, Tuesday will be her first birthday, for she was born on Feb. 29, 1940, and is a leap year baby. Her mother, Mrs. Elsie M. Beattie, has asked 21 neighborhood children and 16 relatives to a party marking the event.

Melvin Vogel of 4521 S. Hermitage av. is another southwest side leap year baby. He will celebrate with his brother, Richard, who was born on New Year's day 13 years ago, and several neighborhood children.

Mrs. Louise Aitken, 10004 S. St. Lawrence av., has a jocular explanation of how her son, Tommy, happened to be born on a day that rolls around only once every four years. She chides her husband, John, with the statement that he picked that day in order to save on birthday presents. John, who is of Scotch ancestry, agrees.

St. Nicholas Altar Society Will Meet Tuesday Night

St. Nicholas of Tolentine Altar and Rosary society will meet Tuesday evening in the school auditorium at 3721 62d st.

Mrs. Suthers will discuss the obligation of Republican women in the coming campaign.

PLAN CAMPAIGN FRIDAY TO GET BIGGER SUPPLY

Seek Co-Operation of Teachers.

Friday will be Waste Paper day for the 113,000 students in Chicago's 39 public high schools. Working as a team, Chicago's high school boys and girls hope to collect 350 tons in the all-out one day drive.

The paper will be carried to the schools Friday morning in 12 to 15 inch bundles, tied securely with rope, and collected later in the day by trucks furnished by the Chicago waste paper salvage committee.

This will be the first organized drive the schools have sponsored since the city-wide paper campaign was intensified a few weeks ago, William L. McFetridge, general chairman of the salvage committee, announced.

Seek Teacher Coöperation.

Last week George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, addressed bulletins to the principals of the schools, asking coöperation from them and 4,000 teachers and other school employes in the drive. On Tuesday the salvage committee's "flying squadron" of speakers will visit each school and explain details of the drive to the pupils. The speakers are under the direction of Joseph Marcus.

Details of collecting the paper have been worked out by John R. Robinson, representative of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, the group which reorganized the waste paper drive a few weeks ago to intensify the campaign for the duration.

Altho Friday's will be the first organized campaign the schools have attempted together, regular collections have been made each week at individual schools. Pupils of Chicago's 550 public and parochial elementary schools collected 1,248,124 pounds of waste paper last week, an increase of 400 tons over the preceding weeks, McFetridge said.

Contest Already On.

The collection marked the first week of the five weeks' contest for $1,000 in prizes donated by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association. The contest, which gives American flags to the nine leading public schools, campaign ribbons to the winners in each public school in the city, and cash prizes to the parochial schools, opened Feb. 14 and will continue until March 18.

Don C. Rogers, assistant superintendent in charge of elementary schools, announced that south side schools leading in the paper drive are: Gunsaulus, 4420 S. Sacramento av., whose students collected 7,750 pounds or 11.1 pounds per pupil; Hubbard, 6200 S. Hamlin av., 6,200 pounds or 15.8 per pupil; Barton, 7650 S. Wolcott av., 4,535 pounds, 7.5 per pupil, and Barnard, 10354 Charles st., 6,400 pounds, 15.4 per pupil.

Leading south side parochial schools announced by Msgr. Daniel J. Cunningham, superintendent of Catholic schools, are: St. Joseph, 8801 Marquette av., with an average of 49.4 pounds per pupil; St. Martin, 320 W. 59th st., 28.07 per pupil; St. Maurice, 3619 S. Hoyne av., 22.87 per pupil; Holy Cross, 4541 S. Wood st., 22.65; St. Felicitas, 1521 E. 83d pl., 22.51, and St. Mary of Perpetual Help, 1023 W. 32d st., 19.14.

Among Catholic Leaders.

St. John Nepomucene, 30th st. and Lowe av., 15.07; St. Turibius, 4110 W. 57th st., 14.15; Assumption, 12242 Parnell av., 12.06, and St. Joseph, 730 W. 17th pl., 11.54.

Plans for the next paper drive by south side schools include a Kelly High student dance which will be run by the student council. A ticket will be given to each student bringing 50 pounds of paper.

Tilden High does its part in the paper drive by sending boys to the various centers where paper will be picked up. Because so many Tilden students live a long distance from the school and have to ride so far, it is difficult for them to bring paper and they are encouraged to deliver it to their local grammar schools. The school lunchroom, however, nets 200 pounds of scrap paper a day. This paper is sorted by the engineers and turned in.

At Hirsch High school students collected more than 8,000 pounds after the Christmas vacation and collected 2,000 pounds in the first four days of the new drive. The student council under Jack Chaibeck, president, is sponsoring the drive, and will award $5 in war stamps to the student bringing in the largest amount of paper. Mrs. Alice Jackson is the faculty member in charge.

Phillips High students already have collected more than two tons of waste paper under the direction of Student Chairmen Adolph Slaughter and Augustus Green. Mrs. Thelma Powell, faculty war coördinator for Phillips, is supervising the student drive.

Hyde Park has set as its quota the collection of three tons a week. A committee of 20 outstanding boys have been assigned to supervise the collection in the school's 100 division rooms. Arrangements have been made for students living at a great distance from the school to participate in group pickups of the paper they have collected. Elliott Hasen is the faculty supervisor.

JUVENILE CLINIC TAKES 65 CASES IN FIVE MONTHS

Will County Operates the Joliet Department.

Since last September, when it was established as part of the Will county health department in Joliet, the Will county child guidance clinic has had 65 child behavior problems come to its desk and has given clinical examinations and tests to approximately 50 of the children, Mrs. M. C. Heichemer, director, said last week.

Believed to be the only child guidance clinic in Illinois and one of the few in the country operated by a county, the Will county clinic is the latest addition to the various services inaugurated by the Will county health department since its creation 18 months ago.

Clinic Is Unique.

Both Mrs. Heichemer, a former child guidance specialist in Chicago and western states, and Dr. Paul A. Z. Sharp, county health director, concurred in the belief that the Joliet clinic was a unique feature among Illinois counties as well as those of the country.

The clinic operates in coöperation with the Institute for Juvenile Research, Chicago, and holds free day clinics on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month. Dr. Ann Benjamin, psychiatrist, and Mrs. Charlotte Altman, psychologist, of the instiute staff are present on those days to consult with the children, their parents and teachers, and public health nurses.

Service Available Another Year.

The institute will make this service available for another year or longer, until the Will county clinic employs its own psychiatrist. For several years the institute operated a traveling child behavior clinic which visited Will county at various intervals.

Cases brought to the attention of the clinic, the director said, have revealed a case of collaboration in thievery between a brother and sister, 7 and 6 years old; the lingering babyishness of a 3 year old boy, and an adjustment problem between a girl, 10 years old, and her new stepmother.

Need Normal Attention.

The young "snatch team," which has showed only mild manifestations, was composed of two youngsters, both orphans, who needed normal attention. Visits from sympathetic adults, love, and little gifts to replace the cildren's craving for "something" in their lives, was the program instituted for this case, Mrs. Heichemer said.

The mother of the 3 year old boy was "corrected" rather than the child. She was urged to give less attention to a new baby and more attention to the child, engaging him in normal conversation and play. In the third case the stepmother willingly agreed to coöperate with the clinic in meeting her husband's child more than half way.

Before joining the Joliet clinic Mrs. Heichemer served with the Cook county Juvenile court, public family agencies, and a public child placing agency, all in Chicago. Previously she was a field consultant in child welfare in San Franciso, Cal., and western states for the United States children's bureau.

Dr. Sharp came to the directorship of the Will county health department from Highland, Ill., where he had been health superintendent. He also has been a member of the state health department. After graduation from the University of Michigan he studied at the University of Geneva in Switzerland.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, Feb. 28.

Any vegetable seedlings that are large enough to handle should be transplanted. Grow them in a comparatively cool place to encourage a short, compact, strong growth. Later the plants can be placed in the coldframe or on an inclosed porch for hardening off.

Apparently few gardeners realize the importance of such a procedure, but it is one that is necessary if successful transplanting into the field is to be accomplished. Indoor grown pansies should be coming along nicely; they, too, do best in a cool place, but one that is light.

Tuesday, Feb. 29.

When making out the order for seeds remember that most of the finest varieties are the old timers, altho some of the newer sorts are an improvement over the old. One should select those that are recommended by reputable seedsmen for the area in which the crops are to be grown.

Seedsmen test all varieties, so they know the kinds that do best. Vegetable plants must be given sufficient room to develop if maximum production is to be obtained; close planting prevents any individual plant from producing as it should, so that thinning is essential, and this applies to flowers as well as other plants.

Wednesday, March 1.

The lawn can be given an application of plant food now, and commercial foods need not be watered in at this season because the grass had made little if any growth and the soil is so moist the fertilizer will pass into solution quickly. Most lawns are not properly started, which is the reason they take so long to develop. First thoro preparation of the soil will produce a fine thick turf of Kentucky blue grass in about three years.

Thursday, March 2.

Roses are receiving much more attention than formerly and there are no better flowers for the gardener. They should be properly planted, the soil should be well drained, and regular cultivation should be given.

If the soil drains too rapidly spade under a copious amount of humus to make it retain water. If the soil contains too much clay break it up by adding sand, manure, and peat. Apply food at regular intervals, for roses grow best when well supplied.

Friday, March 3.

Pruning shrubs should be finished this month, but it should be done with a definite object in view. Don't buy pruning shears and start in by cutting away branches that should not be cut. Study each plant, for no two are alike.

There is a difference in the way each cut is made. Cut so that the top bud, the one which will make the new stem or branch, points outward or it will grow in toward the center, which is undesirable.

Saturday, March 4.

Some of the new vegetables that are highly recommended include lettuce Great Lakes. Its chief value lies in its heat resisting qualities; it stands the sun and does not go to seed as freely as other kinds. It may be well tried in the home garden.

Tendergreen bean, while not a new sort, is probably the best for all round purposes in the Chicago region. Tomato jubilee, introduced in 1943, is of high quality, but it is not free seed producing and any one who wants a package should buy it at once, for the crop is short.

UNWED MOTHERS TO RECEIVE HELP IN S. W. DISTRICT

United Charities Opens Two Branch Offices.

The women's service division, established by the United Charities to aid unmarried mothers, has established two branch offices in the south and southwest territory.

An office at 734 W. 47th st. will serve girls living south of the Chicago river and north of 63d st. Those living south of 63d st. will be served by an office at 50 W. 111th st.

Give Legal, Medical Advice.

Social workers who have had special training in helping unmarried mothers with social, legal, medical, and other problems have been assigned to the two offices.

"The United Charities was asked to establish this special service for unmarried mothers when it became apparent that many girls did not know where to turn for help or were making, or being forced into, plans which did not safeguard their own or their babies' future," Joel D. Hunter, general superintendent of the United Charities explained.

Other Groups Coöperate.

The new service is not a substitute for services now offered to girls by religious and welfare organizations, but, instead, is designed for girls who are not eligible for aid from these other groups.

At the women's service division, girls are given private, confidential interviews and furnished with whatever aid or information they may need to help them work out their plans.

Coöperating with the division are the Chicago Orphan asylum which finds temporary homes for babies, the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society which finds homes for Protestant babies who are to be adopted, and numerous maternity homes.

PLAN FACILITIES FOR CHILDREN AT S. W. HOMES SITE

When approximately 7,000 persons move into the new housing development at 130th st. and Langley av., youngsters will find a modern playground replete with teeter-totters, spray pools, marble rings, a baseball diamond, and a football field.

The project, which will cost approximately $9,000,000, is being built to meet the acute housing need of war workers employed in the Calumet area who have to travel long distances to their work or who now have inadequate housing. It will consist of 1,500 dwelling units covering 157 acres.

Small children will have their fenced-in "tot yards" in back yard courts where they can be watched easily by their mothers. Twenty-six play areas totaling 182,000 square feet have been set aside for recreational purposes. Another large sector of 13 acres has been planned for a school site, a community center, and an athletic field.

SWIFT SERVICE MEN HEAR OFTEN FROM SIX 'JANES'

Six "Jane Hathaways" are pouring out cheer from the Swift & Co. plant in the stock yards to 17,895 employes now in military service.

Under that pseudonym they write about 4,000 letters a week, print a monthly pamphlet, and send out gift boxes with the purpose of "keeping the home fires burning" in the hearts of their warriors.

Similar work was done during the first World war when one young lady corresponded with employes in service and sent occasional gifts.

Now the girls are preparing boxes of candy to be sent for Easter. In addition to the letters, gift packages, and monthly newspaper, a booklet called "Jane Hathaway's Salute," containing selections and drawings by men in service, and cartoons and stories from national newspapers and magazines, is published.

Fernwood Woman's Club Will Entertain Sailors

A group of sailors from the naval training station at 87th st. and Anthony av. will be entertained by the Fernwood Woman's club at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, March 9, at the Fernwood park fieldhouse. Local service men home on leave are invited to attend. Mrs. R. B. Liston, 10111 Emerald av., is the chairman in charge of the service men's parties. Members of the Fernwood Junior Woman's club will supply the entertainment.

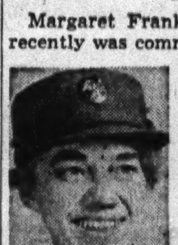
SPAR Vivian Elmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Olson, 2445 W. Collins st., Blue Island, has been graduated from storekeeper school at the coast guard training station in Palm Beach, Fla. Prior to entering the service, Storekeeper Elmes was employed as an accounting machine operator for the Elliott-Fisher company.

Margaret Frank, 1440 E. 52d st., recently was commissioned a second lieutenant in the WAC. Lt. Frank, who has degrees from Ohio State university and the University of Chicago, is a member of the American Psychological association, American Association of Applied Psychology, National Council of Women Psychologists, and Midwestern Psychological association. She is stationed at Arlington hall, Arlington, Va.



Lt. Frank.

Ruth V. McCracken, 2517 Indiana av., was recently promoted to first lieutenant, chief nurse, in the army nurse corps. Lt. McCracken is on the staff of a hospital in the Canal Zone and has been in Panama since January, 1942. Commissioned in March, 1941, she was stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga., before her assignment to overseas duty. She is a graduate of the St. Catherine's hospital school of nursing, East Chicago, Ind. Lt. McCracken is the sister of Mrs. Roy Jones.

There are some vacancies in the chorus and any one wishing to take part may contact Mark Hallett, 10321 Leavitt st., director.

FALLS HEAD LIST OF ACCIDENTS IN WINTER MONTHS

Danger Still Lurks in Ice and Snow.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

The National Safety council states that falls head our casualty lists in winter, claiming some 2,500 victims each month. There are still some weeks of winter ahead with chances good that icy driveways, walks, steps, and garage aprons may prove troublesome.

So here are a few tips for the rest of the winter ahead—and for other winters to come—tips on how to prevent ice formation and how to melt layers of ice, once they have formed.

Keep plenty of rock salt around, not evaporated or table salt, for its fine crystals will go into solution too fast, and merely melt the surface. Large rock crystals, however, will not result in puddles or surface slush, since each particle will imbed itself in the ice and penetrate thru the compacted snow or ice to the pavement surface.

The brine formed in these pits honeycombs the walks and cuts under the layer, so that a shovel blade can remove the entire deposit without hard picking, chopping, and hacking.

Calcium Chloride Also Used.

Another good preventive against slippery walks and steps and driveways is calcium chloride. Some home owners mix calcium chloride flakes with sand, a mixture of 10 parts sand to one of flakes, and keep this on hand for snow and icy weather.

If you have rock salt on hand and want to use it advantageously, spread about a quarter of pound per square yard of pavement surface. It takes less salt to prevent ice than to melt it once it has formed. The weak brine will keep snow in a mealy condition so it won't freeze fast and the entire accumulation can be removed at the first opportunity.

Salt for Driveways.

If you have a steep driveway you can spread several cupfuls of rock salt around the wheels of a car so the tires can get traction on the grade. Even tho the temperature is far below freezing the brine will melt ice and will not refreeze on the surface.

If there are horses around your place use calcium chloride to melt snow and ice as there is no possible injury to horses' hoofs thru use of this material.

And a hint for March: Word is going around that it will be wise for home owners to spread their painting and decorating season over many months rather than to crowd it in a few short weeks in spring and fall.

Floors Need Attention.

There will be many old soft wood floors which must be refinished this spring if they are to stand up under another year of traffic. Our choice is to give it an oiled treatment, followed by varnish or wax as preferred. If floor is given a proper oiled treatment the results are excellent, the process is inexpensive.

If oil is not applied correctly the floor can become gummy and collect dust and dirt. A second excellent finish for a softwood floor is to paint it, and then apply varnish. In a subsequent article we will discuss in more detail the best methods to employ to get satisfactory results.

In a contest recently sponsored by the Evergreen Park club for students of the 7th and 8th grades of the local schools on "A Great American" more than 100 essays were received. Winners of the awards were: Delores Bauer, 9406 Spaulding av., first; Lois Melrose, 9258 Trumbull, second, and Mildred Tibstra, 9536 Homan av., third.

Englewood Woman's Club.

Edwin C. Morgenroth will lecture on "Work of the American Friends Service" at the meeting of the Englewood Woman's club, 6730 Wentworth av., at 10:45 a. m. Monday, March 6. Mrs. Robert W. Pachaly, 8027 Ingleside av., program chairman, will introduce Spencer D. Irwin, columnist of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, who will speak on "America, the Pioneer of Tomorrow," at the afternoon session of the meeting.

Harvey Woman's Club.

The art department of the Harvey Woman's club will present a program at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church, 154th and Lexington sts., Harvey. Barley Stanton, lawyer, traveler, and lecturer, will speak on "Collection of Masterpieces." The Flossmoor art group will exhibit its work and the instructor, Fred Oswals, will give an informal talk. Mrs. Henry Fuers, 3d district art chairman, will be guest of honor. Mrs. Eva Kingston is chairman.

Beverly Hills Woman's Club.

A garden program is scheduled for the afternoon session of the Beverly Hills Woman's club at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at Ridge park fieldhouse, 96th st. and Longwood dr. "It's the Same Beautiful World" is the topic of the lecture to be given by Mrs. Melvin Renkenberger. Mrs. A. O. Schnura, 10428 Church st., garden chairman, will introduce the speaker.

Two classes will be held at the 11 a. m. session. Mrs. Homer C. Wright, 10107 Seeley av., will be the leader of the current events class and will be presented by Mrs. Wallace E. Wing, 2132 W. 92d st., education chairman of the Beverly club.

Mrs. J. B. Mortenson, 1646 W. 104th pl., chairman of the garden clinic, will speak on "Herbs and Their Uses." Mrs. Charles M. Bacon is president.

Morgan Park Woman's Club.

"Cutting the Corners" will be the theme of the afternoon program of the Morgan Park Woman's club at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. Members of the club will model made-over clothes and low cost dresses made at home. There will also be an exhibit of handwork. Mrs. Neil Hyde, 2344 W. 112th st., and Mrs. Arthur L. Ittershagen, 10415 Sangamon st., have arranged the program. Mrs. Edith Oliver will be honored guest.

Betrothed to Aviation Cadet

Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Erickson, 9116 S. Ashland av., recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Gladys, to Aviation Cadet James J. Sharpe, son of Dr. and Mrs. James J. Sharpe, 7230 Perry av. Cadet Sharpe was a medical student at Augustana college, Rock Island, before enlisting. The couple plan to be married this spring when he becomes a commissioned pilot.

War Schedule Rules Out Pullman Founder's Day

Because a majority of the students of the Pullman Free School of Manual Training are working late afternoon shifts in war industries, the school will omit the usual evening celebration of Founder's day on Saturday. Principal Urban G. Willis said that the event had been celebrated for 25 years without interruption, but deemed that the best way to honor George M. Pullman, the founder, this year is to do a full day's work in school and industry.

CENTRAL WEST PTA COUNCIL TO ELECT OFFICERS

Central West council, district 25, Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, will meet at Gage Park school, 5516 S. Maplewood av., at 10 o'clock Wednesday. The morning session will be devoted to business and election of officers. Local presidents will give their annual reports and Mrs. Roy A. Hermansen, 8011 S. Aberdeen st., district director, will speak.

The afternoon program will feature a talk by Jewell Organ Coleman, superintendent of the women's division of the state department of labor. Music will be furnished by the Gage Park mothers' chorus, directed by Mrs. Thomas Popik, 5723 S. Mozart av., and Mrs. Verne Evans, 5805 S. Sacramento av.

Lindblom—Members and delegates from 16 high school Parent-Teacher associations in districts 1 and 25 will meet at 10 o'clock Thursday at Lindblom High school, 6019 S. Wolcott av. Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, 7107 Ingleside av., council president, will preside, and the program chairman, Mrs. Frank White, 1716 W. 103d st., will present Ralph Lee Goodman, vice president of Junior Achievement Projects, Inc., who will speak on "Junior Achievements." HELLER TELLS OF BRINGING FUN TO JUNGLE FRONT

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Little Jackie Heller, radio singer and comedian, who has already spent nine months in South Pacific war areas and expects to stay with the troops "until we march into what will be left of Tokio," has written this desk and given a vivid impression of what entertaining men on the jungle fronts is like.

"At this writing we are the first show ever to go into the front lines in a combat zone," Jackie said. "I wish you could see these men laugh, cheer and go wild during a performance. These kids have had nothing in the way of entertainment except some 16 millimeter class "Z" pictures. Why they don't send out later pictures no one knows, but they don't get them here.

Perform in Mud, Rain.

"These lads won't let you go after a performance. I've never seen such enthusiasm in my 17 years of show business. We have done hundreds of shows in mud up to our ankles or in terrific rain. Many's the time we have done a show from the back of our truck so the rain wouldn't ruin our piano which takes a hell of a beating in this weather.

"We've spent many anxious hours in our rat and land crab infested foxholes. Mr. Tojo makes no distinction between entertainers and the man behind the gun."

Jackie wrote that he and Randolph Scott of the movies were sharing a foxhole.

"For once my being small has its advantages," Heller wrote. "Randolph Scott is 6 feet 3 inches; I am 5 feet 1 inch, so I am the only one in the hole who is comfortable," With Heller in a U. S. O. unit are Lew Parker, late of "Hellzapoppin'," as M. C., and George Finkleberg, once pianist with Bob Crosby.

Finds Morale High.

Heller said that he had met hundreds of boys who remembered his Club Matinee and Breakfast Club radio appearances. Considering the heat, the muck, the monotony of food, the anxiety, said Jackie, "the morale of the men, many of whom have been over here for two years, is very high."

"Most of our food is dehydrated," Jackie wrote. "If fresh vegetables and meats are coming out here, some one is getting them before they reach the areas I've played since leaving Hawaii."

His biggest thrills since leaving home: Seeing a fighter pilot bring down two Jap Zeros in two minutes —"something of a record"—the night after they reached a jungle island, and broadcasting to the United States from Guadalcanal at 3:37 a. m. [local time] last Thanksgiving.

American radio programs sent over in recorded form arrive four months late, said Jackie. They get the news from San Francisco, listen to the latest American dance music as sent out from Tokio. They ignore the propaganda interlardings of "Tokio Rose," the M. C.

"If she could hear what our men say about her comments she'd blush right thru the microphone and never go on the air again."

Concluding, Jackie said: "It's not pleasant to be in one of these stinking holes and wonder whether one of those eggs from above has your name on it. . . . But entertaining these men has been the greatest thrill of my life and I wouldn't have missed this trip for anything in the world. I've made countless new friends—and that money can't buy.

CAROL SILVER GUEST PIANIST ON AIR THEATER

Carol Silver, young Chicago pianist, will make her first appearance over W-G-N Mutual as guest soloist on the Chicago Theater of the Air Symphony hour from 11 p. m. to midnight tomorrow. Miss Silver, who is 19, made her New York debut in Town Hall on Feb. 12. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul R. Silver, 2824 Jarvis av.

Miss Silver will join Henry Weber and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra in McDowell's second concerto in D Minor for piano and orchestra. The orchestra will play Beethoven's Symphony No. 4. Mr. Weber comments on the program. Miss Silver last year was named winner in a competition to determine the midwest's outstanding young pianist.

Name Ship for Clapper.

United States maritime commission officials lately announced the forthcoming launching of a Liberty ship named for Raymond Clapper, Mutual network commentator and newspaper columnist, who lost his life in the Marshall Islands invasion.

How Many Pairs of Glasses SHOULD YOU HAVE?
Well, grandmother was lucky to own just one; square shaped, iron framed, usually just window glass. She bought hers from a peddler—just tried on a few 'til she found a pair that 'helped.'
TODAY'S woman can choose from hundreds of attractive frames of many materials and confident that her Holland lenses are the product of accurate optical prescription and finest scientific materials. And as for how many — Hollands recommend one "regular" pair, sturdy, efficient and practical; one for "evening," rimless and dainty; and for real optical opulence, tinted sunglasses — genuine ophthalmic lenses ground to your individual prescription—for sports, the beach or any outdoor activity (keeps those wrinkles down).
Affiliation with the Better Vision Institute, a national organization dedicated to eyesight-conservation, identifies Hollands with leadership in the Chicago optical field.

Which of these Current Best-Sellers do you want absolutely Free with Literary Guild Membership

THIS is the most unusual offer ever made to new Literary Guild members! Just take your choice from the cream of the current best-sellers shown here—we'll send you FREE any one you name. And as an added privilege—as an example of how Guild membership works—you may choose any ONE of these books as your first selection, for only $2.00—a big saving from the higher retail price of the publishers' edition! Furthermore, any selection you purchase now will count towards one of the FREE Bonus Books which the Guild distributes to its members.

Guild Membership Is Free

The extraordinary savings which you make on new books alone make Literary Guild membership worth while. There are no dues or fees. You can add to your library many of the latest, most important books, both fiction and non-fiction, at a flat price of only $2.00 each, regardless of the higher price (from $2.50 to $4.00) at which these new books are sold at retail in the publishers' editions. The cash savings, plus bonus books, given during the year save you at least 50% on the selections you decide to purchase.

There is no obligation on your part to accept a book every month after you have joined. Your sole obligation as a Guild subscriber is to accept, at $2.00, four Guild selections in the course of a full year, and this means any four selected by you from the Guild list of more than a dozen best-seller selections. These selections are brand new books—full sized, cloth-bound new works by outstanding modern authors.

EACH month's selection is chosen by our Editorial Staff from proofs submitted by the publishers long in advance of their publication date. Every selection is printed at the same time as the publishers' edition which is on sale simultaneously at retail for not less than $2.50 and often for as much as $4.00.

The Guild manufactures for its subscribers such a large edition of the book chosen by the Editorial Staff that great savings in cost can be effected. The savings are passed on to subscribers in the form of lower prices, and in still another way: The Literary Guild gives each subscriber a FREE Bonus Book as soon as four Guild selections have been purchased at only $2.00 each. This FREE book is always a popular NEW title, selling at retail for $2.50 to $4.00.

Magazine "WINGS" Free

As a Guild member you receive FREE each month the famous Guild magazine "Wings," which contains illustrated articles about the current selection and its author and includes a special contribution by the author. "Wings" is sent to subscribers one month in advance so that it describes the book selected for the following month. If you feel you do not want to examine the book, merely return the accompanying form, which notifies the Guild not to send it when the time comes. On the other hand, if the selection sounds interesting, you let it come automatically for your approval.

"Wings" is also an invaluable guide to all important current reading, for each month it keeps you informed of new publications by reviewing about 30 other new books.

Send No Money—Just Mail Coupon

Guild service will start and your FREE book will be sent you immediately upon acceptance of your FREE MEMBERSHIP. Guild membership is your answer to "What's good to read?" and your guarantee of purchasing only NEW best-sellers of your choice at a saving of at least 50%. Ice Show, 'Something for the Boys' Open Tuesday

Joan Blondell Is Starred in Todd Musical

By Claudia Cassidy.

Two sizable shows, one on and one off the ice, begin their Chicago careers Tuesday night. Michael Todd's "Something for the Boys" invades the Civic Opera house with Joan Blondell taking over for Ethel Merman, and "Ice-Capades of 1944" starts to twirl for the customers at the Chicago Arena. The latter is the fourth edition of one of the better skating shows, and its sponsors are giving battle to Sonja Henie and the Shipstads and Johnson the way Ziegfeld, White, and Carroll used to slug it out on the scenic front.

According to my statistical informant, this year's "Ice-Capades" has 152 in the cast, compared to a mere 107 last year, and it cost $225,000 just to costume. To show you to what lengths it has gone, even raggedy tramp Joe Jackson Jr., who never needed anything but baggy pants and a bicycle, donned regal raiment for a number called "Song of the Islands." That little item cost $56,000, but, alas, it is now minus Mr. Jackson, royal or ragged. The clown who follows so brilliantly in his father's footsteps is going overseas to entertain soldiers and will not appear in Chicago. However, Bobby Specht is back, after a medical discharge from the air corps. A Chicago boy who won the last national figure skating championship, he also is Donna Atwood's partner.

Bobby Specht.

Mr. Todd will counter with his Cole Porter show attached to a book by Herbert and Dorothy Fields, staged by Hassard Short, with 120 in the cast. Mr. Todd has no ice to offer, but his theater has rose colored velvet seats, acres of them, and fresh costumes and some fresh actors for his piece, which ran a year and a day on Broadway. Perhaps these lures will console the people who have been telling me the ice show is the only new thing in the business, insisting that even opera ought to take notice. Since then I have been haunted by visions of Tristan and Isolde on racing blades, which comes under the harrowing head of a nightmare.

• • •

Besides Miss Blondell, Mr. Todd's cast will include Bill Johnson, Betty Bruce, Russ Brown, Lew Hearn, Marjorie Knapp, and Shirley Thomas, and I hope to know more about some of them on Wednesday morning. Miss Blondell, not seen hereabouts in a play since "The Trial of Mary Dugan," left Hollywood at Mr. Todd's behest to appear in "The Naked Genius," a kind of autobiographical piece by Gypsy Rose Lee which not even George Kaufman could rescue from failure. She recently stepped in the Merman role of "Something for the Boys" and apparently Mr. Todd thinks she is all right. When he didn't like the looks of his "Star and Garter" replacements, he sent out telegrams canceling the show, saying, sure, he knew it would make money, but he didn't want to offer it under his name. An expensive gesture, but maybe a canny one.

• • •

If you pick up those movie magazines in doctors' offices, no doubt you are familiar with Miss Blondell's past. Born Rose Blondell in New York, she made her debut at the Globe theater at the age of 4 months, being carried on at each performance of "The Greatest Love." She toured with her mother and father in the vaudeville act called "Ed Blondell and Company," and soon won a Dallas beauty contest worth $2,000. She trouped to Australia, China, Germany, and Africa, working at everything theatrical from leading lady to chorus girl. Back home, she got a small part in "Mary Dugan," then in "Maggie the Magnificent" and "Penny Arcade." Warner Brothers bought the picture rights to the last one, acquired Joan, and then a young actor called James Cagney. They got along fine.

• • •

The prosperous whirligig of 1944 box office is delighting Burton Holmes, who finds that the second 50 years are the easiest. Normally, his Orchestra hall series of travel lectures opens to good houses Wednesday night, then builds to better houses Friday night and Saturday afternoon. Now, in his 51st season, he sells out Wednesdays, too. This week he will talk about "Beautiful Italy, As We Knew It," drawing on his priceless files of pictures for illustrations of many things remembered, and lost.

• • •

If you want to spend the 4th of July at "Oklahoma!" tickets for just that will be available by mail order at the Erlanger this week. Mail order is the easiest way to get tickets, but if you prefer to go to the box office, seats left over from the huge mail order sale are available for five weeks in advance. Starting tomorrow, for instance, remaining tickets go on box office sale thru the week ending April 1. There is a possibility that Sunday nights may be dropped from the list to give the singers a rest from the chore of nine performances a week. Of course, you know that Harry Stockwell and Evelyn Wyckoff will be going to the New York cast after June 1 and that Pamela Britton has a movie contract. The Guild will have to hustle some replacements—but, after all, it gave us a company better than the original.

• • •

"Good Night Ladies" seems determined to leave us now—that is, on March 11—altho its Blackstone business is so good a mere 100 weeks seems positively niggardly. Milwaukee will be the first stop, then St. Louis, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Columbus, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, and Detroit. A duplicate company will open in California early in May, destined to tour the west and south. Nothing definite has been scheduled to follow the farce at the Blackstone. Rumors have included a lot of things, most recently "Early to Bed" and a Chicago company of "Wallflower."

• • •

During the 16 weeks "Tomorrow the World" has played at the Selwyn, more than 2,000 students selected from senior high schools have attended the play as guests of the Chicago round table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Awards were offered for the best letters on the play, supposedly written to Cousin Hans in Germany, explaining the advantages of the American boy over a boy educated by Nazi methods. Five winners of $25 war bonds will be entertained by members of the cast tomorrow at a luncheon at the Sherman, with Paul McGrath making the presentation. Winners are Marilyn Peterson, Kelvyn Park High school; Camille P. Ray, Phillips High school; Joyce Costen, Steinmetz High school; Emil Avakian, Spaulding High school, and Beverly Shapiro, Manley High school.

FOR THE BOYS

Drama Notes

Peggy O'Neil, red haired Chicago cowgirl employed at the Live Stock National bank, has joined the Wild West Rodeo circus, which opened a 15 day engagement at the Coliseum yesterday. Born in Salinas, Cal., Miss O'Neil has been a cowgirl since she was 5 years old, and she owns her own stallion, Sunshine. She gave up rodeo trouping for banking a year ago because of transportation difficulties.

The Jack and Jill Players under the direction of Marie Agnes Foley will present Dan Totheroh's "Moor Born," a story of the Brontë sisters, at the theater at 180 E. Delaware pl. Sunday afternoons, March 5 and 12, at 4 o'clock.

• • •

James Hargis Connelly and his "op'ry house" players will present two performances of "East Lynne" at Lufkin hall in the Kimball building Tuesday, March 14, and Monday, March 27, at 8:15.

• • •

The Northwestern University theater will present Shaw's "Candida" March 1 thru March 4 at 8:30 in the playhouse on the Evanston campus. Alvina Krause is the director and Theodore Fuchs the supervisor.

• • •

The Studio Players, 879 N. State st., will open their theater to the public today with a special program, starting at 5 o'clock. Dorothee Bates is the group's director.

THE SEASON OPENS

"Careful?"

"Yes, don't be noble. I might say yes. I'm in love with you."

The tears slid quietly down her face. "Why does everything happen to me?" she asked. "I love you, Van, and you're asking me to marry you, but the picture's just a little out of focus."

He flicked the cigaret into the desert and said nothing. What was there to say. She had endured enough without hearing a shallow avowal of undying devotion.

"Start the car, Van."

"Not yet, Jane. I'm offering you what is perhaps an answer to your problem. I'll be good to you. I'll take care of you. Your father——"

"You're very generous."

"With what? How can a person be generous unless he's giving something of value? I have my name and my protection to offer you. No one else wants it, but in your particular case perhaps it will serve you well."

Her white teeth cut sharply into her underlip and it was a full minute before she spoke again. When she did her words were stilted and stiff.

"Since you are making this offer because of my father then I must consider him well. The brand of security you have to give is not exactly what he hoped for."

Slater smiled wryly. Even a girl who loved him, even a girl in tragic circumstances was not eager to marry a gambler. "Perhaps," he said, "in the world of the future a pair of strong hands and an active brain will be more useful than the Bronsons' millions."

• • •

Her dark eyes glittered as she turned them toward him. "Don't try to convince me that you're the right man," she said. "I know you are. In the world of the present or the future I'd ask no more than to walk beside you but I've got a job to do and I'm going to do it. He's going to go feeling that I'm safe and happy."

"Very well, Jane." He started the car again. "I thought that perhaps we could go right now to Edgeville."

"No, I'd hate to see how he felt about you."

There was a dreamlike quality to the moment, a foolish unreality. There was no one in the world except Collie, but he was offering to marry Jane. Jane loved him but she must temporize and turn his proposal over a dozen times and perhaps refuse him in the end. These things happened in dreams. They didn't happen to people who are awake.

He could hear Jane weeping quietly beside him. He put his hand down and covered her little, cold, white hand.

"Don't cry, Jane. We'll work things out."

The road stretched straight and white before them and the illusion persisted that they were moving thru a dream. When he awakened he would discover that Collie loved him, that the Lansings had left town and that Richard was concerned about nothing except Jerry Oliver's fleetest horse.

But now at the moment in this unearthly, white world there was nothing but the knowledge that the girl beside him loved him and needed him and far up ahead were Richard's rear lights glowing redly like two malevolent eyes.

They were passing the Blue Dunes hotel now. Collie had been on her way there when he had met her. Collie. He drove faster. Sometimes when you went very fast there was an exhilaration that was almost like happiness. Of course not quite. But almost.

Jane Lansing lay wakeful thruout the night. It was impossible to sleep. There was so much to think about. Van Slater had asked her to marry him. Out of sheer pity he had asked her to marry him. There was no pleasure in remembering why he had asked. Still he had kissed her once and had told her she was lovely. Perhaps he cared a little. For part of the night she pretended that he loved her as she loved him. She thought of his hard, dark face and his searching eyes that saw too much. She imagined herself in his arms and felt his hot mouth on hers once more. But he did not want her. He had asked her to marry him because he was sorry for her. O, Van. Why couldn't he really and truly want her just a little?

She thought about Richard and hoped he would not be too deeply hurt at what she must tell him. And she must tell him quickly. She must not wait for him to announce to his parents that he intended to marry her. Charlie Bronson was certain to make careful inquiries into the background of the Lansings and he would not like what he would find. Since there was no hope of the Bronsons approving their son's marriage to Jane, there was little point in their learning that their pleasant companion, Clyde Lansing, was not the man they thought him. She prayed at times during that long night and it struck her as odd that she bothered to pray that the Bronsons might never know any more of her father than they did at this moment. Crazy that she cared. But she did. She wanted the Bronsons always to remember a cheerful, agreeable friend who was her father. And she prayed for Richard, too. She prayed that he would not mind too much when she told him about Van Slater. That was almost as crazy as praying for the Bronsons' continued good will. Richard was a child. He'd get over an unhappy love affair quick enough. O, he'd be disappointed of course and depressed for a day or so. But boys didn't grieve seriously over things like love. His parents could buy him a new polo pony and Richard would smile again. He must. Please, God, don't let Richard care too much.

Naturally her father was her main consideration. She knew it had brought him rare happiness to picture her going thru the years as Richard's wife, bearing Richard's children and being safe and snug under the powerful protection of the Bronson family. It would not be pleasant to shatter that dream and to offer in its place such a substitute as Van, his uncertain life and his gambling casino. That was not what Clyde Lansing had wanted for his daughter. Like all men acquainted with the grim specter of insecurity, he wanted his child to know the warm coziness of respected wealth.

And yet what was there for her to do? Never again would she get Richard on the road to Edgeville. Van had sold the boy too thoroly on the idea that a secret wedding was an affront to his parents. And once he told them there would be the questions about the Lansings—all night her mind ran around the circle of her distress, always coming back to the thought that surely her father would be happier knowing that Van was her husband than having to leave her alone and friendless. Then she would ask of the dark hours if this were merely an argument she was using to convince herself.

As soon as it grew light she began to listen for sounds from the next room that would tell her that her father was awake. But it was after 8:30 before she heard him walking about his room.

She got up and wrapped a dressing gown about her, pausing before the mirror for a moment to see what damage the sleepless night had done. There were dark circles beneath her eyes and the eyes themselves looked heavy and lusterless. But that could not be helped.

She walked into the small sitting room and tapped upon her father's door. "What shall I order for breakfast?" she called.

The door opened immediately. "Why, you're up early, daughter."

"It's such a gorgeous morning. Who could stay in bed?"

"It is lovely." Clyde walked to the sitting room window and peered up at the deep blue sky. "Not a cloud. Not a cloud anywhere."

"We could have breakfast served outdoors," Jane suggested. "That is if you'd like to get into some clothes."

"We'll have it right here. Dressing for breakfast is a hardship no man should be called upon to face."

Jane laughed and walked to the telephone. "The usual, dad?" He nodded, and she sent for their customary breakfast of orange juice, ham and eggs, toast and coffee.

"What are you going to do this morning, Janie?"

"O, I don't know, dad."

"I thought your early birding perhaps indicated a long picnic ride or something."

"No."

"No? You mean no plans, no nothing on a beautiful day like this?"

"That's right. I could even be a dutiful daughter and walk around the links with you or drive somewhere or—"

"Where's Richard going today?"

"I don't know, dad."

His eyes were anxious as they turned upon her. "Have you and Richard quarreled, dear?"

"No. No, honestly, we haven't quarreled. But, dad, I have something to tell you." She settled herself on the footstool in front of him. "I—I—well, it's sort of hard to say but I think I've fallen out of love with Richard."

She shifted her eyes from the drawn, white look of his face. Damn a world anyhow where a girl who'd lie down and die for her father had to play a fickle, silly role and tear him to pieces.

"I hate to hear you say that, Janie." His words came stiffly thru dry lips. "Richard's a fine boy."

"O, I know he is. But—but I've met some one else, and Richard doesn't mean as much to me now as he did."

"I see. Who is the other man, Janie?"

"It's Van Slater, dad."

"Van Slater!"

"Yes. Why are you so surprised? Surely he's attractive and——"

Her voice trailed off as Clyde got to his feet and moved with aimless nervousness about the room. "Jane, you don't know anything about people. That Slater probably has a wife and kids back east. Certainly he's attractive. He's the type that women go overboard about. God in heaven, Jane, please don't be a silly, young thing that falls for a line——"

"Daddy, please sit down. You're doing Van a great injustice. He has no wife and kids. He didn't try to make love to me. His intentions, as they used to say, are honorable." She paused to look up at his astonished face. "Yes, he wants me to marry him."

• • •

Clyde dropped heavily into the nearest chair. "Jane, there's so much to say I don't know where to start. First of all—what did you tell him?"

"I said that I would think about it and that I'd talk to you."

He shook his head wonderingly. "How can a girl who had Richard Bronson in love with her even consider Van Slater?"

He was standing up again, pacing the little room. "Janie, take my word for it, that Slater can't hold a candle to Richard. O, I can see how a young girl is flattered when an older man takes an interest in her, but I'm convinced that you and Richard really love each other. This thing with Slater is infatuation. It can't be anything else. It's not so long ago you told me that you adored Richard."

"I know."

"Well, then!" he exclaimed with satisfaction. "You can see yourself, can't you, that this feeling about Slater isn't real?"

Isn't real. If he could know how she wanted Van Slater. If he could guess how her eyes had followed the man about the Casino, watching him smile at other girls, seeing him dance with them.

"I don't know, daddy. You may be right but you can see that I can't keep Richard dangling while I'm considering Van. It wouldn't be fair to Richard."

"Then you must stop considering Van. I don't like the man anyway."

She dared to be the petulant, spoiled daughter. Somehow he must be reconciled to the loss of Richard. "You're not marrying Van, daddy. You don't have to like him."

He stopped pacing and eyed her seriously. "You think you love him, don't you?"

"I'm pretty sure I do."

She wished desperately that she and her father were candid, open-faced fortune hunters so that she might say to him, "Look, dad, we're licked on the Bronson deal. Richard won't have a secret ceremony, and once the old folks look us up the deal's off. So how about Van? He can take care of me and I'm crazy about him."

But she couldn't talk like that to him. He was dying and she was not supposed to know it.

"Daddy," she said, "I must tell you that I believe myself in love with Van and completely out of love with Richard. If Richard asked me to marry him now I couldn't say yes because——"

"Well, all right. I can see that. Only don't say yes to Van either. Think it over a while. Think it over well. Do that for me. Please, daughter."

"I will, dear, I'll think it over."

"My poor little girl!" he said. "She's confused, isn't she?"

How long? How long before the next attack would come upon him? Suppose it came today as the result of this disappointment? Would he go terrified at what he left behind him? Would he picture her adrift with a worthless man? She put her arms about her father and cried softly against his shoulder.

"My poor little girl," he said. "She's confused, isn't she?"

"Yes, daddy. Terribly confused."

He could understand that. He could understand his pretty, young daughter being confused. His hand patted her gently and she waited for her tears to subside so that she might smile at him once more.

"Here comes our breakfast, daughter. Go put cold water on your face. I'm starved."

She was able to smile at him now. If he could pretend hunger then she could manage to smile.

For a week Collie saw Richard Bronson come to the stables every morning quite alone. He would take Ginger Bites into the desert for an hour or so and return looking no brighter for his workout. There was something definitely wrong with the boy. Collie was fond of Richard and because she was passing thru a period of readjustment herself her sympathy was ready.

One morning when an appointment had been canceled Collie followed Richard as he walked his horse out of the stable area. "Mind if I ride with you for a while?"

"Be glad to have you, Mrs. Moreland." But it was only his politeness that spoke. He did not really want her.

"Thanks." She rode along gazing from time to time at the stricken young face beside her. Then Collie asked, "Did Jane leave town, Richard?"

"What did you say? O, no. She's—she's here."

"I haven't seen her recently."

"Neither have I, Mrs. Moreland."

"I'm awfully sorry, Richard."

He murmured something that she knew was appreciation of her sympathy.

"People quarrel and make up again," she said, consolingly. "As long as she's still here there's always hope."

He shook his head. "We didn't quarrel. If we had it wouldn't be so bad. She just—she just quit wanting to be with me."

"Why on earth would she suddenly change? You two were together so much."

"I know we were. We were——" He stopped as tho his good breeding had stepped in to warn him against chattering about his private affairs with chance acquaintances. But his need to talk to some one was too strong. He swallowed hard and said, "We were going to be married."

"That doesn't surprise me," Collie said gently. "I knew you were terribly in love with her."

"Did you? Could you tell by looking at me?"

"Yes, I could."

"Then you must know how she felt, too. Did she seem in love with me?"

His eyes were eager as he looked toward her. He was pleading for some hope, some assurance that this bad dream he was living thru was only a strange, agonizing interlude.

"Yes, I suppose so. But Jane was always so—so easy to understand." Then his story came. It came slowly, in broken phrases, sometimes incomprehensible to Collie but always it went on as tho Richard were powerless to stop it.

• • •

"We eloped, Jane and I. We went to Edgeville. That is, we started for Edgeville. She must have loved me to want to marry me. Mr. Slater was there. At the state line, you know. He wouldn't let us pass. He said, you know, a lot of things about parents and duty and all. It sounded right, and besides he wouldn't let us pass. I came home alone—I drove home all by myself. He drove Jane—I don't know how it happened. I don't even know what happened. I'm still a little dazed, I guess. At about half past 9 the next morning she 'phoned and I thought—you know, maybe riding or a swim or tennis, but her voice sounded funny. She said she wanted to see me right away. I knew it was serious because she sounded so strange. I met her and we took a walk. She said she was glad that Mr. Slater had stopped us. She said she had been mistaken about being in love with me and that we never could be married now. She said I must forget about her because no matter what happened she couldn't marry me."

Collie considered for a moment. "Perhaps she was angry, Richard, at your letting some one talk you out of the elopement."

"No. She wasn't angry a bit. She was very nice and kind and—and sort of like my sister. She——" He turned away and Collie knew that he was going to tell her now the thing that had hurt him most. "She said she had found that she was in love with some one else. She said she was going to marry Van Slater."

"Jane told you she was going to marry Van Slater? Why, Richard——" Collie shut her lips swiftly on the words that had leaped to her mind. The girl had never meant a thing to Van Slater.

Collie stared down at Black Girl's sleek dark head. She could see so many things now. She could see Van turning from her that night she had refused to marry him. She could see him trying to ease his disappointment by embroiling himself immediately in another love affair. But somehow she could not see him purposely reaching out and stealing young Richard's sweetheart. That wasn't like Van. He wouldn't entertain himself with a girl who meant nothing to him and so much to the boy. There must be more to this disjointed story. There must be things that Richard was not telling, things that Richard did not know.

And she remembered the day when they had all ridden together and she had searched her mind for the answers to questions that had troubled her then. She recalled now that she had wondered that day why Jane had looked at her with envy. She had wondered why Jane had been overwrought and on the verge of hysteria. The pieces were beginning to fit together. Jane had envied her because Van had particularly wanted Collie on the ride. Jane had been in love with Van and he had treated her with indifference.

Lives of Two Saints Make Moving Book

"THE EAGLE AND THE DOVE," by V. Sackville-West. [Doubleday, Doran, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Richard Sullivan.

When a penetrating and reflective writer turns for material to the lives of the saints, the result is likely to be impressive. Miss Sackville-West's latest book, a pair of contrasting biographical studies of the two great Carmelites, St. Teresa of Avila and St. Thérèse of Lisieu, is a distinguished work, full of much knowledge and of many insights.

V. Sackville-West.

In modern letters sanctity has been in general a neglected subject and on occasion a flagrantly misunderstood one. For this reason, because it is a serious, thoughtful, searching treatment of profoundly beautiful material which has unfortunately grown strange to many readers, "The Eagle and the Dove" takes on a peculiar additional importance, over and above its own intrinsic merit.

• • •

This book may bring to some readers their first intimation of a way of life, a spiritual way, which is uncommon, heroic, yet thoroly human. At the same time it will surely leave other readers, already acquainted with the subject, ready to disagree on certain matters of interpretation, of qualification, and of emphasis. Yet for all its readers it will be a significant and moving experience.

The two saints—the vigorous, charming, incredibly complex Teresa, and the quiet, simple Thérèse—make in themselves an exciting juxtaposition. And there is a remarkable reality, a vividness, an immediacy, about their presentation on these pages. They take shape here, not in cheap plaster, but in rich flesh. And if the Spanish Teresa emerges more vitally than the French Thérèse it is only because of the longer and more striking external drama of her life.

• • •

One feels, too, the contrasted characters moving not across but within their equally contrasting backgrounds of 16th century Spain and 19th century France. In both these periods the general details of scene, of atmosphere, even of spiritual climate, seem to be accurately known and shrewdly selected. The result is more than a sustained air of authenticity. It is an almost tangible sign of concern for a subject which, beyond the craft and the scholarship, gives its own weight and splendor and meaning to this book.

BLUE RIBBON FICTION

A Novel by VINA DELMAR

INSTALMENT VII.

WITH a quickly suppressed sigh Slater turned his attention to his own motor, and the sound of its rapid response seemed to awaken Jane Lansing from a daze. She straightened her shoulders and turned to face Van Slater.

"I'm sorry for everything," he said to her.

"Sorry!" A stinging slap caught him flat on his cheek and caused him to blink back the water that rushed to his eyes. "You're sorry!"

"What are you trying to do, wreck the car?"

"I don't much care."

"Well, I do. I can sympathize with your disappointment but—"

Her voice was harsh as she interrupted him. "O, I saw the setup at a glance. You had to save little Richard from marrying a naughty girl who had let you kiss her."

"Did you really think that?" Slater asked, evenly. "God, what a despicable specimen you must think me." He shook his head incredulously. "You really thought that I'd break this thing up because of a kiss in the moonlight?"

"Why else did you appoint yourself arbiter of Richard's actions? Not by any stretch of the imagination could this be your business unless you thought that kiss indicated a complete—"

"Do you want to know why I sent Richard home? I wonder if you can take it." He surveyed her critically. "You're a phony, and your father's a phony, and that's why I wouldn't stand by and let you put your deal over. The Bronsons are nice people. They're not phony-conscious like I am. They didn't spot you, but I did. I knew it the first night I met you. Not the kiss, sister; forget about that. I could see the phoniness standing out all over your old man."

She sat huddled as far away from him as she could get. Her eyes were fixed on the rear lights of Richard's car and her mouth was thin and tightly set. Her chin jutted out defiantly in contrast to her drooping, tired body.

"The Bronsons are grand people. I've known them a few years, and I've a great deal of respect and personal liking for them. I couldn't stand by and let anything happen that was going to hurt them."

"You think I'd have hurt them?"

"Well, I don't think you'd do much to make them happy. You don't care for Richard."

"How would you know that?"

"By your actions, of course."

"Really?" She shifted her position and drew her fur jacket more closely to her throat. "Would it interest you to know that I intended to be a good wife to Richard? Would you care if you knew that it was my personal vow to myself that Richard would never regret this trip to Edgeville?"

Van's mind wandered away for a moment from the girl beside him. "A man," he said, "doesn't want a wife who's merely grateful."

She disregarded his words and plunged on. "Besides, the Bronsons do like me. They——"

"Yes, I know. They like you at resorts for Richard to dance and flirt with. If it came to marriage they'd inquire a little more carefully into the Lansings. You know they would or you wouldn't have promoted this Edgeville journey."

"Why do you say I promoted it?"

"Quit stalling, Jane. Edgeville was perfect for your purposes. It's harder to pry even a dutiful son away from his wife than to merely talk an impulsive boy out of an unsuitable entanglement. The Bronsons would look carefully into the Lansings before they'd approve an engagement and the Lansings could not stand the probe, could they?"

She did not answer. They drove five miles in silence then Jane spoke.

"You are so smart," she said, bitterly, "so sure that you know all the answers and see thru everything so clearly. What am I, Sherlock Holmes, a fortune hunter? An adventuress on the watch for a sappy husband with a million dollars?"

"Well, what's the answer?"

"Don't you know it? You've known everything else."

He looked at her and saw tears trembling on her dark lashes. Her head was held high but there was no concealing her overwhelming misery.

"Are you in some kind of trouble?" he asked.

"My father's dying." He had to lean slightly toward her to hear the small, flat voice in which she spoke.

"Jane said she was going to marry Van Slater . . ."

"It's his heart. He won't survive another attack."

"I'm very sorry."

"That will help a lot, won't it? Do you know what it's like to live with a person who's dying, a person whom you love? Of course you don't. Well, I do and I could tell you but I won't. I'll ask you something else instead. How would you like to live with that person and have to keep singing all the time, being terribly gay and eternally on the go wondering what you'll find when you get home?"

• • •

Van Slater drove in silence, listening to the tense, low voice beside him. He realized that she had never before unburdened herself to any one and that her outburst must be like the draining of a wound, painful but beneficial.

"You see I'm not supposed to know how ill he is. He wanted to spare me that but the doctor told me so that I'd be prepared. My father felt that I mustn't know. I mustn't be unhappy. I must sing and have my girlish pleasures. You see it hasn't been much fun."

Slater nodded, seeing with awful clarity why the girl's emotions had always seemed so unhealthily close to the surface. Her high pitched laughter had been but a hair-breadth from hysteria. No wonder. Her nerves were raw from the suspense and fear in which she lived.

"I don't quite see," he said gently, "where Richard comes in."

"Don't you?" She paused for a moment and when she took up her story again her voice had steadied. "My father loves me. I'm the sun and the moon and all the stars as far as he's concerned. I know how he feels about me. I've been living for both of us, suffering for both. I lie in bed nights worrying about what he's lying in bed worrying about. Can you follow that screwy thought? He's got to die and leave me behind in a hell of a world with no one to care how I make out. Are you beginning to see where Richard comes in?"

"Yes, I'm beginning to see."

"My father got $20,000 after he heard the verdict from the heart specialist. Where did he get $20,000? I didn't ask any questions. He got it for me. He has sold stocks of one kind or another all his life. When I say one kind or another you'll know what I'm talking about."

Slater did not reply nor was he surprised. He had long ago fitted Clyde Lansing into a pigeonhole that corresponded with Jane's summing up.

"We took a trip to Honolulu and I knew what the trip was for. I had to meet some one. Some one who'd take care of me so my father could die easy. Happy romance, eh? Well, we met the Bronsons. It wasn't difficult for Richard and me to hit it off well together. He can scarcely believe his plan worked as well as it did. He keeps asking me if I truly love Richard. It seems to him too good to be true. You see he doesn't know that what he vaguely hoped for I took over as a serious project. He doesn't know that I'm doing the engineering so that when the bad moment comes he'll have nothing to worry about."

"I see."

"I did pretty well considering everything. I got Richard to within three miles of Edgeville."

Van Slater's dark face was expressionless.

"Of course that doesn't amount to anything now. Once Richard tells his parents how much he thinks of me there'll be a slight pause for station identification and in that pause the Bronsons, en masse, will turn their backs on the Lansings. It would have been hard for them to do if I'd gotten him to Edgeville."

"Yes. You'd have been safe then."

"But think how unhappy you'd be." The bitter note crept back in her voice. "Wouldn't it be terrible if you hadn't detected my dark plan? But of course being as brilliant as you are you see thru everything. You had me right the moment you saw me. You knew I was a fortune hunter and a phony, didn't you? And what do you think now?"

"I think," Van Slater said, "that I should have minded my own damn business."

"But it was your business," she taunted him. "You were the only person present with good sense. Aren't those the words you used?"

"Yes, I used them."

There seemed to be no more to say. They sped on thru the silver night each silently thinking heart-sickening thoughts. He could see her waving gaily to her father from the dance floor at the Casino. He had seen her do that a dozen times and had not known that her stiff little smile had been as agonizing to wear as a medal for valor pinned thru her flesh. He had kissed her and thrown her from his mind with the label "phony" tagged on her. Smart guy. Knew everything. All the angles. Even could tell that Collie Moreland was in love with him.

He slowed down and lighted a cigaret. He had wanted to drive till he could shake Collie from his thoughts. But here she was again, superimposing herself upon the troubled, confused series of misfortunes that were Jane's. Lovely Collie who didn't want him, who would never want him.

He pulled the car up to the side of the road and stopped it. Jane looked around at him questioningly.

"Will you marry me?" he asked her.

She smiled a weary, crooked smile at him but the tears came back to her eyes. "Be careful," she warned him.

Edmund Kurtz Soloist with Symphony This Week on the Aisle

by Claudia Cassidy

AUDACITY in casting is about all "Carmen Jones" and the Paul Robeson "Othello" have in common, but it makes them the most discussed shows of the New York season. Billy Rose put Bizet in blackface, and Margaret Webster cast a great Negro singer as Shakespeare's Moor, and the unexpected happened in both cases. It is as if with one stroke you had blotted out the fire, the passion, and the terror that are the lifeblood of "Carmen," of "Othello" and of its operatic counter-part, Verdi's "Otello."

"Carmen Jones" and "Othello" Most Discussed Shows in N. Y.

Always until I saw Robeson's performance, I wondered if Verdi would have been wiser to make Othello his baritone instead of Iago. But he was right; it doesn't work. Malevolence can lie in the lower range, and infinite compassion, but it lacks the blazing, destructive rage that pours in molten fury from the throat of the great dramatic tenor. Pain is a high note, primitive and piercing.

Despite some unimaginative costuming which fails to take advantage of his superb stature, Mr. Robeson has the commanding dignity and much of the awesome presence for a barbaric and powerful Othello. But his voice, that wonderful, voluminous voice, like deep piled velvet, is fatally gentle, at times even monotonous. They say Salvini's Othello was so terrifying the hazard of the handkerchief evaporated into the unquestioned mists of make-believe. Robeson's Othello is not terrifying at all. He is a tormented, bewildered man, goaded to self-betrayal. Shorn of true tragedy, the death scene lacks the shuddering horror of inexorable destruction, but it has one vocally unforgettable moment. That is when Othello murmurs to the dying Desdemona,

"Not yet dead? Not quite yet dead?
I that am cruel am yet merciful,
I would not have thee linger in thy pain.
So, so."

The brooding compassion that is the heartstring of Robeson's voice touches the mercy killing of those two last words with a tenderness that haunts the remembering ear. Cast that voice properly, and Robeson will become an actor, if only by eavesdropping.

José Ferrer's highly touted Iago is a clever fellow, but not a brilliant one. Uta Hagen's Desdemona is a pale lily of a girl like a princess in a fairy tale, which reminds me of Guthrie McClintic's conviction that if Margaret Webster.

Paul Robeson.

Muriel Rahn.

"Othello" is to stand up dramatically, Desdemona must be a woman of such passionate nature that both her marriage and Othello's suspicion are motivated. Margaret Webster's Emilia is light and sure in touch, an expert job, tho she says Constance Collier [Faversham's Emilia] recently reproached her, insisting that once the handkerchief is stolen, Emilia is a tragic figure. Miss Webster, meanwhile, is looking wistfully at "Antony and Cleopatra," but has no suitable cast. What war has done to some of "Othello's" casting shouldn't happen to Shakespeare.

No Lasting Violence.

A lot of "Carmen Jones" is more fun than De Lawd's fish fry in "The Green Pastures," but it isn't "Carmen" and it isn't opera, and I'm sure it never intended to be either. It has done "Carmen" no more lasting violence than was perpetrated by the Moscow production of "Carmencita and the Soldier," that incandescent adaptation with the chorus women ranged on a curving stair, flicking stylized fans to point up the action. The fact that you dance "Choreartium" to Brahms' Fourth Symphony doesn't injure the symphony, it merely proves one good thing can inspire another. "Carmen Jones" won't change "Carmen," or the basic tenets of opera, except perhaps to indicate to diehards that a smart fellow like Oscar Hammerstein II. can achieve a colloquial text that fits Bizet's score [tho not always his meaning] as smoothly as "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'" fits Richard Rodgers'.

The quality that "Carmen Jones" lost in transit in the highheaded brilliance of the Spanish scene, the light and clarity reflected in Argentinita's dancing. The quality it acquired is an easygoing slouch, and the transition is often amusing, some times hilarious. Carmen is the Lulu Belle of a parachute factory who turns Joe into a deserter, then lives up to her candid definition of love by leaving him for Husky Miller, the prize fighter, and is killed, not outside a bull ring, but at the entrance to a stadium. Cindy Lou, the Micaela of the piece, is a soprano bystander, who sings "My Joe" at a blue and silver country club, because there are no smugglers in "Carmen Jones."

Cafe Scene Best of All.

Mr. Hammerstein did a remarkable job with the Habanera, retaining the liquid insolence of the music in words that define Carmen as well as Carmen Jones. But the best scene as a whole is in Billy Pastor's cafe—that would be our old friend, Lilias Pastia—where Joe's desertion takes on the poignancy of a war we know too well, and where the quintet turns into a wonderful locomotive number called "Whizzin' Away Along de Track." The Toreador's song loses its impact as "Stan' Up and Fight," but I heard Napoleon Reed, the Chicago tenor, sing the flower song without tricks and with genuine beauty. Charles Friedman, the director, is interested in him, and you would hardly recognize his stagewise performance as coming from the man who sang Radames in our Negro "Aïda." Muriel Rahn, who alternates as Carmen, is known here in recital and at Grant park. She is handsome, with a big, beautiful voice, and she knows what to do with the role.

Billy Rose poured money into the production, and got his money's worth. The stage glows with color and life. But the show stubs its toe badly by transferring the smuggler's scene to a country club, where even the card song curls up and collapses after trying to pretend that "De Cards Don't Lie" is as thrilling as "Toujours la mort!"

Orchestra to Broadcast 5 'Pop' Concerts

Edmund Kurtz, principal cellist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will appear as soloist on the Thursday-Friday concerts this week under the direction of Désiré Defauw. Mr. Kurtz will be heard in Lalo's Concerto for Violoncello in D minor and will take the solo part, together with Milton Preves' viola, in Richard Strauss' "Don Quixote." Mr. Defauw will open the program with Schumann's Fourth symphony in D minor.

Edmund Kurtz.

The Young People's concert on Wednesday at 3:30 will have as violin soloist 11 year old Samuel Magad, who will play a movement of Mendelssohn's Concerto in E minor. Mr. Defauw will conduct Strauss' "Don Quixote" and the audience will sing "My Own United States."

The Saturday night "Pop" concert will have a decided novelty in the form of a double bass solo, a fantasia on themes from Smetana's "The Bartered Bride," played by the orchestra's first desk bass player, Vaclav Jiskra. Mr. Defauw will conduct Beethoven's "Egmont" overture, "Dance of the Seven Veils" from Strauss' "Salome," and Shostakovich's Fifth symphony.

• • •

Beginning March 25 the Chicago Symphony orchestra will broadcast a series of five Saturday afternoon concerts from Orchestra hall as a sustaining feature of the National Broadcasting company. The remaining concerts of the "Pop" series, beginning with that date, will be changed to Saturday afternoons at 2, and the broadcast will consist of the first hour of the concert. The series will be known as "The Festival of Symphonic Favorites" and will be presented on March 25, April 1, 8, 15, and 22. Désiré Defauw will conduct the entire series and the usual "Pop" admission prices will prevail. The final concert on April 22 will be the concert which is given annually for sustaining members of the Orchestral association as part of the membership campaign.

Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Orchestral association, has announced that the present season has been the most successful of any for the last 10 years. Season ticket sales for the 1943-'44 season have amounted to $192,000 as against $174,000 last year. Mr. Ryerson states that plans for next season are being formulated under the direction of Mr. Defauw—indicating the conductor's reëngagement—and that contracts will shortly be signed with soloists.

Old Joe said to Young Joe . . .

". . . when you get over there in the thick of it, son, you won't have time to think about the fancy ideals you're supposed to be fighting for. You'll be interested mostly in shooting straight, and shooting first.

"But some night when you're lying out under the stars, you'll probably figure the whole thing out—and it will be very simple.

"You'll realize that you're fighting to protect the kind of decency and freedom you were raised in—and will want to raise your kids in, too.

"You'll be fighting to protect the opportunity that all Americans have of starting at the bottom and getting to the top—and that's typically American.

"You're fighting to protect your right to live your own life in your own way without being pushed around by some bright young bureaucrat who wants to do all your planning for you.

"That's about all there is to it, son. But it's mighty worth while—this business of keeping our freedom—of sticking to the things that have made America great.

"I've often thought that our own family was a pretty good example of what can happen in this country—and nowhere else. I started doing odd jobs in this very hardware store, when I was ten years old. Made up my mind I'd own it some day. Nothing in the world to stop me —if I really wanted it.

"We didn't have cars and trucks and airplanes in those days. No radios. No telephones, movies, or electric lights.

"I didn't have much education—didn't have the time or money to get it. But I made up my mind that my own children would have some of the things I didn't have.

"You've had a good education. You went to college. You've traveled around the country in your car. You've seen how the other fellow lives. You keep up to date through your radio and your reading.

"And, son, it's hard to believe that most of the inventions, advantages and improvements that have made you more efficient and more comfortable, have happened in my lifetime.

"But that's the very thing I'm talking about. That's the power of America. We've got push in this country—and ingenuity—the determination to keep on getting stronger and better all the time.

"And all of us have got to see that nothing stops that kind of progress—neither enemies from the outside, nor from the inside.

"You're a chip off the old block, son. You think about the way I do. You work hard—very hard. But you've had more advantages than I had. And you're a better man in every way. You'll go farther.

"Just remember this, my boy—you're a free agent. Your future is under your hat. You have seen what our American way of doing things has meant to you and me and millions of others, in opportunity, progress and happiness. That's what you're really fighting for, son. You put the heat on, over there—and I'll put it on over here."

THE LITERARY SPOTLIGHT

by Fanny Butcher

THREE spectacular visitors last week enlivened our literary circles and the audiences who had the privilege of hearing them talk. . . . Raoul Aglion, author of "The Fighting French," came here under the auspices of France Forever to lecture before the Lake Shore League of Women Voters, to give a talk to a large Negro mass meeting at the Metropolitan Community church, and to be present and speak at the annual meeting of the Chicago chapter of France Forever.

At luncheon last Sunday M. Aglion talked about [among all sorts of literary things] how hard it is to translate a really typical French book into English. . . . He speaks English with as much ease and fluency as he speaks French, tho, like every one except the truly bilingual, certain words have a noncolloquial stress. . . . He said that he had written "The Fighting French" directly in English because it was intended for an English-reading audience. . . . A French publisher in New York wanted to publish it in French and asked him for his original French MS. . . . Of course there was none.

M. Aglion was asked to translate his English book into French, tried to, found it impossible, and finally wrote an entirely new book in French. The facts are all the same, he said, but there are no two sentences exactly alike. . . . He also confirmed my certainty that Gontran de Poncins' latest book to be translated, "Home Is the Hunter," was written some years ago.

De Poncins is now in service in the far north. . . . You remember his marvelous book about the frozen polar regions, "Kabloona." . . . His contract with his publishers, who are the same as Raoul Aglion's, Reynal & Hitchcock, promised a book and De Poncins was too busy fighting a war to write a new one, hence "Home Is the Hunter," delicately and charmingly written, but with an atmosphere which seemed economically incongruous today to many of its readers.

Sigrid Schultz Visits.

Reynal & Hitchcock's most spectacular author at the moment, Sigrid Schultz, was also here. . . . She stayed with one of our own distinguished writers, Janet Ayer Fairbank . . . She lectured before the Wilmette Woman's club last Saturday and at the Women's Athletic club on Thursday. . . . Sigrid Schultz's "Germany Will Try It Again" is the most terrifying and the most revealing of the books about Germany, for she makes it so undeniably and simply clear that Germany began planning this war before the armistice of 1918 was signed—and will try it again!

Catholic Press Month.

Under the auspices of Extension magazine, in celebration of Catholic Press month, last Monday and Tuesday were days of great importance at the Drake hotel. . . . An art exhibit of original cover paintings and illustrations greeted an enormous crowd who on Monday night filled the ballroom, the gallery, and looked longingly in when they saw no empty chairs.

John Farrow, author of "The Pageant of the Popes," which was proclaimed the most important Catholic book of 1943, was the evening's bright particular star. . . . He is a Hollywood producer. . . . He directed "China," "Wake Island," and "The Hitler Gang," and is the husband of Maureen O'Sullivan, "of the movies, not of the rubber heels," as I overheard one person solemnly explain in a loud whisper to an elderly lady who looked blank at the mention of the name.

Comdr. Farrow enlisted in the Royal Canadian navy when Germany entered Poland. . . . As he told movingly of writing "The Pageant of Popes," part of which was done while he was at sea on an anti-submarine ship armed with only one gun and 25 rounds of ammunition, he said the same thing I have heard so many writers say—that writing nourished, comforted, rejuvenated them. . . . Comdr. Farrow said that during the long months of patrol duty writing was his only recreation, and often, he said, when he relieved a fellow officer on watch he would be greeted with, "Have you knocked off another pope yet?"

While he was at sea, he was stricken with typhus and spent long weeks on a tropical island in the care of Negro nurses, and with no white men about. . . . At that point he stopped his prepared speech and said, with great earnestness, "I see no Negroes here. Is it their fault or our fault?"

"The Pen and the World."

Louis Zara, author of "Against This Rock," the biography of the Catholic emperor, Charles V., opened Monday night's mass meeting with an illuminating talk on "The Pen and the World," and Capt. Joseph Patrick Connelly of the Royal Canadian navy gave a deeply religious message, punctuated by a quip from Clem Lane, master of ceremonies, that Mrs. Shaw has not put the Irish in their place yet.

On Tuesday afternoon a unique meeting was held for nuns only, with THE TRIBUNE'S own young Maureen Daly and THE TRIBUNE'S once own, when young, Eddie Doherty reviewing their own well known books, "Seventeenth Summer" and "Splendor of Sorrow."

The picture which Bishop O'Brien conjured up of the trials of travel reminded me of an idea to keep people from traveling which Robert M. Yoder, author of the forthcoming "There's No Front Like Home," has. . . . Mr Yoder thinks that discouragement should be really organized, that slogans expressing the natives' true feeling toward tourists would help. . . . He suggests: "You're Just a Pain to Picturesque Maine" and "Why Be a Pest to the Sun-Kissed West?"

Lifeboat Incident Related by Woman

"STANDING ROOM ONLY," by Elizabeth Fowler. [Dodd-Mead, $2.]

The thrilling log of a 10 day voyage by one woman and 34 men survivors of a torpedoed freighter bound from the African Gold Coast to America. In a 26 foot lifeboat they suffered storm, cold, rain, scanty rations, and "standing room only" space until they made landfall at Barbadoes. A dramatic and moving record of an epic small boat voyage from the feminine viewpoint.

Color Change Alters Man's Racial Ideas

"THE DOVE FLIES SOUTH," by James A. Hyland. [Bruce, $2.50.]

Reviewed by G. E. Q. Johnson.

The author spent 15 years in active work in the south as factual preparation for writing this novel.

"Night and day—day and night, George Woodward had been on the run. Everywhere he turned there was a high wall."

Lawyer and planter, proud and haughty, he had commenced a political career by a radio talk, advocating the segregation of Negroes on reservations. He was short tempered and suspicious of colored blood in his veins. He treated sharecroppers and others with cruelty and violence.

• • •

An experiment in depigmentation changed the color of his skin to coal black. Discovering this upon awakening he flees in terror, and as a Negro, is arrested and brought to trial as the kidnaper of George Woodward. A wolfish mob had packed the courtroom bent on spilling his blood. A frightened judge and a bewildered district attorney arranged his escape and he fled with the mob in close pursuit.

Everywhere he goes in flight from the white man's law, Woodward finds kindness and sympathy among the Negroes, harshness and hostility among the whites. Forced to live as a Negro, he comes to learn at last how the world looks to a black man, and thus gets a new viewpoint of humanity.

• • •

The book does not preach. It does not argue. The author sketches a stark and realistic picture with deep sympathy and understanding. Pathos and humor abound. As the book draws toward the traditional happy ending the reader is left to answer the question as to whether or not this field should be left to the communist and anti-American elements in which to plant poisonous propaganda, or whether intelligent leaders among both races will cultivate this field and prepare it for a harvest which will enrich the American way of life.

Writer Chronicles First 4 War Years

"FOUR YEARS: A Chronicle of World War II. by Months," by Adrian Van Sinderen. [Coward-McCann, $2.75.]

This is the only reference work available which covers the first 48 months of the war in a single volume. Mr. Van Sinderen has produced a concise and comprehensive book, but its value for reference purposes is reduced by a too sparing use of dates. There are many useful "quotes" from important documents and speeches, and a good index has been appended.

'Little Jo' Is a Superb Story of a Humble People

"THE LIFE AND DEATH OF LITTLE JO," by Robert Bright. [Doubleday, Doran, $2.]

Reviewed by Will Davidson.

Out of the heat and the mud and the poverty and the strange, warm fellowship of the land of the Penitentes, come Little Jo. He is a rugged fellow, after an inauspicious and almost unsuccessful start in life, and he needs every atom of his intense belief that life is good in order to negotiate a path beset by troubles.

Chief of those difficulties is Aunt Luz, a sadistic psychopath who resents cruelly the fact that Jo's father killed a man, and the fact that the community seems to find much less to favor in her than in the murderer. She takes Little Jo after the death of his mother, whom he loved fiercely and completely, and thru him tries to release upon her townspeople all the vindictive hatred stored up in her gaunt body.

Little Jo, however, has a great good friend and counselor in Cornelio. It is Cornelio who teaches Jo to play the guitar and sing the songs of the heart as his father did. It is Cornelio who instills in him the mystic, rather noble understanding of the essential dignity of man, altho Cornelio never would have called it that.

"Little Jo" is a superb story of little people—the little people who inhabit the world, and who, if they could express their feelings, or even codify them in their own minds, might give their more literate fellow beings a hint as to how this world could be run in peace and in kindness, and in devotion to the Man who pointed to the first and second commandments as the outline of a good life.

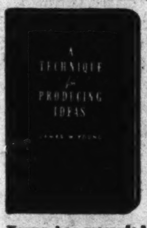
A Technique for Producing Ideas



Where do the money-making ideas come from—those ideas that make successful novels, radio programs, moving pictures, advertising campaigns, and businesses? James Webb Young, one of the highest paid idea men in the advertising business, set out to answer this question for his students at the University of Chicago. The result is a little book that you can read in an hour but will remember the rest of your life. In the simplest and clearest of language Mr. Young has succeeded in describing the way the mind works in all creative people. He gives you the formula which they consciously or unconsciously follow in producing ideas. He shows you how to train your mind so that idea production is, as he says, "as definite as the process by which motor cars are produced." Enthusiastically endorsed by editors, college professors, poets, advertising men, salesmen, and business executive who have read it. Send for your copy of A TECHNIQUE FOR PRODUCTION IDEAS now. Only $1 postpaid. Money back if you don't say it is worth $10 to you. Advertising Publications, Inc., 104 E. Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.

Put Yourself to Sleep

A TESTED METHOD FOR COMBATING INSOMNIA!

IF you have been lying awake night after night, trying vainly to "make yourself go to sleep" and realizing that the harder you try the less rest you get, then here at last is the help you have been looking for.

This new book, Put Yourself to Sleep, is one of the most unusual guides ever written. It doesn't ask you to study or exercise in any way. Its sole purpose is to put you to sleep, when you want to sleep. And the success it has had is so phenomenal that we are now sending it, on an absolutely free trial basis, to those who have had trouble getting a good night's rest. You pay nothing in advance. You try this book for five days. And then, if it doesn't bring you actual relief — actual sleep — there's not one penny of payment.

How This Book Works

Max Mann, who for years has studied the causes of insomnia, has written this book. His method of putting a person to complete, restful, refreshing sleep is now being used in hospitals all over the country. It works.

This book is a small one. Of all the books ever written, this is perhaps the only one that wants and expects you to go to sleep while you are reading it! Putting you to sleep is its whole purpose. You go to bed—you read—you sleep.

This Book Will Put You to Sleep!

Put Yourself to Sleep accomplishes its goal scientifically and effectively. You get into bed—no matter how wrought up or nervous you may be. You take this small book in your hands You start to read. And before you know it you are off to sleep!

Hard to believe? Perhaps it is. And that is why we offer Put Yourself to Sleep on this sleep-or-money-back basis.

THE JUNIOR BOOKSHELF

By Agatha L. Shea.

Director of Young People's Work, Chicago Public Library.

WHO THEY ARE.	WHAT THEY DO.	VERDICT.
"THE STOLEN ORACLE" by Jay William. [Oxford, $2.]	Two Roman lads are the heroes of this lively mystery adventure tale in the days of Augustus Caesar. A chance street encounter makes them friends, and very soon they find themselves running down the theft of the Sibylline books. Their solving of the mystery makes exciting reading for 12-15 year old readers.	Authentic background makes this an excellent addition to stories of early Rome, a locale of unusual interest to our young people today. A fine adventure, well written and attractively illustrated. Good supplementary reading for Latin students.
"SOME FOLLOW THE SEA" by Gregor Felsen. [E. P. Dutton, $2.50.]	17 year old Chris Hollister loved the sea, and when the navy turned him down, he found a place in the merchant marine. Lurking subs, torpedoed ships, and dying comrades almost break his spirit, until he finds the gun unmanned which needs him.	A well authenticated story of the United States merchant marine full of interest and action for readers of any age over 12. Includes supplementary section of merchant marine photographs. A stirring, realistic picture of the men who "keep 'em flying."
"THEY PUT OUT TO SEA" by Roger Duvoisin. [Alfred A. Knopf, $2.]	Story of the explorers from the days of the Phoenicians to those of Magellan, and of the contributions of each to the making of the world's map. A true adventure tale with delightful pictures and story text.	One of the most fascinating additions to our geography shelves which has appeared in some time. Well written, attractively illustrated and well indexed.

"THE RETURN," by Margaret Rhodes Peattie. [Morrow, $2.]
"GOD'S FRONT PORCH," by Ketti Frings. [Morrow, $2.]

Reviewed by Kenneth Horan.

That time of heart's desire, when the war shall have ended and the boys are home again has been foreseen in these two stories, one of a friendly earth, the other of a friendly heaven. The people who await their sons and brothers and lovers in the New England town of "The Return" are no more eager to see them than is the kindly, bespectacled fellow so saddened by the waywardness of his children, who sits on the front porch of his ancient residence in the clouds, philosophizing, as he rocks to and fro, and then hurrying down to the gate to greet a new arrival.

Margaret Rhodes Peattie.

• • •

"The Return" is a slice of life in New England on that halcyon day when peace has come once more. Old Gen. Sedgwick paces up and down between the yew trees of his estate, anxious that his new Irish daughter-in-law shall like America. Out in the country the Needham family await their son Ben, and when the train pulls in they discover he lost a leg at Corregidor and someone else will have to do the plowing. So it goes, all over town, with people ecstatic over the return of their beloveds, many of whom are maimed in body, but all of whom, by God's mercy, are whole in spirit.

It's a moving thing, this old fashioned, up-to-date little tale of an age old welcome for a home-coming so modern that it is still in the future. A happy thing on which to ponder, a gracious, sympathetic, neat little story, this is of the substance dreams are made of, some day to come true.

• • •

But "God's Front Porch" is something else again. That fearlessly imaginative young woman, Ketti Frings, who wrote the enchanting and impossible story about a tree, "Mr. Sycamore," continues her wilful fantasies in this story about the old gentleman with the whiskers. As in her earlier novel, "Hold Back the Dawn," she speaks with authority about places and people that are only ideas to us of more pedestrian ways. However, hers is a comforting philosophy, for as she tells of God welcoming the men and women who have died to save their country, she makes us glad He is so homey and understanding, so lacking in the austere. Any one, even the lowliest sinner, would be glad to meet this God.

Ketti Frings.

There is a feeling of peace about both these books that is like a hospitable old house. Be they living or be they dead, they—the brave army of heroes—are awaited with love.

BOOKS ALIVE

by Vincent Starrett

With allied armies converging on the Eternal City, I am aware that this is the time to emit some thoughtful reflections on Hannibal or Caesar — or Napoleon — but nothing profitable occurs to me, so I will just say a few words about Simon and Schuster. In an open letter to reviewers, dated last month, this ingenious and resourceful publishing house noted the passing of its second decade in the business, and indicated its determination to carry on indefinitely, certain that the next 20 years would hold as much fun and excitement as the first 20. This department offers its congratulations.

Some interesting figures are quoted in the letter. Since Jan. 2, 1924, these publishers have considered some 50,000 manuscripts and have published, by actual count, just 733 books. Comment is almost unnecessary. As Jimmie Durante would say, everybody wants to get into the act. It isn't that bad, of course, but one's heart sinks — thinking of those 50,000 manuscripts. Assuming that some of them were quite good and were accepted for publication by other houses, and are now perhaps enjoying well deserved popularity, I venture to think that 49,127 are still passing and repassing one another in the mails; unless, after 20 years, their authors have given them up as a bad job, in which case they may be at the bottoms of innumerable trunks.

Either way, it is a saddening thought, and the unsuccessful authors have my sympathy; but I am bound to add that probably no great work of art has been lost to posterity. As a very young writer I used to think that masterpieces always were rejected, and the oftener my stuff was thrown back at me the greater I thought it must be. I know now that it was rejected simply because it wasn't good enough. Whatever an unsuccessful writer may think, there is no conspiracy of publishers to keep him out of print. I doubt that any really important work ever is lost for want of a publisher; not now, in our time, at any rate — there are too many publishers and the competition is too keen.

Kipling's Book Burning.

Most writers come to realize this, in time. They look back on their early efforts with embarrassment, and are profoundy grateful that quantities of it didn't get into type and circulation. Even Rudyard Kipling! His publisher, Frank Doubleday, once visited him in England and discovered the famous man crouched in front of a roaring fireplace, hurling bundles of manuscript into the flames. Every instinct of the publisher was outraged. "For heaven's sake, Rud," he said, "what are you doing?"

The great man gave the burning papers a final savage thrust of the poker and looked up. He said: "Well, Effendi, I was looking over some old papers and I got to thinking. Nobody's going to make a monkey out of me after I die!"

But to get back to Simon and Schuster. . . . "After all the winnowing and testing, the tumult and the shouting, the cavalcade of numerous disappointments and occasional lucky breaks, the procession of flops d'estime and succés de fiasco," the publishers found they had an active "back list" of just 102 books, some of them of course fairly recent. The difference between 733 and 102 is, I take it, the number of books which over 20 years have fallen by the wayside. Some of them may have sold admirably before falling; I don't know. Unquestionably many were good books that didn't sell admirably. Bearing in mind that a horde of other publishers, in business for more than 20 years, could show even larger figures and similar — I have no doubt — percentages, it will be seen that a new set of reflections is in order, and where are we now? I don't know.

At any rate, the situation is not displeasing to Simon and Schuster. They are philosophic about the flops, happy about the successes, and looking forward to another 20 years of adventure. It's a good letter and a good philosophy.

Picturesque Amy Lowell.

One of the most picturesque literary personalities produced by the American scene was Amy Lowell, the cigar smoking imagist poet, who died in 1925. There is a charming page about her in Ferris Greenslet's autobiography, "Under the Bridge" [Houghton] that will be frequently quoted: "Somewhere within that face and form so closely resembling Holbein's Henry VIII.," wrote her publisher, "was hidden a heart that the world and the critics missed. She was avid of affection, adventure, life. . . . For a dozen years I dealt with her, disagreed with her; fought, capitulated, made up, and smoked the cigar of peace without victory, to fight again; but with never a break in confident friendship. When she died, it was as if a force of nature had been turned off."

Mr. Greenslet thinks there is too much of "amusing reading about her eccentric mode of life and Napoleonic methods of publicity," but in large part these will preserve her reputation along the years, a circumstance that would not have displeased her, I think. She was "a sort of monstrous legend," according to another writer. She was very stout, she swore loud masculine oaths, she garbed herself grotesquely, she slept in the day time and worked at night, she kept a dozen pitchers of ice water constantly at hand, she was immensely autocratic, she once kept seven untrained sheep dogs who overran her dinner guests; and withal, it is said, she was "no poseur."

Resemblance to George Sand.

I wonder if her several resemblances to the lady who wrote as "George Sand" ever have been noted. In a letter to Mme. Hanska, Balzac wrote: "I found her in her dressing gown, smoking an after dinner cigar, beside the fire in an immense room. She wore very pretty yellow slippers with fringes, coquettish stockings, and red trousers. Physically, she has acquired a double chin, like a well fed priest. . . . She goes to bed at 6 in the morning and rises at noon. She smokes to excess and plays, perhaps, too much the grande dame."

That is a description of Mme. Dudevant — "George Sand" — in 1838, but it isn't a bad picture of Amy Lowell, almost a century later.

Correspondents' Story.

Curt Riess is the editor of a story of war and pre-war years as told by more than 125 correspondents, including many of the best known ones. Putnam's will publish the book in May.

Heart in Mouth.

"With My Heart in My Mouth" is the title of a story of the naval fighting in the South Pacific area by Duncan Norton-Taylor, to be published by Coward-McCann in May.

Many Band Leaders Swapping Batons for Uniforms

List Includes Lt. Williams, Wright, Wilde

By Will Davidson.

When you stop to think about it, there are going to be a goodly number of absentees in Chicago's orchestra world this spring. No more of Griff Williams' music, for tomorrow he reports to Fort Schuyler, N. Y., to learn what that stripe and a half on his navy uniform means. No more of Charlie Wright's sprightly tunes at the Drake, for tomorrow HE reports to the coast guard. No more Emile Petti music at the Pump room after March 10, for Emile goes east to organize a big band, I'm told. Tommy Low, his singing guitarist, will carry on here until Ray Benson comes in late in the month. No more Eddie Oliver after mid-April as Eddie has strong hopes of being a marine by then. Ran Wilde, at the Palmer House, is service bound, too, any time now. And tonight 1-A Carl Schrieber bids adieu to the Avalon ballroom.

Del Courtney.
[Seymour Photo.]

BUT, Del Courtney carries on at the Blackhawk until May, which will make it a six months' run for him there; Neil Bondshu will be at the Mayfair room for some time; Jimmy Joy seems a permanent resident of the Bismarck's New Walnut room, and the Panther room keeps bringing back the big names, month by month.

• • •

The Hotel Sherman, in fact, brought Jimmy Dorsey back Friday, under its usual veil of press release secrecy, and that is good news for swing fans. It was quite a week-end, in fact. The Stevens brought in Bonnie Baker as the new star of its show which features Bernie Cummins' band; the Bismarck added Phil D'Rey, ventriloquist, to the show surrounding the beautiful Talia and played so well by Jimmy Joy; the Blackstone announced that Frank Fay would be held two more weeks, with the Chandra Kaly dancers, and Dorothy Dorben opened a new show in the Marine dining room of the Edgewater Beach hotel, called "Masqapades." It carries out the carnival theme of the Mardi Gras, and features Philip Kinsman, popular baritone; the four Sydneys, bicyclists; Garron and Bennett, ballroom dancers; the Dorben girls in new numbers, and Eddie Oliver's orchestra.

• • •

Looking ahead, I am particularly intrigued with plans for the "Shangri-La" at 222 N. State st., where once the jazz greats jammed in the Three Deuces, then the Rumba Casino had its day. What tickles my imagination most is the prospects for dancing. According to the press release the floor "is supported by highly tempered steel springs above pneumatic rubber . . . designed to make dancing more pleasurable." The picture of assorted dancers bounding skyward after every stomping step is enthralling. Sounds more like a rendezvous for idle risley and trampoline experts.

• • •

There are two record breaking shows drawing to a close in Chicago—Hildegarde's at the Palmer House and Joe E. Lewis' at the Chez Paree. Hildegarde has done the predicted job of bulging the Empire room with paying guests, yet I sometimes think she—or perhaps it's Manager Anna Sosenko—would rather have three persons in the room, provided none of them questioned the dictum that Hildegarde is a great artist. A GREAT artist isn't fearful of criticism. Some of Hildy's work is superb, some in horrible taste. Sufficient it should be, that good or bad, it has tremendous crowd appeal. The Palmer House is glad they have her until April 6.

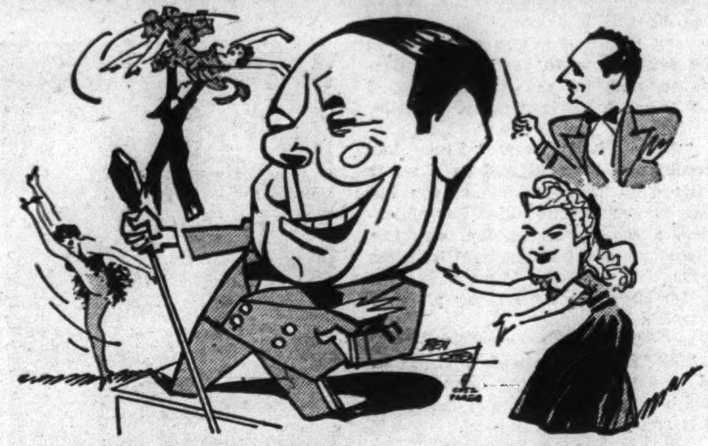
Joe E. Lewis is a great comedian. And a great crowd puller. He bows out March 9 after breaking records like a mad thing.

• • •

Boswelling the Bistros:

Lou Breese takes over the house orchestra at the Chicago Friday, but he'll double at the Chez until the new show March 10. . . . They are adding a shadow lounge at the Sarong room. Little Devi Dja and her delightful troupe go to Hollywood any day for a few weeks of camera work, but will be back. . . . Tuesday the Aragon and Trianon hold leap year parties. Lawrence Welk and Eddie Howard are the music makers, as they will be until Easter Sunday. . . . Los Angeles no doubt considers all those storm stories much adew about nothing.

CHEZ PAREE HEADLINERS



Joe E. Lewis dominates the Chez Paree scene these nights, but he has excellent support from the dancing Berrys, Maestro Lou Breese, singing Rose Marie and dancing Jane Slater.

CLASSICAL RECORDINGS

After long famine caused by the deadlock between the record companies and the musicians' union, the manna of some desirable new albums is beginning to fall in the land, and considerable is the rejoicing among collectors. Of particular interest to Chicago is Victor's memorial album dedicated to Frederick Stock, featuring his famous performance with the Chicago Symphony orchestra of Chausson's Symphony in B-flat major [M-590; four 12 inch records]. Altho the Chausson is an occasional work in the average repertory, Mr. Stock played it in 26 of a possible 33 seasons. He had a particular flair for it and under his direction the orchestra played it magnificently. A sound recording brings it back to life as cherished memorial to a great man. What a pity no recording was made of Stock's masterpiece, that memorable reading of Brahms' First symphony.

• • •

Pierre Monteux, a superb conductor just coming into the full wealth of his musical kingdom, acquires still further stature with a rare Debussy album [Victor M-954; two 12 inch records], offering the San Francisco orchestra in "Gigues" and "Rondes de Printemps," the less familiar sections of "Images," known to many audiences only for the brilliant "Iberia." These sensitive scores are played with quicksilver radiance, and the recording is close to perfection.

Pierre Monteux.

• • •

Sir Thomas Beecham recently added to his shining shelf of Mozart with the release of one of the typical but infrequently played works, the Concerto for Piano, No. 2, A major [Köchel 414], with the Hungarian pianist, Louis Kentner, soloist with the London Philharmonic [Columbia M-544; three 12 inch records]. The performance has the smoothness, spirit, and clarity characteristic of Beecham's Mozart, and Mr. Kentner's playing is admirable.—C. C.

BOOKMAN'S HOLIDAY

By Charles Collins.

EDGAR W. SMITH, historiographer and keeper of the archives of the Baker Street Irregulars, New York chapter, has compiled and issued within the esoteric circle a bibliography of Sherlock Holmes lore which bears the title of "Baker Street Inventory." It has the size, heft, and binding of a play manuscript, and its text is mimeographed. The edition may run to a few dozen copies, and in the national book market its value can only be suggested by the quotation, "beyond price."

This work, which many librarians will hunger for and few will acquire, contains brief bibliographical entries on the Sherlock Holmes stories [called the Sacred Writings], and allied material in books and periodicals—essays, verses, commentaries, parodies, and pastiches. It does not pretend to be complete, but it is the most comprehensive guide to Holmesian lore presently available. It represents scholarly equivalent to the requirements for a master's degree in library science, and we trust that New York university, where Mr. Smith studied for two years without obtaining a sheepskin, will see the point. He has no need for academic honors, however, other than to decorate the walls of his office as director of research in public affairs for General Motors.

• • •

Mr. Smith credits four other members of the Baker Street Irregulars for helpful material. He says in his preface:

"Vincent Starrett's authoritative and carefully chosen listings at the back of his 'Private Life of Sherlock Holmes' supplied the groundwork and starting point for all the rest. David Randall's catalog for Scribner's of the Starrett collection offered an extensive and fertile field for further research and selection. Fred Dannay's exhaustive bibliographical knowledge in the area of the parodies and pastiches was invaluable to the compilations in this too long but no longer neglected branch. And P. M. Stone's comprehensive data, particularly in the magazine and journal categories, were indispensable in the development and checking of many of the rarer items shown."

"Baker Street Inventory" lists 24 titles by Vincent Starrett and 12 by Christopher Morley. No other writers on the subject have approached their fertility, and thus it is clear that these two genial men of letters are to be regarded as the Panchen Lama and the Dalai Lama of the cult.

• • •

H. C. Bailey, who ranks among the Big Five or Ten of English detective story writers, occasionally varies his tales about Mr. Fortune, the medical expert of Scotland Yard, with yarns about Joshua Clunk, a London shyster who is also keen at solving mysteries. His latest work, "The Queen of Spades" [Doubleday, Doran] deals with Clunk's ferreting into a dark affair of black marketeers and German spies.

Pictures Tell Colonial Life in America

"ALBUM OF AMERICAN HISTORY," J. T. Adams, editor. [Scribners, $7.50.]

Reviewed by Paul Engle.

James Truslow Adams.

The pictures cover not only portraits of individuals [there is a very remarkable engraving of William Penn as a young soldier in Ireland] but also the furniture, the cooking utensils, the maps by which the people moved over the country [and how often must these early maps have led them into swamps unmarked and forests never suspected], the earliest settlements, buildings, fisheries, and animals.

• • •

Every picture is an authentic one of the period, and many are of a surprising accuracy and delicacy. The whole book is a fine example of visual education.

Here is a picture of the brass plate left by Francis Drake in California, when he took possession of it in 1579 in the name of Queen Elizabeth, as it was found in 1936 on the western shore of San Francisco bay. Here are the spoons with which the settlers at Jamestown ate, the glasses they drank from and the pipes they smoked after dinner, even the brick kiln they used for their houses, with half-fired bricks still in it.

• • •

It is the intention to publish such a volume for each period of our history. I firmly believe that such a book is indispensable to supplement the regular histories which rely largely on text.

AMONG THE AUTHORS

By Frederic Babcock.

WHAT do college men now in the service like to read? . . . If Princeton graduates and former students are typical of the general run, they go for everything from detective tales to Tolstoi. . . . At a dinner of Princeton alumni in Chicago the other evening, Alex Leach, secretary of the university, gave the results of a recent survey. . . . Princeton men polled overseas preferred, "Fourteen Great Detective Stories," "Modern Short Stories," and Henry James' "Varieties of Religious Experience." . . . Those still in this country voted for "Fourteen Great Detective Stories," Dostoevski's "Crime and Punishment," Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms," "Modern Short Stories," Tolstoi's "Anna Karenina," and Shakespeare's tragedies.

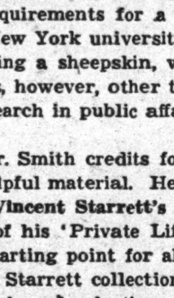
1. ST. TERESA OF AVILA

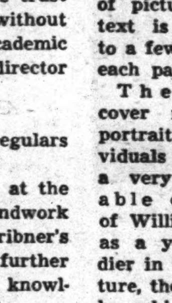
WILLIAM THOMAS WALSH



Thousands have already read this unforgettable biography. You, too, will marvel at the remarkable woman who so arrestingly combined the divine and human, who figured so largely in the drama of medieval Spain, and whose rare spirit left its indelible impress on the spiritual and temporal life of her own and subsequent centuries. $5.00

2. THE DOVE FLIES SOUTH

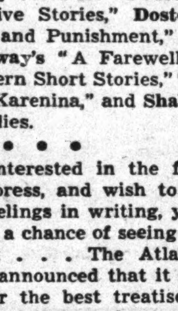
JAMES A. HYLAND



In this powerful novel of Dixie the author presents not only a heart-warming story of American Negroes, but an effective plea for the abolishment of race prejudice. "A striking novel . . . it avoids the current 'realism' of vulgarity but is nonetheless vividly presented . . . the plot moves with speed and continued suspense."—Chicago Daily News. $2.50

3. THE MAN FROM ROCCA SICCA

REGINALD M. COFFEY, O. P.



The world knows Thomas Aquinas as the prince of philosophers. It has hardly had a glimpse into his personal life. Here, at last, is the purely human side of Thomas—great teacher, fearless fighter, above all, gracious, kindly, and humble friend. Here is Thomas the Man, a worthy rival to Thomas the intellectual giant. $1.75

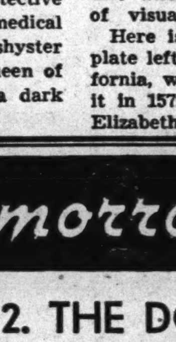
4. WHITE FIRE

E. J. EDWARDS, S. V. D.

This deeply moving story of a young American nun who caught the "white fire" of divine love in a Philippine leper colony symbolizes the poignant sorrows and supreme joys of all who sacrifice their lives in the care of the world's unfortunates. Full of pathos and tragedy, of love and faith, it is a truly beautiful story. $2.75

5. WHAT OTHER ANSWER

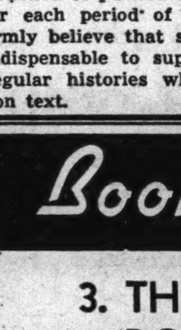
DOROTHY FREMONT GRANT



The most radiant, witty, effervescent conversion book you have ever read. Dorothy Grant "bubbles all over" with new-found Catholicism—yet never loses either her perspective or her sense of humor. Described as "cocktail hour apologetics for the station wagon crowd," it portrays her religious adventures among New York's suburbia. $2.75

6. DEMOCRACY: SHOULD IT SURVIVE

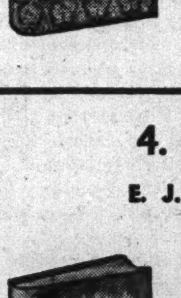
ISSUED BY THE KERBY FOUNDATION



Questions vital to the very existence of our democracy are evaluated in this book by fourteen of the nation's leaders —Walter Lippman, Philip Murray, Thomas Woodlock, Luigi Sturzo, Jacques Maritain, John A. Ryan, Richard J. Purcell, Karl F. Herzfeld, David A. McCabe, Raymond H. Reiss, Louis T. Achille, Lois Curry, Jane M. Hoey, and William H. Russell. $2.00

7. THE OLDEST STORY

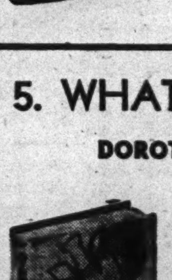
BLANCHE JENNINGS THOMPSON



The stories of the Bible, from Creation to the Maccabees, and from the birth of Christ to the Apocalypse, are fascinating tales of saints and sinners, knaves and cowards, heroes and kings. Here, in charmingly simplified prose, they are retold, preserving as much as possible the sheer literary beauty of the Book of Books. Lively illustrations by Kate Seredy. $2.50

8. KNIGHT OF THE NORTH

CAPTAIN WILLIAM CAMPBELL



Boys and girls who love adventure will thrill to this tale of the frozen north, in which the Canadian Mounties track through the frozen wastes a band of escaped criminals and a Japanese spy. Full of the excitement which preceded Attu and Kiska, it penetrates the uncharted wilds now being opened up by the Alaskan Highway. By the author of SCARLET RIDERS. $1.75

BOOKPLATES OF BOOKMEN

BOOKISH in these as well as design is the bookplate of Rousseau Van Voorhies, Chicago representative of the Macmillan company, who is secretary of the Boswell club and director of the book clinic at the Sheil School of Social Studies.

Mr. Van Voorhies says the Latin inscription at the base of his bookplate is taken from a verse said to have been inscribed in an autograph copy of "The Imitation of Christ," by the 15th century mystic and scholar, Thomas à Kempis. The verse is:

In omnibus requiem quaesivi
Et non inveni
Nisi seorsim sedans
In angulo cum libello.

[Everywhere I have sought rest and found it not except sitting apart in a nook with a little book.]

Whether Thomas à Kempis actually wrote the inscription, which a 17th century Flemish Jesuit named Cornelius van den Steen claims to have seen, it accords well with his character, for Thomas himself said he liked books and quiet corners all his days.

Explaining the bookplate, Mr. Van Voorhies says that the obvious motif is "Wine, books, and song," a variant of the more widely popular "Wine, women, and song." "I am the bookish monk in the picture," says Mr. Van Voorhies, "in authentic Franciscan robes of the middle ages. [The bottle to my right is considered an ink one by my most persistent prohibition friends.] The little bird at the window is doing its artistic best to interpret the song element of my life."

And so we leave him, "in a little nook with a little book." K. G.

Literary Naval Officer Is Honored Guest at Luncheon

By Harry Hansen.

New York.

A COMPLIMENTARY luncheon for an author is usually given when the author has just published a new book, but the other day I attended a royal lunch at the Vanderbilt for Lt. Comdr. Nicholas Monsarrat and learned that no book is immediately ahead. The courtesy was given the commander by the house of Lippincott, which was properly grateful for earlier works, "H. M. Corvette" and "East Coast Corvette," as it should be.

For Comdr. Monsarrat is a graceful writer, able to marshal the king's English for both beauty and terseness, and he confessed to me that he hopes to write fiction when the war is over. He did write one novel, which slid gracefully off the ways and into limbo.

He has been in New York for a few days preparatory to taking command of a new ship of a new class, which the British navy calls a frigate. It certainly looks less like the frigates of the days of sail than anything ever built, being something like an overgrown destroyer. "The builders are just putting all sorts of American gadgets into it," said the commander; "things the British navy used to do without. There's a button for everything."

Shore Leave Hardships.

His crew has shore leave and it disturbs him. There's nothing worse than shore leave in New York, he said. "There's too much hospitality for one thing, and it's worse on the men than the toughest going at sea."

Also present at the luncheon was Lt. Comdr. Philip Steegman, naval adviser of the British navy for this district. Comdr. Steegman's suppressed occupation is portrait painting, and he, too, expects to do some writing. He counts himself lucky because he served in Arctic waters on the H. M. S. Hood and left that ship 24 hours before a German salvo of six guns hit it between turrets and sank it.

Early Americana.

A last minute postponement of publication lends interest to the fortunes of "Bolinvar," by Marguerite Bayliss, a romantic tale of horses and hounds and the landed gentry of the New Jersey hills in the early part of the 19th century. This story, which also has a Virginia angle, might deservedly stand beside another tale of early American families, "Balisand," written by Joseph Hergesheimer.

"Bolinvar" was published originally by Eugene V. Connett's Derrydale press, a famous institution, which made books for a limited public only and, because of this, found its audience materially reduced in circumstances during the depression. A few years ago Mr. Connett gave up publishing, after having enriched libraries with many volumes, superbly printed, about fishing, hunting, riding, fox hunting and, in general, the activities of our late leisure class.

"Bolinvar" was published in an edition of 750 copies at $15 each. This year Henry Holt & Co. announced a trade edition for Feb. 28. Last week the Ladies Home Journal accepted the book for serial publication, and Holt agreed to hold book publication until fall so that the author might have the advantage of the financial reward that magazine publication entails.

Good Stories Needed.

There are several reasons for this. One, which also affects the new edition by Holt, is that there is a good audience for romantic stories. Another is that there are not enough new novels to fill the want. Where are the good novelists? Even if the men have gone to war, the women are not all in the factories.

There are big rewards for stories nowadays—but they must be the stories the public is eager to read. And, recalling "Balisand," isn't it about time that Joseph Hergesheimer came back into the lists with something solid and enduring? He was lured away, I believe, by the chance to write popular fiction for the magazines. Let him go back to the early American scene and give us another fine novel. Hergesheimer is only 64 today.

New School Murals.

Mural paintings are now so forceful that they invariably invite controversy. There is a wide awake institution in New York called the New School for Social Research which pioneered in mural paintings in 1930, before the artists' projects brought murals to high schools, auditoriums, and office buildings. Some are decorative; some are positively violent; all have a message to give. They are not there merely to fill the walls. And now Alvin Johnson, director of the school, has written a pamphlet, "Notes on the New School Murals," which explains and interprets the murals, and ought to be considered an intelligent reply to many objections.

The murals began in 1930, when Orozco offered to donate a mural to the college; then Thomas Hart Benton also wanted to give one. Joseph Urban was the architect of the new school building and he agreed that a mural does not have to melt into the surrounding; if it refused to "stay in the wall" it might have a real place there nevertheless.

Orozco dealt with Latin American subjects. Thomas Hart Benton produced the American at work, not a wage slave but an active producer who enjoyed using his energy; Orozco showed men enslaved, violent pictures of Europeans crushing Asiatics. These murals were painted before these artists were well known for this work; thereafter they had many commissions and Benton, especially, found himself the center of attention.

But the new school discovered that the murals caused controversy, that most of the criticism was political. The "cultivated classes" didn't like Benton's murals because they dealt only with labor; the radicals didn't like them because they accepted life as it is. The Orozco paintings were attacked by different radical groups. And many people said the paintings were not "pleasing." But Dr. Johnson decided that "no honest artist in all history has sought to make his pictures pleasing." He was glad to see people's minds awakened by the murals and he decided that "political criticism of a work of art is seldom injurious." America to him was too young, vigorous, energetic, to be hurt by statements of opinion; moreover, his school was a democratic place, where men could speak out.

Thus Dr. Johnson, who writes with great tolerance and patience, has written a little essay that states the democratic attitude toward controversial paintings. Any one interested in mural painting will want to consult it. The New School, at 66 W. 12th st., is issuing it in 24 pages at 25 cents. The murals are reproduced in black and white.

Constitution Is Imperiled

certain that "the epoch making shift in constitutional interpretation which the Supreme court made at the 1936-1937 term marked the end of an old era and the beginning of a new one." In the first place the personnel of the court was sharply altered. Only two members remained from the court that had seen the New Deal's beginning; seven were recent Roosevelt appointees.

This court permitted the administration "to salvage by different approaches much of the program of agricultural control."

Thru a liberal interpretation of the commerce clauses of the Constitution it weakened state control and by the same attitude toward the 14th amendment it protected personal rights against government encroachment.

• • •

All in all, recent decisions indicate a new trend which some groups believe represents the adjustment of constitutional government to the requirements of a new day and others think reveal the collapse of safeguards vital to American security. Only the future can say which of these is correct.

This is an excellent book for any one who wants to secure a sound background for thinking about present day problems. It is not easy reading, but it is clear and unbiased in its presentation of essential facts.

"Nonce" a Story of Voodoo Rites and Black Magic

"NONCE," by Michael Brandon. [Coward, McCann, $2.25.]

Reviewed by James E. Sloan.

Weird, mystic, terrifying, and shocking with voodoo orgies, "Nonce" is a somewhat baffling book. Depending on which set of standards you judge it, puritanical or ultra-ultra modern, it is either a bad book or a reasonably good one. By turn piercingly psychological or carnal, it tells the story of an explorer who, his appetite for love jaded by countless affairs on an international scale, seeks solace in a semi-tropical section.

Into his domain one day rides a beautiful woman, epitome of all those whose favors he has tasted but who, like him, has tired of romance. Tho she seeks a spiritual mating on a platonic basis, he fears he again will become enmeshed in love and to escape that he kills her. Murder wins him no freedom, however, for he finds that thru the superb, pulsating body of her African servant, Nonce, he can conjure her back into his arms. His journeys to nocturnal reunions behind the veil of black magic touch off a dynamic climax of bloody fury wherein death proves the victor and love's grave finally embraces two bodies.

"Nonce" is not for the squeamish, but it is a lusty piece which packs a full measure of shock, suspense, and stimulus.

The new AVERY HOPWOOD AWARD WINNER (FICTION) is now the new smash hit. Recommended by the Book-of-the-Month Club, the Catholic Book Club, and critics and readers everywhere. $2.50

Notes of Music and Musicians

By Albert Goldberg

Jascha Heifetz, who has been filling the periods between his regular engagements this season by playing concerts for service men, will give his only violin recital of the season at the Civic Opera house this afternoon at 3:30. The program lists three Scarlatti movements, transcribed by Heifetz; Beethoven's Second Sonata for Violin and Piano, Bach's C major Sonata for Violin Alone, Bruch's Concerto No. 2 in D minor, two Paganini-Kreisler Caprices, Nos. 20 and 13, and "Figaro" from "The Barber of Seville," transcribed by Castelnuovo-Tedesco.

• • •

Stefan Bardas, head of the piano department of the school of music, Illinois Wesleyan university, Bloomington, Ill., will give a piano recital in Kimball hall Monday at 8:15. Mr. Bardas studied in Berlin and Rome with Edwin Fischer, Paul Hindemith, Alfredo Casella, Artur Schnabel, and Ignaz Friedman. His program lists Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue, Debussy's first book of Preludes, two ricercari on BACH by Casella, Chopin's Scherzo in B minor, and Schumann's "Carnaval."

• • •

The Indianapolis Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Fabien Sevitzky, will give an all-Russian program at Orchestra hall next Sunday afternoon. Maria Kurenko, noted Russian soprano, will be the soloist, singing an aria from Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Snow Maiden," Pastorale by Stravinsky, two Russian folk songs by Gretchaninoff, and "The Waltz at the Ball" by Dargomijsky. In keeping with Mr. Sevitzky's policy of playing an American composition on each program, he will open with the first Chicago performance of David Van Vactor's "Salute to Russia," and follow with the Introduction and Procession from Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Coq d'Or," in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the composer's birth, which occurs on March 18. Shostakovich's Fifth symphony will conclude the program.

• • •

Gregor Piatigorsky, cellist, will give a recital for the benefit of the University of Chicago Composers' Seminar at Mandel hall Friday at 8. He will play Beethoven's Sonata in A major, Opus 69; Fantasie Pieces by Schumann, Pezzo Capriccioso by Tschaikowsky, the local premiere of Variations on a Rossini theme by Martinu, and smaller works by Prokofieff, Weber, and Chopin.

• • •

David Willens, pianist, will be heard in recital in Curtiss hall this afternoon at 4. He will play a Sonatina of his own composition and works of Haydn, Chopin, Beethoven, Medtner, Shostakovich, and Rachmaninoff.

• • •

Adelaide Bradley, soprano, assisted by Joseph Vito, harpist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will be heard in recital in Kimball hall Friday at 8:15. Miss Bradley lists seven groups of songs and arias and Mr. Vito will play two groups of harp solos.

• • •

Negro dance art from the concert to jitterbug will be presented at the Chicago Dance council meeting at the Cordon club this afternoon at 3:30. A dance cycle showing the progress of the Negro will be presented by the Wendell Phillips High school dance group and other numbers include "Down to De Rivah" by the Ida B. Wells dance group, "Square Dancing in Swing Time," and a jitterbug contest featuring couples from elementary and high schools and junior colleges.

• • •

The Morton High school orchestra, conducted by Louis M. Blaha, will give a concert in the school auditorium this afternoon at 3. Ruth Ann Shuma, pianist, will play Mendelssohn's Capriccio Brilliante, Harry Brabec will play Weber's Polonaise Brillante as a marimba solo, and Marie Marek will play Golterman's concerto cello, No. 4. Orchestra numbers include the overture to Smetana's "The Kiss" and Weinberger's Czech Rhapsody.

• • •

Réne Amengual, Chilean pianist and composer now in the United States on a fellowship from the Institute of International Education, will give a program of Latin American music at Lutkin hall, Northwestern university, on Wednesday at 8:15. The concert is free and open to the public.

• • •

The Universal Opera company will present Verdi's "La Traviata" at the Eighth Street theater Sunday, March 12, at 8. Giovanni Berrafato will conduct and leading roles will be taken by Eleanor Lutton, Robert MacDonald, and Algerd Brazis.

• • •

Lawrence Tibbett, noted American baritone, will appear in recital at the Civic Opera house next Sunday afternoon at 3:30. The event will be the last in the History and Enjoyment of Music series, which has enjoyed the most successful season in its nine years. Subscribers will be asked to ballot on artists they would like to appear on the course next year.

EMOTIONAL

Marsha Hunt has a highly emotional role in "None Shall Escape." Also in the picture are Alexander Knox and Richard Crane. Garrick.

Vaudeville

Chicago theater. Woody Herman, swing clarinetist, and his band feature the bill. Herman and his group will soon be seen in the movies in the new Betty Grable picture, "Pin Up Girl." Specialty artists are Frances Wayne, drummer Cliff Leemans, comedy musicians Vido Musso and Chubby Jackson, and the Woodchoppers, rhythm vocal group from the band. There also is a comedy newcomer, Lenny Gale, and Marion Daniels, dancer.

Report Cites Mental Erosion in War Prisons

Religion Is the Main Bulwark of Internees

By the Rev. John Evans.

None of war's scourges is more poignant than the living death of a prisoner in a concentration camp. While the body, indeed, is alive, imprisonment is so benumbing to the mind that the inner life if not completely extinguished at the best is but moribund.

A news letter issued by the World's Alliance of the Y. M. C. A. reveals how mentality can deteriorate under the impact of monotonous routine, and the occurrence of a physical ill which has brought a new expression into use—"the barbed wire sickness," the equivalent of the civilian prison's "stir crazy."

"A prisoner of war leads a hard life," writes a German, "perhaps more strenuous than life at the front. The confinement steals one's strength day by day. One is tortured now and then by anxiety about one's family and inability to aid them. Finally small things become very big, and everything loses proportion."

• • •

Mental erosion in a prison camp is, as would be expected, directly proportional to a prisoner's intellectual and educational resources, but even the best stocked mind is eventually undermined.

An internee notes that he had lost the power of concentration. He had studied languages from the beginning of his internment with good results, but "he could not carry on any longer because everything slipped from his mind so quickly."

As an example of that loss of a sense of proportion mentioned by the German prisoner, another internee writes: "It is the rooks—I cannot stand the rooks. They whirl above the poplars like ashes driven by the wind. I hear them morn, noon and night screaming for their liberty."

Opposed to this obviously impending disintegration of personality is the mental poise sustained by a musician by pursuing his craft. "I think, perhaps, we cling too much to the outward circumstances and that here is an immense source of strength outside the material life, but of which we make use only to a very small extent."

It is evident here that the musician found repose in that abstraction typical of the hermit seldom found outside spiritual exercises.

• • •

Religion, of course, was the mainstay of the majority as noted by a camp leader who remarks that he had become "more and more a sort of spiritual intermediary," and many prisoners must have turned to religion as a refuge for the first time. The prisoner who writes "We are spiritually sick and need spiritual help which we think has to come from religion" undoubtedly echoes a widespread appeal.

Since some kind of material distraction must be found to relieve camp monotony, a report from a war prisoners' aid secretary reveals a resourcefulness derived from a situation most drab and meager. There existed in his camp no material for any form of activity. Pondering over the problem he noticed the dust on the earth at his feet was variously colored.

"Samples of these dusts were collected," he writes, "and the men asked to produce on a clean floor designs in color using this dust." The idea caught on and soon 1,000 men were competing with designs in flowered carpets, birds pictured flying and planes with airmen aloft. The British military authorities were called in to act as judges in a competition that "had not cost a rupee."

This project furnished a decided break in the prisoners' introspection and checked the development of a boredom which had been intensifying for more than a month.

BROOKLYNITES

Two hearts practically beat as one in this lovey dovey shot from "Whistling in Brooklyn." The cuddlers are Red Skelton and Ann Rutherford. Chicago.

Notes of the Theater

The Goodman theater reports that Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" has broken attendance records for the season and will have four more performances, March 1 thru March 4, at 8:30. A. A. Milne's "Mr. Pim Passes By" will open March 9. The children's theater, meanwhile, offers "The Snow Maiden" each Saturday afternoon in March, at 2:30, Saturday morning, March 4, at 10:30, and Sunday afternoons, March 19 and 26, at 3. "Jack and the Beanstalk" opens in April.

• • •

Herman Shumlin has signed Cornelis Otis Skinner, Dennis King, Dudley Digges, and Barbara O'Neil for "The Searching Wind," Lillian Hellman's new play, destined for New York opening April 11. Howard Bay will design the production.

• • •

Some curious casting lists Conrad Nagel as Max de Winter and Estelle Winwood as Mrs. Danvers in "Rebecca," scheduled to start rehearsal March 13. How about Charlotte Greenwood for Rebecca?

• • •

"Harriet," which will be a year old in New York Friday, will close April 1 because Helen Hayes wants to be with her husband, Charles MacArthur, who is ill. The play will reopen in Hartford Oct. 6, on a tour destined for Chicago. Rhys Williams, who plays Calvin Stowe, leaves the cast at the end of the week to join "Chicken Every Sunday." Robert Emhardt replaces.

• • •

Two of the season's more popular shows are about to invade the book shelves. The book of "One Touch of Venus," by S. J. Perelman and Ogden Nash, will be published by Little Brown March 8, and John Van Druten's "The Voice of the Turtle" is a Random House offering March 10. Each will cost $2.

VOODOO, HUMOR BLEND IN 'CANAPE-VERT'

Exotic Life of Islanders with Demons

"CANAPE-VERT," by Pierre Marcelin and Philippe Thoby-Marcelin. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Fanny Butcher.

The winner of the second Latin American novel contest, "Canapé-Vert," is the first Haitian novel to come our way written by native talent. There has been much written by travelers to Haiti, especially about the native voodoo.

But until "Canapé-Vert" we have never had the truth "straight from the horse's mouth." Edward Larocque Tinker, who translated "Canapé-Vert," says that slang phrase had its origin in Haiti.

The brother authors of "Canapé-Vert" tell us a strange tale of fact and fancy, [their characters' beliefs] mixed like a marble cake, with layers of black magic and superstition and horror thru the simple, often amusing tale of life in a Haitian village. No one is a free agent. Good spirits are often impotent against more powerful evil loas. No man is blamed for murder because it is well known to his fellows that he has been "mounted" by Gen. Anglessou, called "Bucket of Blood."

• • •

When a man bargains with the evil Baron Samedi and does not pay his bargain, his children after him are in the evil one's debt. And the program of warding off evil is as exact as the mathematical table.

Good and evil spirits to these Haitians are often closer, realer than their fellow men. They speak of them and to them with familiarity, even when they fear or implore the evil ones. The reality of the spirits is so taken for granted by the characters that the reader finds himself almost "possessed" with their "possession," for to the characters that "possession" is truer than reality.

The story's motivations are grim, mostly of misfortune, finally of berserk tragedy. But the book is not at all a grim tale. It is not even shocking to the reader when Aladin, obsessed by the old general, "Bucket of Blood" takes a machete and goes after Jose who has stolen the girl he loves and literally slaughters the two sinners, for Jose's and Florina's love for one another was also recognized as an obsession by the community and by themselves, the working out of an old and unpaid bargain their forebears made.

• • •

There is humor in the tale. The gambling, drinking Previlon is sent to the city to buy a piece of pickled pork, three gallons of rum, and five pounds of rice for a death feast and returns empty handed declaring he encountered evil spirits who filled him with drink and misguided his hands in dice throwing.

Edward Laroque Tinker, their translator, probably deserves more than a little credit for the gentle undulance of the prose. He also contributes the interesting "Haitian Background" for the book in which he explains the beliefs of the Haitians. He aptly calls "Canapé-Vert" a "black version of a Greek tragedy," for the humans in it are indeed the tools of their "gods."

In "Canapé-Vert" he says, "we have for the first time in English a vivid and accurate picture of life on the island seen from the inside. Indeed it is so authentic and detailed that it might serve as an excellent sociological record of Haitian rural life."

Ludwig Lewisohn, whose new novel, "Breathe Upon These," is reviewed today by James Gray.

Mountain Boy's Story Rises Above Its Faults as Novel

"SWING THE BIG-EYED RABBIT," by John Pleasant McCoy. [Dutton, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Robert Penn Warren.

"Swing the Big-Eyed Rabbit" has for its central character a mountain boy, Artemis Collins, who is anxious for learning and ambitious to prepare himself to go "outside," who spends one blissful and tortured year at a mission school, and who at the end of that year, just after he has been selected to be sent to Richmond as the most promising student of the school, is expelled because the principal has discovered the fact that he has been seduced by one of the younger teachers.

But we know that Artemis will win his battles, for as he leaves the school in disgrace, one of the students, a girl from outside, a "good" girl, gives him her picture with an encouraging inscription, and we last see him resolutely walking across the mountain, away from his home, toward the nearest town.

Artemis is, however, the central character only by courtesy. Actually, he is not sharply rendered, his problems are presented almost cursorily, and the world of the school does not often come to us in terms of his responses. The author seems somewhat bored with Artemis and with his personal story. Artemis and his story are here, as it were, because a novel has to have a central character and a central story. There is, therefore, a wavering intention at the very center of the book.

• • •

This wavering intention is reflected, furthermore, in the style. We find long stretches of excellent, simple narrative. Then we can find such sentences as these: "There seemed to be a blind spot on Zeb's perceptive powers which rendered him incapable of discerning and according proper respect to differences in wealth, education, and social position." And: "He waited his turn without cupidity or doubting fear, knowing that in this eleemosynary world it would be given in heaping measure without even the asking prayer."

When one discovers that these sentences stand as the paraphrase of the working of the mind of a young, ignorant mountain boy, they seem not only pretentious and clumsy, but crudely snobbish and elephantinely jocose. It comes down to the fact that the reader does not quite know what attitude the author is taking toward his characters, and what kind of response he is demanding of the reader.

• • •

"Swing the Big-Eyed Rabbit" is not, at center, a good novel, but it is a highly readable and interesting book. It is a good book because, despite the fact that Mr. McCoy does not give us Artemis, he can give us a very vivid and convincing world for Artemis to live in. It is a shrewdly observed and meticulously presented world, full of real people.

Furthermore, their doings, especially the doings of the grown people, are given with great narrative skill. In other words, I am inclined to think that Mr. McCoy has the basic equipment of a novelist, and I hope that next time he will give himself an adult for a central character and that he will make up his own mind how he feels about him.

Jeep Is Heroine.

Heroine of "Jezebel the Jeep" is a quarter ton army truck and the principal character is her driver, Johnny. Maj. Fairfax Downey wrote the book, which will be published by Dodd, Mead & Co. late in the spring.

Writer Finds Constitution Imperiled by Today's Trend

"AMERICAN CONSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENT," by Carl Brent Swisher. [Houghton Mifflin, $6.]

Reviewed by Avery Craven.

In 1920, looking back on what the first World war had done to the United States, Charles E. Hughes exclaimed: "We may well wonder, in view of the precedents now established, whether constitutional government as heretofore maintained in this Republic could survive another great war even victoriously waged." That was before the New Deal had begun its sway and before the constitutional stress and strain of an even greater World war had started.

Hughes was viewing with alarm the rapid extension of regulatory power of government over the rights of persons and property. He was not certain but that we had already gone too far. He was advising retreat at the very moment when the most extreme advances were just beginning.

• • •

The story of American constitutional development as a background to present day problems has never been told so well as in Prof. Swisher's present volume. Where most of our constitutional works give heavy emphasis to early days, Swisher gives more than half of his 1,079 pages to recent trends. He insists that the unfolding of constitutional powers has gone on at an accelerating pace and the greater changes belong to more recent days. The reconstruction of the southern states after the Civil war, when the Supreme court practically abdicated its place in government and the President faced impeachment, began the great changes.

The efforts to regulate and control "big business" as it evolved in the period from 1870 to 1900 carried developments even farther and increased the dominance of central government over state government and hastened the control of both over persons and property. These drastic changes came without modification of the Constitution itself as various organizations within the government assumed and had assigned to them new functions of a broader kind. Theodore Roosevelt popularized such changes and made possible several other changes which later came thru the amending process.

• • •

The first World war exaggerated all trends. Wilson achieved for the presidency "far more power than the office had ever held down to that time." The subordination of congress to his will was much more in evidence. And what was most important, "the organizational patterns created for war purposes provided the technical basis for subsequent control of economic life when war powers could not be relied upon as the constitutional basis."

By such means former members of war time agencies became influential agents in the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the national bituminous coal commission, and the various bodies which kept up the unusual activities of the department of agriculture after the food administration came to an end. No wonder that Hughes was alarmed at what was happening to the old constitutional procedures.

Prof. Swisher tells the story of the New Deal and the Constitution without emotion or bias. He understands the unusual social-economic conditions which made action necessary, but he also understands the necessity of having a constitutional basis for action.

He traces the rise and decline of public sentiment which made the enforcement of many questionable acts possible without resort to the courts. He gives a fair picture of the efforts of the administration to find their best cases on which to secure decisions, the failure of NRA and the struggle to remake the court for administrative purposes.

He comes out at the end quite

Dignity and Beauty in a Refugee Tale

"BREATHE UPON THESE," by Ludwig Lewisohn. [Bobbs-Merrill, $2.50.]

Reviewed by James Gray.

Ludwig Lewisohn, an American leader of the Zionist movement, has written a deeply moving story of the Jews once more in flight from persecution. His narrative, based on fact, has to do with a shipload of refugees from the misery of a Ghetto in a Rumanian city. The people elude Nazi vengeance and reach Istanbul on the first lap of a journey toward Palestine.

In Istanbul, however, they encounter the chilly, correct rigidity of British authority. Tho the Jewish agency for Palestine has in its possession many more than enough certificates of immigration to admit all the passengers on the refugee ship, the English officials will not permit them to be used. The administrators of the port order the ship to leave and tho its captain protests that his boat is not seaworthy, it is towed grimly away. Thirty miles out, the battered vessel hits a mine and goes to pieces with the loss of nearly every one on board.

Dr. Lewisohn's point in telling this story in the midst of the crisis of the war is to indicate that the whole world shares responsibility for its afflicted peoples. The sin of the Nazis in their perverse and brutal attack upon the Jews is an aggressive and vicious one; the sin of the civilized world in failing to find a solution for the plight of the disinherited is a passive but scarcely less vicious one. It is the sin, Dr. Lewisohn points out, of Pontius Pilate who washed his hands of the blood of "this just person."

The tragedy of the refugee ship is told beautifully, with dignity, reticence and insight. The narrator is a Jewish intellectual, one of the best and certainly the noblest character Dr. Lewisohn has ever created. If the stuffy American family to whom the story is told hardly seem to be a worthy audience that is a minor flaw in a book of great significance and fine spirit.

Varied Experience.

Howard Hunt, whose new war book, "Limit of Darkness," will be published in April by Random House, has had a varied experience in the war. Discharged from the navy because of an injury in 1942, he went to the South Pacific as a magazine correspondent and while there learned to fly. Recently he joined the army air forces and is now in officer candidate's training.

Chicago Cultural Leaders Are Not One-Track Minded

By Thalia.

Chicagoans differ from the inhabitants of other great cities of the world in many ways, but in none so conspicuously as in their reaction to cultural and civic forces. In New York—and Paris and London before the war—there are groups so engrossed in one phase of creative or economic life that they seldom meet the work or bother to know about the creators of other forms of art. But in Chicago those interested in art are interested in all art. Collectors of old masters are always to be found at the shows of modern art. And the patrons of music are seen at all the concerts, whether they are interested in classical or ultra-modern music.

At no time recently have those who find music their stimulus and their solace (today most of us need both), been given more contrasting experiences than in the ultra-melodic Mozart at the Chicago Symphony and the anti-melodic Hindemith at Mandel hall. In reality Chicago had a Mozart festival, with three all-Mozart programs (two Thursday-Friday concerts and the intervening Tuesday concert) at all of which the dignified and classic pianist Artur Schnabel played with perfection Mozart's delicate and pure music. Many of the Mozart audience had gone to hear the dynamic modern composer Hindemith play his own unmelodic and often strenuous compositions under the auspices of the music department of the University of Chicago. Even the most Mozart-minded wouldn't have missed Hindemith nor the most modern-minded Mozart, because that's the way Chicagoans are.

I saw two great admirers of Mozart having a pre-concert luncheon together on Tuesday at the Arts club, Mrs. Charles Swift, who as Claire Dux sang Mozart divinely, and Arthur Meeker Jr., whose second enthusiasm in life is music. His first is, of course, literature, as he is a novelist of distinction. Despite the gray and dripping skies outside, the Arts club was filled to capacity with pre-concert-goers as was every seat in Orchestra hall.

I met Mrs. Philip Miller arriving breathless at intermission time. She had just come, she said, from christening a boat, one of the Pullman company's new products. I asked her what she had named it, expecting George M. Pullman for her grandfather or Frank O. Lowden for her father. But it was neither. "P C 851," she surprisingly said. Her children were there to see her break the bottle on the boat's prow and one of them exclaimed, "Mother hit it so hard she pushed it right into the water."

One of the small luncheon parties at the crowded Arts club was given by Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank for her guest Mrs. John Franklin Daniel who has a farm near the quaintly named village of Keller's Church outside Philadelphia. During the last war Mrs. Daniel lived in Chicago and was an ardent volunteer worker in the Council of National Defense with Mrs. Fairbank. Until this war she had lived in Paris and in Greece (she was then Ellen Du Poy) and had written two novels.

Mrs. Fairbank has also as house guest Sigrid

Edith Mason Will Tell Experiences as a Prima Donna

By Irene Steyskal.

Here among the home folk, withdrawn from the spotlight of a professional career, she is Mrs. William Ragland, presiding over a gracious home in Lake Shore drive. But, remembering brilliant hours when the voice of Edith Mason made magic in the old "Met" and in Chicago's Auditorium of golden legend, music lovers inscribe about the famous diva their circle of memory, and in it she stands, ever a shining figure among the great in song.

• • •

The Cameo salon has prevailed upon Mrs. Ragland to assume a new role, that of raconteuse, at its next gathering and share with its members and guests the "Reminiscences of a Prima Donna." Now in its 25th year, the salon, founded by Mrs. H. McClelland Hess, who continues at its head, is a group of musicians, artists, and writers, professional and amateur, and of patrons of the arts. Meetings are held in the old Cyrus Hall McCormick mansion at 30 E. Huron st., where Mrs. Ragland will be presented Saturday night. The evening will open with a formal reception at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ragland's story of music and musicians is to have a fitting setting in music. The harpist, Doriss Briggs, will play, and two singers, J. Edward Martin, baritone, and Mariene Dorn, lyric soprano, will give groups of songs, Mr. Martin accompanied by Irene Zaring and Miss Dorn by Ruth Singletary. Dr. Louis Tint, noted for his color photography, will provide an art sequence to the program, showing some of his photographic reproductions of famous old paintings. Mrs. Hess has designated as special guests for the evening Richard Czerwonky, distinguished conductor, violinist and teacher; Mrs. Albion Headburg, who for many years has been identified with groups working for the advancement of art and artists in the community, and John N. Link, reader and teacher.

• • •

Another musical event of the week to which Mrs. Ragland's name gives added interest is the annual opera tea of the Southern Woman's Educational Alliance, for which Mrs. E. Perry Ellwoodin is opening her large suburban home in Chicago avenue, Evanston, tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Ragland will be one of a large company of guests, all identified with the artistic and educational life of the city.

The afternoon's concert, arranged by Mrs. Beulah Christian Mayher, program chairman for the organization, will be given by Adelaide Bradley, soprano, whose accompanist will be Clara Otto, and Dorothe Paulsen, soprano, and Herman Flirth, tenor, both of the Chicago Concert Opera guild, who will be accompanied by the director, Silvio Insana.

Mrs. Samuel P. Whiteside, president of the alliance, and the entire board of officers and directors, will assist Mrs. Ellwoodin as a committee of hostesses.

Most of the larger musical groups will be represented among the guests. Among those planning to attend are Mme. Elaine DeSellem, Mme. Hanna Butler, Mrs. Esther E. Turkington, Mrs. Walter Jefferson Jarratt, Mrs. Margaret Lester,

Boswell Club to Hear P. R. Davis Tomorrow

The Boswell club will hear Philip R. Davis' views tomorrow night on literature denied mailing privileges on grounds of immorality. Mr. Davis, attorney and author, is a student of the federal Constitution and his discussion will center on the constitutional guarantees of free speech in relation to censorship. The group will meet at 8 o'clock in Mario's restaurant, 27 E. Congress st.

Tribune Fashion Competition Called Creative Stimulus

That THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's annual American Fashions contests are an inspirational stimulus of prime importance in the creative field has long been the verdict of the country's designers. A number of entrants in the 1944 competition emphasize this influence.

"The far-reaching inspiration and encouragement you are giving American designers are worth the highest praise and recognition," one competitor writes. "You are creating not only a great opportunity for individuals, but also a means of chronicling fashions in the making."

• • •

Prizes totaling $5,000 are being offered in the 1944 contest. In addition to major awards of $2,000, $1,000, and $500, respectively, there will be 30 prizes for $50 each.

Selection of winning designs will be based on suitability for introduction on the American market during the fall and winter of 1944 or the spring and summer of 1945, originality, ingenuity in use of fabrics, practicability, and general appeal.

Prospective competitors should address requests for rules and entry blanks to American Fashions Contest, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 435 N. Michigan av., Chicago 11, Ill. The competition closes May 1.

Dr. Zabel Gets Leave to Teach in S. America

To carry out a cultural mission in South America for the state department Dr. Morton D. Zabel is taking a year's leave of absence from his duties as professor and chairman of the English department at Loyola university. With a view of furthering friendly relations among literary and scholarly groups of the Americas, he expects to establish a chair in North American literature at the National University of Brazil.

Fresh from the Hills . . . . . By Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm . . . . . Butchering Day

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

CERTAINLY it is an impressive sight, particularly to a person with only two ration books in her family. Five dressed porkers hanging from tilted poles with gambrel sticks thru their hind legs. The four smaller ones would have weighed about 275 pounds each, the fifth would have tipped the scales at no less than 350. All had been raised from piglets by the Campbell family.

According to the usual custom here in the hills, neighbors had gathered to help Grandpa Campbell with his butchering. In turn, he would help each of them. Butchering is one of the farm duties that is done in routine fashion generation after generation. It is to the men of the household what canning and preserving are to the women folks, and great is a farmer's pride in a good supply of well cured meat.

• • •

According to the usual custom in the hills, neighbors had gathered to help Grandpa Campbell with his butchering.

The first act in butchering is to fill a steel barrel with water, tilt it at an angle and build a fire under it. Some wood ashes are thrown into the water to give it the quality of weak lye, and when the water boils, the carcass of each porker is dunked in it. This had already been done to the Campbell porkers when I arrived, and each had been scraped and washed until the skins were pinkish-white.

I stand for a moment in the clear, crisp, wintry air to watch a farmer slitting the last of the five carcasses with utmost precision. I see the hearts and livers rushed into the house, and I realize that the men are already thinking of dinner. You see, the liver is the choicest part of the porker, according to country standards, and it is traditionally cooked for the ones who do the butchering. The heart goes into the head cheese or other delicacies the women folks will make later. I hurry into the house just in time to see the five livers, magnificent in size and quality, placed on the kitchen table.

Grandma Campbell, her daughter-in-law, and a neighbor woman are busily preparing the noonday meal [called dinner] for the men at work outside. The big cook stove is practically covered with boiling pots and pans of home raised, home canned vegetables. As I look them over, some one comes in with practically a bushel of backbones, which are promptly popped into a big pot waiting for them. Backbones and boiled cabbage are another traditional butchering day feast, and for that reason, the backbone is not split, but removed as a separate unit.

The women put these backbones at the front of the cook stove, to hurry their boiling. They frequently peer thru the window as they prepare the rest of the dinner and put wild blackberry jam, wild dewberry jelly, and plum butter on the table. There's a stage in butchering when the pork must be allowed to cool, and at that point the men come in to dinner. It must be ready or else. Grandma Campbell, who has seen an Ozark butchering every year of her long life neatly judges the time. She puts the potatoes on to boil, pulls the simmering beans to the back of the stove, and mixes a vast quantity of biscuit dough. Then the purple-red liver is sliced and put into the bacon fat sizzling in the two large iron skillets. It seems sort of cannibalistic to have for dinner the same liver the pig was using for breakfast, but who am I to upset tradition?

• • •

Ozark homemakers scorn the citified way of frying liver which calls for dipping each piece in hot water and flouring it. Or perhaps the quality of fine fresh pork liver makes this unnecessary. While the liver is frying, a panful of crisp white onions are washed, peeled, and sliced thinly. Then right on top of the frying liver go the onions and each skillet is firmly covered to hold in the steam. The onions slowly brown, gathering the delicate flavor of the liver unto themselves and imparting some of their own zip to the liver.

"The men will soon be coming in," says Grandma Campbell, coming back from the window. "But thank goodness the backbones are done."

She quarters big snowy heads of white cabbage and slips them into the pot with the backbones. The table is given a hurried once-over and the women start taking up the food, beans, corn, tomatoes, potatoes, boiled backbones and cabbage, fried liver and onions, and big bowls of cole slaw which each diner will spoon out on his dinner plate. Just as the dessert, home canned peaches and cream, is being forehandedly dished up, the men come trooping in, their heavy shoes clumping over the bare kitchen floor. They wash at the wash pan and dry their hands on the same towel, joking about the amount of backbones they are prepared to eat.

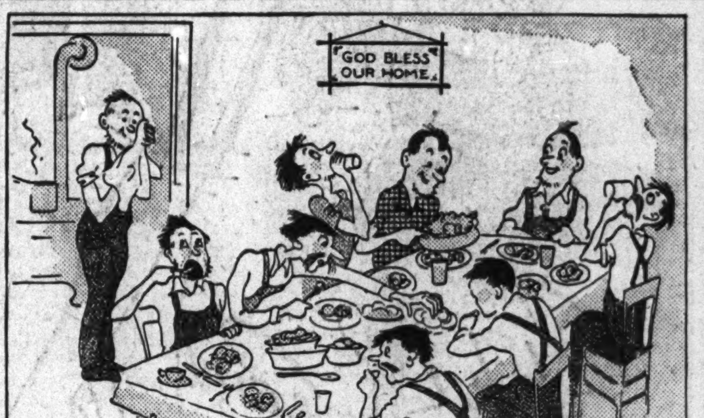
The men sit down at the long dinner table and begin passing to each other the dishes the women bring to them. There's little conversation as each helps himself to everything. The dishes become so numerous they are stacked on top of each other. As the meal progresses, Grandpa Campbell or one of the guests will lift a top dish, peer into the lower one, and call out:

"Any one want any o' these tomaters?"

Nobody does. He puts the top dish back in place and reaches for another biscuit. The men eat with prodigious appetites and wipe greasy faces on the backs of their hands. It's all part of butchering day.

• • •

After dinner the men cut up the meat on the big table outdoors. Two of the men famed locally as "good butcherers" expertly cut out the spare ribs, trim off feet, take off hams and shoulders and lop off the sides of bacon. The trimmings from each section are put into a big lard can as "sausage makin's." Inside the house the women have washed the dishes and are trimming out the ruffle fat. This is put into the oven and becomes the start of the many gallons of snowy lard Grandma Campbell will have when the rest of the fat is rendered. Then suddenly we hear the call for salt, and we know butchering day is nearly over. As their last task, the men liberally coat each great piece of pork in the meat bin with smoke salt



There's little conversation as each helps himself to everything.

Before the days of rationing it was the custom for each one who shared in the work of butchering to take home a generous amount of the fresh meat. Now, of course, it would be necessary for each recipient to give up ration points. Therefore, the Campbells keep the results of their own butchering, and each farmer butchers his own porkers. Since pigs "dress out" about 70 per cent of their original weight, butchering day nets the Campbells enough meat for many a day to come.

For the women folks, butchering is carried over into the second and third days. Huge slabs of fat must be rendered into lard. The heart and head must be cooked with scrupulous care and made into a tasty head cheese. Vast quantities of fresh pork loin must be cooked in a pressure cooker and canned in glass jars. And of course, there is the sausage! That canful of scraps, by actual weight, will yield no less than 80 pounds of sausage, all of which will be shaped into cakes, put into a shallow pan and cooked in the oven of the Campbell's wood-burning cook stove. Then the cakes will be packed in quart jars, along with enough of the fat to make a big skilletful of delicious milk gravy.

• • •

And most important of all, there are the hams, shoulders, and bacon sides which will be smoked after they have been salted down for about six weeks. I mention this job, but Grandma Campbell shrugs it off as a mere trifle.

"It won't take more'n two or three days if you keep right at the fire. I hope the men folks bring up some good green hickory. Meat tastes better with hickory smokin'."

I think of 20 hams and shoulders, 10 sides of bacon, 80 pounds of sausage, dozens of jars of pork loin and spareribs, and draw a deep breath.

"Whew! What a lot of meat!" I exclaim.

"Yes, I reckon you would call it a lot," says Grandma Campbell complacently. "But I all'ays like to have plenty of meat when I start to get a meal's vittles."

Sigrid Schultz convinces you that "Germany Will Try It Again." She was head of the central European bureau of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for many years and her home on Sunday evenings was where one found all the famous visitors to the German capital.

While Mrs. Fairbank's daughter Janet was studying music in Berlin she and Sigrid Schultz became close friends and when Mrs. Fairbank visited Janet Jr., she, too, became Miss Schultz' friend. Miss Schultz is a fearless writer and speaker and she gave her audiences something to think—and worry—about at the Wilmette Women's club a week ago Saturday and at the Woman's Athletic club on Thursday.

Three divergent Chicago audiences heard a distinguished French visitor this week Raoul Aglion, counselor at the Committee of National Liberation in Washington, in charge especially of post-war problems. The United States state department has not, as yet, recognized the committee nor its head as ambassador of France in exile, altho many governments in exile enjoy ambassadorial status, but if and when that recognition is made, M. Aglion will be second in command at the embassy.

M. Aglion came to Chicago under the auspices of the Chicago chapter of France Forever to give talks before two large audiences and to speak intimately at the annual meeting of that enterprising organization on Monday evening. Mrs. Walter Brewster, its president, gave a luncheon in his honor last Sunday where I had a most illuminating chat with him. He fought with his countrymen in Africa and he has written a stirring history of "The Fighting French." He talks and writes English almost ambi-lingually. That evening he spoke at the Metropolitan Community church, under the auspices of the Douglas League of Women Voters, to a large audience of Negroes, who listened with pride to his words about the part which their race is taking in the war in Africa and bombarded him with intensely interested questions.

• • •

On Monday at luncheon M. Aglion spoke before members of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters of which Mrs. John Collier is president. She had invited the members of the Alliance Francaise to hear him also, as his time in Chicago was too limited for him to appear before two separate audiences. The large empire room of the Casino was filled to even its capacity. M. Aglion told thrilling tales of the underground in France which he said is organized with its own army, its own press, its own means of transportation and even its own "postoffice." Recently, he said, a question to be answered by a man in America was sent to him from France thru the postoffice. He found the man, sent his answer and it was back at underground headquarters in Paris in three days. There are 40 important underground newspapers and 100 others not so important published in occupied France.

Some of the paper on which these papers are printed is dropped by parachute from planes from North Africa or England, but much of it is simply "borrowed" from the German controled press by loyal underground members. One of the papers, M. Aglion said, is sent regularly to the German governor of Paris who has not yet been able to trace its origin.

The underground army is so powerful, he said, that some of the Germans have already tried to put themselves under its protection against the time when the American armies arrive, which M. Aglion feels must be soon.

• • •

At luncheon on Sunday I also sat beside Frank Fowler just returned from Algiers from a lend-lease assignment. They appropriately call lend-lease "Mother Allah" in that Moslem country, he said. He too felt that the liberation of France was not remote. M. Aglion explained graphically the inevitable post-invasion plans. With the invasion the entire country will be completely paralyzed, he said, as the first thing the invading armies will do will be to destroy all means of communication. So the allied liberation will have, first, to bring in tools to rebuild the railroads and the factories; second to bring in raw materials, iron, wood, cotton, and food, and then to establish a proper and regular government that has the will of the people.

The Committee of National Liberation is a merely provisional organization, he said. Its national assembly is well organized with deputies, one-third of whom are from inside France, one-third from abroad, and one-third from the Fighting French in North Africa, but it has only powers of discussion and planning and no voting power, because, said M. Aglion, "we feel it is the right of the French people to elect their own parliament."

Changing the meeting place for its "active" concert series from the Arts club to the Cordon in the Fine Arts building, the Lakeview Musical society assemble at 2 o'clock tomorrow to hear Maren Hallstaedt, soprano; Lydia Smutny, pianist, and Winifred Heckman, contralto. Alma Wallace Randall will be the accompanist. Miss Alice Shearer is in charge of arrangements. Serving the Lakeview group as president is Mrs. Frederic Tellander.

A war service benefit concert will be given Tuesday evening in Concert hall of the Kimball building by the Chicago South Side Woman's chorus, which is directed by Lynn Sackett. Mae Doelling Schmidt, pianist, and Virginia Bond Pardee, soprano, will appear as soloists.

A 1st district affiliate of the Illinois Federation of Music clubs, the chorus is presenting the concert to raise money for records, music, and musical instruments for men in service. The National Federation of Music Clubs, thru its war service committee, has directed the work of supplying musical equipment for each transport leaving this country from five embarkation points.

• • •

Presidents of 1st district senior clubs are meeting at 2:15 p. m. today with the district board members in the Woman's City club rooms in the Fine Arts building to discuss plans for a musical tea which this year replaces the customary "federation day" concert. Mrs. Royden J. Keith, retiring state federation, will be cited at the program, which is to be presented next Sunday.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

The Chicago chapter of the Women Flyers of America, whose members share an interest in aviation and also engage in a variety of war activities, invites other women who are enthusiastic about flying to join the club.

The group was organized to prepare women in various phases of aviation, including war work, thru flight training, aviation ground school, and allied courses.

Ground school is conducted every Wednesday from 6:45 p. m. to 9:45 p. m., under qualified instructors, at headquarters, 116 S. Michigan av. It consists of classes in civil air regulations, airplane engines and maintenance, navigation and meterology, to prepare the enrollee to pass the written examination requisite to a private pilot's license. The course is continuous and approximately seven weeks are spent on each subject.

• • •

Several of the Chicago members do volunteer work for the civil air patrol, and others are enrolling in the army air force aids, who assist on a volunteer basis in the operations of the army air force cadet examination board. Cadette Col. Cleone Cook, aids leader, this week was made an honorary member of the flyers.

Enlistment in the WASPS, women army service pilots, have been temporarily closed, but several members of the women flyers are qualified and on the waiting list.

Mrs. Marie Bartsch is president of the Chicago chapter, which has 140 active members. Miss Bernice Sirovatka is vice chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Mack, secretary; Miss Mildred Nieburger, treasurer; Miss Lee Ann Weimer, social chairman; Miss Marie Stritch, assistant secretary; Miss Ruth Jansen, librarian, and Miss Cleo Bernstein, publicity chairman.

National headquarters is in New York City. The Chicago chapter was formed in August, 1941.

Directors of the National Metal Trades association, whose 1,000 member firms are engaged in war industry, have drawn a composite picture of the woman war worker of 1944.

Surveys of statistics on the thousands of women working in the metal trades, turning out implements of war, large and small, show that the average feminine war worker is 29, in most cases is the wife of a man in service, and that she likes to wear work uniforms, preferably in the same color as those of men employes.

The typical woman worker prefers the morning shift if she is young, and the graveyard shift if she has small children to care for. However, if her husband also is employed in the same plant, she wants to work his hours.

The woman war worker, the survey further reveals, is especially adept at light machine operation and on small assembly and inspection jobs. And it is largely thru her influence, the metal trades experts agree, that war plants have become pleasant places in which to work, and extensive safety measures have been introduced.

Five women students at the University of Chicago have undertaken an unusual war time project, the raising of funds to guarantee the education of students who now are prisoners of war, internees, or refugees studying on the five continents in spite of the international conflict.

The drive is to continue thruout this month, with a goal of $2,500, amounting to approximately $1 from every student on the campus. The fund is being sponsored by the United States sections of the World's Student Christian federation.

Miss Mary Augustine, Miss Beverly Glenn, Miss Sigrid Grande, Miss Ruth Greenlee, and Miss Elizabeth Spencer are the women who head the project.

Louise Buchwalter, Robert P. Young Jr. to Wed in Spring

Mrs. Hobart P. Young and her son, Hobart P. Young Jr., of Winnetka, went to Chillicothe, O., for the dinner party that Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Buchwalter of Applethorpe farm gave last night to announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise, to Mr. Young. The wedding will take place late this spring at the farm.

Miss Buchwalter studied abroad at the Ecole Internationale in Geneva, Switzerland, and was graduated from the Columbus School for Girls in Columbus, O., and from Vassar college, at which she was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa society. She is a member of the Columbus Junior league, and has worked for the last two years as a research worker at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Miss Buchwalter was here over the New Year week-end and met many of her fiance's friends.

Mr. Hobart was graduated from the North Shore Country Day school and from Harvard university. He is working in Chicago as a chemical engineer, and will bring his bride here to make their home.

Jean Bisland Bride of Lt. Emil C. Vick Jr.

In a recent ceremony at the Medill Avenue Lutheran church, Miss Jean S. Bisland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bisland of West George street, became the bride of Lt. Emil C. Vick Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Vick of Montana street. A bridal dinner and evening reception afterward were given at the Central Plaza hotel. The bridegroom is stationed with the army air forces at New York.

Dinner to Mark Anniversary of Court Institute

Leading civic organizations and welfare agencies will unite Tuesday to give a dinner in the Standard club marking the 30th anniversary of the Psychiatric institute of the Municipal court.

Twenty-five groups are sharing sponsorship of the anniversary meeting, which assumes the interest of a major community event with the announcement that Chicago born Dr. Harry Stack Sullivan, one of the country's foremost psychiatrists, will be here to address the assembly. Dr. Sullivan is medical advisor to the personnel department of the United States army general staff and advisor to Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service.

Dean Charles Whitney Gilkey of the Rockefeller Memorial chapel at the University of Chicago will act as toastmaster, and other speakers at the dinner will include Mayor Kelly, Dr. David B. Rotman, director of the institute; Judges Scheffler and McGoorty, Dr. Peter Bassoe, chairman of the court committee of the institute of medicine, and Russell Ballard, director of Hull house.

Managing the dinner is a committee of 15 citizens headed by Mrs. George R. Dean.

• • •

Chicago pioneered in setting up a psychiatric institute to service its courts, its establishment being coincident with the organization of the specialized courts. "It grew from enlightened thinking — the social approach to crime and justice which looks to the offender rather than the offence," explains Dr. Agnes Sharp, assistant to Dr. Rotman and chief psychologist of the institute. The average year's court case load handled by the diagnostic center, Dr. Sharp states, is from 2,500 to 3,000, and in addition, the institute has examined hundreds of cases submitted to it by 67 different social and welfare agencies.

Among several score individuals serving as sponsors of the anniversary dinner, to augment the sponsor groups, are Drs. Morris Fishbein, John Flavill, Louis Belinson, W. H. Haines, Roman Haremski, Friedy B. Heisler, Harry R. Hoffman, Joseph Luhnan, Stanley Mintek, Grace Munson, Martin Reymert, Paul L. Schroeder, Conrad Sommer, Walter Adams, and V. S. Urse, and Judges Graber, Padden, Porter, and McGoorty.

Others include Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, State's Atty. Courtney, Prof. Thomas D. Eliot, Joel Hunter, Miss Harriet Vittum, Miss Mary Agnes Amberg, Miss Lilace Reed Barnes, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowne, Mrs. John A. Vander Vries, Miss Leah Taylor, Miss Charlotte Towle, Prof. E. W. Puttkammer, the Rev. Ralph A. Gallagher, Bertram J. Cahn, Isadore B. Brown, Francis Heisler, Mrs. Robert W. Wheeler, Clifford R. Shaw, Wilfred S. Reynolds, Mrs. Ethel R. McDowell, Mrs. William F. Dummer, Miss Lillian V. Bennett, Miss Virginia Frank, Mrs. Helen Griffin, Miss Mary Harms, Miss Mary E. Humphrey, and Harry Hill.

Miami Colony Plans Many Social Events

MIAMI BEACH, FLA.

The fantasy of February in Miami and Miami Beach is about to give way to the merry month of March, which many "regulars" have learned to like best of all months here, but aside from tearing the sheet from their calendars, season visitors find little to mark the winter's wane.

Hialeah Park will close its meet next Saturday, but the thorobred scene shifts to Tropical Park, Monday, March 6, and will continue until April 8. The Biscayne Kennel club opens Tuesday to attract greyhound race followers until the last day of May.

The Civic Music association will present the Philadelphia Opera company in "The Bat," Tuesday, and Committee of One Hundred members will have to choose between that and their weekly forum, at which Dr. Wing-Tsit Chan, veteran of Japanese attacks on Peiping and Pearl Harbor, will speak on "China Carries On."

Today music lovers in khaki, who are Miami Beach's most distinguished guests these days, will have the opportunity of hearing Andre Kostelanetz conduct the army air forces training center orchestra.

The last week witnessed several important social events. There was a luncheon given in the Hialeah club by John C. Clark, president of the Miami Jockey club, and Mrs. Clark, honoring Harry A. Parr III., president of Maryland Jockey club, and Mrs. Parr. Chicagoans included in the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. David J. Molloy, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McCulloch.

• • •

There also was the annual golf competition at the Indian Creek club for the coveted Darby and Joan trophy, donated by Mrs. David J. Molloy, wife of the club's president. Only married couples are eligible for the tournament, and entrants joined Mr. and Mrs. Molloy for luncheon in the clubhouse before competing in the match, which attracted a large gallery of spectators. The Molloys had the low score, but declared themselves ineligible and the trophy went to Mr. and Mrs. James L. Knight of Akron, Detroit, and Miami Beach. Among Chicagoans competing were Mr. and Mrs. William Atwill Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Clare L. Frame, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Mead.

Mrs. Paul V. Harper of Lake Forest and her mother, who lives in Greenwich, Conn., are spending the month of February with Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarence Dean at their home on Schoolhouse rd., South Miami.

Mrs. William F. Whitman of Chicago and Mrs. Ross W. Judson of Detroit will be hostesses to 80 at luncheon at the Indian Creek club Wednesday, honoring Mrs. Jesse F. Matteson of Chicago and Mrs. Donna Harter of Anderson, Ind. Mrs. Matteson is the house guest of Mrs. Gustavus Babson of Oak Park, and will visit the Harry L. Vaughans before returning north. Mrs. Harter is wintering at Palm Beach, and her sister, Mrs. Frederick Urban, and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Edmund F. Ball of Anderson, are in Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Mossman of Joliet are wintering at their Sunset Island residence, and recently had as house guests Sen. and Mrs. Richard Barr of Joliet. Sen. Barr has served as Illinois state senator for 40 years.

• • •

Chicago members of the military set enjoying Miami Beach while stationed here include Lt. Col. and Mrs. James B. Long of Glenview, who with their young daughter, Judy, and Mrs. Long's mother, Mrs. Jacob I. Macklin, are living on Pine Tree dr.; Capt. and Mrs. Burton R. Bancroft of Oak Park, who with their sons, Burton Jr. and John, are residing on Bay dr., and Mrs. Joseph W. Sharp of Evanston, who has an apartment at Belle Isle ct. Maj. Sharp is overseas. Mrs. Sharp recently returned from Havana, Cuba, where she visited her mother, Mrs. Caridad Jimenez Diaz, and has resumed her volunteer work at the Miami Beach Service Men's Recreation pier and other welfare work at Jackson Memorial hospital.

Mrs. William M. Webster and her sister, Mrs. Harry Pearson, both of Chicago, are again at the Venetia apartments, Coral Gables, where also is Mrs. Cornelius S. O'Leary of Evanston. Mrs. Webster recently gave a luncheon bridge at the Country club of Coral Gables honoring Mrs. Wesley Brooks of Evanston, who is wintering at Fort Lauderdale.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Dunham of Chicago and their children, Carole and Keith, are residing on Indian Creek dr. for the season and have joined the Bath club. Mr. and Mrs. George E. Simons of Chicago are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roderick M. Thomas at their home in Coral Gables. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Casey of Kenilworth, Ill., and Babson Park, Fla., are making their annual visit to Miami and are guests at the Towers.

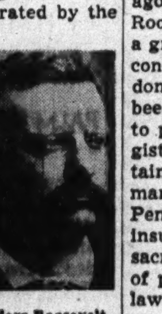
When Chicago Was Young

By Herma Clark

Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend Julia Boyd of New York.

Chicago, Feb. 23, 1896.

Dear Julia: Washington's birthday this year was celebrated by the Union League club in a great meeting at the Auditorium when Theodore Roosevelt, famous president of the New York City police board, was the orator of the day. Will always attends these meetings and likes to have me go with him and, knowing how much you admire this young man, I was quite willing to hear what he had to say. The platform was crowded with celebrities, Judge Kohlsaat being the presiding officer. The Rev. Ernest M. Stires of Grace Episcopal church and Bishop Charles Edward Cheney of the Reformed Episcopal denomination were two I recognized. But all eyes were turned on the speaker and I took special note of him to report to you. I was a little disappointed in his appearance, which [forgive me!] isn't awfully impressive. His eyes squinted in the strong light and he looked boyish, with his close cropped hair and small, light colored mustache, but even tho he was plainly dressed he looked the gentleman. His enunciation is distinct and he is easily followed. "And," says Will, who is looking over my shoulder, as I write, "you might add that he has something to say and isn't afraid to say it." His manuscript was on the desk beside him but he didn't consult it often, I noticed.



Theodore Roosevelt.

Beginning his talk on Washington he said: "It is the peculiar good fortune of America that the greatest of all Americans was not only great as a soldier and greater as a statesman, but greatest of all as a man. Most of the lessons taught by the study of Washington's statesmanship can be learned with as much advantage now as a century ago." Law enforcement being the Roosevelt passion, he dwelt on that a great deal. Speaking of those who condone law breaking, because they don't want to be deprived of their beer, he said: "It is worth while to point out to the latter day apologists for the transgression of certain kinds of laws that Washington marched an army into western Pennsylvania to put down the whisky insurrection, and beer is no more sacred than whisky. The question of putting on the statute books any laws, on whatever subject, which are bitterly distasteful to certain classes is one of which honest men may differ, but there should be no difference among honest men as to the enforcement of laws." He spoke scathingly of those "who mean well, but mean well feebly."

He ended: "My closing word to you is: Be honest, upright, loyal, patriotic Americans, strong for the right and against all evil."

Will liked him, and thinks he will not always remain police commissioner of New York. He may even be governor, he thinks.

Another great event of the week was the opening of J. Comyn Carr's new play, "King Arthur," with Sir Henry Irving and Ellen Terry starring in it. The knighthood recently bestowed on Irving by Queen Victoria hasn't hurt him at all with society, and he was applauded thruout the play, a series of tableaux to music, with not a great deal of dialog. As the curtain rose on a woodland scene, with forms drifting in a sort of fog and chanting the song of the sword, Excalibur, I was transported to our school days at Maplewood seminary when you and I used to read Tennyson with such ardor and wish we might be loved by some one like King Arthur—

"Whose name and glory cling
To all high places like a golden cloud
Forever."

The lovely Ellen Terry is at her best in the part of Guinevere and the last scene is most touching as the king is borne to the island valley—

"Where falls not hail nor rain nor any snow
Nor ever wind blows loudly; but it lies
Deep-meadowed, happy, fair, with orchard lawns
And bowery hollows, crowned with summer seas."

You wouldn't have known it was Lent, so many fashionables were present: Mrs. Arthur Caton in white lace and chiffon, Mrs. W. J. Chalmers in white satin, and Mrs. W. W. Kimball in rose velvet, with a small toque of jet on her gray hair.

And now I must close,

Affectionately yours,

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

Foot Notes.

The whisky insurrection was an outbreak in Pennsylvania in opposition to the excise laws passed by congress March 3, 1791. Western Pennsylvania residents considered the tax an unfair discrimination against their region and raised a rebellion, upon which, President Washington called out an army of 15,000 militia and marched against them. The rebels dispersed without bloodshed.

"Don't Turn Me from Your Door."

A correspondent in McAllen, Tex., wants this verse, which begins: "Don't be angry with me, Dad." He asks also for "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." The latter verse can be found in "The Spell of the Yukon" by Robert W. Service. The request of our Texas reader moves us to ask for verses of the "Don't-Turn-Me-From-Your-Door" school. These were, we believe, popular in the '70s and '80s and we shall be glad to know more about them.

About "When Chicago Was Young."

Several readers have inquired recently whether the letters which have appeared in this column are collected in book form. A small volume, called "Dear Julia" [letters from 1854 to 1879] is available, as well as "The Elegant Eighties" [letters dated 1880-1889]. Either of these books may be had at the larger book stores. In addition, "The Victorian Keepsake," a small stiff paper covered book, can be obtained at The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st., or Tribune Tower. Price of the Keepsake is 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents. This little red book is not a collection of letters from the column, but does contain many old favorites, verse and prose, popular in the Victorian era.

Chicago Council of Polish Clubs Plans Reception

The Chicago Council of University Polish clubs has sent out invitations to an informal reception at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the Top of the Town restaurant for Dr. Oscar Halecki, professor of history at the University of Warsaw and director of the Polish Institute of Arts and Sciences in America. Dr. Halecki, who was an assistant delegate of Poland at the league of nations, will talk briefly on Polish-Russian relations. His speaking engagements while in Chicago include an appearance on Wednesday night in the Woodrow Wilson auditorium at 84 E. Randolph st., when he will discuss "Poland as a Factor in European International Relations," the final talk in a lecture series being sponsored by the Council of Polish-American Professional Organizations. At noon Thursday he will speak before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

Leon A. Kupeck and Stanley R. Wisniewski are in charge of arrangements for the reception, and Mrs. Armelia Mix and Mrs. Quincy Wright have been asked to pour coffee. Among the special guests invited are Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Count and Countess Anthony Potocki, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, Miss Elizabeth Day, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson W. Lampert, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Boyden Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cummings, and Professor and Mrs. Wright.

Woman's City Club Hears About Lore, Legends of Indians

In the course of its active season the Woman's City club gives a series of distinguished guest teas to bring to public attention persons making important contributions to education, civic betterment, or social welfare. Focused upon "Contributions of the Indian to American Life Today," one of these parties will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the club's suite in the Fine Arts building. Invitations have been sent to more than 60 women not of the membership but actively interested in bettering conditions for the Indian and promoting his arts and crafts.

Spokesman for the Indian at the meeting will be one of club's own members, Miss Evelyn Pierce, a Seneca, who is associated here with the office of Indian affairs, department of the interior. Miss Pierce will exhibit Indian relics and handwork, and will include in her talk on the day's theme the legends and lore attached to the items on display. Mrs. Harry M. Mulberry will preside.

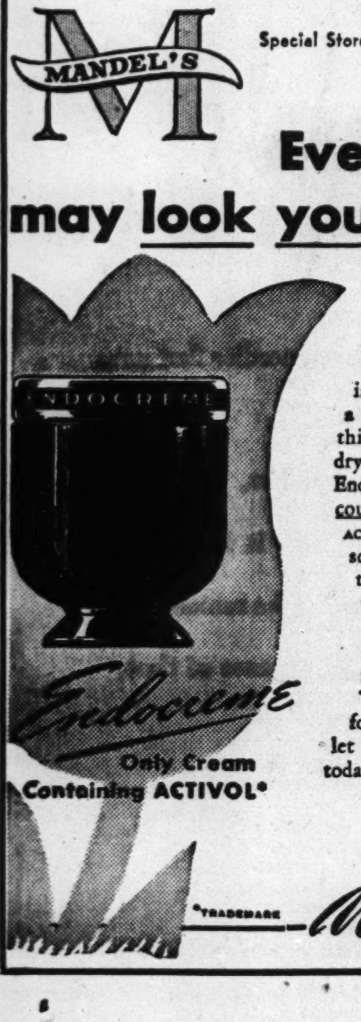
Even Dry Skins may look younger again!



Had you given up hope? Then... read every word of this! For Science has found there is a "vitalizing" substance always necessary for a pretty young skin. Naturally, as this substance decreases, skins start to dry, and look "older." But now the Endocreme laboratories have found a counterpart of Nature's secret...called ACTIVOL*...that replaces this substance so needed by skin. ACTIVOL,* brought to you only by Endocreme, often works wonders! Many skins which were "dry" due to lack of this natural "Life-Substance" take on a new look of "bloom," appear "younger" again! Only 11½¢ a day for this priceless ingredient! Don't let a day pass by, get ENDOCREME today! 30 days' supply $3.50 plus tax

Sailor Shows Paintings of Great Lakes

By Eleanor Jewett.

A new exhibition on the theme of life in war time opened last Thursday in gallery 53 of the Art institute. The paintings all depict some phase of activity at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. The water colors and drawings are by Richard Bergere, pharmacist mate 3d class. They cover a period of about a year, and many of the scenes are developed from sketches in his notebook, practically candid camera shots with a pencil for medium. The pictures are gay and spontaneous and have something of the flavor of a good reportorial account. The artist has not slipped up on any fact of consequence; he has taken excellent advantage of every phase of the Great Lakes routine.

Before the war, Richard Bergere taught in a New York suburban high school. He was, as well, a professional artist and had studied at the Art Institute's league and at Columbia university. Because of his interest in anatomy, he was given his present rating on joining the navy. One of his pictures, called "Anatomy Class," shows a group of students studying a skeleton, and the teacher is Bergere himself.

The pictures and drawings show young sailors studying, working, being shaved, brushing their teeth, singing, eating, doing kitchen-police duty, relaxing—in fact engaged in any and all of the hundred details of living which make up life at the training station. Several gay water colors depict groups of men being entertained in Chicago service men's centers, eating in the cafeterias and playing pool. "Chow Hall" is crowded with boys avidly enjoying the food on their trays. Some intimate view of navy life is written into each picture. "I Have Seen Action" brings the aftermath of war home. It is a study of the faces of men wounded in combat.

The exhibit will continue to April 2 and is worth seeing.

The masterpiece of the month for March at the Art institute is "St. George's Day Fair," an engraving by Pieter Breugel the Elder. The print hangs at the head of the main staircase in the museum. It is a crowded scene, filled with the peasant figures the artist loved to reproduce. A fair is in progress, and many games are being played. Apparently bows and arrows and sports with balls were as popular in that day as in this, and various groups are engaged in those and many other sports. It is a jolly, carefree, laughing, drinking crowd, and the artist has done them full justice.

Pieter Breugel the Elder was Flemish and the greatest 16th century painter of the Netherlands.

The Chicago Society of Miniature Painters is holding an exhibition at the Illinois State museum in Springfield by invitation of the museum. The artists represented in the exhibit include Helen Walker Boyd, Carol Conrad Blair, Eda Nemoede Casterton, Lucille Dalrymple, Magda Heuermann, Anna Lynch, Louise Richardson, and Carolyn D. Tyler. All these gifted artists have shown in important exhibitions in the United States, and several have exhibited abroad, notably Miss Lynch in Paris; Miss Tyler and Mrs. Casterton in London, by invitation of the Royal Society of Miniature Painters, and Miss Heuermann in Munich.

The exhibit in Springfield is proving extremely popular and attracting much attention. Anna Lynch, by the way, has just finished a very lovely miniature portrait of a young girl, which is being sent to a man in service in the Pacific. It seems a long way to send a work of art, but its beauty probably will be doubly appreciated under war conditions. The officers of the Chicago Society of Miniature Painters are Carolyn D. Tyler, president; Magda Heuermann, vice president; Louise Richardson, treasurer, and Carol Conrad Blair, secretary.

The Renaissance society of the University of Chicago has placed on view an exhibition of original prints with facsimiles of drawings and water colors by Pieter Breugel the Elder in Goodspeed hall, 1010 E. 59th st., to remain thru March 15. The exhibition is loaned by the department of prints and drawings of the Art institute, where, for March, an engraving by this same Flemish artist is the masterpiece of the month.

According to Culbertson

By Ely Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

Experts, as I have often pointed out in this column, are extremely chary with penalty doubles of slam contracts, especially when they have reason to feel that they will defeat those contracts if they keep mum and don't give pertinent information to the enemy. They are apt to adopt the diametrically opposite policy, however, when they seriously doubt that the contract can be defeated in normal course of play. In that case they may double—even at the risk of the opponents redoubling—in order to send the declarer on a false scent for a possible missing queen, or, as in the following deal, to stave off the opening lead that partner is most apt to select.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♣ Q 10 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 club	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	6 no trump	Double
Pass	Pass	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

I have recorded this remarkable bidding as it actually took place. It is probably unnecessary to point out that neither North nor South restrained himself to any great degree. The result was a contract that had less than a 50 per cent chance for success, so far as the North-South cards alone were concerned.

East, having played against that particular North before, had no illusions about the opening club bid. He knew that his king-jack of clubs might not lie over the ace-queen—that North might well have chosen to bid a short suit with a powerful outside holding—but East also knew something that was more probable and infinitely more dangerous: that if he remained entirely passive West was very apt to open the suit of which East was void.

This was better than a guess on East's part. An opening leader, even against a slam contract, usually considers that his safest lead is from a long suit, and it required no great imagination for East to assume that West's longest suit was hearts. Thus the double had a twofold message: West should not open his own suit, and, since clubs had been the only suit bid by the opponents, and since East would not double without strength in that suit, a club was the lead East wanted.

All this should have been crystal clear to West, but apparently it wasn't, for, to East's incredulity and utter disgust, out came the four of hearts from West's hand! After that the defenders never had a chance. Declarer didn't like to take the spade finesse, but he couldn't avoid it, and when it succeeded he could claim the contract.

If West had given any thought to coöperation, he would have opened a club, and then it would have been 10 to 1 that declarer would have misguessed the heart situation.

Chicagoans Set Party Pace at Palm Beach

By Helen Van Hoy Smith.

PALM BEACH, FLA.

Palm Beach, resembling a Hollywood set in technicolor, has been the scene of extensive entertaining by Chicagoans recently.

The Washington birthday dinner-dance at the Everglades club was attended by more than five hundred. Among the Chicagoans giving parties were Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Stephens, Mrs. Hugh N. O'Neill, Mrs. William F. Bode, Mr. and Mrs. James Norris, Mrs. Paul Healy, Mrs. John T. H. Mitchell, and many, many others. Practically every Chicagoan in Palm Beach was present, either giving a party or attending one.

Tables were in the orange gardens, the natural beauty of which was enhanced by patriotic decorations. It was a soft, beautiful night, and the sky overhead was a star spangled canopy. Around the dance floor genuine orange trees, heavy with fruit, are growing practically out of the concrete. In the foliage of these trees orange colored electric lights are cunningly placed, and these, together with lights thrown on the tropical shrubbery, provide the only illumination. It is the sort of glimmer that is heavy with glamor. The war seemed far, far away; but ever so often the drone of an airplane would almost drown out the music. The lights on the airplanes were like shooting stars.

Joining the Chicago colony at Whitehall are Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Coburn, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Morris, Mrs. J. C. McGrath, Maynard G. Fessenden, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. John O. Stoll.

• • •

Of course every one knows that the late Henry M. Flagler built the Whitehall as his winter home. The hotel, an 11-story structure, was added during boom days. The stately mansion which serves as the front entrance of the hotel is just as it was in the days of Flagler. The same furnishings and rich hangings are in place. The great marble hall—it measures 110 feet—the library, a study in scarlet; the salon and the grand ballroom speak eloquently of the gilded age in American society.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Elias Babcock Jr., gave a cocktail party the other day for Mrs. Harold Hartog. Other members of the younger Chicago set attending were Mrs. Paul Rowan, Mrs. Ambrogio Cassinerio, and Capt. and Mrs. Francis R. Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Davis, who have been quite active socially this season, gave a tea in honor of Col. and Mrs. Alvin Mansfield Owsley of Muncie, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hall of Greenwich, Conn. The Davises also entertained these visitors at a luncheon at the Bath and Tennis club. Col. Owsley spoke this week before the Palm Beach Round Table at the Everglades club.

Lt. and Mrs. Joseph C. Belden Jr. of Lake Forest are spending a few days with Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock before leaving for California. Lt. Belden has been stationed near Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. H. Mitchell Harper have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Little of Winnetka. Mr. and Mrs. Siguard Olsen are at the Villas.

• • •

The Stuart Smithsons of Evanston have joined the Paul Smithsons at the Brazilian court. Mr. and Mrs. John L. King of Lake Forest are guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Page Hufty.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Frederick Gunster were hosts at a reception Tuesday afternoon at the Society of the Four Arts. Mr. Gunster is president of this cultural organization. The Four Arts sponsored the second large musical event of the season Friday night when Eugenia Honeywell and Harold Bauer appeared in a two piano recital.

Designer Puts Shantung to Effective Use

By Rea Seeger.

Early spring fashion collections invariably reflect certain trends that sometimes not only proclaim a new silhouette but last for a fashion cycle of perhaps five years with little, if any, modification. As in other years important collections launched by top flight designers feature color or color contrasts that are definitely different, a new use of a fabric, clever distinguishing details of the creator, or a special print pattern. Some creative designers are content to produce, season after season, the finest examples of workmanship and material, and the finished results of the two are super-flattering, yet wearable, fashions for all discriminating women.

• • •

Hattie Carnegie is such a designer. Season after season her originals make the fashion headlines for exquisite workmanship, fine and flawless details, original prints, superb seaming and fitting, and the newest of color combinations. Even thru the extremely trying war time years she has ably, if not brilliantly, presented each new collection with her usual, exacting skill and knowledge of what smart women desire. Her creations are still made of the finest materials obtainable; the details are just as perfect; the fitting is just as suavely flattering as in the pre-war years of plenty.

This year she charms every one with her use of shantung. This fabric is used not only for simple street and town clothes for summer but for dazzling, decoratively beaded and sequined costumes for dinner, evening, and party wear. The colors are exotically effective, clear, and vivid. Shantung prints are especially designed for her collections, and these vary in size and color to suit the costumes for which they are printed. Silken scarves, also gayly printed in conversation patterns and lush colors, are prime favorites for blouses to wear under slim summer and spring wool suits. Also shown are equally smart print dresses to wear with companion coats of wool lined with the same silk as the dress.

• • •

After a temporary period of seeming neglect, long dinner and evening gowns have staged a dramatic reappearance. Most of them are still severely plain and sheath-straight. However, the younger models made of tub materials have the beloved wide, full skirts for dancing and are, of course, the special delight of the younger crowd.

But even these cottons have the inimitable touch of genius; some flaunt sequins; others boast beads, embroidery, and the lavish adornment of former silks, and satins and crepes. If these long creations foretell post-war fashions, we have promising proof that women intend to be feminine and decorative after the long, lean years of yardage control and congealed silhouettes.

• • •

This year's specials are the jacket suits of soft wool. These are comparatively simple, yet soft and feminine, altho made without froufrou or the trying too-tailored details. They are the best all-purpose suits ever designed. Skirts are slim and straight, yet with enough yardage to dispel any fear of bulges, and jackets are short enough, yet they are not the abruptly cut off affairs that are problems for the short woman. Blouses and linings make the jackets definitely costume affairs.

Sketched: Four new spring and summer originals. All are available in Chicago shops where such fashions are the tradition year after year. Others, just as new and appealing, will be found in the same collection. For further information call Superior 0200.

Patterns by Clotilde

By Clotilde.

Today we present another in a series of handsome designs submitted in the recent American Fashions competition, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and adapted for an easy-to-use Clotilde pattern.

This design is the creation of "Bubbles," 111 E. Wisconsin av., Milwaukee, Wis. The original calls for pale gray crepe or woolen, with waistline insets of emerald green and dubonnet. However, this is a pattern which allows for a great deal of personal choice in the matter of both color and fabric. The waist-slimming lines, achieved with the diamond-shaped insets, are just as effective in one color and one material.

There's a choice of sleeve lengths, too. Both bracelet sleeves and short ones are high fashion for spring, and don't overlook the bright possibilities of gay prints.

Style No. 3742 is designed for sizes 10 to 20. Size 16 requires, for short-sleeved dress of one material, 2⅞ yards of 39 inch fabric; for dress with contrasting waistline, 3 yards of 39 inch fabric and ⅜ yard for each inset.

Art Institute Shows Lively Cotton Prints

By Edith Weigle.

One of the gayest and most colorful exhibits in town is that of 18th and early 19th century cotton prints now being held in the decorative art gallery of the Art institute. These charming fabrics were made in Portugal, France, and England and are timeless in their beauty and appeal.

An enterprising American manufacturer of drapery materials has gone to a great deal of trouble and pains to reproduce perfectly three of the designs. One is carried out in wide blue and beige stripes in an animated pattern composed of birds, baskets of flowers and a very amusing donkey and rider.

The original fabric was designed in Portugal, printed in England, and returned to Portugal, where it was used for curtains against the white plaster or tinted walls of early 19th century homes. The rich blue-greens, pinks, and yellows of the pattern were favorites in a country of brilliant sunshine and white houses.

• • •

And now in our own day, what more artistic accompaniment could there be for the ever popular Mexican glassware, pottery, and furniture than this gay cotton print with its donkey motif? It also suggests itself for use with simple maple and oak furniture.

Another drapery or slip cover material, also Portugese in origin, and also beautifully reproduced from the original panel in the Art institute collection is called "The Giraffe." Designed in the 18th century, the colors are blue, white, and rose. A repeat pattern in a broad blue stripe shows a little Arab or Persian boy in a turban leading a white giraffe. Rose flowers with blue foliage appear in narrower white stripes. The effect is delectable.

Most stunning of the antique fabrics in the exhibit is a huge panel made up of two widths of a brilliant, oriental blue cotton on which is printed a design of Chinese figures, a lady seated at her dressing table with a little serving maid near by. Pagodas also appear in the pattern.

• • •

Developed for the America colonial trade was an English cotton in somber colors, showing an American eagle with a ribbon in his beak. "E Pluribus Unum" is on the ribbon. This early 19th century fabric has also been accurately copied and can be bought today.

In a glass case are early examples of the famous cotton prints of Oberkampf made at Jouy, France. Huet was the most famous designer of these toiles which represented the peak in printed textile art. One of the examples is a Psyche and Venus classic medallion in beige and brown on white and was a copper plate printing made in 1810.

Over the case hangs an exquisitely colored scenic English print of the middle 19th century showing the Crystal palace in London and a crowd of men and women in the foreground. The tones of this print are delicate beige and blue, and of course there is the traditional wreath of English roses used as a frame for the scene.

Fashions

In little less than a month, the calendar will give us authority to say an unreluctant farewell to winter and welcome the cardigan suits in many versions, which bear the unmistakable stamp of spring time. In gabardines, sheer wools, these twosomes will complement your casual topcoats and solo fashionably as well.

Sketched at right is a slim suit with a weskit jacket, nipped-in waistline, flange treatment from shoulder to waistline, and slit darts simulating pockets. Six plastic buttons are the only trimming. The skirt is trouser plaited. Suit is available in gold, red, light green, and black, and in sizes from 10 to 18.

At left is a suit with more of this spring's flange treatment. This is a three button design topping a straight, gored skirt. Sheer wool crepe in a tempting cocoa color, black, or navy, creates this easy-to-wear version of the suit. It is available in sizes 10 to 20.

[ADVERTISMENT]

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Truly Surprising

So Easy. No Cooking. Big Saving.

You may not know it, but, in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it can't be beaten.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Home Owners' Queries

Chicago.—[To the Home Owners' Editor.]—Seems to me I have heard of nonslip floor polishes for tile, wood, and asphalt tile floors. Are these manufactured by any special firms? Joyce B.

Answer: Yes, there are such polishes for practically all types of floors. We'll be glad to send you manufacturers' names on receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.

Lady of the House

Longfellow.

February, shortest and dourest month of the year, gave us not only our two greatest Presidents, but our most beloved poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Today is his birthday.

Born [1807] into the period when American literature, "daughter of English literature," was fast becoming an independent young miss, he and his famous contemporaries wrote of the American scene in new and striking ways and added luster to America, as her literature grew with the young country.

Perhaps his happy boyhood, as well as his gentle nature, made Longfellow, brilliant scholar and teacher, the "sweet singer of the English tongue." A little picture showing his frock-coated figure before the smithy under the spreading chestnut tree, and a photograph of Craigie house, his Cambridge residence for almost half a century, vividly remind me of a happy summer spent browsing about that part of New England so familiar to him, and to Emerson, Lowell, Holmes, Hawthorne, Thoreau, Whittier and others of their time. So today I give a thought to Longfellow and his service to America. And recall the story about Emerson, who, attending Longfellow's funeral a month before his own death, remarked: "The gentleman we have just been burying was a sweet and beautiful soul; but I forget his name."

The Evening Paper.

The paper has come, and I'm ready to go
Down the long white drive thru the falling snow,
With Collin for company, bounding with joy,
To the box we put up for the paper boy.

Ah! It isn't a box, it's a fairy ghost
Hooded in white on a white-draped post;
And the flakes that pile into feathery fluff
Are stars where they light on Collin's ruff.

See how my booted footprints grow
Into a path thru the unsoiled snow;
See the sweeping swirl where Collin's feet
Fly so swiftly the footprints meet!

There's a faint pink glow in the western sky
As the sleepy day smiles a slow goodbye;
And the cars that light up the Big Hill's dome
Are filled with fathers going home.

O, Collin, let's stay in this beautiful place
Where there's room for quietness, time for grace;
Let's not go in, for the world is at war—
Who knows what the pitiful headlines are?

Doors and Door Knobs.

There are so many kinds of door knobs—brass or porcelain, gold or iron, and even those made of glass. How interesting, how intriguing to have door knobs sparkle and twinkle at us, as if they were bright, friendly eyes, bidding us enter. A door with even the plainest knob is fascinating and makes us wonder what is beyond.

There is one door, however, that might well be hung without a knob, a swinging door, hung so perfectly that just a breath will cause it to open. This is the door to our hearts. Some souls there are too timid to knock even tho they long for our sympathy and help. Many a one may go uncomforted unless we happen to see them when our heart's door swings slightly ajar as they pass by us.

What Is Italy to Me.

What is Italy to me,
Naples, Rome and fair Capri?
A summer tour in college days
When life was sweet and kind her ways.
Some memories—some souvenirs—
A fond goodbye—perhaps some tears.
What is Italy to me,
Naples, Rome and fair Capri?
A battle ground—a roaring hell—
With flaming plane and bursting shell
A soldier boy who did his part
A message brief—a broken heart.

My Heart.

My heart's not a boat so don't overturn it;
It's not made of paper so please do not burn it.
It isn't of glass so don't ever break it.

I used to think that my heart was of ice;
Then you came along to melt it; how nice!

Fashions and Fancy

By Judith Cass

Mrs. Jere Patterson.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

A length of stunning Chinese red wool from the mills at Appleton, Wis.; a yard or two of black, green, and Chinese red print on a white background tracked down in a Chicago department store; a pattern cut from an old flannel skirt, and the skilful hands of a State pkway. dressmaker provided Mrs. Jere Patterson with a new spring suit. The wool was sent to Mrs. Patterson by her mother, and Mrs. Patterson herself went on the hunt for the printed silk with red to match. It was made into a long-sleeved blouse with a floppy bow at the neckline which shows to advantage under the brief bolero type jacket that is perfect with the tailored skirt. Some pearl gray flannel [pre-war] that Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie put aside for a new spring outfit was made into a stunning dress with a narrow, wrap-around skirt by her mother, Mrs. James P. Gillies of Rye, N. Y., a former Winnetkan, who has a clever way with a needle. The square neckline of the dress is filled in with a ruching of crisp white pique, and more of the pique is used to edge the long sleeves. While the inspiration still was with Mrs. Gillies, she created a little hat of the gray material, a flat little Dutch bonnet, piped in the white pique and finished with two small tailored bows of the wool at the back. If clothes make the man, then a new hair-do can make a new woman, or so friends of Mrs. Paul Butler thought when they saw her at the opening of "The Patriots" last Monday at the Studebaker theater. Mrs. Butler, who had been wearing her blonde locks in an extreme upswept fashion, returned from New York with her hair demurely down over her ears, flat on top, and parted in the center. Instead of the little tip-tilted bonnets that she has been wearing consistently, she had on a flat across-the-head bandeau of pale blue breast feathers, ending in long feather curls over each ear. The change in her appearance was startling.

• • •

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Robert Lehmann is partial to this new bandeau-type of headgear, and has appeared several times in the simplest sort of one, which looks like a wide black velvet ribbon. Her hair is worn simply, brushed back from her forehead in a medium length bob, and particularly suited to this type of hat. Also in the large audience at "The Patriots" was Miss Josephine Zeiss, in a pale blue frock with a scalloped neckline, and an unusual hat that was trimmed with fur across the front. In search of a ride back to Winnetka with some fellow commuter was Mrs. Craig Colgate Jr., whose plaited black crepe dress was trimmed with a wide leather belt of red to match her red lizard skin purse. Mrs. Robert M. Adams' play-going hat was a baby bonnet of pale blue, a different type from those she has been wearing. Mrs. Jacob Bischof's was another of the flat, half-hat sort, made of turquoise velvet and ending in rosettes above the ears. Mrs. Orville J. Taylor's theater dress was black and white, and very smart. Over a black sheath skirt, short, was a white crepe blouse, heavily embroidered in white sequins and bugle beads, and which buttoned down the front. To preside at a joint meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and the Pan-American Council, Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson carried with her to the Palmer House a fresh pair of white gloves, so that she might welcome guests to the speaker's table with a spotless, gleaming hand. Her dress was of sky blue crepe, interestingly worked in a sunburst design of stitches and tucks. A little beanie of the same blue was on her head, and her handsome coat was of tan wool, lined in comfortable, warm beaver. Having returned from the east and settled in Lake Forest with her baby, Mrs. Otis L. Hubbard, the former Ethel Johnston, is part of the Chicago scene again while Lt. Hubbard is overseas with the navy. Recently she topped a black dress and mink coat with a giddy little hat of white, trimmed in black and red. She was with her aunt, Mrs. Morris Leidy Johnston, whose black Persian lamb hat was reminiscent of those small, tight fitting ones so in vogue a generation ago, but which looked right up to the minute with its little gold ornament.

Thru the Looking Glass

The difficulty of obtaining a beauty shop appointment for a manicure has compelled more than one woman, who feels she's all thumbs when it comes to caring for her own nails, to buckle down occasionally and do the job herself. The prospect of facing the task may cause the inexperienced a momentary inferiority complex, but the proper equipment and a bit of patience will see it thru to completely satisfactory results.

It's devastating to nerves and the manicure to attempt to sandwich it into the middle of a busy day. Better to choose a quiet hour just before bedtime when the hubbub of the day is over and there's no necessity for hurrying.

• • •

Assemble the materials: cotton, emery boards, orange stick, cuticle dressing, bowl of warm, soapy water, polish remover, polish, and a cloth or cleansing tissues, and keep them all within easy reach. A card table serves as a good working space, being the proper height and easily covered with a protecting cloth or paper. The table should be placed near a good light that affords sufficient illumination for the delicate operation of applying polish.

Remove the old coat of polish with a piece of cotton saturated with polish remover. Press the cotton against the nail and apply added pressure at the edges. The firm touch removes the polish with dispatch and avoids spreading it over the sides of the fingers. The nails should then be shaped with an emery board, and we urge that it be used with caution. Filing up into the corners of the nails weakens them and spoils their shape; only that portion that protrudes beyond the nail bed should be removed. Use a light, gentle stroke, tapering the edges and working the tips to an oval.

• • •

Apply a cuticle softener and ever so gently shape the cuticle, lifting it slightly and pressing it back easily. Cutting the cuticle is taboo since it tends to aggravate, and causes more ills than it cures. With the cuticle taken care of, soak the hands briefly in warm, soapy water to cleanse the nails and prepare them for polish.

We're in favor of the use of a base beneath the polish. The colorless liquids help to protect the nails and make the application of the color coat less trying. When the base coat has dried, apply a light coat of polish, using as few strokes as possible. Over this, apply a second, heavier coat.

The colorless liquids that are intended as protective coating over the polish are a good investment. They take only a second to brush on and help the polish to last and stay bright longer. LOUISE DOOLEY.

Expert Tells How to Create Perfect Crust

By Mary Meade.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

If once, or more than once in your history as a cook, some one unwittingly criticized your pie making ability by eating the filling and leaving the crust, you probably made a vow to take a lesson or two in pastry making.

Pastry making is a bit tricky. Pie crust can be tough if you use too little fat, or the wrong kind of fat, or too much water, or if you work the dough too much before rolling.

It can crack and want patching if you use too much flour or too little water, or are so much afraid of working the dough overlong that you make an error in the opposite direction and fail to insist that the stuff hold together.

Now I'm going to give a recipe for perfect pie crust in detail, then suggest variations in pastry.

Pastry for Double Crust.

2¼ cups sifted flour [all purpose]
1 teaspoon salt
⅝ cup plus 1⅓ tablespoons lard
About ⅓ cup cold water

Sift flour, measure, and resift with salt. Cut the ⅝ cup lard into small pieces and drop into the flour [rest of fat will be used later]. Using the fingertips or a pastry blender, cut shortening into flour until the mixture is in coarse crumbs. There is greater tendency to flakiness if the lard is cold and hard than if it has had a chance to soften, for hard fat tends to stay in layers with the flour, and layers of fat and flour produce flakiness.

Sprinkle the cold water over the flour and fat, and toss lightly with a fork. It's a good idea to gather the moistened part of the dough together at one side of the bowl while sprinkling the rest of the dry mixture, in order to avoid overwetting any part of the flour and fat. Press the dampened dough together with the hands. If it won't stick together with a little persuasion, probably slightly more water is needed, but be careful not to add more than just enough to make the dough hold together.

Use pastry canvas and covered rolling pin for best results in rolling. Rub flour into the canvas and into the stocking cover of the rolling pin. Roll out about two-thirds of the dough for the lower crust, remainder for top crust. Use the 1⅓ tablespoons of lard not used in mixing in this way: Pat dough lightly with hands, sprinkle with bits of lard, fold over and roll out. Do not repeat this procedure more than once or you may do enough rolling to toughen pastry. If desired, this amount of lard may be worked into the pastry in the regular way, with the rest of the fat.

Variations for Plain Pastry.

1. Cheese pastry. This is suitable for canape bases. Roll grated sharp cheese into the pastry as it is rolled out. Cut in circles, squares, triangles, diamonds, or other shapes and bake.

2. Curry pastry. Add 1½ to 2 teaspoons curry powder to the dry mixture before working in fat. Curry pastry is excellent as shells [bake in muffin pans] to hold creamed chicken or chicken a la king.

3. Wine-flavored pastry. For certain fruit or bland flavored cream fillings, is favored by some hostesses. Wine is used instead of water.

Twenty-Third Psalm

By Nancy Cabot

Psalm 23

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want ~ He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake ~ Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: ~ thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever ~

Here is the 23d Psalm, which may be embroidered on a white or natural linen and which, when finished, measures 10 by 15 inches. The hot iron transfer pattern includes detailed illustrations of stitches and complete directions for making and framing. Started now, it will be ready by Easter time.

For the hot iron transfer of the 23d Psalm, P-23, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York City.

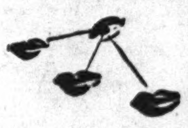
Smoking Finesse . . .

Often I give you tips on hand care, on teeth care, on lip care . . . but don't think this all pertains to hand creams, dentifrices and lipsticks! Your cigarette habits affect both hands, teeth and lips. That's why I so often talk about VICEROY Cigarettes here,—for the unique filter tip helps diminish chances of nicotine stain on fingers, keeps tobacco crumbs in the cigarette instead of flecking onto your teeth . . . prevents your mouth's coming into contact with thin cigarette paper which may take off your lipstick! Ask your Tobacconist for VICEROYS . . . they're popular priced . . . the SMART cigarette for SMART women!



Watch out for those treacherous, last winter days ahead with blustering March winds a menace to delicate skin! Especially, guard your lips against exposure . . . for the delicate skin membranes are particularly vulnerable to painful chap, dryness and weather-sores. Fleet's CHAP STICK is waiting for you at your Drug Counter, a wonderful PREVENTIVE against rough, drawn, swollen lips caused by wind and cold. Use this stick-form medication EVERY morning, noon and night . . . see what wonders it works in helping keep lips smooth, how it helps prevent chap, how it soothes and relieves lips already weather-sore and roughened! Cost is 25c at Drug Counters.

Don't forget that HE rates plate glass and mirror top comfort just as you do in your boudoir nook! So why not order a plate glass mirror that's UNFRAMED so's not to give any obstruction to his view . . . and plate glass to fit the bureau top so he needn't worry even if he IS careless with his cigarette! Your favorite department or furniture store can attend to mirror and glass fittings . . . or look in your classified telephone directory under PITTSBURGH Plate Glass Products for your nearest dealer. ALWAYS remember to look for the blue label saying, "Made from Genuine Pittsburgh Plate Glass" when buying a mirror or table top . . . it's YOUR guarantee of QUALITY!

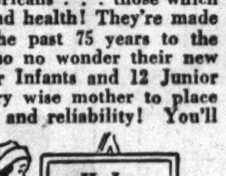
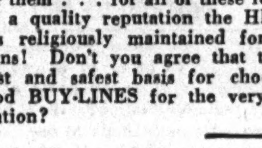
Don't you agree that this is the very best and safest basis for choosing the baby food BUY-LINES for the very youngest generation?



Hard to believe . . .

. . . that this GOLDEN FLEECE Pot Cleaner, this little piece of plastic-beaded cloth, can do all the work you've come to expect from steel wool . . . but it's TRUE! It can tackle burned-out pans and greasy skillets better and for a longer time! Try it and you'll see that you've discovered something that lightens the drudgery of cleaning dirty pots and pans . . . something that's so pliable it can poke right into corners to clean quickly and well . . . and something that was produced of necessity by the shortage of other materials, but has proved its lasting worth and won a permanent place for itself in the nation's kitchens! Find THE GOLDEN FLEECE Pot Cleaner at 5 and 10c, Grocery, Hardware or Department Stores . . . worth its weight in gold, but costing only 10c . . . or write to The Downy Products Company, Orange, New Jersey!



I've told you about the real help SILVO Liquid Silver Polish can give you in keeping your silver gleaming with the least effort. And now, I want to tell you about how wonderful it is for cleaning nickel and chromium plate of your electrical appliances. Try it—see how ONE rub with SILVO does the work of THREE . . . because it's a Liquid that quickly gets into crevices to clean, and right out again with the lightest of rubbing! Remember, there's no chalky deposit left to rub away, as is often the case with a paste. Try SILVO for plate glass and mirrors, too . . . a surprisingly small amount is required. Cost of SILVO is just 25c a bottle at leading Grocery and Department stores . . . keep it on hand ALWAYS!

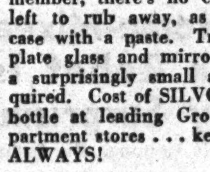
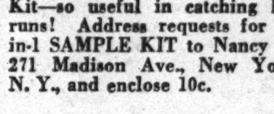
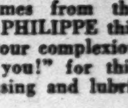
Ask for these Angelus Cremes from the HOUSE OF LOUIS PHILIPPE this week . . . see if your complexion doesn't say "thank you!" for this delightful new cleansing and lubricating technique!



"I wonder how on earth I got along without them!" That's what thousands of women say after they've tried 5-DAY UNDERARM Pads for the first time! And no wonder . . . for these dainty circlets of cloth are ready-lotioned with a refreshing liquid that helps prevent perspiration from 1 to 5 days, depending on the individual! YOU know what this means in self-assurance and in clothes saving . . . for excessive perspiration causes both personal embarrassment and ruin to fine fabrics! Ask your Drug and Department Store for 5-DAY UNDERARM Pads, 55c a jar!



Even though we're all pretty well down-to-earth these days, we can still go "cloud-walking." DR. SCHOLL'S LuPADS are what I recommend for comfort-magic! Just loop this dainty feather-light support over the BALL of your foot and see how happily relieved you are of that ache, pain, tenderness, burning or calloused spot in the area of your Metatarsal arch . . . how gloriously comforting, cushioning, pillowing they make every step you take. DR. SCHOLL'S LuPADS weigh but a fraction of an ounce, are worn INVISIBLY and are washable, too! This heavenly relief in individual shoe sizes costs only $1 a pair at your Drug, Shoe or Department Store. Or, write direct to DR. SCHOLL for a pair, enclosing $1 with your shoe size—to 213 West Schiller St., Chicago, Ill.



"Proof of the pudding is in the eating . . ." and proof of the help YARDLEY Hand Cream gives is only found by trying it! It feels perfectly marvelous . . . soft as it POURS on in a creamy, pale pink film that's delightfully flower-scented. But there's more to it than a wonderful, luxury-FEEL . . . for it sinks right into your handskin to help protect it against harsh work, chap and exposure. Finer stores everywhere carry YARDLEY'S Hand Cream . . . made to help keep hands caressingly lovely and softly smooth! . . . It's only 65c a bottle!

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

Ontario Puts Two Areas in Parks System

TORONTO [Special].—In additi n to an already extensive parks system, two new recreational areas suitable for post-war healthful vacations have been set aside by the government of the province of Ontario, Canada.

The new parks, Sibley and Superior, have both been classed as provincial forests for many years, which means that timber rights have been controled, but under the new arrangements they also will have the benefits of park services, which includes fire control, development of travel facilities within the parks, canoe trips, portages, trails, clearing where necessary, game and fish development, and anything which will make the district more attractive as a recreational area.

Sibley park occupies 60 square miles of the great peninsula lying along the east side of Thunder bay, facing the twin lakehead cities of Port Arthur and Fort William, and leading to the promontory known as the Sleeping Giant—one of the most impressive sights to be seen in northwestern Ontario.

Superior park has an area of 540 square miles, encompassing some of the picturesque Batchewana bay and Michipicoten country, along the eastern Canadian shore of Lake Superior, and is reached by way of Sault Ste. Marie.

Shuffleboard Club in St. Petersburg Now in 20th Year

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. [Special].—Twenty years old this winter, the St. Petersburg Shuffleboard club, largest tourist sports organization in the world, will observe its anniversary with a series of birthday tournaments. Only a court or two in Williams park accommodated a few members in 1924. Today the club spreads over several acres on the shore of Mirror lake, owns clubhouses valued at more than $200,000, has 5,000 season members and as many more guest players.

From the beginning, the St. Petersburg Shuffleboard club has been self supporting, constructing all its expensive facilities from nominal membership fees, never totaling more than $4 per member, per year.

A small city in itself, the club maintains its own government, police and fire departments, and publishes its own newspaper. During a sunny winter day more persons actually participate in playing games, at one time, than on any similar area in the world.

Indiana Pushes Plans for Tri-State Highway

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Gov. H. G. Schricker has approved a plan of the Indiana state highway commission to proceed as rapidly as conditions will permit with construction of that part of the "tri-state highway" lying within Indiana. The project, when completed, will link Indiana with continuing roads in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Tucson Guests Add Gay Note to Rodeo Week

TUCSON, ARIZ.

For the last fortnight during the Fiesta de los Vaqueros, the Old Pueblo has been given over completely to a studied re-creation of the western spirit. High heeled boots, gaily colored shirts, and levis have been worn even by persons who never intend to mount cayuses and chase dogies.

Beneath many a rakish sombrero has sauntered an ordinary suburbanite who back home catches the 5:10 with unfailing regularity. Superficially, the "go western" motif seems as artificial as Puccinello's painted grin— but only superficially.

Actually, rodeo week in this country expresses something far more fundamental than a belated wish to recapture the southwest's youth, for the frontier spirit has never left these parts.

The closing events were opened by no less a dignitary than the governor of Arizona, who journeyed down to Tucson from the capital in the morning. The customary great rodeo parade thru the streets of the Old Pueblo was not held this year, but the entrants and assorted other horsemen made a gala entry into the arena, with flags flying, martial music playing, and, of course, the sun shining.

• • •

Winter visitors at the outlying guest ranches were present in force and properly garbed. The few laggards in and about town who had failed to deck themselves out in western garb early in the week had been given sufficient stimulus by the traveling hoosegow and a few war bond fines, so that there were but few "civilians" at the rodeo.

A contingent from Kenyon ranch, down at Tubac, midway between Tucson and the Mexican border, is due to attend the events at the rodeo grounds. The ranch has its quota of Chicagoland guests this month, among them Mr. and Mrs. Garth Gilpin of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Estrem of Kenilworth. Mrs. James Gurney of Rockford is also at Kenyon, 40 miles distant from the Little Outfit school, where her son, Fletcher, is enrolled as a resident student.

Guests from El Conquistador, Tucson's well known luxurious desert resort, also found diversion at the rodeo.

Illinois guests at El Con include Mr. and Mrs. Edward DeFoe of Oak Park, who arrived last week for a month's vacation; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hoadley of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Morissey of Champaign; Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Pearson of Winnetka; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Elvin of Highland Park; Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Ennis of Evanston, and Mrs. Forest Lowry of Winnetka with her son, Rodney.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins of Chicago, season guests at the Arizona inn, are among the visitors from that resort who have enjoyed the fiesta.

• • •

There are a number of Chicagoans at the popular Diamond W ranch this month. Among new arrivals are Robert L. Steward, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Gamble, Miss Pauline M. Kearney; Mrs. Frank H. Funk of Bloomington, and Mrs. George A. Adams and daughter, Virginia, of Wilmette.

Phoenix Guests Attend Annual Gay '90s Party

By Ruth Dickinson.

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

Time rolled back its curtain almost half a century Monday night out at The Jokake inn for the annual "Gay Nineties" party. Thru the swinging doors into the Slippery Gulch saloon they came, the Gibson girl, the "lady whose name was Lou" [Mrs. Walter Hogans], Oscar of the Waldorf [Alvin Findelson], and the city slicker [William Engel], the Floradora girl [Mrs. Arthur Bamford], Sis Hopkins [Marcy Wescott Johnson], and all the rest.

Sawdust was on the floor, old lanterns swung from the ceiling, candles stuck in beer bottles were on the bare tables. Around the wall was a wonderful collection of the so-called bawdy chromos of the day when an exposed ankle was shocking and intriguing. The fiddler, piano player, and base fiddler entered into the spirit of the evening with their frock coats, twirling mustaches, and all the old tunes.

To Saunders Jones went the first prize for the most authentic costume. He certainly made a fine, gay young blade or perhaps he was just being natural. However, the trousers and belted coat were tight fitting and of the loudest check imaginable, his mustache was debonair, he wore an Ascot tie with a large, flashing stone and twirled a dapper cane.

Other glimpses of life at The Jokake: Mrs. William Benton riding her bicycle to market in Scottsdale; Benjamin Cooper turned gardener and liking it; Dr. Omar Fareed, Jane Cheney, Lou Volpe, and Maj. Ned Smith [of Winnetka, now stationed at Williams field] playing really brilliant tennis. Mrs. Fareed [Martha Carr] cheering from the side lines and looking prettier than ever in a blue tailored sports dress. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ware off for their morning's ride out in Paradise valley. The William Mitchells and the Charles Glores just sun-lazying down by the pool and planning to get into their stride after a few days of just loafing. Frank and Becky Octigon, "dyed in the wool" farmers, proudly showing their grove and fruit to the Howard Fentons. Mrs. Hamilton Noyes "riding herd" on the twins, Mary and Margo, who undoubtedly are the pets of the inn.

WED RECENTLY

Mrs. Harry W. Bottomley, who is the former Frances Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Fisher of Winnetka. Lt. Bottomley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Bottomley of Winona, Minn. The wedding took place recently.

Glimpses along Camelback rd. daily: Mrs. Walter Ware and Mrs. Thomas Hammond doing their 15 to 20 miles on their bicycles and by now on friendly greeting terms with all the passing delivery drivers. Mrs. Jacob Baur spending hours every day in Goldwaters Biltmore shop buying stunning and startling creations which will no doubt be seen at the Republican national convention. Claire and Anita McCahey and their brother, Lt. James Jr., on the tennis court at the Biltmore.

Walking along the desert paths back of the Biltmore every morning are Mrs. Frederick Clifford, Mrs. William Emery, and Mrs. Peter Shuttler. Little Joan Colnon, the daughter of the Stewart Colnons, won a prize for clay modeling at the children's hour held each afternoon at the Biltmore. Also with the group are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Colnon and Mrs. John Colnon. Mrs. Thomas Duffy, and Miss Irene Cody have joined the Richard O'Haras and Sewell Purdys. Out on the golf course daily is Miss Gertrude Walker. Down by the pool reading and relaxing in the sun are the Roy Osgoods, Mrs. Martin Hogan, John Llewellyn, the Robert Nelsons, and Dr. and Mrs. Herman Sondell.

Mrs. Ernest Graham has arrived to be the house guest of Miss Mary Louise Anderson at her home on the Biltmore estates, and Mrs. Hugo Dalmar will return to the hotel for her annual visit. The Hugh Forsmans and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rogers also are there, and the Edward Ravenscrofts will welcome their son, Edward, and his wife and small son, and also the Ravenscrofts' daughter, Mrs. Harry Lipphardt, and her son, Donald, of Marblehead, Mass., today. Mrs. Lipphardt will stay the rest of the winter and Donald will enter the Judson school.

The last three days of the week at the Camelback inn have been devoted entirely to the Red Cross putting contest. It was finally won by two Chicagoans, John Lyle Vette and Leo Hoffman, who defeated Grover Helm of Barrington and William Lord of Cincinnati. The losing team paid the winners $100 which was turned over to the Red Cross. The various side bets netted the rest. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seabury have joined the Vettes. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Merriam and Mr. and Mrs. William Doyle are among the new arrivals. Both Orvis Henkle and Maj. A. Frederick Gartz have joined their wives for a brief holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Burr Kulp have returned for their annual visit.
